"Above all," this section concludes, "we have fought with all the resources at our command and in face of rising hysteria whipped up by the Committee on Un-American Activities, to preserve and strengthen the great principles and basic procedures of American democracy—freedom of thought and expression; freedom of association, equality of rights and opportunities of all racial, ethnic and religious minorities, and the reaching of decisions by a rational process of discussion and mutual adjustment. We will not abandon our defense of civil liberties merely because it subjects us to illogical and irresponsible charges from the Committee."

The Guild statement emphasizes the organization's "dedication" to the defense of the constitutional rights of all people including unpopular minorities and its unequivocal opposition to "Authoritarian measures and practices and the doctrines and methods of authoritarianism."

"The Guild unreservedly rejects any abridgment of freedom of thought, speech, assembly or worship, or any of the fundamental rights set forth in the UN Declaration of Human Rights, wherever such abridgment may occur — whether in the United States, the Soviet Union or elsewhere," the statement concludes.

Charging deliberate omission of relevant facts in the Congressional Committee's report, the Guild reply points out that in presenting the Committee's principal charge that the Guild consistently follows the Communist Party line, the report fails to mention the action of the Guild in supporting the United Nations in opposing the aggression of North Korea, and distorts earlier resolutions condemning the attack on the Soviet Union against Finland and urging amendment of the Neutrality Act to permit the supply of arms to victims of aggressions, which policy never changed.

'The Courier of Lyons' Film For Unitarian Series Friday

"The Courier of Lyons," starring Pierre Blanchar, will be shown at the First Unitarian Church, 2936 West 8th St. (just east of Vermont) on Friday, at 8 p.m. This is the second in a series of Five Film Evenings, presented at First Church the third Friday of each month.

"The Courier of Lyons" is an engrossing story of injustice in 18th Century in France in which an innocent man is convicted of a crime through circumstantial evidence and prejudice. Pierre Blanchar plays a dual role that will delight both the student of acting and the average movie-goer.

Well . . . Who?

The "short" to be shown is "Who's Boss?" a short story of how a husband and wife in conflict (both are self-supporting) solve their problems and resume the tranquillity and joy of a truly happy marriage. This picture is a must for all who are interested in marriage relationships today.

Mr. Waldo Salt, noted film writer, who wrote "Rachel and the Stranger," "The Flame and the Arrow," "The Cummington Story" for OWI during the war, and many other fine movies, will speak briefly on these films and the art of appreciation of good film making.

A turkey dinner will be served Friday from 4:30 p.m. on, in connection with a Church Bazaar. Dinner will be served all afternoon until 8 p.m. and the charge is $1.25. The public is cordially invited to have dinner at the church and then attend the film program at 8 p.m. Admission to the films is 55c, including tax.

Soloists Featured On Annual Bach Festival This Friday

The South Central Adult Civic Chorus, superb Negro concert choir sponsored by the city's Bureau of Music will be featured on the opening program of the First Congregational Church's 17th annual Bach Festival this Friday at 8 p.m.

Led by Jester Hairston, noted film, radio and Broadway choral director, the 60-voice unit has sung on national broadcasts, at Hollywood Bowl and in many programs since being formed under city auspices less than a year ago. According to J. Arthur Lewis, city music coordinator, its rapidity in establishing itself as one of the Bureau of Music's top choruses, in great demand for civic programs, has been both amazing and heartening.

Soloists

The chorus will sing Bach's Cantata No. 104, with basso Marvin Hayes and tenor Buell Thomas as soloists, accompanied by Gloria Roberts and Florence Brantley, pianists.

The Bach Festival at the First Congregational Church, open to the public without charge, will continue Saturday and Sunday, with performances at 4 and 8 p.m. both days.

Jan Peerce in Conecrt for Hebrew Academy

The Metropolitan Opera's great tenor Jan Peerce, will make his only Los Angeles appearance of the season on Wednesday evening, November 29, when he appears in recital in the Philharmonic Auditorium for the benefit of the California Hebrew Academy building fund.

Star of opera, concerts, radio, RCA-Victor records and three motion pictures, the noted vocalist holds an honorary doctorate degree in music from the New York College of Music.

Composers' Concert

The second in the series of contemporary composers' concerts initiated by The Humanists will be held Sunday evening, November 19, 8 p.m., at their auditorium located at 2307 So. Union Avenue.

Brahms Music Featured in Free Concert

Music by Johannes Brahms will be presented at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park on Sunday afternoon, November 19, at 3 o'clock.

The program, eighth in the current Brahams cycle, will present the Cello Sonata in E Minor, Op. 38; the Cello Sonata in F Major, Op. 99 and the Clarinet Trio in A Minor, Op. 114.

The music will be performed by Sara Compinsky, pianist, George Neikrug, cellist, and Kalman Bloch, clarinetist.

These Sunday concerts are presented weekly in the Museum's second floor concert hall and begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Admission is free.

Dorothy Maynor In Concert For Sorority

Dorothy Maynor, whose discovery by Dr. Serge Koussevitzky at the Boston Symphony's Berkshire Festival is one of music's oft-repeated Horatio Alger fables, returns to Southern California from a triumphant European tour to appear in recital for her own sorority, Delta Sigma Theta, on Sunday afternoon, December 3, at the Philharmonic auditorium on the Irwin Parnes concert series.

Choral Contest

Announcement is being made this week by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music of a county-wide choral contest to be held in Venice on February 4. Co-sponsored by the Bureau of Music and the Venice Community Sing, the competition is expected to attract the interest of some of the Southland's most outstanding choruses.

Bennett Thespians

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Three one-act plays, Tennessee Williams' "Lord Byron's Love Letter," Robert Johnson's "The Dreamlost," and Jack Jacobs' "Brideship" were presented by the Bennett College Freshman Theater Guild in the college Little Theater last week, Nov. 10 and 11.

MUSICAL VOICES

There has always been a lot of talk about musical instruments, but the universal instrument with which everyone is born, available almost without exception through a lifetime, is the human voice.

Vocal music may not be so important as instrumental in the long run but it is certainly more practical. It is easy to argue that the most significant music is that which receives no help whatever from words, possibly one even from a title or an announced "program"—what is often called "absolute music." But words are tremendously important in catching the attention of those to whom pure music might remain a mystery. As far as young children are concerned, there can be no argument whatever. Vocal music should be introduced and encouraged as early as possible in their lives, and continued indefinitely through the years of maturity.

Song is an indispensable adjunct to church services, political rallies, football games, school assemblies, service clubs, smokers, and reunions. Sailors use it constantly to lessen the hard work of pulling on ropes. In fact, all folk rhythmic accompaniment to lighten physical labor, and such primitive music must have been chiefly vocal.

Just because practically everybody can talk, and perhaps even sing in a fashion, there is a tendency to ignore the possibilities of the human voice in everyday life. We are willing to listen to a few highly trained singers, notes may often be absurdly artifical but we pay little or no attention to the obvious need of improving the average speaking voice, and we seldom encourage individuals to sing just for the fun of it.

There is much argument about monotones — those unfortunate people who seem unable to change pitch at all when attempting to sing—and it is a common boast, particularly among men, that "can't even carry a tune." Yet it has been absolutely proved that monotones can be cured by patiently developing their ears, and there is no such thing as a person who consistently and permanently sings out of tune. Miracles are being performed every day in our schools, largely by the association of the less musical youngsters with their more gifted fellows.

Vocal Inhibitions

Unpleasant voices, whether in speech or in song, are usually due to interference with the normal passage of the tone. Most peopel talk and sing "in the throat," and the first effort of almost any singing teacher is to relieve this unnatural strain upon the vocal chords and "bring it forward." Hoarseness and "frogs" develop quickly if a person fails to make use of the natural aids to resonance and amplification of tone.

There are those who are fortunately enough to "place" their voices instinctively, and it is quite possible for untrained voices to sing naturally and easily, needing only to learn how to avoid fatigue. Too often a vocal teacher may spoil the natural quality of a voice in the effort to make it sing "correctly," and the artificiality of many "trained" voices is one of the major tragedies of music.

A great deal of bad singing, however, is due to nothing more than nervousness, which produces a "wobble" that is perhaps as annoying as anything ever inflicted upon a listener. Assuming that a singer has been well taught or possesses a naturally wellplaced voice, there is no reason for any lack of confidence, yet the vocal instrument continues to be the most difficult to control. A singer becomes short of breath through sheer fright, fails to reach a high note merely because of the fear of it, sags from the pitch on account of lack of concentration, and in the wild terror that comes from facing an audience, generally forgets all the technique that has been carefully learned.

Beulah Terry in Concert Nov. 19

The Narcissus Art and Literary Club will present Miss Beulah Terry, accomplished soprano in Song Recital on Sunday, November 19, at the Golden State Insurance Auditorium. Miss Terry's repetoire will consist of renditions in German, French, Spanish and American tongues. Negro spituals written by Jester Hariston and Hall Johnson are also included.

This should be quite a treat for the musically minded clientele. The vocals will be accompanied by Miss Juanita Terry at the piano.

'Miss Football' To Be Crowned At Kappa Kaper

All indications are that the Kappa Kapers and the 'Miss Football of 1950' contest to be held at the Elks after the traditional USC-UCLA football game on Saturday 25th, Nov. '50 will be a great success.

The leading fraternities, Alpha, Omega, Sigma and Kappa and sororities, Aka, Delta, Zeta and Sigma Gamma Rho and their pledge clubs have been invited to take part in what is expected to be one of the brightest undergraduate affairs of the season.

Great interest is being shown by all sorors and pledges in the 'Miss Football of 1950' contest. Over 1500 invitations have been sent out to cover students from UCLA, USC, LASC, LACC, LAJC, Chapman, Loyola, Pasadena CC, Compton and other schools in and around the city.

Music will be supplied by the popular Phy Taylor's Combo, and the dance will start from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. Dress is informal and invitation are not necessary for admittance. Donation will be 75c. The first two couples attending will be admitted free of charge .

All details are being worked out by the Program Committee to assure everyone an enjoyable time.

The committee includes Wardell Moss, Chairman; Cleo Joiner, Music & Housing; Otis Greene, Final Arrangements; and Mervyn Dymally, Publicity.

Kappa Kapers, November 25

Plans for the staging for a mammoth dance and Miss Football Contest at the Elks on Central after the traditional UCLA-USC football game on Saturday, November 25th, from 8 p.m. to 3 a.m. have just been announced.

Upsilon (UCLA) Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, began making plans for this dance and the selection of "Miss Football of 1950" six months ago.

The Athletic Commission headed by UCLA football players—Dave Williams and Whitney Arceneaux, capably assisted by Floyd Wilson, Pacific Coast Amateur Middleweight Boxing Champion; Harold Garrison, sensational basketball player, and Lloyd White, star baseball player—is working on plans to select one of the finest young ladies in the community to be "Miss Football of 1950."

THE LOS ANGELES PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra will open its 32nd season with concerts in the Philharmonic Auditorium Thursday at 8:30 p.m. and Friday at 2:15 p.m. Kirsten Flagstad, eminent dramatic soprano of the San Francisco and Metropolitan Opera Companies, will be the soloist on a Beethoven-Wagner program. Alfred Wallenstein, beginning his eighth season as musical director of the orchestra, will conduct.

Sale of season subscriptions for the Thursday night-Friday afternoon series has reached 80 per cent capacity of the Philharmonic Auditorium.

For the opening concerts Mr. Wallenstein has programmed Beethoven's "Prometheus" Overture and Seventh Symphony, and the Funeral Music and Immolation scene from Wagner's "Gotterdammerung." Miss Flagstad will sing the solo part of the Immolation and also will be heard in Beethoven's concert aria, "Ah! Perfido."

COUNTY-WIDE CHORAL CONTEST

Announcement is being made this week by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music of a county-wide choral contest to be held in Venice on February 4. Co-sponsored by the Bureau of Music and the Venice Community Sing, the competition is expected to attract the interest of some of the Southland's most outstanding choruses.

Through the cooperation of Morse M. Freeman, Inc., the sponsors of the contest are offering awards of $100 credit toward music libraries for the winners in each classification. In addition, the conductor selected by the judges as most outstanding will receive a valuable scholarship for study with an individual or school chosen from an approved list.

Adult choruses whose average individual age is 18 or over are eligible to compete. Three classifications are open — men's chorus, women's chorus, and mixed chorus. Each group entering the competition must have a minimum of 15 members and not more than 20 percent of its personnel may be professional singers. A registration fee of $3 is required.

Each chorus will be requested to sing two numbers, one of which has been selected by the Bureau of Music and one of which the group may choose. For men's chorus, the contest number is "Morning Hymn"—Henschel. Women's choruses will sing "A Snow Legend"—Clokey. For mixed choruses, the required song is "Rise Up, My Love"—Willan.

The preliminaries of the contest are scheduled for Sunday, February 4, in the Venice High School auditorium. Finals will be held on the evening of February 12.

The UCLAN undergrad KAPPAS will present their "Miss Football" crowning at the coming "Kappa Kapers" to climax the Trojan-Bruin football scuffle. The spacious Elks Aud. will be the place where the sets will be a merry lot until nigh on to three in the morning. REMEMBER! NOV. 25th! . . . MANY OF THE townspeople are planning that fashionable outfit to attend the ever popular KAPPA BLACK AND WHITE FORMAL. Those lucky enough to receive bids will surely be in for a great TREAT. THE WEE HOURS of Thanksgiving morning will be welcomed in by the many attendants since the hours for the dance are from 12 until 4 a.m. (early in the morning) . . . THE SILVER ANNIVERSARY TEA sponsored by the Antique ARTS AND CRAFTS Charity Club was quite a successful affair last Sunday afternoon. The MEMBERS are to be praised for presenting a new type of idea to the public. . . .

IN CLOSING might remind you not to forget the coming Calverettes popularity contest on December 3; also the DOROTHY MAYNOR concert at the PHILHARMONIC on the same date. . . . INFORMATION OF THE COMING Phi-Delphian Christmas Eve Dance was recently revealed by prexy Betty Wallace. Many friends and followers of this fine club have missed the annual ball and look forward to it with eagerness. . . . Just before deadline heard Joe Adams interview with shapely Hazel Shumate. A very interesting discussion of the new color that has evolved from a song "LOTUS BLUE" was the topic of in consideration. . . . After a real terrific week-end, here's making a hurried deadline 'til next time. . . .

Co-ed Dance to Attract Young Collegiate Set

Invitations are now in the mail of the Co-Ed's sport dance to be given by the running contestants supporting the Cavalrettes popularity contest. The place of the affair will be at the Omega fraternity house at 2069 Oxford.

The younger set is looking forward to the great climax of the contest Dec. 3, to see who will be the recipient of this scholarship award.

Constant inspiration and interest in the contest is created daily by the contestants of Manual Arts, Compton Junior, UCLA and USC.

Sponsor for Rosie Ervin will also stage a benefit party for the teen-agers on Nov. 17 on W. 58th street.

BENEVOLENT CLUB PARTY

The Social Benevolent Club is soon to present a very unique affair on Sunday, November 26, at 2734 Kenwood street. The girls invite their many friends to dine, drink and rhumba dance from the hours of 6 to 12 p.m. The president informs that the affair will be one to remember for quite some time.

GETTING THE NEWS FROM G.G.:

Raves aplenty to Bill Sampson . . . whose brand new record shop causing traffic jams on Vernon Ave. . . . Bill also handles his broadcast from the shop. . . . And speaking of broadcasts, "yours truly" will do her first initial "Duchess of Swing" show tonight at 7 p.m., over KFOX. . . . We seem to be the first Negro girl D.J. to go in. . . . Well . . . here's a hoping. . . . Norman Granz had a reason for all those smiles Monday night when, in spite of the inclement weather, Norm's "Jazz at the Philharmonic," had a sell-out house with one of the greatest Jazz concerts of the season. . . . D.J. Joe Adams goes regional this week . . . covering Seattle and Arizona. . . . Chatting with Emma (spouse of Joe) we find that she is one person who always manages to keep the same sweet disposition. . . . Lee Richardson and his pretty wife, Juanita, having all kinda spats at the wrong time. . . . Sir Stork recently paying a visit to their home. . . . Shocking news of the death of Tommy Gaither . . . ace guitarist and vocalist with the popular Orioles. . . . Ted Albritton recently appointed to the Western Sales Division of Calvert's. . . . Ted now covers New Mexico and Arizona. . . . Percy Mayfield and Floyd Dixon share the stage tomorrow night at the Avodon ballroom which means that all blues lovers are in for a real treat. . . . Believe me when I tellya that Jimmy Witherspoon is really upsetting things over at the Oasis. . . . Spoon puts you in the mood for blues whether you like 'em or not. . . . Gotta give a verbal pat on the back to Scatman who is doing a terrific job of emceeing and vocaling as well, at the Oasis. . . . Hear that our pal-gal "Lady Hallique" has reconciled with hubby Hayward Henry of the Erskine Hawkins band. . . . There's no truth at all, we were told . . . about the alleged break-up of Atty. Rayfield Lundy and the Missus . . . as a matter of fact they were "thisclose" in their brand new 1950 Ford the other noon hour. . . . Eddie Heywood and his Trio join Jimmy Witherspoon tomorrow night at the Oasis. . . . OVERHEARD IN THE MEMO: "While not what you would call fat, she is definitely over-emphasized." . . . Tommy Gaither Of the Orioles Killed Sunday

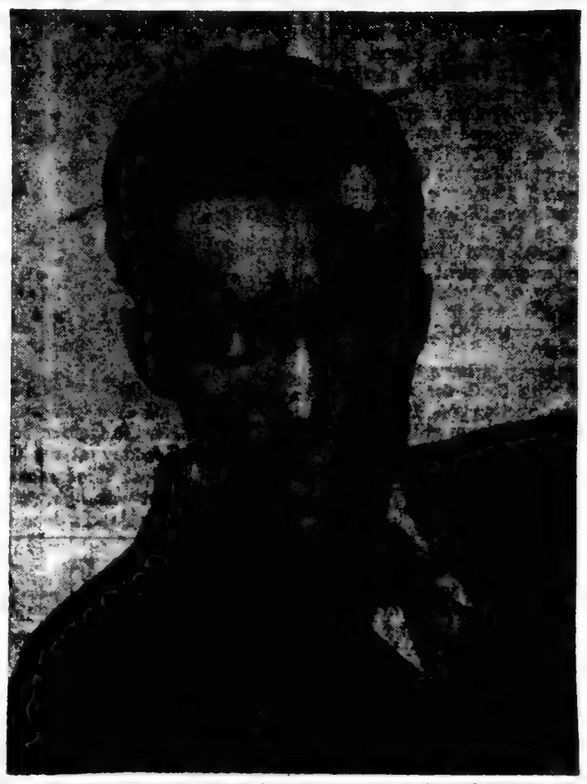
BALTIMORE, Md. — Tommy Gaither, guitar player and vocalist with the nationally famous singing group, the Orioles, was killed instantly and two other members of the group were injured severly last Sunday morning in the crash of their automobile on Route 40, three miles north of the Baltimore city limits.

Johnny Reed and George Nelson, Gaither's companions in the death car, sustained severe head and body injuries and, were rushed from the scene of the accident to Baltimore City Hospital.

According to eye-witness reports, the car, driven by Gaither, swerved around a sharp curve and apparently got out of the driver's control, turning over four or five times and crashing into the wall of a roadside diner. Gaither, it was reported, was killed instantly and Reed and Nelson were unconscious when removed from the wreckage.

SETS A PRECEDENT — Very seldom a bandleader can get get two hits out before the public on different labels but that's what happened with Earl Bostic, two of his latest numbers placed high in the weekly Hit Parade.

EDDIE WILLIAMS and his "Brown Buddies" are currently appearing on Sunset at the cozy C.L.C. Club. The Trios latest waxing of "Meandering" slated for a definite hit.



"The Milkmen" Cometh"

HOLLYWOOD — Jimmy Durante, Donald O'Connor and Joyce Holden are making personal appearances in the East with the opening of Universal-International's "The Milkman." The comedy hit is the first film assignment for Miss Holden, who was discovered for films while appearing on Ed Wynn's television show.

Sarah Vaughn At Birdland

NEW YORK — Sarah Vaughan, the magic-voiced song stylist, will make her third Broadway appearance of 1950 in opening a three-week engagement at Club Birdland on Thursday, November 16.

The incomparable singing star just recently scored one of the truly great triumphs of her brilliant career in an engagement on stage of the Paramount Theater and earlier this year had set an all-time attendance record at the now defunct Bop City.

AT AVODON TONIGHT—Percy Mayfield whose latest waxing "Please Send Me Someone To Love" listed in many of the Hit Parades as No. 1 on the juke box will be right on hand tonight at the Avodon Ballroom to give out with those mellow blues that you've been waiting for.

ON NATIONAL NETWORK—Una Mae Carlisle makes her debut as the first star of her race to get a featured program of her own on a National network. Program will be heard from coast to coast each Monday evening from 8:45 to 9:00 p.m.

Spider and Fly Opens Tomorrow Nite

The Beta Pi Sigma Sorority production, "The Spider and the Fly," with John Hightower and Flossie Williams as its leading stars, will play for one night, Nov. 17, in the auditorium of Manual Arts High School.

A daring three-act drama, "The Spider" is a fast and riding story with dashes of adventure, laughter, thrills, and suspense.

A cast of 40, including motion picture performers Elmore Mackey and Montana McNealy, the play is directed by Irene Winn and produced by Mike Stuart.

This will be one of the Sorority's benefit offerings of the 1950-51 season.

The public is urged to attend and see the Spider, a dashing boss and see who is his fly— his secretary or his wife.

Jefferson High Swing Band Present Concert Wed., Nov. 22

Jefferson High's Swing Band will present a special concert on Wednesday night, November 22, at the Jefferson auditorium for the swing music fans of the community. There will be two solid hours of entertainment for the very modest price of 50c. Here is a real opportunity to see one of the finest musical organizations in the country of young, talented high school musicians. Under the direction of Mr. Sam Browne, talented music teacher and instrumentalist on the Jefferson faculty, the band has some very outstanding young performers who are already appearing on radio and TV. Among them are Frank Morgan on the alto sax whose performance on Freddie Martin's Band of Tomorrow on TV have been outstanding; Wayne Robinson, one of the best drummers Jeff has ever had; Joe Villeral and Troy Brown on the trumpets, two excellent artists who have attracted much attention; Gary Green on the bass, as talented on the bass as he is in athletics, and Edward Moody at the 88, one of the best pianists the school has had in recent years.

All proceeds of the concert will go towards the purchase of new instruments to replace those lost in the unfortunate school fire recently. The theme of this year's concert is: You Can Help Us By Letting Us Entertain You. Remember the date: Wednesday night at Jeff, November the 22nd. Tickets may be obtained at Jefferson or from any member of the swing band.

For further information call Jefferson at AD. 1-9144.

Eddie Heywood, Witherspoon At Oasis Friday

Eddie Heywood and his Trio fresh from triumph engagement in the top New York niteries will open tomorrow night (Friday) at the popular westside Oasis Club where Jimmy Witherspoon now holds forth.

Making his first coast appearance after a period of five years, Angelenos eagerly await the unique piano artistry of Mr. Heywood. Also appearing are Scat Man Caruthers and the nifty little band of Lee Young.

Make it a must and plan now to see this great big show, Jimmy Witherspoon, Eddie Heywood and his trio and Lee Young's band.

ANN SHERIDAN, former "oomph girl" who started her acting career in comedienne roles, tackles a highly dramatic assignment in "Woman On The Run," a suspenseful Universal-International release also starring Dennis O'Keefe.

Epicoene Opening Tonight at Orchard Gables

Orchard Gables Repertory Theatre plans an official opening of Ben Jonson's hilarious farce comedy "Epicoene — the Silent Woman" at their new address, 1743 No. New Hampshire, Hollywood 27, Thursday, Nov. 16. The show will continue to play Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30, through Dec. 31, when Bobker Ben Ali returns to Orchard Gables to direct another French comedy of his own adaptation. No admission charge. For reservations, phone OL. 9480.

MABLE SCOTT—That brown bombshell of rhythm, headlining the top shows in the eastern niteries. Mable's recording of "Boogie Woogie Santa Claus" seems to be selling faster than hot cakes with the new added twist.

Una Mae Carlisle Gets Own Show

NEW YORK — Una Mae Carlisle, the darling of radio, is the first star of her race to get a featured program of her own on a National network.

The program originates in New York City through the facilities of Station WJZ and the American Broadcasting Company heard from coast to coast each Monday evening from 8:45 to 9 p.m., Eastern Standard time.

In this program she is ably supported by a 7-piece all-star instrumental group including George Wettling, drums, Lee Castle, trumpet, and others.

Her hit tune, "I See a Million People," has been revived with recordings by Benny Goodman, Peggy Lee, Cab Calloway, Hadda Brooks, etc., being released by all the major recording companies.

Incidentally, Una Mae Carlisle is the first member of her race to be so highly honored.

Muggsy Spanier Famous Cornetist At Tiffany Club

Muggsy Spanier, famous Dixieland cornetist, opened a two-week stand at the Tiffany Club 3260 West 8th St., on November 13. Generally regarded as one of the world's greatest cornetists, the Victor recording artist will bring along a combination that includes Darnell Howard on clarinet and Truck Parham on bass.

Percy Mayfield, Floyd Dixon At Avodon Friday

HOLLYWOOD — It's a long jump from Shakespeare to blues, but Percy Mayfield took that leap and shows every indication of going higher. Having recently signed an exclusive recording contract with Specialty Records, Mayfield is an up and coming blues singer with two hit records to his credit—"Please Send Me Someone to Love," backed by "Strange Things Happening."

Percy Mayfield will bring his blues (the way you like them) to the Avodon Ballroom tomorrow night (Friday) along with Floyd Dixon and his band. So all of you blues lovers will want to be on hand because the place is going to rock. Dance will get underway around 9 p.m. and last until the wee hours of the morning. Make it a must plan today for tomorrow night at the Avodon Ballroom.

DOES CALIFORNIA JUMP THE GUN?

After observing the Bears run over the Bruins last Saturday, it is my opinion that they do not get off before the ball is snapped but instead are trained to perfection to get off exactly with the ball.

However, from the stands one does not get an accurate view of the situation. But there is one man out there on the field, the referee, who is in excellent position to see exactly what is going on. If a player crosses the line before the ball is snapped, he is there to call the play.

In these days of whistle happy officials, who will call for a penalty at the least infraction of a rule, it does not seem likely that they would let a team get away with something like this.

The same officials are not used in all ten of California's games either so one cannot reasonably say that they are partial to the Bears. Some are known to make mistakes, as are most of us, but are well trained for the job.

They have to be what with several thousand "second guessers" in the stands.

THOSE BIG BAD BEARS

The Golden Bears have for the past three years been the scourge of the Pacific Coast, and will probably continue to be so for quite a few years to come.

In each of the preceding two years they have lost what was considered to be their top men through graduation and the same will be true this year. Even so though regarded lightly at the beginning of the season, they manage to come up with a winning team.

How do they do it?

In 1948 they lost their All-American fullback Jackie Jensen but managed to come out on top of the crop in 1949. The next year they lost Bob Celeri, Jack Swaner, and Charlie Sarver but are doing fine without them this year. This season is the last for three of their first string backfield men. Jim Monachino, Pete Schabarum and Jim Marinos are all Seniors. Their other Ace Johnny Olszewski is only a Sophomore however.

Even with these departures along with 15 others out of the 56 listed in the program, California should continue to have a top notch team.

These are two reasons for this. In Lynn Waldorf the Bears have one of the top coaches in the nation.

Secondly, they have a knack for getting the top players to enroll at California. All four men of Cal's first string backfield are from Southern California and so are fifteen others. Olszewski is from Long Beach, Monachino from Redondo Beach, Marinos from San Diego and Schabarum from Covina.

These nineteen men plus the others who did not make the squad did not go north for the climate.

One would wonder then why some of them didn't go to USC or UCLA. Some of these high school and JC stars did end up at SC but the coaching is not the same there and thus there is no winner.

At UCLA the high scholastic requirements keep many of them out, but California has the same requirements so if a boy can get in up there, he should be able to do the same down here.

The Bruins have one of the necessities, a good coach, Red Sanders, but do not have the player material to go with it. They have some good material but not enough.

It behooves the Bruins and Trojans, therefore, to see to it that the top talent in this area is not removed to Northern California, Oregon, Washington, or what is worse, to the east. Just how they do it is their problem but it must be done.

Hugh McElhenny, Woodly Lewis, Bill Fell and Al Pollard are a few others who have drifted away.

Just think what teams we could have had in Los Angeles with some of those young men.

Drake's Johnny Bright Sets New Record For Total Offense

Johnny Bright of Drake U. set a new all-time offense record last Saturday as he accounted for all five of his team's touchdowns in leading them to a 35-21 victory over Iowa State.

He scored four touchdowns and passed for a fifth as he piled up a net total of 229 yards. This boosted his season's total to 2400 yards. Frankie Sinkwich set the previous record of 2187 yards while at Georgia in 1942.

This was the ninth and final game of the season for Drake. The Missouri Valley Conference team finished with a record of six victories, two defeats and one tie.

Bright, who was also the nation's leading ground gainer of 1949, was the first Negro to play in the conference.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

HOLLYWOOD PARK. Your Host proved the gamest in the Golden State Breder's Handicap. Challenged several times by Next Move, the son of imported Alibhai with Jockey J. Gilbert out-finished Jockey Eric Guerin who had the mount on Next Move, although the later ran a good race and will be hard to beat from now on. Stone Age ran a great race after being away from the races for sometime. The stable of Alfred Gynne Vanderbilt has some great horses and will win plenty races.

Hollywood Park is more beautiful than ever and with the Pretty Goose girl feeding her Swans is a picture every person should witness. The mutuel handle was $1,788,304 for its first Saturday of the winter meeting. The feature attraction for this Saturday will be the Hollywood Laddie Stakes at seven furlongs for two year old colts and geldings and carries an added value of $25,000.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Jockey Wee Willie Shoemaker sustained a bruised left foot at the starting gate just before the running of the eighth race and had to cancel the rest of his mounts, although he had already rode two winners to increase his lead over Joe Culmone by seven. V-Boy the one stake horse from the late C. H. Howard stable scored a wire to wire win and nearly wrecked the ring. Prepped for the killing at another track the son strolling Player, Sceptre's own, just toyed with his field to score by three lengths. He opened on the morning line at seven to one but as the wise money began to show he was knocked down to five, then four but the ones on the know kept bettin. The mutuels payoff was $6.20.

It was a sad day for the books and the biggest coupe put over in many months at Caliente. The feature attraction was won by Ready Standard, the much improved son of Flag Pole-Ready Smile. Laying close to the early pace until the head of the stretch where he made his bid got up to win by one length going away. Paying in the mutuels $14.40. The daily-double combination of record speed winner of the second race and Last Battle victor of the third paying $230.00.

While the nitecap called the Quinela paid off on Standpipe and Battle Oak, the two choices $12.20. This Sunday general manager Walter C. Marty has arranged one of the best programs of eleven races featured by the Thanksgiving handicap at one mile and seventy yards. Compton Plans Rooting Section For McElhenny

COMPTON—Hugh McElhenny, All-American fullback candidate on the University of Washington football team, will be welcomed home by a special Compton rooting section Saturday when his Huskies face the University of Southern California Trojans in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The city of Compton has organized a "McElhenny for All-American" campaign, spearheaded by a commitee of the town's leading citizens, to honor the fleet-footed fullback, greatest football player ever to represent Compton College on a gridiron.

"Mac" averaged 9.69 yards on 134 carries in 1948 as he lead the Compton Tartars through an undefeated 12-game schedule, climaxed by a 48-14 victory over Duluth in the Little Rose Bowl. The Washington High school graduate, who went on to the University of Washington after his single season here, was selected as the "J.C. Player of the Year."

Arrangements have been completed with S. C. for a special Compton section on the south side of the Coliseum at the Washington game, and it is believed that this is the first time an organized rooting section has been set up to honor a single player.

The "McElhenny for All-American" committee has set a goal of 3000 tickets, and the special pasteboards went on sale this week at a number of locations in the Compton area.

McElhenny has come into his own as a collegiate ball-carrier this fall after injuries hampered his form as a sophomore last year.

BELMONT SPORTS

By Tip Bailey

Last Friday night the Belmont Sentinels delt the Marshall barristers a 35-12 defeat. Within view of screaming, frenzied, unbelieving spectators ,the Hilltoppers scored their second victory over the Barristers in three years, this time by the most lopsided score in the history of the two schools. Not even the famed "Cinderella Kids" of yesterday led by All-City "Vinegar Vince" McCullough could manager to win by such a decisive margin, the final score in '48 being 20-0 for the Hillers.

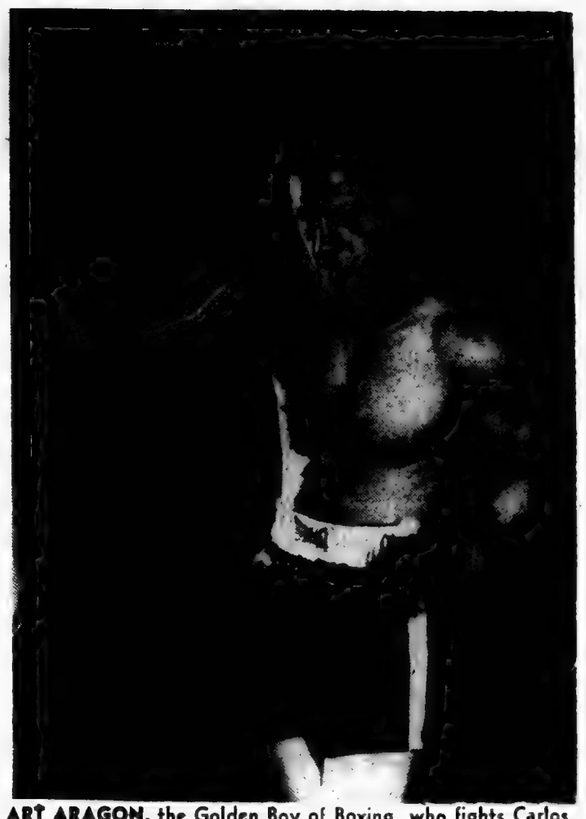
The Barristers Jim Fazio proceeded to run through the entire "Big Milt" Alleyne's tremendous kick all the way. A clipping penalty nullified the score.

Play began when Hummel fumbled the kickoff, and Belmont recovered on the Marshall 25. From there, "Batterin' Bobby Ewert" took a nasty attitude toward the Marshall fans and scored his third touchdown of the year.

This time Fazio returned the pig-skin 94 yards for a touchdown which was good, and the Light and Dark Blue had 6 points. Rudy Diaz recovered the ensuing fumble and went for six more points. Caccavale converted for the second time, and the score stood 14-6 in favor of Belmont.

Some Catch

Angel Gaitan made absolutely the most sensational catch seen all year, and Belmont started to follow it up. He took an end around for another 10 yards and Ewert smashed for 20 more after catching one of Mike Bell's aerials, but to no avail. Marshall's second T.D. of the night came when Hammel drove over from the 1 yard line for the Lawyer's other six points.



Belmont then shifted into high gear with Bell passing to Diaz on a running pass good for 19 yards. Bell sprinted 92 yards to a T.D. but was called back because of a penalty.

The Black and Green then came back and traveled 91 yards in 7 plays with Bell going thru right tackle good for six more points. Bell then took the ball from the single wing and raced 55 yards to pay dirt for the last Sentinel touchdown. Caccavale converted five out of five which made the score Belmont 35, Marshall 12.

Belmont Beats B's

Belmont mighty B football team walked over Marshall's B's by a score of 32-7. Clyde "Crazy Legs" Davis outsprinted five of the Marshall men to his 15th touchdown of the season. His run was good for 79 yards. Bobby Strange also was a standout by running 35 yards for six and threw two touchdown passes, one to glue fingers Eddie Brown and "Dynamite" Don Smith. Big John Davis drove over from the two for his six points. Tom Takahaski intercepted a Marshall pass and raced 20 yards in the end zone for his six points. Joe Chissell converted 2 out of five, and that was pretty good because he had a sprung toe.

Poorly aimed or badly adjusted headlights may easily cause a fatal accident.

ART ARAGON, the Golden Boy of Boxing, who fights Carlos Chaviz next Tuesday at the Olympic. Art hopes to reverse a decision he lost three months ago to Chaviz and go on into a title fight with lightweight champion Ike Williams. A rematch with Oakland's John L. Davis is also in the making.

U. S. C.'s Pat Cannamela Hailed As Unsung Hero

Special, Nov. 16—In a season that will be remembered as the "Year of the Great Linebackers," the University of Southern California football team is blessed with an operator—Patterson (Candy) Cannamela—who gives nothing to any of them.

A transfer from Ventura junior college, where he reputedly made 75 per cent of his team's tackles, Cannamela already has indicated that he will be one of the Pacific Coast conference's great stars in the 1950 and 1951 seasons.

This is a fabulous year for outstanding linebacking specialists because no less than five PCC schools claim All-American honors for their defensive geniuses. They are Les Richter of California, Russ Pomeroy of Stanford, Vern Torgeson of Washington State and Donn Moomaw of UCLA.

As Troy's best lineman, Cannamela undoubtedly would achieve All-Star recognition against all his competitors IF the Trojans were Rose Bowl-bound. This factor has not altered, however, the number of saves and sparkling tackles that Cannamela has made for Troy.

In no less than four out of SC's six games, including close contests with California and Stanford, Cannamela has been the greatest lineman in the contest, with full or partial credit for more than 50 per cent of his team's tackles.

Besides meeting Torgeson, Richter and Pomeroy on neutral ground, Cannamela also has the opportunity to compare his wares with the most widely recognized of the West's linebackers—USLA's Donn Moomaw—when the Trojans and Bruins meet in the Biggest Game Nov. 25.

A native of New London, Ct., Cannamela deprived himself of a chance to share "Lineman of the the Week" honors with Moomaw, selected for his fabled performance against Purdue Oct. 28. Cannamela, after hogging the defensive spotlight throughout the afternoon, narrowly missed intercepting a Stanford pass that would have assured SC of victory instead of a 7-7 tie on Nov. 4.

At 195 lbs., Candy is the smallest of the PCC's linebacking aces but looks forward to another full season along with Richter and Moomaw to prove his greatness.

SPORTS

Bruins Home After Rout By Cal, Rest For SC Game

Back home from that awesome 35 to 0 defeat by the Big Bruising Bears of California, the UCLA Bruins will get a rest this week end and prepare for the USC game the following week. They have no game scheduled and will watch the Trojans battle Washington in the Coliseum Saturday afternoon.

The Bruins came through the rout last week in good condition with no injuries reported. With the USC game still nine days away it is hoped out Westwood way that the players previously injured will get better and that the Bruins will thus be at full strength for the Trojans.

With Johnny Florence, Bob Moore and Joe Marvin all on the injured list last week, Coach Sanders was forced to insert one of his fullbacks, Whitney Arceneaux, into the tail-back spot to help Ted Narleski. And what a job he did.

Arceneaux Sparkles

Arceneaux sparked the only Bruin drive of the day as he completed four out of four passes for 46 yards. A fifth was completed for an apparent touchdown but was called back when it was detected that one of the Bruin backs had been in motion. This pass play was a beauty to behold. Arceneaux made a motion to pass, faked a statue of liberty play as his right half rushed by and then threw a perfect strike to Don Cogswell for 27 yards and a touchdown, but it was called back.

It is almost a certainty that this New Orleans boy who is only a sophomore will see more action than he has previously when the Bruins meet USC next week.

Dave Williams was the second leading gainer for the Bruins with 32 yards net in eight carriet. His average was four yards per try.

In the meantime California was handing UCLA its worst defeat since 1943 when they lost to March Field 47-7. They seemed to do everything right as they pulverized the Bruin line and stopped their backs.

Johnny Olszewski, Jim Monachino and Pete Schabarum ran up and down the field for 321 yards net gained from running while the Bruin backs were held to a measly 39 yards. Cal led in first downs 18-6. The only department in which the Bruins excelled was in punting, which they had to do often since they couldn't advance otherwise. Bob Moore punted seven times for an average of 48.3 yards.

Red Sanders, the usually loquacious southern gentleman who guides the destinies of UCLA, said after the game "Cal today was one of the best college teams I have ever seen. We were completely outclassed and outplayed from start to finish. The score accurately reflects the difference between the two squads."

New Ministerial Alliance To Hold Officer Election Sunday

A general discussion in regard to the need for an Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance for local young preachers only, took place in the main auditorium of the South Los Angeles Community Center on last Sunday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by Bishop C. F. Kyle, who also stated its purpose.

Others present expressed themselves in no uncertain terms as being in complete harmony and agreement with such a move that would result in bringing long overdue recognition and consideration as well as proper encouragement to all young ministers (male or female) who have felt the divine call to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ.

It was decided that membership in the proposed Alliance be limited to local ministers only, whether active or inactive, who are not serving as pastors. After becoming members of the Alliance, no minister will lose his membership upon being called or elected to serve as pastor of a congregation.

The election of officers to serve the Alliance during the first year was held over until 6 p.m. on next Sunday evening, November 19th, for the convenience of those who found it impossible to be present on last Sunday.

The place of election will be the South L. A Community Center, 10123 South Beach Street in Watts. All local ministers (not pastors), regardless of race, creed or color, are urged to be present, and to participate in the election.

One of the first official acts of the new Alliance will be to form a committee for the prupose of deciding the time and place for the launching of an extensive revival campaign to be conducted by the Alliance. Call LOgan 5-8513 or NEwmark 5-7784 for further information.

For safety's sake, check your headlights.

Last Rites For Quint G. Garnett

In a setting of striking beauty and dignity, Mr. Quint Garnett, effectionally called "boss," was buried from the Peoples Funeral Home, Thursday, with the ritualistic Episcopal service, and the Rev. Father H. Randolph Moore celebrant. The body lay in state from 12 o'clock noon at which time friends were permitted to pay their respects. During the services beginning at 1 o'clock and lasting one hour, the casket was sealed in accordance with Episcopalian ritual.

Mr. Garnett was a Presbyterian, but embraced the Episcopal faith upon his marriage Jan. 6, 1919, at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Tacoma, Washington, with Bishop Frederick Webb officiating. His wife was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Sley of Omaha and Boston.

Floral tributes by the score banked the bronze casket, overflowing the steps and the chapel proper, bespeaking the esteem in which this much loved man was held. They came from friends and former neighbors; from up and down the coast, From Seattle, Tacoma and Western Canada; from Omaha, Chicago, Boston, and New Jersey. A "Broken Heart" of red and white roses from the grief stricken wife; a blanket of orchids; a massive gate of roses, crysanthemums and carnations; a lamp of hoses, carnations and birds of paradise. Sprays and various pieces from his staff of employees and a copy of a mural in his restaurant, to name a few.

The entire service of Scripture, Psalms, prayers and blessing; the music with Mrs. A. P. Crawford at the organ, and Miss Floritta Taylor soloist, carried solace and comfort to every one present. Brief prayers at the grave in Evergreen Cemetery closed the rites.

MEN'S DAY SPEAKER, Rev. Brice U. Taylor, graduate of USC and rated as one of the world's leading football coaches, and presently a physical education teacher at Jefferson High, will be the guest speaker for the eleven o'clock and three o'clock services for the Annual Men's Day observation at McCoy Memorial Baptist Church Sunday.

Luvenia Nash Singers, St. Paul Baptist, Tues.

The Hostess Club of St. Paul Baptist Church presents the nationally famous Luvenia Nash and her peerless choir, Tuesday evening, November 21, at 21st and Naomi street, in a benefit concert for the new St. Paul Baptist building fund.

Mr. Storm Harmon, the chairman of the Trustees board, secured Miss Nash for the Hostess Club.

Miss Nash has made a name for herself in the musical world both as the West's finest organist and choir director. She has appeared in the Hollywood Bowl and received the highest praise from leading music critics on six occasions. Five seasons at the Procellas in the Redlands Bowl. This season she produced William Grant Still's "Caribbean Melodies," which electrified the audience. Last season she packed the Ramona Bowl to capacity, the ovation of bravos asked for more for ten minutes after the last song echoed and died away. The people refused to leave.

United States Supreme Justice Frank Murphy stated in the Hollywood Bowl: "Only Miss Nash has the art and unique manner to direct and bring our Spirituals as they should be sung."

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

Union Thanksgiving Service at Wesley

Wesley Methodist Church and Phillip's Temple C.M.E. Church will hold their annual Thanksgiving Service Thursday morning, November 23, at 11 o'clock at Wesley Methodist Church, 52 and Main Streets.

Dr. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor of Wesley, will preside at the services and Dr. N. S. Curry, pastor of Phillip's Temple, will deliver the sermon. Music will be furnished by the choirs of both services. Each church is working hard to have a minimum of 350 of their respective memberships present. The public is cordially invited.

Women's Day Rally Sunday At Western Ave. Christian Church

Among the many activities comprising Western Avenue Christian Church's mammoth rally, is the Women's Day Rally to be held at both the morning and evening services, on Sunday, November 19, 1950. This lively little church is situated on the corner of Western Avenue and 30th street.

Mrs. Susie Williams, chairman of the Women's Committee, promises a stirring 11:00 a.m. worship service, with special music prepared for the occasion. Also, a very prominent speaker, Miss Helen E. Henry, will deliver the message for the morning service. Miss Henry, a native Texan, is a product of Jarvis Christian College and received her bachelors degree Cum Laude from Samuel Houston College of Austin, Texas. She is at present a full time field worker in Dept. of Christian Education of the Los Angeles Church Federation. In addition to these qualifications, Miss Henry is an ordained minister of the Christian Church.

The 8:00 p.m. program of the rally will consist of a carefully planned musical, which promises to be a treat.

Western Avenue Christian Church extends a cordial invitation to all to come and worship with them at this special Women's Day Service.

Also, if you do not regularly attend church, come visit us, and plan to make Western Avenue Christian your church home.

The guy was taking a petition all over the shipyards. Big, red-necked, balding slightly in the front, he had a face like an old hat, crumpled, weather-beaten and friendly.

Muscles knotted up in his arms like so many ration points of beef, and he took steps as if he thought he was Gulliver in the land of Lilliput.

He would lumber up to some turner, ship fitter, even a lead-man, and rumble a request for the guy's signature.

Say, Bub, I got a petition here on gettin' the colored fellers into a union like everybody else. How 'bout your Johnny Hancock?"

Well, that approach usually promoted a little discussion, but Big Baldy knew all the answers and before he got through reciting the achievements of Joe Louis, Dorie Miller, Crispus Attucks, and Simon Jones, the Negro kid who saved the lives of fifteen fellow-workers last week, Baldy usually had him another name on that blasted list.

As fast as he would get one petition filled out, he'd take it to the Shipyard Workers Committee for Equal Participation, to get another one.

No one ever saw him eat. The whole lunch period he spent marching around the yard, shouting, "Say, Bub," and piling up more names on the petitions. In the morning, he was there early and working at it. Late evenings, you'd find him busier'n an insurance agent, vigorously fighting jim-crow and asking all and sundry what the hell they thought the war was about if not the equality of man.

Naturally you get curious about such a guy, so one day I walked up to him and asked him right out what was his story. And I wanted to know why a white worker would take all that time to get Negroes into their own.

Well now, sonny," he said, "it's a long story.

And he started to tell it.

Baldy was born and raised in a little town in Mississippi named Crutcher's Corner, and from what he said it was as sad a little burg as you'd find anywhere in the old country.

One of Baldy's first memories was that of a lynching. He said it had been like an extra New Year's Day. The school house was closed up. The few businesses in town shut their doors. The town paper came out with a special edition printed in red, white and blue.

The Negro had been strung up out at a grove called Baker's Bridge. The whole town went out there. For a while everybody stood and watched the body moving gently in the breeze. Every now and again a stalwart citizen, usually a young fellow showing off for the crowd, would send another bullet crashing into the Negro's body. Finally, the women whipped up a big picnic barbecue.

Well, that would give me an idea of Baldy's home town, and Baldy stayed right there until a year and a half ago. He was the town blacksmith, but some guy had come through from California talking about the big wages in Los Angeles shipyards, and the next thing you know Baldy was signing on at Calship.

Baldy's first impression of the City of the Angels was that the Negroes here have no idea of their place, sit all over the white folks on the street car, talk about their "rights" and want the same pay for the same work a white man does.

So, being a simple and direct kind of guy, Baldy determined to straighten out these matters. He inquired around the yards as to where the Negro settlement was and set out to put the Central Avenue Negroes in their place.

He laid out an itinerary, first, the Club Alabam, the Memo, the California Eagle office, etc.

Baldy walked into the Alabam, jumped onto the stage in the middle of Wynonie's floor show, grabbed the microphone, and said to the Negroes he didn't want to see one of their black so-and-so's left in the joint after he counted ten.

Two days later, when Baldy was feeling well enough to go back to work, he was really burned up and dead set on getting revenge for the indignity he had suffered.

There were a dozen fellows he worked with every day, all California men, and Baldy told them all about his experience in the Alabam.

When he got through, he picked up a stick, hollered out good and loud, "Let's go get them damn darkies at the Alabam. How many are with me? Let's go!"

Well, Baldy figured the guys had got sick all of a sudden, but this wasn't the case at all. It was clear, however, nobody was following him anywhere. They were all screaming and slapping each other on the back and laughing like Baldy was Bob Hope or something.

They kept asking him to tell how he went in the Club Alabam and counted ten. Every time he told it, the crowd got bigger and the laughs louder.

Finally, Baldy understood he was getting made a fool of, and went off about his business. But for days later, every time he passed one of those Yankees, they would pick up a stick and yell "Come on, let's go." Then they would laugh like an octopus was tickling them.

It was shortly after this that Baldy ran into this colored guy on the job. He worked right next to Baldy and he was so blasted good at his job, Baldy couldn't help admire the easy grace of his motions and the absolute economy of movement in the way he handled his tools.

You can't stand next to a man day after day without saying something, and so when nobody was looking, Baldy began to start conversations. They got along swell, and one day this guy invited Baldy to a meeting of the Shipyard Workers Committee for Equal Participation.

Well, Baldy didn't know what to say, how to wiggle out of it, so he ended up promising to be at Second Baptist Church, 24th and Griffith streets, at 8 p.m. Thursday night.

He had never sat down in the same room with so many Negroes. He didn't feel good about it, but he didn't feel bad either. As a matter of fact, he was secretly relieved that he didn't have to make a fuss.

Then it happened. Tall, lanky Walter Williams, president of the committee, got up to make a speech. He said that Negro and white workers must be united to win the war. He said that discrimination against one worker is a division in the ranks of all workers and injures all alike. He told of Joe Louis and Dorie Miller and Crispus Attucks. He welcomed the white workers to the meeting. He looked right into Baldy's eyes and asked if they would like to distribute petitions asking equal union participation.

Baldy's head played an awful trick on him. For a moment, he remembered that Negro's body back in Baker's Bridge, gently stirring in the breeze.

His conscience rose up inside him like something alive, with feet that kicked him in his stomach and hands tearing at the top of his head.

Baldy said, "Yes," he'd take some of the petitions.

Just then Baldy broke off the story. He'd seen a likely prospect across the street. He lit out, bellowing . . .

"Say, Bub!"

LIBERTY

Oh Liberty! Is thine essence,
And thy form so vague,
That man cannot understand
Your chaste simplicity?
Countless heads fall at thy feet,
And pyramid on crimson dust,
Monuments of ghastly crimes.

TRIUMPH

A striking lash,
A piercing cry;
But in the end,
A broken whip;
And then,
A laugh—
A triumph laugh.

JUSTICE

Justice! Can a blindfold
Strain full judgment,
When you weigh
The deeds of man?

IMPERIALISM

The corpse that will not die is dead—
Shall we breath
its deadly stench?

Conaty had her annual Hop last Friday nite. And now for the startling NEWS. You didn't know that Ledious Mourney went to the dance with Elverette Stewart, did you ????, or that Beverly Guano went with Allen St. Julian. Of all things, they tried to spread it around that they went as a group; not as couples. All who believed that, stood on their heads.

Barbara

I haven't heard much from the Dorothy Johnson, Earnie Hutchinson romance, have you ???... Jody Clark is now awaiting, breathlessly, for the arrival of that Buster Jones. He'll be comin' home from Japan in about a week. Tee hee. I heard about Leah Barnes and Mell. Wonder if that's who she went to the dance with ???... According to rumor, the best-dressed girl at the Conaty dance was Rosalind Daulphine. With that stunning red dress and those dreamy heels, she couldn't help but have been.... When are Chester Herring and Connie Johnson going to get hitched??... Gilford Dumas and Audrey Butler are goin' back together for the 6th time.

R. J. Monk has finally, after due consideration, decided to go back with Yvonne Butler. Gee, she must be awful lucky.... What happened to Manuel last Saturday. It's said that, had Carl Yarber been on the team, they probably would have won the game. Rumor, of course.... Gloria Evans and John Heary are still communicating with one-another daily. I imagine they're runnin' the post office crazy.... Spied Goldie Toomes in the theatre with Cecil Cordova last Sunday nite.... I suppose Leah Center thought she was keepin' Leonard a secret.

Well, my dear, in going to Sports Nite at Jeff with him, you have practically advertised it.... Sparks were flyin' between Opal Wright and Carl last Sunday nite. It's all patched up now, but Carl, you had better watch out.... The Social Delights really had everyone's eyes sparklin' last week, with their swell lookin' jackets.

LOVERS OF THE WEEK

Rose Hartsfield—Clarence Caraway

LOVER GAL

Tip Bailey's pick of the week is Laura Tlmore. She is 5 ft. 1, 112 lbs., black curly hair, teasin' brown, attends Roosevelt Hi and is 15 yrs. old. My gracious, she's just loaded with dimples.

LOVER MAN

Alvis Andrews. Everybody's tryin' to get him. He's about 5 ft. 11, 180 lbs., lite brown skin, 18 yrs., a Jordon student, and most important of all, a GIRL-OLOGIST. In fact, quite an eminent one.

No, I ain't got much news, and it's all your fault. Why in the devil don't ya-all send me some news? ?-?-?-?

See ya soon.

Beware, boys, of that gal Hawkins.
Watch out for her low, sweet talkin's.
Check if Sadie is a lady
Or if her past is rather shady.

After the Brawl Is Over

(Nov. 7 was Election Day)
Those mournful, plaintive cries
I now no longer hear
(They were to put me wise):
"Beware of last-ditch smear!"

Leslie E. Claypool, political editor for the Daily News, writes: "Republicans have scored a thumping victory in California over their Democratic rivals. Why?" Well, for one thing, the News, supposedly a Democratic paper, regularly endorses such Republican candidates as Earl Warren, Fletcher Bowron, Carl Hinshaw, Gordon McDonough, etc., etc.

LOSER

(More on the election)
Considering what he called his opponent DURING the race, I'm convulsed with laughter at the phoniness of his congratulatory message that he sends to him AFTER.

Future Artists Concert

The Fifth Annual Future Artists Concert will be held Sunday, December 17 at Bowen Memorial Methodist Church, it was announced this week by Leon W. Steward, who with the cooperation of interested music teachers, has promoted this project in the interest of giving talented musical children under twelve opportunity for self expression for the past five years.

The teachers who cooperated in the project last December, Mr. Steward stated, are Miss Lucile Bacotes, and Mesdames Eunice Blackwell, Ethel Brooks, Dovie Steward, Ethel Thompson and Rosemond Watson. These others who were unable to do so last year are expected to make up the program for this year's Future Artists Concert, he said.

Cyclorama Of UN At Jeff Hi Tonite

The National Association of Negro Musicians, Inc., is presenting a Cyclorama of United Nations at Thomas Jefferson High School auditorium tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Among some of the featured artists of the evening will be Lavenia Nash Freeze and her women's group; Audrey Green's Symphonic Choristers; Ollie MacDonald, tenor; Oscar Plant, baritone; and the Hightower Orchestra under the direction of Alma Hightower.

Gwendolyn Harriel will direct an octet in singing the national anthems of the 14 countries being represented.

Admission is by your vote for one of the 14 queens representing a country. Votes may be obtained from any N.A.N.M. member or at the door on the evening of the performance.

Each queen is endeavoring to raise the largest sum and be crowned Queen of the United Nations during the finale by a distinguished guest of honor.

Plan to be present for an enjoyable and informative evening. Come out and learn more of our brothers in other countries.

Zetas Conference

The three chapters of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Gamma Sigma Zeta, Beta Eta Zeta and XI Alpha met Sunday at the home of Mrs. Edna Mae Moore, 3929 South Hobart to plan their program for the year and more especially the Regional Conference which meets in Berkeley on Thanksgiving weekend. The hostesses were Beta Eta Zeta chapter. Autumn colors and flowers were predominant in the decorations, the table being attractively arranged with the general harvest theme, including horns of plenty "filled with Thanksgiving nuts and candies.

The conference theme: "Human Relations, Democracy and World Peace" was announced by the regional director, Mrs. Vivian Boswell. Much enthusiasm was dispelayed by the Zetas who are planning to charter a plane leaving Los Angeles on the 24th for the three day weekend. It is expected that approximately 30 Zetas will go.

Plans were also discussed concerning the Boule meeting in New Orleans, La., December 26. The Pacific Region, composed of chapters in Arizona, California, Washington and Oregon, is sending a large delegation to the Boule.

ASNLH Holds 3-Day Session in Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga.—In one of the best-planned and best attended conventions in years, the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History closed out a stirring three-day meeting here last Sunday. This was the 35th annual meeting and brought together Negro and white scholars from the North, South and Middle West.

The crowd for the opening meeting packed Sister's Chapel at Spelman College. About 1500 students, faculty members and visitors were present to hear the Mayor of Atlanta, William B. Hartsfield, greet the historians and Dr. Charles H. Wesley pay a glowing tribute to the late Dr. Carter G. Woodson.

Succeeding sessions shifted to the campuses of Clark College, Morris Brown College and Atlanta University and then to the city itself.

The business and organization meetings of the Association, resulted in the re-election of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune as president and Louis R. Mehlinger as secretary-treasurer, and the election of Dr. Rayford W. Logan as director. Dr. Logan had been previously appointed to this position by the Association's Executive Council, subsequent to the death of Dr. Woodson.

Main Street P.-T.A.

The regular PTA meeting of the Main Street School will be held this Thursday, November 16 at 1:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The speaker will be Mrs. L. A. Von Whitehouse, supervisor in the curriculum department. She will talk about the course of study of the elementary division.

The president of the Main St. PTA urges all parents to attend.

HERE'S THE AMAZING LANOLIN-SOFTENING SKIN CREAM

You've Waited Years To Get!

NEW SCIENTIFIC FAMILY-USE CREAM GREAT AS POWDER BASE, NIGHT CREAM

Here is the new, amazing skin cream that's a great new "daily-use" cream for old and young. Its skin-softening lanolin smooths and beautifies, and its gentle medication helps heal little skin troubles. Use as cleansing cream, also to help smooth little dry skin lines as you sleep. Greaseless, disappears into skin, leaves smooth base that holds makeup tightly for hours.

DRY, COARSE, ROUGH SKIN NOW SOFTENED QUICKLY

Nearest-to-nature lanolin sinks in to make ugly, coarse skin soft and smooth. Use Mexsana Skin Cream daily as a guard against roughening action of weather, dust and other external irritants.

*Contains LANOLIN Nearest to nature's own softening action

New Mexsana Skin Cream corrects as it cares for your skin. Snow-white and greaseless, this one perfect skin cream is the new beauty treatment that works day and night for your loveliness.

GENTLE MEDICATION HELPS SOOTHE, HEAL SIMPLE IRRITATIONS

Externally caused minor skin troubles are greatly helped by this scientific daily care. Cools irritated burning feet, smooths chapped hands. Soothes baby's itchy diaper rash.

MEN WANT THEIR OWN JAR SUCH A BIG SHAVING FAVORITE

Great as a brushless shave cream, or as a base if you use lather and brush. Cools. Lanolin softens. Mild medication soothes "nicks." 70c jar contains more than twice as much as 35c size. Buy a jar for every member of your family. You must be satisfied, or you get your money back!

Dr. Anthony, Liberian Patriot And Lincoln Graduate, Passes

Dr. Luke Anthony, physician, and graduate of Lincoln University in the class of 1891, died in Monrovia, Liberia, on October 15.

Dr. Anthony's death brought to an end a romantic story of his achievement. Born in the African "bush" in 1870, a member of the Bassa Tribe, he came to America for a college and medical education. He was graduated from Lincoln University and later from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School after which he returned to Liberia.

Dr. Anthony's most dramatic service to the Republic came about in 1905 during one of the periods when the French were threatening to absorb Liberia. A plot had been prepared by which the French Minister was to declare to the world that a Yellow Fever epidemic had broken out in Liberia.

The French were then to put Liberia in "quarantine" by sealing off her ports with battleships. Under pretext of putting an end to the epidemic, they would then have occupied the Republic. Because all communications had been cut, the protests of Liberia would never have been heard outside the country. This was, of course, before radio communications had been introduced in the world.

Saved

Dr. Anthony was hurriedly called in by the Liberian authorities. With the microscope which he had learned to use at Lincoln University and later at Penn, he proved that the organism involved in the afflicted persons was the plasodium of malaria, not Yellow Fever. Faced with this scientific and incontestable proof, the French Minister was obliged to withdraw his claim, and the Republic of Liberia was saved.

Dr. Anthony entered Lincoln University in 1886. He was sent to Lincoln by former graduates of Lincoln University who had already returned to their native Africa. His benefactors were Moses A. Hopkins, at that time Minister to Liberia, and Thomas N. Roberts, a Librarian.

After graduating from Lincoln in 1891, Dr. Anthony pursued his medical studies at the University of Pennsylvania and at Flower Medical College in New York. On his return to Monrovia, he had great success as a practitioner and was at one time Surgeon General of the Liberian Army.

U.S. Foreign Policy

and the intention of the U.S. to fight Russia on Asian soil with the atomic bomb and with indifference to the loss of Asian lives.

Finally to be noted is that the much publicized San Francisco speech by President Truman on October 17 urging Asians to join in partnership with the U. S. against Soviet Communism had a "uniformly critical" reception in India, according to the New York Times. The Hindustan Times, a paper close to the Indian Government, said that in view of Mr. Truman's "calculated silence" on Korea, Indo-China and China, the "partnership of peace which he proposed is in danger of remaining an elegant slogan which can hardly enthuse the people of Asia."

Delta Art Exhibit, Wilfandel, Sun.

Art pieces of every type, representing many schools of art, will be on display in the Delta Art Exhibition at the Wilfandel Clubhouse on Sunday, Nov. 19, from 12 noon to 7 p.m. Several of the exhibiting artists will be present to explain their work, some of which will be for sale.

Mrs. Abylene Winge, chairman of the exhibition, has spared no pains to make this, the second Delta Art Exhibition, even better than the preceding one.

The public is invited to the exhibition.

SCSMH Meets Fri.

The State program to meet California's mental health needs will be presented at the Southern California Society for Mental Hygiene meeting Friday, 8 p.m., November 17, in the Virgil Jr. High School, 152 North Vermont. It will be entitled "Foundations for California's Preventive Mental Health Program." General admission 50c. Society members, free.

Nominations Of NAACP Officers Being Received

The Nominating Committee, for the purpose of presenting nominations for all officers and the executive committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been elected.

The members are: Ashton C. Kitchens, chairman; Mrs. Geraldine Harvey, secretary; James Anderson, Clarence Armour, John Dial, Mrs. Matilda Parker and David F. Wilson.

Hootenanny At Embassy, Sunday

Songs of the IWW, valiant fighters for civil rights in an earlier day, will be among the features of the Civil Rights Hootenanny, to be held Sunday evening, November 26, at the Embassy Auditorium.

This will be a Hootenanny with a difference, according to Earl Robinson, whose cantata "In the Folded and Quiet Yesterdays" will be performed by the Earl Robinson Chorus as the climax to an exciting evening. This theme of the evening is the people's fight for civil rights over the years, as typified by the IWW, the heroic defenders of Republican Spain, and others. Earl Robinson will act as master of ceremonies and narrator. The narration and the various people's songs will carry the continuity.

Tickets for the Hootenanny, which will be presented under the auspices of the Civil Rights Congress may be purchased in advance at the CRC office and through the IPP clubs, as well as at the box office of the Embassy the night of the performance. Prices are 85 cents and $1.20.

James Patton Sings At Pepperdine Sun.

The Senior Choir of Christ Temple Church is presenting James Patton, tenor, in a concert this Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the George Pepperdine College auditorium, 1121 W. 79th St.

James Patton is a Texan by birth. He began his musical education at Wiley College, and received his master's degree in voice from the University of Southern California. He has appeared in two professional productions: "Carmen Jones" and "Finnian's Rainbow." The concert will be of high artistic quality, and one well worth attending.

Beaux Arts Ball to Feature Unique Costume Ideas Nov. 24

There was surely plenty of excitement at Sunday's meeting of the League of Allied Arts, when the General Chairman, Faustina N. Johnson presented a report of the final arrangements for the League's First Annual "Beaux Arts Ball." The Committee has decided that there will be no set theme for costuming, patrons and guests may come costumed as please.

President Dorothy Johnson, let the secret out that she would follow the well known movie star parade leader in a costume of unusual beauty.

Francis Henderson, Estelle Sherwood, Antoinette Atkinson, Paulyn Garner and Lou Jordan are busy as a flock of bees arranging the refreshment lineup. In fact, one cannot miss the first annual "Beaux Arts Ball." IT IS A MUST, Friday, November 24, 1950 from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Beverly Chateau, 7819 Beverly Blvd.

C'mf'y and Independent Churches Unite in Service At People's Independent

The first Sunday of the month, Community and Independent Churches, with their pastors, officers and choir members, paid homage to the "Father Church" of the Western Regional, "The People's Independent Church of Christ" of which Rev. Clayton D. Russell, D.D. is minister, and whose thirty-fifth anniversary closed with that celebration.

The Cathedral Choir, Mrs. Fannie E. Benjamin, organist and Mr. Albert J. McNeil, A.B., M.A., director, vacated their posts after rendering of the anthem "The Heavens Are Telling," and the places were refilled by the choir of the Neighborhood Community Church, with Rev. Gamaliel Mansfield Collins, director; Miss Sarah E. Collins, accompanist, who furnished the music for the rest of the evening.

The Reverends Effie Harris-Parris, Lewella M. Evans, Ona B. Russell, Ida Stamps, Tillie Lewis, H. Mansfield Collins, Clayton D. Russell, D.D., Foster H. Hydes, Henry E. Cook, George Garner occupied the pulpit.

Rev. H. Mansfield Collins delivered the message, taken from the second chapter of Nehemiah first 18 verses.

Deaconess Maggie Whitley, one of the Pioneer 47, and the first president of the Deaconess oBard who is now serving in that same office, responded on behalf of the church.

Sidney Cain joined our forces by immersion. The partaking of the Holy Communion followed by the fellowship, one with another.

A five o'clock Twilight Hour Service of Zion Temple Community Church, prevented Rev. Geraldine O'Connor and flock (with sorrowful regrets) from being with us.

—Mrs. Mary L. Parker, reporter of the Women's Christian Fellowship of the Western Regional.

Fall Talent Festival, Sat.

NAACP Plans Action Against Revival Of Race Restrictions

Vicious, organized action, designed to force Negro homeowners out of illegally restricted neighborhoods is being investigated by the NAACP, according to Dr. E. I. Robinson, local president.

The investigation will center around incidents reported by Mrs. A. L. Prudhome of 1945 E. 76th street and David Rochelle, 6306 Mirramonte.

Mrs. Prudhome purchased her home in December 1949. The day she moved in hoodlums scattered glass and rocks on the front lawn. Mrs. Prudhome called the Sheriff's office and Sheriff's deputies responded.

Things remained quiet until last Tuesday and Friday when glass was again scattered on the front lawn. Thursday morning, Mrs. Prudhome found a circular which is reproduced on page 5 in this issue on her front lawn. Headed "THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT HAS RULED NEGROES CANNOT OCCUPY RESTRICTED PROPERTY," the circular goes on to relate: 'SEGREGATION OF RACES UPHELD OCTOBER, 1950." It is signed by 'CITIZENS UNITED INCORPORATED,' 6217 Converse avenue, Los Angeles 1. The phone number given is JE 5406.

In the Rochelle case, their fence was burned when they moved in about five months ago. Nothing occurred following the fire until Sept. 29, when Mr. Rochelle received a circular in

Roybal Honored By Magazine

In the November 13 edition of Fortnight Magazine, Councilman Edward R. Roybal was selected as one of the top performers of the year for the state of California.

Councilman Roybal was selected as the "hard-hitting Catholic liberal on the Los Angeles City Council, representing the slum district of Los Angeles. He fought steadily within a City Council which has been called 'the most corrupt in the city's history.'"

Dr. Bunche's Picture Printed On L. A. Transit Lines Passes

Mrs. Ethel A. Dunn, an outstanding church and civic worker is responsible for the picture of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, United Nations official and 1950 winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, appearing on ne t week's passes issued by the Los Angeles Transit Lines.

The etching of Dr. Bunche which appears on the face of the pass in the left hand corner, is the work of Calvin Bailey, internationally known artist, who copied the drawing from a portrait for which Dr. Bunche sat recently.

Singlehandedly

Mrs. Dunn conceived the idea of putting the picture of Dr. Bunche on the passes where Angelenos could see the famous statesman who has contributed more to the cause of peace than any other individual. Singlehandedly, she negotiated with officials of the transit lines and this week her efforts were rewarded when preview copies of the pass were issued showing Dr. Bunche's likeness.

The passes will be sold to the public generally after midnight Saturday, and they will be in effect for a full week. At their expiration, they will be valuable as a historical momento.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

In my last Sidewalk I said I was going to discuss politics in the churches.

I shall not call names, since I have no desire to attack individuals, but a condition that is like a disease festering, spreading and threatening the existence of an institution, especially in its relationship to the Negro people, and which in too many instances is contributing to their economic delinquency rather than their advancement.

During the period of slavery in the United States, the one freedom that the slaves enjoyed was freedom of worship. Of course, not in beautiful edifices such as exist today, but on the plantation and in slave quarters.

Naturally the moneyed interests—those who made large profits in the slave trade—encouraged emotional types of worship for the slaves, and it is conjectured for the poor whites also. They thought that so long as the slaves were lulled into a state of contentment through this sort of religious faith, there would be no uprisings or breaks for freedom.

In this they were grossly mistaken, for according to records many of these extremely sensational spiritual outbursts were culminations of plans for the escape of some slave which was to take place the next day or the next week.

Among the slaves there were truly devout churchmen, but often these church leaders were shrewd politicians also. According to "The Underground Railroad," the slaves had discovered that their slave masters who demonstrated the greatest proportion of Christianity were the most cruel masters.

Here is an excerpt from a letter written by Levi Coffin, a Christian leader in the liberation movement for the slaves. This letter was penned by Coffin in a moment of despair.

"I fear all is over in regard to the freedom of the slaves. If the last account is true, we have small hope that Concklin will escape from those bloody tyrants. I cannot describe my feelings on hearing this sad intelligence. I feel ashamed to own my country. Oh! what shall I say? Surely a God of justice will avenge the wrongs of the oppressed."

In the dark days of slavery, if there had been no church organization perhaps there would have been no liberation movement, such as the one headed by strong men like N. W. Depee, Jacob C. White, Charles Weise, Edwin H. Soales, Peter Still, John Henry Hill, William Craft, Rev. William H. Furness, Frederick Douglass, and John Brown who built a path to freedom.

As the chimes rang out for freedom from chattel

Stay Granted, CRC Cancels Va. Crusade

The Civil Rights Congress and the Virginia Committee to Save the Martinsville Seven announced this week the cancellation of the delegation scheduled to visit Gov. John S. Battle on Nov. 15 to demand a pardon for the Martinsville Seven.

As crusade delegates, Negro and white, from such far-flung points as Colorado, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York prepared to board cars and buses to leave for Richmond, Governor Battle issued the stay for the seven young Negro men.

Last Minute

The last-minute stay was granted a few hours after Battle had received the crusade's request for an audience and just after he had read a protest from the World Federation of Trade Unions, representing 78 million members throughout the world. Leading officials of two important national unions, the Packinghouse Workers and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers had also pledged full support.

Leading the crusade were such well-known American figures as William L. Patterson, executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, who led the defense of another group of white-supremacy victims, the Scottsboro Boys.

With him were three outstanding authors: Dashiell Hammett, Earl Conrad, who, with Haywood Patterson, wrote the famed "Scottsboro Boy," and Howard Fast, whose "Freedom Road" is a landmark of American literature about the Negro people.

Bratton Sues Liberty Savings

Coroner's Jury Frees Williams Of Homicide

Charles Williams, manager of the Morris hotel, was exonerated last Thursday of the fatal shooting of Luke Green, 42. Williams admitted shooting Green and claimed he shot in self-defense. A coroner's jury, after a short deliberation, returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Witnesses testified that the slain man was in the act of attacking Williams with an open knife when the hotel manager shot him. Reportedly, Green had been terrorizing several persons in the vicinity of the Morris Hotel, located at 809 E. 5th St. prior to his attempted attack on Williams.

Police records indicate Green had been arrested several times, and about three months ago he was arrested for slashing a man almost to death within a block of the spot where he met his death. It is also reported that the slain man had killed two men in knife battles.

Williams, who is well-known throughout Los Angeles, bears an excellent reputation.

Assistant Secretary Asks Court for Award of $1200 for Services

Bertrand B. Bratton, assistant secretary of the Liberty Savings and Loan Association, has filed a suit to collect $1200 which he claims is due him for professional services rendered the association in his capacity of accountant during the past year. The suit is directed at Louis M. Blodgett, president and manager and the Liberty Savings and Loan Association.

Bratton, one of the nation's leading accountants and only Negro Certified Public Accountant in the far west, has been connected with the loan association for a number of years. The 'break' that came a few weeks ago between him and L. M. Blodgett when the case was filed by Atty. Loren Miller, was a shock to the local business and professional world.

Bratton claims the association owes him the money for services rendered.

Atty. Charles H. Mathews, demurred to the complaint last Thursday and it was sustained. Miller amended the complaint and the case will probably go to trial in a few days.

Uncle Toms In Labor Exposed By Guinier

"Time is running out for the Uncle Toms in the labor movement," says Ewart Guinier, International Secretary-Treasurer of the United Public Workers, in a major article published in the November issue of March of Labor magazine.

Mr. Guinier characterizes "Uncle Toms" in the labor movement in the following manner:

"They rose to power because Negro workers, barred from all but the dirtiest, lowest paid jobs, segregated in Jim Crow unions, developed their own leaders who became symbols of the struggle of the Negro people. Like the Murrays, the Reuthers, the Quills and the Currans and those white labor leaders who have sold out to the bosses, there are Negro leaders in labor who have been bought off by "exceptional" privileges, by good living and by flattery."

MISS FRANCES PALMORE, Western Regional Director of the National Organization of Phi Gamma Delta Sorority, leaves the Lockheed Air Terminal, Burbank, Calif., for Detroit, Mich., Sat. evening, Nov. 18th via North American Airlines. More than a score of friends and associates were at the airport to wish her bon voyage. Miss Palmore was called to Detroit on urgent organizational business and will return to the West Coast in a few days to resume her duties.

Arrest Mail Clerk For Letter Theft

Samuel D. Drake, 34, a mail clerk employed at Terminal Annex for the past ten years, was arrested last Thursday night and charged with theft from the mails. A letter, which Drake reportedly pilfered, contained six dollars.

Married and the father of three children, Drake is considered a model father in the south Los Angeles community where he recently purchased a home at 13433 Sanford Avenue.

He is being held in federal prison awaiting the outcome of a grand jury investigation that is being conducted on information supplied by postal investigators. Friends of the arrested postal clerk assert he might have been led to steal from the mails because of his habit of playing the horses. Neighbors and acquaintances of Drake says he is a man of fine reputation.

Wife Slayer Held To Answer; Claims Shooting Was Accident

Paul Medlock, 38-year-old wife slayer, was held to answer charges of murder when he appeared for preliminary examination last Friday in Division 4 of the Municipal Court. Judge Louis Kaufman ordered the man bound over for trial in Superior Court.

Medlock shot and killed his wife, Jasie, 31, following a jealous argument in their home the evening of November 5 of this year. The prosecution preliminary trial indicated it will seek the death penalty.

It was charged on the night of the murder, Medlock and his wife quarelled over her going out with other men. Medlock reportedly told investigating police officers summoned to the scene, that prior to the fatal shooting, he had fired a trial shot into the floor. Later he said he went outside with the heavy Luger automatic and fired it to see if it was "working."

Atty. Earl C. Broady, retained to defend Medlock, indicated he may make a determined attempt to prove the shooting was accidental, despite the testimony of police and a sister of the deceased, Mrs. Christine Caldwell. The couple have a 15 year old son.

American Child Exiled Under Foreign-Born Persecution Law

Beatrice Siskind Johnson, resident of the United States for 36 years, is returning today, November 10, to her native Poland, with her seven year old American-born child, it was announced by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

Mrs. Johnson, one of the more than 160 non-citizens who have been persecuted by the Justice Department because of her political opinions and progressive activities, is leaving voluntarily under an order of deportation, in order that her child may not be subjected to the sorrow of being separated from her mother, in this current drive in which some 47 non-citizens have been arrested and held without bail.

A statement by Mrs. Johnson, on the eve of her departure, said in part:

"Farewell America, but not for long. I am being forced to leave this country where I have spent the major part of my life, in order to protect my child against those who would separate her from me by holding me in an American concentration camp. I am being forced into exile by the McCarran Law. My child, an American-born daughter of an American citizen, is forced to live in exile, because she is too young to take care of herself. This is the ffuit of the McCarran Law. This is the fruit of the war policy of Wall Street. Foreign born Americans are the first to be jailed and exiled, as a prelude to what they plan for the rest of the American people."

Howard Vindicated By Verdict; Attorneys Plan Appeal Of Fines

H. A. Howard, founder and former president of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association was considered vindicated this week of charges of embezzlement on which he was tried in federal Judge Westover's court recently.

Originally charged on a 21 count indictment alleging many criminal acts, Howard was found guilty on two counts concerned with making reports. He was fined $1500 on each count. Observers of the long battle to oust Howward from the presidency of Broadway Federal, and the subsequent trial, which came more than a year after the charges were first announced, assert that the two counts on which he was pronounced guilty had nothing to do with embezzlement or any criminal act.

ASP Lauds Stand Of Dr. Pauling On Loyalty Oath

The Arts, Sciences and Professions Council hailed the position taken by its Regional Chairman, Dr. Linus Pauling, before the State Senate Investigating Committee on Education. "Dr. Pauling has again proven his devotion to democracy by his defense of our American Constitution which guarantees the right to hold one's political beliefs in privacy," said Sarajo Lord, executive director of the A.S.P. She added, "Our coming convention will take up the whole question of loyalty oaths and their effect on our culture, our freedom, our very health."

The convention will be held December 2nd and 3rd at Stanley Hall, 1057 W. Stanley, in Hollywood. It will be followed by a dramatic presentation of the past accomplishments and future plans of the A.S.P. on Sunday evening at the Embassy Auditorium.

Demand Supervisors Repeal Anti-Subversive Ordinances

A demand that Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors repeal the "anti-subversive" ordinances passed in August was made this week by the Trade Union Defense Committee.

The committee formed around the recent arrest of business agent Gus Brown of Furniture Workers Local 576, organized by unionists to aid in the defense of all trade unionists, points out in a letter to the Board that two judges in Los Angeles County have already declared the ordinances unconstitutional.

Three ordinances, 5578, 5579, and 5580, require "Registration of Members of Certain Organizations" and provide "For the use of such registration statements and limiting some activities of registrants."

Unconstitutionality of the ordinances was declared by Judge Marion of Belvedere Justice Court and Judge Moffat of San Antonio Township Court. The judges held that the ordinances affected fundamental constitutional rights and liberties.

"Thought control (as expressed in the ordinance) is a copyright of totalitarianism," said Judge Marion, "and we have no claim to it."

Amici Curiae (friends of the court) briefs were filed by the Civil Liberties Union, chapters of the National Lawyers Guild, the Civil Rights Congress, and by more than a dozen trade un-

IT'S ILLEGAL

"Landlord organization heads who are advising their members to collect overceiling rents are inviting troubles for those who collect such illegal charges," Max N. Bass, acting rent director, declared this week.

"Any landlord collecting overceiling rents exposes himself to treble damage suits and injunctions in Federal Courts under existing rent laws," Bass stated.

"Rent controls are still in effect," he added.

Fund-Raising for High Court Hearing in 'Legion Case'

The "Legion Case," Hardyman vs. Collins, will be heard by the United States Supreme Court in December. The high court will be asked to uphold the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals' decision holding that meetings for the discussion of national policy may be held under federal protection and individuals who try to prevent them may be sued in the federal courts.

Significance of the case is greatest to the South where it will be possible for Negroes to hold political meetings should the Supreme Court hold with the Circuit Court's decision.

A. L. Wirin, Arthur Garfield Hays and other leading civil rights attorneys are presenting the case. The NAACP, the American Jewish Congress and the American Civil Liberties Union will file supporting briefs.

To help raise funds for the court action, the Crescenta-Canada Democratic club will give a party Saturday night at the home of the Hardymans, 2315 Los Amigos, La Crescenta. Earl Robinson, composer, balladeer and folk singer will be featured.

Dinner will be served, and there will be games, songs, prizes, refreshments and fun for all. Directions to the Hardymans are: Foothill to Briggs Ave., right on El Moreno, left on El Sereno and right on Los Amigos.

Public Works Employees Vote To Take Holiday November 30

More than 90% of the City's 2000 employees of the Department of Public Works and the Street Maintenance, Repair and Refuse Collection Dept. have voted to declare a holiday on Nov. 30th so that they may make a personal appearance before the City Council in support of theid demands for pay raises.

The balloting was conducted by the City's gang and yard foremen following a union vote to declare the work holiday. About 75% of the employees are members of the United Public Workers of America, Local 246.

Samuel J. Berland, International Representative of the Union said: "City workers just got tired of waiting for pay raises which were often promised but were not granted in over two years despite increases in the cost of living and in private industry wage scales."

The union official said that city workers' pay checks are from $62 to $105 a month less than the rates paid by private industry for the same work. Berland also pointed out that this was in violation of the City Charter which provides that the City should pay "at least prevailing wages." He said, "this violation has been admitted by practically all city officials including the Mayor, City Councilman, the City's Director of the Bureau of Budget and Efficiency, the Board of Public Works and most department heads."

The Union's decision to take the holiday in order to appear before the City Council came as a result of the Council's failure to take action on a previous request for a special night session of that body. Union men said that the holiday need not cause any inconvenience or cost to the public since they have offered to make up the lost time by working during one of their regular days off.

son, Charles Jr., 31, from his home in connection with a hold-up.

The senior Gordy shot policemen Andreas Mellert Jr. and David Morgan as they led young Gordy to a police car. Mellert was wounded fatally, and Morgan suffered gunshot wounds. The officers had summoned four squad cars when Gordy, denying knowledge of the alleged hold-up, offered resistance to being arrested.

Later, the special steel-helmeted Commando squad, organized after the 1944 Detroit race riot, came upon the scene armed for riot trouble. The crowd was visibly angered over the treatment of both Gordy senior and his son.

Schenley Executive Praised For Employing Negro Salesman

The recent training and employment of eleven Negro sales and promotion specialists by the Schenley Distilling Co., and the direcet interest shown in Negro progress by Lewis S. Rosenstiel, board chairman of the corporation, have been hailed by Julius A. Thomas, Director of Industrial Relations for the National Urban League. Thomas, whose organization was instrumental in the selection of the men finally hired, said that by its action Schenley has "moved well into the vanguard of progressive business enterprises that are today extending desirable work opportunities to qualified Negroes."

Assigned to some of the country's most important industrial centers, the Schenley representatives were given extensive training under the company's supervision at Cincinnati. All of the new men are college trained and have been given ae wider scope of operation than has been usual in the ordinary routine.

Commenting upon the Schenley move, Thomas held that the employment of these college-trained men "is in line with the company's stated policy of employment on the basis of merit and qualification." The Urban League specialist, who is recognized widely in his field, said that he has observed that in "both Schenley plants and offices, this policy has been implemeneted by positive action" on the part of management.

Trim Your Trees

The forestry division of the City Recreation and Park Department this week requested all Los Angeles property owners who have trees bordering the streets or sidewalks to check them to see if sufficient clearance is being allowed for vehicles and pedestrians.

Trees greater than 15 feet in height, under provisons of the municipal code are required to be kept trimmed to provide a minimum of nine feet of clearance above a residential street or sidewalk.

● Howard Fined

nard Jefferson, who represented Howard at the trial announced that they would immediately file an appeal from the fines imposed by Judge Westover last Friday. They had asked to have the guilty verdict based on these two counts set aside, and in denying their plea Judge Westover levied the fines. So certain is Rose of the success of an appeal, he stated that he will carry it forward without fee.

This week, Howard publicly thanked the public for its moral support during his trial. In a brief statement, he said:

"I wish to thank the ministers and their congregations for the prayers offered in my behalf during the Federal court trial. I am also deeply appreciative to my many sincere friends and well-wishers for the telegrams, letters and telephone calls expressing their happiness in my vindication of the charges of which I have been innocent.

"I particularly want to thank the community press for its fairness in reporting the trial and the unselfish support given me. May all of them enjoy bountiful blessings this Thanksgiving season."

nity for questions and answers. There will be a motorcade on Saturday at 11 a.m. sponsored by the Civil Rights Congress on the Lt. Gilbert case, and on Monday at 9 p.m. there will be a mass meeting in San Francisco, also sponsored by the CRC, on the Wesley Robert Wells case.

Mrs. Bass also expects to speak before several church groups, and at an Oakland meeting around the theme "The Negro People and the Fight for Peace."

Dr. William Borko will be chairman of the forum on Friday evening. Besides Mrs. Bass, Isobel Milton will speak on "Let the Rail Splitter Awake," and there will be reports of the "Defenders of Peace Congress."

Those conducting the panel discussion on Saturday afternoon will be: Adam Lapin, Harry Williams, Paul Chown, and Juanita Wheeler.

Rev. John Pierce will be chairman for the Saturday evening meeting. There will be a cultural program honoring the Soviet people consisting of Russian Balalaika player, Soviet songs by the Labor School Chorus, Russian folk dances, and reading from the Soviet poets.

The SIDEWALK

slavery in this nation the most fitting expression was from the pen of W. M. Whipper, who himself had been a slave and had fought valiantly for his own and his fellow sufferers' freedom.

"Now the slaves are emancipated, and we are all enfranchised after struggling for existence, freedom, and manhood, I feel thankful for having had the glorious privilege of laboring with others for the redemption of my race from oppression and thralldom; and I would prefer today to be penniless in the streets, rather than to have withheld a single hour's labor or a dollar from the sacred cause of liberty, justice, and humanity."

Sometimes I wonder what these patriots of freedom's cause would say if they could return to us.

In their struggle to break the chains of human slavery, they laid the foundation for freedom's structure—physical, spiritual and mental. Have we finished the structure?

Freedom is not built with bricks and stones, nor wood nor clay. But in the hearts of men.

We, the people, who believe in freedom must take a new, fresh start and perhaps the church, even as it was the inspiration in that early period, will go into action.

It is alarming to realize that after upwards of a hundred years Negro Americans are still mental slaves, and the objects of the most cruel types of prejudice and discrimination in the books.

Politics is the science of government. It is everywhere and in everything. It regulates the affairs of the church, state, and home. It is the alpha and omega in our lives.

The church cannot free itself from politics any more than it can from its religious teachings. They go hand in hand.

Of course it must be accepted that corrupt dealings in politics should have no place in the church. But an informed minister should keep his congregation also informed on issues that affect their liberty, security, and happiness.

For example they should know something of the records of the people they vote to place in offices to operate the affairs of government. All this is particularly true of the Negro church. The majority of the congregation is ill-informed—true not only of a Negro church, but of all churches.

A Negro congregation, however, is the direct descendant of the congregations which met in slave quarters and prayed to God to set them free. And then proceeded to answer their own prayer for those of their number who were fortunate to escape, by helping them in that escape.

And since we are the descendants of those pioneers who carried the torch of liberty so high, we, the Negro people who go to church each Sunday, who are members of the various churches in our community, are especially commissioned of the God who declared that He has made of one blood all races of men, to carry that torch of liberty farther.

WE today must fight for our full rights of American citizenship. The church of today must do that. The church of today must put its religion into the politics, the government of today. If we fail to do that, we shall fail our country, we shall fail our government, we shall fail ourselves, we shall fail the high purpose for which God made us.

ion leaders and rank and file members.

Gus Brown was the only trade union leader arrested to date undert he ordinance. His case is still pending before the El Monte Justice Court.

Immediate steps by the Board of Supervisors to repeal the ordinances are asked "in view of the laws' unconstitutionality" and the Supervisors are urged to "cease misuse of taxpayers' funds through continued enforcement of such laws."

Reminding the Supervisors that no public hearings or discussions were held when the ordinances were passed, the committee urges a date be set for a public hearing on repeal before the Board.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the seventh installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

When I visited the church of the Orthodox Greek faith in Moscow, I had the pleasure of conversing with the priest in charge of the church. I asked him pointedly if the Soviet government infringed in any way upon the services and the faith of the church, as it was taught by him and the other priests.

"Why, no," he said, as if surprised at the question. "The government doesn't concern itself with our way of worship at all. We are simply citizens of the Soviet Union. We are free to worship as we please."

"But how is the church supported?" I asked again. "Does the government grant any aid?"

"Yes," he answered readily again. "The ordinary expenses of the church are paid by the membership. But the government also grants us aid for the upkeep of the building, etc. And in any emergency we can feel free to apply to the government for aid. For instance," he added, looking up at the ceiling of the church and glancing around at its walls, "we had this church renovated and redecorated this spring. We asked the government for aid. And they gave us enough money to do the job thoroughly. All that you see here now," glancing around again, "was given us by the Soviet government."

And then they say Russia is opposed to churches!

My second day in Moscow was spent in a visit to the churches. Last week I pointed out that I had visited and conversed with the priest in charge of a Moscow church. First I made a hurried effort to trace the history of the church in Russia.

FREEDOM OF RELIGION

In the beginning, Russia was a country of many different religions, from the Greek Orthodox faith to various heathen cults. But pre-eminent and dominating was the Orthodox faith. It enjoyed the support and protection of the State. In addition to stipends paid the ministers by the State, the Orthodox ministers also received salaries paid by the membership. Bible class attendance was compulsory in all public and private schools.

School children as well as adults were forced under threat of fine punishment to attend religious services. Church authorities issued birth and death certificates and marriages conducted outside the church were not recognized and children born of such marriages were considered illegitimate.

Persons failing to profess Orthodox religion were limited in their rights and were frequently persecuted. At that time freedom of conscience was out of the question.

On February 3, 1918, the Soviet government proclaimed freedom of conscience and abolished all religious restrictions. The decree states: "A citizen may practice any religion he chooses, or [illegible] seems to me that this [illegible] meaning of freedom [illegible]ce. To make this a [illegible] Soviet government [illegible]ted the church from the [illegible] and the school from the [illegible]

[illegible] one could interpret [illegible]as meaning Russia under [illegible] of government [illegible]d out of Russia is [illegible] imagination. And [illegible]ed to me [illegible] before I visited the [illegible] and saw for my[illegible]elf affairs were [illegible] at least par[illegible]d that there was [illegible]e religious worship [illegible] Union.

[illegible] with the [illegible] Orthodox Catholic [illegible]e facts that I of[illegible] me that [illegible] the Soviet govern[illegible]ession of freedom [illegible]as won the ap[illegible] support of be[illegible] [illegible]ng men of all de[illegible]r country and [illegible]

[illegible]d day's journey [illegible] while visiting [illegible]n in the Defend[illegible] the Peace Moscow head[illegible]. I stumbled upon the [illegible]e of John Golden [illegible]s affectionately told by [illegible] daughter Lily

[illegible] HEART BREAKING [illegible] A SHARECROPPO FAMILY [illegible]W SAFE IN THE USSR

John Golden was the son of a [illegible] cotton plantation [illegible] the banks of the Mississippi [illegible] the southern states of [illegible]USA. When he was only [illegible] his home was [illegible]. Everything the [illegible]d possessed. They hated [illegible] to snatch the chil[illegible] flames. And at [illegible] dragged them [illegible] and miserable [illegible]ded to the station [illegible]met the plantation owner [illegible]pped his horse and sneer[illegible]ked at the Negro family [illegible]emned deprived of shel[illegible]d driven from the place [illegible]ey had lived so long.

[illegible] night, lit by the [illegible] of their burning home [illegible]d pierced by the wailing of [illegible]s mother and the cries of the [illegible]ungest children, eight-year-old [illegible]n grew up. He knew even [illegible] he would have to shift [illegible]r himself. From then on there [illegible]mmenced for the boy years of wandering, back breaking toil, suffering and humiliation. How many times had he, trembling with fear and indignation, witnessed mobs lynchings of Negroes! How many times had he himself been beaten up only because his skin was black.

John Golden was Lily's father. In 1911 he came with his wife to the USSR to work as a specialist on cotton and was sent to Tashkent. Here there began for him a life that was real and worthy of a human being, a life that was free and joyous. The Soviet land became his ardently loved homeland.

"He died when I was quite small," said Lily, "but I shall never forget his stories about the persecution of Negroes in America. I shall never forget how glad father was that his child was a Soviet citizen."

Lily's mother, a white woman whose name was Bertha, had been subjected to brutal persecution and mockery in America because she had dared to marry a Negro. She cannot speak of those days without weeping.

"It was only when we came to the Soviet Union, only when we became Soviet citizens that my husband and I felt like human beings," she said. "It is difficult to express in words the happiness we felt from the knowledge that we and our little daughter had acquired a great, loving and solicitous homeland!"

Today Lily is in the eighth year of the secondary music school connected with the Conservatory, and plans to continue her musical education. Hers is a musical and poetic nature. She loves tennis, and in addition to her studies in music and at school, she plays tennis with the best. She was in the USSR tennis competitions in Kharkov last year.

There is an air of such strength and joy about this tall, slender girl, such eagerness and determination to succeed in everything, to learn everything, to keep pace with her comrades! She is a member of the Young Communist League Committee at school and enthusiastically carries out her social tasks.

"I have so many comrades, so many friends," she murmured, as she read some of the many letters she received from her friends. Her heart and the heart of her mother are filled with tenderness and gratitude.

Lily's teachers pleased with her successful examination in Literature. She is an honor student.

GUERRILLA FORCES IN KOREA

PEKING — In those parts of Korea occupied by the American invaders young men and women are leaving their homes to join the guerrillas. Peasants and peasant women who remain behind are organizing "self defense" corps, the Korean Central Telegraph Agency reports. An Siang Ko, a youth of Kangwon province in Central Korea, told the agency on his arrival in North Korea that these "self-defense" organizations in the villages supply food to the guerillas, who in turn supply them with arms."

PROCLAMATION ON TIBET

CHUNGKING — A joint proclamation of the Liberation Army, issued November 9, stated that the P.L.A. had entered Tibet to aid the Tibetan people "to free themselves from oppression forever."

The life and property of Tibetan Lamas will be protected by the P.L.A., the proclamation states, religious freedom will be safeguarded, and the Lama temples protected. Assistance will be rendered to the Tibetan people in the direction of developing their educational, agricultural, pastoral, industrial and commercial enterprises, and their living conditions will be improved.

WFDY DELEGATION VISITS NEW CHINA

PRAGUE — Members of the World Federation of Democratic Youth delegation which has been visiting People's China, told a press conference here of the Chinese people's will for peace and of their strong determination to resist American aggression. Everywhere the delegates said they were received with tremendous and spontaneous enthusiasm by the Chinese youth and elders.

Many places where there was no other word of contact they often heard the Chinese people say "Paul Robeson" to express the warmth of their feelings.

CEYLON OPENED TO U. S.

BOMBAY—Under United States "aid" agreement just signed between Ceylon and United States governments, Ceylon is to be opened to United States penetration on the widest scale.

The agreement, official reports state, "will enable United States technicians to carry out development programs," especially in the fields of transportation and public administration.

WORLD'S FLAGS FLY IN WARSAW

WARSAW—For the opening of the Second World Peace Congress Warsaw is flying the flags of all the world's countries and the city is charged with an atmosphere of excitement.

By efforts describable only as heroic the Polish Peace Committee workers completely transformed a bare print shop of the "House of the Polish Word" into a magnificent assembly hall capable of seating many thousands of delegates. The walls are draped with pale yellow fabric. At every place there are headphones connected with a system whereby speeches will be translated simultaneously into Russian, Polish, French, English, Italian and Spanish.

During the past few days volunteer workers put in telephone communications linking the Congress to all corners of the world. Exhibitions of children's drawings on the peace theme and on Poland's recovery hang on the walls of the Congress lobbies.

The Polish organizers have set up a fully-equipped first aid station, emergency fire station, restaurant capable of serving four to five thousand people, car park, refreshment roms, and entirely new fluorescent lighting system, all at a few days' notice.

Nor has the artistic side been neglected. The vast glass roof is decorated with the Picasso dove emblem while the walls are lined with noble statues, whose arms stretch forward in gestures symbolizing mankind's yearning for peace.

ITALIAN LAND OCCUPATION

ROME — Despite police violence the land occupation movement in Rome province continues to gain strength. Peasants who occupied uncultivated land at Nettuno last week have already proceeded ith preparatory work for cultivation. Four hectares have been cleared and plowed and are ready for planting.

JAPANESE "RED PURGE"

TOKYO — Yoshida's United States directed government is throwing progressive workers into the streets by the thousands. By November 5 a total of 9,611 workers in 18 industries were officially announced to have been discharged, and 2,700 more in eight industries are estimated to be due for discharge in the near future. This purge of those who stand for peace is part of the growing drive to push Japan into America's war adventures.

Lily's face is thoughtful and sad, as she tells reporters her father, Oliver John Golden's childhood story in the U.S.A.

BUDAPEST—Before the end of this year, Hungarian primary schools will be provided with 300 extra physics laboratories and 500 extra public address systems. Seven hundred fifty new classrooms will be provided, of which 141 are to be newly built.

BRITISH STUDENTS IN IUS

PRAGUE—The British National Union of Students has decided by a majority vote to remain affiliated to the International Union of Students. A motion for disaffiliation from the IUS was defeated at a council meeting by 747 votes to 622.

BANGKOK — Viet Nam students report that they, together with other sections of the population, are "completing preparations for the general counter-offensive in order to wipe out both French imperialists and American interventionists."

All students of Viet Nam science, letters and pharmacy colleges signed the Stockholm Appeal at a meeting. They issued a statement calling on the students of the world, and particularly of France and the United States, to aid Viet Nam students in the national liberation struggle.

LONDON—A crowded meeting in St. Francis Town Hall, London, unanimously protested the refusal of the British government to allow the World Peace Congress to be held in Britain. The resolution adopted at the meeting characterized the action "totally out of keeping with the best British democratic traditions"

The Dean of Canterbury postponed his flight to Warsaw, where the Congress finally convened, in order to address the rally. "We have often been told," he said, "that it is the other side that wants war. I am convinced that that 'other side' is solid for peace."

NEW YORK—The scandalous conditions in Australian New Guinea were reported to the UN General Assembly by the Trusteeship Council. The average cash wage of the workers is about $2.45 per month. There are no unions and no labor legislation of any kind, and the educational and medical services are totally inadequate.

ROME—The delegation representing Italian culture and arts visited the British embassy to lodge the protest of Italian intellectuals at the offensive treatment used by the Labor Government against the delegates to the Sheffield Congress.

The British First Secretary showed particular embarassment when Professor of Economy Pesenti declared that the Italian world of culture was particularly shocked that the Sheffield Congress was sabotaged on the order of the United States. The Labor Government's action against the Sheffield Congress has lost it many friends in Italy.

GERMAN REARMAMENT BARGAINING POINT

PARIS—With the situation in Viet Nam becoming more and more critical, the French Government is trying to strike a bargain by offering to abandon its "opposition to certain aspects of German rearmament in exchange for all-out support for its colonial war in Viet Nam.

These "concessions," plus the French Government's transfer of the ports of La Pallice and Bordeaux to the Americans, have so far been rewarded by the delivery of American four-engine aircraft to the French forces in Viet Nam.

The French Government, however, is seeking bigger compensation in return for its "concessions," and French State Minister Mollet at a press conference demanded the immediate participation of the United States and British forces in Viet Nam.

GUATAMALA ELECTS PRESIDENT

HAVANA — The Guatamalan presidential elections have resulted in the election of Col. Jacobo Arbenz by a considerable majority. He was minister of national defense under President Arevalo. He was supported by the progressive bloc and by the United Confederation of Workers of Guatamala. His program promises democratic reforms.

"AID" TO PHILIPPINES

SAN FRANCISCO — United States Economic Cooperation Administrator William C. Foster has signed an agreement with the Philippine Government by which the Islands will get 250 million dollars in American aid and the United States gets tighter control of the country's economy.

This brings to an end four years' pretense of "independence" for the Philippines following the United States official quitting of the Islands in 1946.

PEACE CONGRESS IN WARSAW

WARSAW — By a remarkable effort of ingenuity and organization almost all the 2,000 delegates who would have assembled at Sheffield had it not been for the British government's police measures, reached Poland to participate in the opening of the Congress.

Seventy-four different countries are represented.

The leaders of the British delegation reaching Warsaw said that they expected the total in the British delegation to reach about 200. Those include Chairman J. G. Crowther, Ivor Montague and author A. E. Coppard.

The delegates are enthusiastic about their reception. "It seems to us that the whole Polish nation is awake to the importance of this Congress" declared a spokesman of one of the groups of British delegates.

The justice of this observation is borne out by the aspects of Warsaw.

There is scarcely a window without a peace emblem, a motor car or tram without flags, while on the walls of Warsaw, both scarred and newly built, the emblem of the dove is to be seen.

Howard Hits Rogge Speech Praising Tito

WARSAW—Charles F. Howard, nationally-known lawyer and publisher, the keynoter of the Progressive Party convention in Philadelphia in 1948, unleashed a blistering attack on O. John Rogge, admittedly a lobbyist for Tito's Yugoslavia, during a session of the World Peace Conference in session here.

Denying Rogge's assertion that the congress is controlled by Russia, Howard told the delegates that Rogge is a paid agent of Yugoslavia. "I think this congress should evaluate his speech in the light of his employment."

Elect Dr. Davis To Important NEA Committee

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Election of Dr. John W. Davis, president of West Virginia State College, Institute, West Virginia, to head one of the major commissions of the National Education Association was announced here this week.

He was chosen to serve as chairman of the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy Through Education, which is known widely among educators as the NEA Defense Commission. He succeeds Dr. Harold Benjamin, dean of the College of Education at the University of Maryland.

UCL Proves CooperationPays

Walter Millsap, a member of the United Cooperative Industries, 11251 S. New Hampshire Ave., has a most convincing argument for joining the Industries and working together for the common good.

"People should go into production," he says, "and when they do, they can do business by exchanging their products. When they do this well, they can do a LOT with very little money."

As a concrete example he shws how he, working through the UCI for the Charlotta A. Bass for Congress campaign, was able to produce publicity and other material that helped immensely to the amount of more than $40. It was done through work, however, and cooperative effort.

"If we had been required to pay that much cash, we could not have done it," states Mr. Millsap. "Hundreds of people CAN be put into production, and it can be done with very little cash money. It is really the right way to beat this whole sorry game of exploitation, and Jim-crow, and wage slavery, etc.

World Peace Conference, Warsaw, Sends Report; Passports Denied

A direct report concerning the World Peace Conference, which was to have been held in Sheffield, England, but which had to be transferred to Warsaw, Poland, because of the antagonism of the British government toward this conference, has come to the desk of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE this week. We are glad to pass its news on to our readers.

I. THE DELEGATION

The American delegation, composed of delegates and observers, totaled 66 persons — clergymen, youth leaders, Negro leaders, peace workers and observers from many organizations. Rev. John Paul Jones, a member of our Sponsoring Committee and chairman of the New York Civil Liberties Union, went as observer for the World Alliance of International Friendship through Religion. Other observers include Rev. Willard Uphaus, who is also a member of our Sponsoring Committee; Mrs. Theresa Robinson, of Washington, D.C., a distinguished Negro leader, chairman of the Civil Liberties Committee of the Elks; Rev. Robert M. Muir, Rev. Warren McKenna, Rev. G. Linwood Fauntleroy, Rev. Massie Kennard, and many others. Our own Mrs. Jackie Clack, of the Faithful Central Baptist Church, Los Angeles, was also among this number.

On the delegation are many important trade union leaders representing the Pacific Coast District of the International Woodworkers of America, CIO; several important AFL groups, and the bargaining committee of the 15,000 Swift Local of the United Packinghouse Workers, CIO. (We shall be glad to furnish you with a full list of the delegates, their backgrounds, etc.).

THE DELEGATION PASSPORTS

When requests for passports were made at first, no problems seemed to be involved. Later, however, some difficulties arose in Chicago in relation to trade unionists. Members of the Sponsoring Committee in Chicago and the Chicago Civil Liberties Union brought pressure on the State Department to make passports available to delegates and observers. As a result of this pressure, delegates in other cities obtained passports without too much difficulty.

At the last moment, however, passports were denied to Howard Fast, Paul Robeson, Jr., Ernest De Maio, who had been elected a delegate by a convention representing 15,000 workers of the midwest district of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers; John Flowers, a Negro leader in the Marine Cooks and Stewards, who had been elected as the delegate of his union. In denying these passports, the Passport Division of the State Department referred to the Congress as the "so-called World Peace Congress," and finally refused to discuss the matter with Mr. Muir.

SHIFT OF THE CONGRESS FROM SHEFFIELD TO WARSAW

Due to the attitude taken by the British authorities, the preparations Committee decided to shift the World Peace Congress from Sheffield to Warsaw. What caused this decision was a series of last-minute actions by the British government in refusing to grant visae to large numbers of foreign delegates, refusing to honor some visae already granted, and in many cases barring entry to England to American citiens and others who did not require visae. Summarily barred by the British government were, among others, Joliot-Curie, chairman of the World Committee of the Defenders of Peace, and practically all members of the Preparations Committee; the Metropolitan Nicholai of the Soviet Union; German novelists Arnold Zweig and Anna Seghers; Bishop Laszlo Deszo and Bishop Janos Peter of Hungary; leading Czech, German, Italian and French Protestant clergymen; and General Heribert Jara, former Minister of Defense of Mexico. More than fifty American delegates were excluded, including all those traveling on the special plane, among them were Rev. Willard Uphaus, Mrs. Theresa Robinson and others.

American delegates and observers on the special plane were questioned for five hours by British immigration authorities and then compelled to turn back for Paris. They voted unanimously to continue on as a group to Warsaw. Most of the other delegates, some of whom had been admitted, have also gone on to Warsaw.

The Congress opened in Warsaw and I am sure we will be getting full reports in a few days from the many American observers and visitors.

THE NEW YORK TIMES reported a widespread storm of protest in Great Britain, expressed in the press and among the public generally, when the arbitrary action of Attlee became known. Even Winston Churchill, in the House of Commons, took the secretary to task for his action.

Cables of protest were sent to Prime Minister Attlee by friends in America and from all parts of the world. And the Sponsoring Committee for the Congress is urging all others who feel a gross injustice was done to write or cable to Atlee, London, England, and express their concern over the unfortunate circumstance.

2009 Persons Attend Cultural Programs at Soto, Michigan

The more than 2000 people who attended the four night combination United Nations Intercultural program and Art Exhibit held at the Soto-Michigan Jewish Community Center, Monday, November 13 through Thursday, November 16, have become excited enthusiastic ambassadors of interculture. A great number of the spectators, from the many groups living in this muticultural area, were so inspired by the affair, they came back two and three times to enjoy the happy, free atmosphere of friendliness and understanding.

Each night that the honored guest, Councilman Ed R. Roybal greeted the people, he too felt that rising tide and was carried along with their enthusiasm and respect for him and the intercultural event, that in a sense he symbolized.

Monday, Japanese American Night, despite the cold and rain, the Straus Auditorium was transformed into a place of exquisite charm by the performances of the Nisei and Isei artists. It was by far one of the finest programs ever to be brought to the Center.

Lasting Bonds

Tats Kushida, regional director of the Japanese American Citizens League, the one mostly responsible for this program, perhaps summed up the spirit of the week's affair in his brief address about his own organization. "The purpose of the JACL is to work with all the groups living in this area to establish lasting bonds of friendship and understanding, and gain through the democratic American way greater equality not only for our people but for all the groups represented here tonight."

Tuesday, Mexican American Night, the authenticity of the folks dances presented by the Regional Mexican Dancers, under the direction of the inimitable Rudy Rivera, were tops. The folk singers, Memo Mata and Chris Ruiz, each in his own style, got repeated encores, as did the superb pantomimist, little Robert Vera and the young dancer, Helen Figueroa.

On Negro American Night, John Lee, hard-hitting managing editor of the California Eagle summed up that one of the major contributions of the Negro people was their constant and relentless struggle for civil liberties which has become the backbone of American democracy.

Dr. E. I. Robinson, Los Angeles chairman of the NAACP, master of ceremonies for the evening, said that the purpose of his organization could be found in the words of John Lee, "one of the most brilliant journalists in America."

But the one who permanently won the hearts of the audience that evening was the charming and rare folk artist, Edith Whiteman. This beautiful young actress and singer rediscovered the rare musical instrument, the zither, and breathed warmth and life into it as she played and sang.

The Truestones quartet likewise captured the audience with their presentation of Negro folk songs and spirituals with special arrangement by one of their cosigners and director, Henry Talbert.

Thursday, Jewish American night, actor Herman Waldman's readings to two of Sholom Aleichem's stories, was the highlight of the evening, along with Ben Pollack's new Jewish Centers Association choral group's singing of Jewish folk songs. Cantor Emory Glanz, feeling the pulse of the audience, sang liturgical pieces with great warmth. Twelve year old Elmira Schrogin's two folk dances had deep feeling and maturity.

Workshop For Peace

"Dance and Theatre in the Soviet Union" will be the subject for a lecture and discussion under the auspices of the American Russian Institute to be held Monday, Nov. 27, at 1024½ North Western avenue, at 8 p.m. The discussions will be led by John Bovingdon and Jay Leda. Fee $1.00.

A Thanksgiving Thought

As we approach the 1950 Thanksgiving day a feeling of sadness creeps over the nation. Sadness, because despite the fact that the majority of the human family clamors for peace, the ruling class minority insists upon making war. And from all indications it's to be a long-lasting war.

One writer points out that it has been more than 50 years since the United States took over the Philippines, after the Spanish-American war in 1898. The restoration of peace was promised then. Instead there has been continuous warfare in the Philippine Islands.

The United States has proven its inability to cope with the situation. The independent Philippine government with this government holding on, has also failed to restore peace in those troubled islands.

The Philippine example meant nothing to the American government in its attitude towards Korea. But it should have.

"Peace, as we in the United States know it," said Phil Newson, "is a long way off in Korea."

Measured by what has happened in the Philippines, we concur with this statement. But it does seem senseless on the part of a government that is rich in good people, in good food, in iron, steel, oil and even gold, to engage in a mission of murder on a little country which in no way, either by national boundaries or political ideology, is related to us.

But we here in the United States of America could change every bit of that, if we would. If we were interested in our government. If we were alert, aroused, awake. For that privilege we can be thankful.

But, alas! We are not interested. We are not awake. We are not alert. And so the sadness on this Thanksgiving Day lowers over us more and more heavily, as we see dimly in the future of what may come to America. For this we are not thankful.

Get The Big Shots

In its final report which emphasizes the shocking crime conditions in California, the Governor's Special Crime Study Commission stresses two points that call for quick corrective action. These are the virtual immunity of organized gangsters from prosecution by local authorities, and the favoritism allegedly conferred on racketeers by officials of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau. This favoritism is said to stem, in some cases, from business relationships between such officials and professional hoodlums.

On the first point the Commission says: "Comparatively few professional criminals enter our jails or prisons. It is rare indeed that a professional criminal who has attained any real measure of financial success pays any serious penalty even when caught."

On the second point the commission reports that "the wealth which is being accumulated year after year by racketeers in California is proof that professional gamblers, white slavers, narcotic peddlers and other criminals, in marked contrast to honest businessmen, are evading payment of their lawful income taxes in very large amounts." After referring to the business connections said to exist between some U. S. Internal Revenue officials and professional mobsters the report declares: "There never has been a racketeer, hoodlum or gangster of first-rank importance convicted of income tax fraud in California."

The Crime Commission, it is to be assumed, has not made these charges without evidence to back them. Whether such evidence is sufficient to bring about convictions remains to be seen. But the people of California should insist that these charges be thoroughly investigated and that prompt, forceful action be taken to stop the ever-spreading underworld influence in this state.

Perhaps the local and state police should spend more time arresting and jailing the big shot gamblers and racketeers than chasing and shooting down the little boys who never even had a chance to be law-abiding citizens, and take their tips for crime careers from those who get away with murder.

Peterson Bites the Hand

Caleb Peterson, one-time admirer of the great singer Paul Robeson, shocked and proved a disappointment to his friends in California this week when a release from a New York news service reached them, stating that Peterson would sing at Peekskill Masonic Temple to refute the charges that Negro discrimination was at the bottom of the riot in Peekskill last spring to break up a Paul Robeson concert.

It is common knowledge in and outside of New York, that as a result of the riot many people were injured and great damage was inflicted on automobiles driven by the people who attempted to attend the concert to hear the great Robeson sing.

The tone and temper of the news release smells to high heaven, despite the fact that it includes some big names of Negro leaders as Peterson's supporters.

Among them the Hon. Adam Clayton Powell.

It will not be an easy matter to convince the people that Rev. Powell and the other prominent clergymen mentioned are parties to a scheme to deceive and disillusion Peekskillers and others as to the real motive back of the riot staged to keep Mr. Robeson from singing to the Peekskill community, and the contemptible suggestion that Peterson will refute it is part of a conspiracy to hush-hush Negroes who speak against Peterson's scheme.

The white supremacists who advocate and practice discrimination and hate against Negroes and Jewish people, Peterson's case is symbolic of a widespread effort on the part of certain people to divide and build walls of misunderstanding between the Negro people themselves.

Only ne'er-do-well Negroes or those greedy for gold or political power become victims to the sort of scheming that prompts the Peterson free Peekskill concert.

Many people acquainted with Mr. Peterson's financial needs are wondering who is paying for this concert.

Newspapers Ask Why

Negro newspapers all over the nation are loudly protesting the arrests and courts martial of Negro soldiers in Korea.

The NAACP and other fighting organizations are contacting army headquarters to find out the "why" of these wholesale arrests.

An absence of arrests of white soldiers for similar offenses, whatever the offense is, poses this question: What is this all about?

It looks like another one of those veiled schemes concocted by some Southern Negro hater in the army to humiliate Uncle Sam's black soldier in khaki.

Strange, so strange, that the incident escaped the irony of the Red-baiting tongues. So we may chalk this up as the one bad happening of the season that the Reds are not responsible for.

The Negro newspapers want to know who is.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

ELECTION REFLECTIONS

One of the most powerful men in America today is Senator Robert A. Taft. He is, in every sense, representative of our country's ruling class—particularly of its intellectual dishonesty.

Of the millions of words spoken about the results of the November 7 elections, he made what may yet go down in history as the most absurd and inaccurate observation. Said R.A.T., the election results are a rejection of "Truman's program for imposing a socialistic planned economy on the American people." It calls to mind Hitler's big lie that his fascism was a program of "national socialism."

Certainly the election was a rejection of Truman's program—his program for war and American fascism, which Taft and his collaborators are helping Truman and his cronies fasten on America. Our country's great tragedy is that most citizens could express their rejection only by voting for Republicans.

There are three major reasons for this: 1) The Progressive Party does not exist in every state and where it does it has not the means to run candidates in all offices; 2) The national hysteria and terror over Communism, manufactured by the Taft-Truman axis to divide and deceive the American people, has scared many people and they are afraid to vote Progressive; 3) Vast numbers of Americans, politically uninformed through deliberate manipulation of our schools and informational media, still think there's a difference between the Republicans and Democrats.

It is not a contradiction to state that the two old machines are the same and that the large vote for he Republicans was a rejecion of the Democrats.

The defeat of such leading spokesmen for the Truman Administration as Senators Lucas, Tydings and Myers, and would-be senator Helen G. Douglas, was not a personal defeat, but clearly a repudiation of the Democratic program they espoused. Especially is this true of Douglas—for whom the Democratic Party turned out every big gun from Truman down in the effort to elect her. There could not have been a more decisive repudiation of what the Democratic Party stands for.

No Mandate for Republicanism

If the Republicans believe that the election results are a mandate for them to continue their unreasoning opposition to every measure that will serve the people, they are wilfully blind, and certainly will not win the presidency in 1952. If my friends will forgive me, I will offer the Republicans a program guaranteed to sweep the country for them in 1952.

All they need to do is pledge to: 1) Stop the treasonous waste of American resources in the futile efforts to suppress free people everywhere—and use them instead to build homes and security in America. 2) Take our troops out of Korea, the Philippines, and elsewhere—and use them to safeguard civil liberties in the 48 United States. 3) Smash the corporations' stranglehold on America's economic and political life. 4) Restore freedom of speech and thought to Americans. 5) Join the Soviet Union in rebuilding a democratic United Nations and world peace. These five points represent the real mandate of the people.

The clearest evidence of the meaning of the November 7 elections is given in the great vote in California for the Independent Progressive Party. In 1948 some 190,000 votes were cast for Henry Wallace. In 1950, after two years of official terrorism, almost twice that number, 340,000 voters, voted for IPP candidates in California. When this is related to the over 600,000 votes cast for Bernadette Doyle in the primary election for superintendent of education, the real temper and aspirations of the people are evidenced.

Especially revealing is the vote for a Negro leader in the 14th C.D.—particularly in the 62nd Assembly district, where over 8,000 Negroes broke away from their betrayers in the two old parties and voted for Charlotta A. Bass, the Progressive candidate. (In this connection, certain individuals like Gus Hawkins, Vince Townsend, et al, have much to answer for to the Negro people.)

The California vote proves that more and more people are becoming aware of the futility of depending on the two very old parties, and are learning that only the Progressive Party's program for peace, security, abundance and brotherhood will meet their needs and save our land.

It may truly be said that if there were not a Progressive Party in existence today, we could have to create one. For today only the Progressive Party, of the three, is an American party. It is the Republican and Democratic parties whose program is un-American.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mrs. Anya Shampanier, of Long Beach, like hundreds of other California citizens interested in saving the life of a human being, wrote recently to Governor Earl Warren requesting him to commute the death sentence of Wesley Robert Wells, condemned to die because he threw a cuspidor at a guard who was attacking him.

And like hundreds of other California citizens she received a formal letter of acknowledgement from Governor Warren's secretary, and an "explanation" of Mr. Well's case. He has been condemned to die, say all those letters, because of the Penal Code enacted in 1901, which states that "Every person undergoing a life sentence in a State prison . . . who commits an assault upon the person of another . . . by any means of force likely to produce great bodily injury, is punishable with death."

One can't imagine a stupider law than that anywhere any time in history. But anyway that is the law by which Wells is convicted. And James Welch, secretary to Gov. Warren, goes on to tell all the numerous crimes and escapades of which Wells has been guilty. As he has done to everyone else who has appealed to Governor Warren for clemency.

But Mrs. Shampanier, as the hundreds of other Californians have not done, has taken the time to sit down and write another letter to Mr. Welsh, answering his arguments and those of Earl Warren, and tells those two gentlemen how Wells is in reality a patriot, fighting for the rights of minorities and especially of the Negro people, even in prison.

We are printing her letter herewith:

Long Beach, Calif.
November 16, 1950

James Welsh
Secretary
Governor's Office
Sacramento 14, California
Dear Mr. Welsh:

Thank you for your communi- you give a review of Wells' case, cation of November 14, in which from the view-point of the governor's office. The list of Wells' "crimes" as outlined in your letter does look very impressive and frightening.

However, there are some important points which your case history does not show. In the first place, Wesley Wells was first imprisoned at the age when most adolescents are given to trying out their powers, sometimes by harmless pranks, sometimes by felonies.

In the case of a rich man's son going joyriding in another person's car, a sum of money changes hands, the boy is reprimanded, and the incident forgotten. In the case of a poor boy, though, and a Negro at that, who plays the same prank, reform school is the answer. For a Negro youth, from reform school to prison is an abnormally normal step.

As for Section 4500 of the Penal Code, which you quote, so many facts are left out of the pictures you paint that I'd like to mention one or two.

When a man is defending his life and kills the person against whom he is defending himself, we don't call it murder. When a Negro who has the "effrontery" to fight the Jim Crow prison system defends himself, and in that self-defense kills a man, you call it murder.

On that very fight of his against segregation of Negroes and discrimination against Negroes is based most of the evidence against him. It is because you do not like to admit that there is a Jim Crow policy in the prison system? Is it because you are ashamed to admit that prisoners do have to defend themselves against assaults? Is it because Wells has spoken out too courageously against the brutalities of prison life that such a stack of evidence has been piled against him? Evidence which might impress and frighten those who do not understand that here is a man sentenced to die because he has been idealistic enough to take all forms of punishment rather than bow to a prison system which makes of his race a scapegoat.

Will you please see that Governor Warren reads this letter? Though you say this case is a matter for the courts, I feel certain that should the governor of this state choose to intervene in the case of Wesley Robert Wells, his intervention would bring speedy action.

A copy of this letter is being sent to Mr. McGee of the Department of Corrections.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Anya Shampanier

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

KOREAN STATES CASE TO EDITOR OF THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I am one of the foreign-born Americans recently arrested by agents of the Justice Department after having been out on bail on the same charge for more than a year. I have just read of your activities on our behalf.

The reason for the sudden, unexplained and "Gestapo"-like method of revoking my bail is that I am "an alien dangerous to the security of these United States."

I am of Korean ancestry, 33 years old. I came to this country 26 years ago when my family sought refuge from Japanese imperialist oppression. All of my education has been in American schools. I began working when I was in the fourth grade in the Hawaiian sugar plantations, and worked my way through high school and college. Since graduation from college in 1940, I have always been gainfully employed as a draftsman and engineer until I became a registered architect this year. In 1942 I applied for citizenship but failed to receive my final papers because our immigration laws did not permit the naturalization of Asians and Polynesians.

Because of having completed advanced ROTC training in college, I volunteered during the last war but was rejected for the technicality that legal Japanese oppression of Korea made me an enemy. I was still able to serve in the volunteer (armed) corps and the Air Raid Defense organization. I believe that these experiences made me an American. If by some legal technicality the government is able to consider me an alien, I still remain nevertheless an American.

Consider the charge that I am "a danger to the security of our country." Since I became aware that the welfare of all Americans depended a great deal on the welfare of minority groups and especially upon the welfare of working people, I have become active on their behalf through trade unions, consumer organizations, neighborhood community organizations, and since my arrival on the mainland U. S., through civil rights organizations.

As you can see I have been busy improving wages and working conditions, neighborhood community facilities, and the civil rights of minority peoples. Are these the activities which make me dangerous? If by some legal technicality our government may consider them dangerous, I shall continue nevertheless to remain a fighter for a better living for all working people.

My colleagues, Frank Carlson, Harry Carlisle, and Miriam Stevenson join me in congratulating you and your newspaper for participating in this fight to maintain civil rights for all people regardless of race, religion, or political belief.

Sincerely
DAVID HYUN.

San Quentin, Calif.

Dear Friend

Just a few lines to let you know that I received your most kind letter, and that it found me well. Awfully sorry that you didn't win, but even though you did lose you now know that the people have a lot of faith in such a swell and sincere person as you are.

I myself have watched your progress in life for the things that you thought were right. I have watched you since I was a little boy and your office was at Ninth and Central. Now that you know that you are the people's choice, you will win next time.

I don't need a job right now but I will next year. I go before the parole board next year in October. Thanks an awful lot for writing. A letter from a good friend means a lot.

Sincerely
EUGENE MURRAY.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

A few days prior to Mr. Truman's refusal to accept Prime Minister Nehru's offer to mediate the Korean war, LIFE magazine presented a full page picture of Mr. Truman praying. (LIFE, July 10, 1950.)

It reminded me of Dostoievsky's character who said: "I feel so religious I think I'll go out and burn down the town."

Now, almost five months later, Mr. Truman, as Commander in Chief, is still burning down towns by the hundreds, his jellied gasoline bombs have burned alive thousands of people, not to mention the thousands of American boys who have lost their lives in the little country of Korea—a country about the size of Florida, with 30 million people, 9 million in North Korea and 21 million "on our side" in South Korea.

Yours truly, B.J.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Workingclass Unity

The title of this piece is a nostalgic nod in the direction of yesterday . . . a long, long time ago. The old rallying cry that swept away barriers and consolidated differences behind a struggle that all but achieved its goal before it deteriorated, is seldom heard these days.

John M. Lee

For most workers, unity is a personal thing that has little to do with mass collaboration and action. The hysteria of the times, and the selfish, designing stupidity of most union leadership has made of the workers a confused collection of dues-payers who desire only to keep in contact with a weekly pay check.

Divided hopelessly on such basic issues as wage increases, job security and fair employment the workers are preoccupied and no longer dedicated to the program that brought them together in the CIO, AFL, the Brotherhoods and various independent unions.

You can get a lot of lip service, but precious little action in most of the unions on the subject of fair employment. Even the Negro leadership in the unions has abandoned the fair employment fight. Negro leaders have, for the most part, been selected for their posts, and they are more concerned about holding on to the dubious distinction of being a 'big shot' than they are about advancing the status of their fellows.

The trade union movement has offered no exception to the usual practice followed by Negroes selected for leadership. They soon think of themselves as something special, and they spend all their time trying to prove it. They become buffers between the group they supposedly represent and the union bosses.

In order to keep their special existence alive, they 'talk down' other Negroes who represent actual or imagined competition for their jobs, and they isolate themselves from the Negro community. They condescent to work with Negroes on Negro problems only on the highest level, and mass contact.

The broad question of unity in the workingclass is bad enough, but it is shockingly bad among Negroes. Most of the 'fortunate' ones who move from the rank and file to a higher echelon, consider that they have escaped, and they rarely go back even to find out how they can better serve the union and the underprivileged group they represent.

Whether or not the Negro leaders or the union bosses are to blame, is open to discussion. Certainly the pattern is familiar. The majority forces in this country have always selected a Negro or two and symbolically placed him in a position just a little above the rest of his minority group. He stayed there so long as he did as he was told, and didn't work too hard for integration.

One thing is certain. Neither the unions nor the minority groups benefit from this subtle jimcrowism. The unions lose an opportunity to really organize Negro workers, and in addition, they lose the respect of the Negro workers and the Negro community. Gradually they lose Negro membership.

There never will be a successful trade union force in this country until the Negro workers are considered for their potential, and not as little children who will 'follow the leader.' There is nothing wrong with advancing a Negro to leadership providing he is qualified and representative, and will work to eliminate jimcrow and discrimination, not cover it up.

Unity between Negro and white workers is a desirable and realizeable ideal, but there is little chance of achieving this until unity is accomplished among the leading forces among Negro workers. It is time to end the practice of putting a Negro in a position of authority so that he can hold back every other Negro who has the ability to advance.

There was a time when the labor movement offered the Negro worker a fuller measure of democracy than he could get anywhere else in his native land, but today white supremacy is the watchword in the unions as it is in all American life.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed herewith is a copy of a letter which our committee has sent to the three members of the Agency Loyalty Board in reference to the case of Mrs. Floy Sibrie.

Knowing that your paper has been a consistent fighter for the rights of the Negro people we are sure that you will want to use this letter to let your readers know what our committee is doing in Long Beach to break down discrimination in our area.

Mrs. Sibrie's hearing is to take place on December 4th, and we hope that you will do what you can to help us make sure that Mrs. Sibrie is cleared of all these unjust charges and is reinstated in her position as clerk in the Cabrillo Homes project.

Very sincerely yours,
Mary Crockett, Chairman
Committee Against Segregation in Cabrillo
Homes,
Long Beach

Agency Loyalty Board,
Rives-Strong Bldg.
Los Angeles, Calif.
Dear Sir:

Your charges for firing Mrs. Floyd Sibrie, a Negro clerk in the Cabrillo Housing Project in Long Beach, California, have come to our attention.

We feel we should take this opportunity to acquaint you with our fight against the racial discrimination here in Cabrillo Homes.

We feel that the experiences of our committee will be of assistance to your Loyalty Board, so that you too will be able to recognize the tie between our activity, which has been directed toward gaining equal rights for the Negro tenant, and the desire of management to find excuses to dismiss the only Negro clerk.

For eight months residents of Cabrillo Homes have been conducting 'a determined struggle to end segregation in the Project. Some success has already been achieved. Much remains to be done.

We believe that Mrs. Sibrie's firing is a retaliation against our committee's activities. In conference with Mr. Joseph L. Saragusa, 416 Truman Boyd Manor, we told that Mrs. Sibrie was charged with giving confidential material on discrimination to her husband at the time he was President of the Tenants' Council four years ago. This council had no connection with our present committee. This was one of the reasons given for her removal from access to this so-called confidential material. Mr. Saragusa actually laughed at this charge and praised Mrs. Sibrie's services highly. He stated that her removal from that particular office was due to the vacancy caused by Mrs. Turner, and denied she gave out any confidential material. Mr. Saragusa stated further that Mr. William Elder and Mr. Jean Dawson also gave reports of her as an employee and they had no complaints of her work at any time.

In actual fact, all the charges made in your letter are against Mr. Harry O. Sibrie, with the exception of the one pertaining to confidential files in the Housing Project. This is obviously untrue because incidents of discrimination are never confidential and it has never been necessary for this committee to obtain confidential material from any one, nor do we believe any committee fighting discrimination and segregation would need this type of information. The fact that these charges appear at the same time that this committee attained certain victories against discrimination leaves no doubt that the firing of Mrs. Sibrie is vitally connected with the struggle for Negro rights.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Sibrie are not members of this committee, we feel that her defense against the infamous charges is an integral part of our struggle against discrimination in Cabrillo Homes.

We hope that this background material will aid your committee in seeing that these charges have been denied by the very people in the Housing Administration who rightfully would be the only one in a position to make them.

Our committee further offers any information which will help clear Mrs. Sibrie of these unjust charges.

Very truly yours
Mary Crockett, Chairman
Committee Against
Segregation in Cabrillo Homes
Long Beach, California

POTPOURRI

NO HOTEL ACCOMODATIONS FOR THE GORDONS

Drew Pearson, columnist whose predictions of things to come often prove accurate mentioned among the outstanding Negroes of America our own Walter Gordon, chairman of the Adult Authority for the state of California.

We wish all people felt toward W. Gordon as D. Pearson does. However we noticed recently in a mid western newspaper the story of how Walter Gordon and Mrs. Gordon while visiting in Columbus, Ohio were denied accomodations in the Hotel Statler, in St. Louis, Mo.

The Gordons and another couple had planned to attend a convention of the American Prison Association. They left, however, without attending the convention.

RECOGNIZE CHINA

The St. Louis Star Times, not noted especially for its progressiveness, this week declared, "If the United States is to avoid a war with China there must be a diplomatic settlement of the Korean issue with China."

Although thoroughly displeased with China's action in regard to Korea, the Times states that "A necessary prelude to a diplomatic settlement is the recognition of Red China and the admission of Red China to the United Nations."

Of course. Even kids recognize the fact that there's always two in a quarrel, and that both sides should be heard before punishment is meted out.

APPOINT NIXON

Warren's appointment of Richard Nixon, whom the people of California elected as their next U.S. Senator, to take the place of the present Senator Sheridan Downey, who will resign a month before his term is ended, comes as no surprise to the pie-maker.

During the late campaign we have been dinning into the people's ears that there is no difference between the Democratic and the Republican parties. This sudden resignation of Democratic Senator Downey to make friends for his Republican friend Nixon, surely proves that point.

YOUR ONE VOTE

DETROIT, Mich.—It has finally been decided that Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan, G. Mennen Williams, won the election on Tuesday, Nov. 7. The vote had been see-sawing back and forth betwen him and Republican candidate, Harry F. Kelly, first one, then the other on top.

With all returns in the figures are: 935,152 for Williams, and 934,007 for Kelly.

In an election as close as that every vote counts. Don't ever say, "My one vote won't count."

IPP EXEC. BOARD MEETS

A state-wide executive committee meeting of the Independent Progressive Party will be held Sunday, November 26, at the Hotel Californian in Fresno, from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The state-wide vote for the IPP will total well over 300,000. The committee will analyze the results of the election, and plan the future of the IPP in the campaign to acquaint the people of California of what the IPP is and what it stands for.

MEXICO CITY—Some 2000 persons packed a theatre here, and cheered and applauded at the celebration of the 33rd anniversary of the Soviet Union last week. Peace was the keynote of the meeting. Men, women, and children hailed the USSR as the world leader in the fight for peace.

BERKELEY — When 769 employees of the University of California, here refused to sign the loyalty oath, the Board of Regents stalled its decision on what to do with the non-signers. So far no one has been fired for not signing the oath. The Board adjourned until 11 a.m. Friday, when it will try to make up its mind.

prated two years of happy life on October 31.

Marcelyn Cobbs writes from D. C. that she is more than excited over the recent L. A. ANNOUNCEMENT of her coming DECEMBER WEDDING. Los Angeles will see another beautiful SEASONAL WEDDING this time in a WINTER MOTIF. The potential date is December 16. The HAPPY GROOM is James W. White Jr., from D. C. and Howard University.

GALA OPENING

THE PAST WEEK also brought with it the GRAND and COLORFUL opening of the WINTER CONCERT SEASON at downtown's Philharmonic Auditorium. Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein, played host at the initial performance on Thursday night past. Prominent SOCIAL and CIVIC figures as well as MUSICAL dignitaries appeared on the scene. PLAN TO ATTEND at least one concert of the season, for a grand evening of musical entertainment is in store for you.

STRICTLY FORMAL

TO SET THE PACE for seasonal formals, that lovely group of feminine charm, THE DOLL LEAGUERS, presented their CHARITY BALL last Saturday night. DOLLS and more DOLLS were presented by the attending guests. While the men were handsome in the usual BOW TIE and TAILS or TUXEDO, the colorful FEMININE TOUCH was supplied by the ladies. The MEMBERS were dressed in shades of PINK and BLUE. Spotted lovely ANGELLE DELAVALLADE displaying the latest in hair styles with the SILVER-GRAY touch; CRYSTABEL ARMSTRONG, striking in a black strapless number; the LAWRENCE PALMERS, always a handsome couple; ESTELLE SHERWOOD (Allied Arts League) escorted by esteemed artist MR. THEO HANCOCK, LILLIAN LOMAX, lovely as ever in a black short formal; EARLENE and WILBUR TATE, popular couple, MIGNON BRAXTON, very pretty in pink chiffon, WINIFRED SMITH, charming as ever; BOB and EMMA Moore, recent newly weds, the LOUIS COLLIERS, plus scores and scores of others to fill the Zenda Ballroom almost to capacity! JACKIE WILSON and Earline Tate hostesses to a gay gathering before the dance, while the AFTER-HOUR drew club members and a few special guests to THE FLAME Late hour restaurant for further entertainment.

ANOTHER KAPPA BLACK and WHITE FORMAL will be history on this date. With all of its GLAMOUR and GAIETY the books will again be closed on what is sure to be another HUGE SUCCESS. THE QUEEN Miss Joyce Robinson, and her COURT, Misses Ann Allen, Madeline Carter and Ruby McClendon will have reigned in ROYAL STYLE. More next week.

THE "BEAUX ARTS BALL" Allied Arts League promises to be a gala evening. COSTUMES of favorites in story book and comic land are in order for the evening's affair.

"WHITE CHRISTMAS" is the DELTA presentation December 25th at the Alcadon Ballroom. Bids will be in the mail soon.

"KAMPUS KANDIDS

ABOVE ALL, let's plan to attend the undergrad Delta's "ROOTER'S RAMBLE" Friday night, November 24th at the OMEGA HOUSE. All football enthusiasts and collegiennes are expected.

On the very next night, the 25th, those KAPPA fellows will do it up big with their first annual KAPPERS KAPERS at the Elks Aud. This affair will top off the evening for many who attended the big football game of the day, UCLA VS. USC.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for Morgan "Buddy" Maxwell who was recently initiated into A Phi A Frat. Many will miss him after his departure to keep a date with Uncle Sam in the very near future.

GOINGS ON 'BOUT TOWN

OMEGAS and DELTAS will hold Informal and Formal initiation around the same time to end about the first of December.

FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS . . . The ATHENIANS Thanksgiving Ball on THE holiday night, Elks Auditorium . . . The DOROTHY MAYNOR CONCERT at the PHILHARMONIC on December 3rd. . . . The "EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS OF AMERICA" by Theo. Hancock of England on display through December 8th at the MUNICIPAL ART GALLERY at L.A.'s City Hall.... So have a Happy Holiday Weekend.

Zeta Phi Betas to Stress Human Relations at Boule; NCNW Prexy to Be Speaker

NEW ORLEANS, Louisiana—The Zeta Phi Sorority at its coming Boule in December here will put much stress on "Human Relations in Action—the Sorority and the Community," with other discussions dealing with Sorority and community problems such as: "Leadership and Group Dynamics," "Campus Problems," "The Improvement of Intercultural Relations," "and "World Peace." Sorors who will be in charge of the Workshops are to be Lullelia W. Harrison, executive secretary; Ruth Thibodeau; Marion Dillard; Lou Swarz, founder and director of Teen-Town; and Barbara Mason, exchange teacher to Europe last year, and Dr. Nancy B. Woolridge, professor in charge of the English Department at Hampton Institute, will preside as Grand Basileus of the Sorority.

Dr. Dorothy Ferebee, president of the National Council of Negro Women, will be the speaker at one of the public meetings of the Sorority, and other outstanding women of national repute will also bring messages to the Zetas.

Much time will be spent in furthering the plans for the National Projects of the Sorority which will deal with the Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency, and cheering shut-ins; and there has been talk of the Sorority's adopting "Teen-Town" to be included as one of the phases of the project dealing with the prevention of Juvenile Delinquency. These projects are headed by Sorors Lillian Fitzshugh of Washington, D. C.; Vashti Goodman of Greensboro, N. C.; and Lou Swarz of NYC.

Dr. Nancy Woolridge, Zeta's Grand President, has been working very strenuously with the Sorors all over the country so that the discussions and workshop periods at the Boule will be well organized and also well attended. Zeta's special "ehild" known as Violet Anderson Shrine, the Zeta House in Idlewild, Michigan will be brought before the Sorors both by the Grand Basileus and Soror Cook of Chicago who has been in charge of the House along with the Chapters in her Region.

A record attendance is expected a the Boule and the Hostess Chapter in New Orleans is making preparations to be of service to all Sorors and their guests who are in attendance.

La Jovial Club Has Raffle at Past Meeting

Thanksgiving was the theme present to the club by the president, Mrs. Ruth Butler, with each member responding with a quotation of thankfulness. The Sunshine Committee raffled off a box of groceries won by Mrs. E. L. Ermerson.

Names were drawn for exchange of Xmas gifts. Grace Lagvine's birthday was celebrated. Arriving at ten o'clock for the social hour were the husbands of the members.

Guests were Mmes. Maude Baskerville, Dolly Macklin, Ruth Talamon, Margaret Jones, Virginia Johnson, Beatrice McNalice, Mr. Leo Hicks, Otto White, Mr. & Mrs. Manor Corporal, Mr. & Mrs. Kirkland.

Club adjourned declaring Mrs. Fannie Dean a wonderful hostess.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT is being announced by the Three Bridge Barrons. Pictured ffrom left to right are Daisy Watson, Pres., W. H. Harrison, tournament delegate, and Hattie Gray, secretary. The tourney will take place on Saturday and Sunday of this weck at the Golden State Auditorium.

Noontide Club Installation

The installation of the Noontide Club proved to be a gala affair.

Betty Beard, social hostess for the evening and her assistants efficiently served both guests and members.

The following new officers were installed by Mr. E. D. Mitchell:

Mmes. Ever Knox, Pres.; Betty Beard, Vice-Pres.; Annie Beasley, Corresponding Sec'y.; Louise Carnega, Sec'y.; Mamie Lee, Treasurer; Mabel Johnson, Reporter.

Mrs. V. Mitchell was presented a beautiful gift of appreciation of her successful handling of the club during the past year. Mr. Mitchell closed the meeting with a few helpful suggestions to the new officers.

Plans are in the making for the Xmas celebration.

The next meeting, with Mrs. Annie Beasley as hostess, will put these plans perfected.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT HAS RULED NEGROES CANNOT OCCUPY RESTRICTED PROPERTY

Segregation of Races Upheld October, 1950, Decisions

FIVE NEGROES WHO LOST THE DECISION IN THE STATE COURTS WHICH PREVENTED THEM FROM OCCUPYING RESTRICTED PROPERTY, CARRIED THE CASE TO THE U. S. SUPREME COURT AND THE HIGH COURT REFUSED TO REVIEW THE CASE, THEREBY AFFIRMING JUDGMENT OF THE STATE COURTS.

ARTICLE FOUR OF THE U. S. CONSTITUTION MAKES IT NECESSARY FOR FULL FAITH AND CREDIT BE GIVEN TO THIS DECISION IN EVERY STATE.

THE U. S. SUPREME COURT HAS UPHELD SEGREGATION OF RACES IN ALL PRIVATELY OWNED BUSINESS, FRATERNITIES, SCHOOLS, THEATRES AND OTHER PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS. THESE DECISIONS HAVE BEEN MADE BY THE HIGH COURT CONVENED IN OCTOBER, 1950. CLEAR TITLE TO REAL ESTATE CANNOT BE GIVEN WHERE RACIAL RESTRICTIONS HAVE BEEN VIOLATED.

NEGROES, MALAY AND YELLOW RACES ARE CHEATED WHEN THEY BUY RESTRICTED PROPERTY AND CAN BRICISM, HATRED AND DISTRUST BY F AND BROKERS FOR REFUND OF THEIR MONEY AND DAMAGES BESIDES.

IT IS TRUE THAT NEGROES HAVE BROUGHT UPON THEMSELVES CRITICISM, HATRED AND DISTRUST BY FORCING THEIR WAY INTO NEIGHBORHOODS RESTRICTED AGAINST THEM.

Hollywood String Quartet in City Terrace Center Concert

The City Terrace Cultural Center proudly presents the Hollywood String Quartet in the first concert of the season, Sunday, November 26 at 8:15 p.m. at the Center, 3875 City Terrace Drive.

The quartet has won lavish praise from the music critics of all the Los Angeles metropolitan newspapers and their appearance at the Center for the second time is indeed a great musical event in the life of our community.

The members of the group are Felix Slatkin, violin. Nationally recognized for his consummate musicianship. At present, concertmaster of the 20th Century-Fox Studio Orchestra.

Paul Shure, violin. Played several seasons with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, and was concertmaster of the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra. He is now the Assistant Concertmaster of the 20th Century-Fox Studio Orchestra.

Paul Robyn, viola. Is considered one of the finest violists in America today. At present he is solo violist at Warner Brothers Studio.

Aleanor Aller, cello. Spent many years concerting in the East, and won wide acclaim for her brilliant playing. She is now the solo cellist of the Warner Brothers Studio Orchestra.

JAMES PATTON SINGS

James Patton, tenor, sang to an [illegible] Philharmonic Auditorium [illegible] Patton's program [illegible] two [illegible] Voice [illegible] will [illegible] future. [illegible] oblige.

The remedy for this might easily be the careful supervision of a good vocal coach.

NIKOLAIDI SCORES

It is seldom that one hears a celestial voice on earth, well, this is what yours truly heard last night in the Philharmonic Auditorium. Under the auspices of Mrs. L. E. Behymer, Elena Nikolaidi sang to a not so full house I feel that I can be justified in thinking that those persons who left the seats empty should be chastized in some way.

Opening her program Miss Nikolaidi completely won her audience with Mozart's aria "Parto, Parto," from "Clemenza di Tito" afterwhich we were enraptured by lieder of Schubert Brahms and Wolf. "VON ewiger liebe" by Brahms proved to lift us to bigger heights. "Bell raggio lusinghier" from "Simiramide" by Rossini was most brilliant and showed the artists' versatility of range. On the rest of the program: "Songs of a Wayfarer" by Gustav Mahler, Spanish numbers by Falla and Obradors, Greek folk songs and Ravel's "Ouvre ton coeur" reached the height of perfection. Substituted in place of "O don fatale" from "Don Carlos" was another Verdi aria I might comment that all Miss Nikolaidi's dramatic and stage personality along with her lovely black net gown were shown off to make a complete picture by the substitution of this aria.

Next year I hope that there will be standing room only in the Philharmonic Auditorium. What an evening.

Bach's Coffee Cantata Sung By Roger Wagner Chorale

J. S. Bach's Coffee Cantata, "Schweigt Stille, Plaudert Nicht," will be sung by the Roger Wagner Chorale and soloists in a program of Christmas music at Pepperdine College Wednesday, December 6, at 8:30 p.m.

Soloists will be Marni Nixon, soprano; Ralph Isbell, bass; and Robert Sands, tenor.

The 60-voice choir also will be heard in "Cantate Domino" by Hassler; "Kyrie" and "Credo" from "Missa Papae Marcelli" by Palestrina; "Mary Had a Baby" by Dawson; "Little Bird, Little Bird" by Kubick; and "The Shepherds Had an Angel" by Besley.

Most active professional choral organization in Southern California, the group has been heard in Hollywood Bowl and the Los Angeles Music Festival as well as in eight recent motion pictures.

Tickets for the Pepperdine concert now are on sale to the public at the college box office.

THUMB BURN

HOLLYWOOD—Dana Andrews, who plays a fishing schooner captain in RKO Radio's "The Gaunt Woman," suffered second degree burns on his thumb lighting a match with hi sthumbnail for a scene in the picture. Dana is an old hand at lighting matches Western style, but on this occasion the matchhead split and stuck under his nail.

Operatic Songs Presented By Guild Company

A brilliant group of young singers from the Guild Opera Company, Dr. Carl Ebert, director, will be heard in an evening of art songs and operatic excerpts on Wednesday, November 29, at 8 o'clock, in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, 20th and Figuero streets.

Favorite operatic numbers from "Madame Butterfly," "The Magic Flute," "The Bartered Bride," "Traviata" and "Rosenkavalier," as well as many other outstanding musical gems, will be sung by the three featured soloists, Olive Mae Beach, Kalem Kermoyan and William Olvis. Wallace Berry is the accompanist and is making all arrangements for the affair.

There will be no admission charge, and the event will be open to the public. Sponsors are the Senior Choir of First Church and Phi Beta, USC music fraternity. A freewill offering will be received for the benefit of these two organizations.

Rooters Ramble For USC Deltas

USC DELTAS get together!! Come on out all you guys and gals to an evening of fun and frolic at the "Rooter's Ramble" on Friday night, Nov. 24th before the big game—UCLA vs. USC. These amiable co-eds are presenting an affair to really put you into the spirit of the ever popular sport of football.

The Omega Frat House, 2069 So. Oxford will be a scene depicting football antics. Colorful pom-poms, yell leaders and rhythmic yells for half time activities, hot dogs and cokes, will be major attractions. And of course "tripping the light fantastic" with your favorite male or female partner.

This evening's enjoyment should set the pace for a real football week-end.

Don't look for any sharp reduction in home building costs in the immediate future.

MARY GARDEN, the most famous operatic personality of this century, the intimate friend of composers Puccini, Montemezzi, Charpentier, Prokofief, Massenet, once the highest paid star in the world, returns to Los Angeles Sunday evening, December 3, to tell of her fabulous experiences in a lecture provocatively titled "Men, Music and Money," at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre. Event is sponsored by the Opera Guild of Southern California and managed by Mary Bran.

Dorothy Maynor Concert Sunday At Philharmonic Auditorium

Lieder, art songs, opera, and the beloved spirituals of her own childhood will be sung by Negro soprano Dorothy Maynor next Sunday afternoon, December 3, at 2:30 o'clock at the Philharmonic auditorium in a concert presented by Irwin Parnes in association with Delta Sigma Theta sorority. Ludwig Bergmann will be pianist.

Opening with solos from Bach's Cantata No. 51, the recital will include songs of Hugo Wolf, Brahms, and Frederick Delius, a trilogy from Ravel's "Sheherazade," and the aria, "Come Scoglio," from Mozart's comic opera "Cosi Fan Tutti."

In private life the daughter of a Methodist minister and wife of Rev. Shelby Rooks, pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church in New York, Miss Maynor invariably closes her concert with an announced group and encores of spirituals. Her selections from this category include "Give Me That Ol' Time Religion" and the Dett arrangement of "There's a Man Goin' 'Round."

A rare phenomenon among singers, Miss Maynor is a "Musician's musician." Her earlier ambition was to become a teacher of public school music, and to prepare herself for this career she learned to play the oboe, piano and French horn, conduct, orchestrate a song, and to transpose accompaniment at sight.

William B. Fletcher, art instructor at North Carolina College was among the exhibitors at the 15th annual Ceramic National Pottery Exhibit held in Syracuse, N. Y., recently.

A Thin Dime Still Packs Plenty of POWER in Los Angeles!

● 3 NIGHTS OF COZY SLEEP!
10¢ runs your electric blanket, sheet or comforter for 3 cold nights of solid comfort!

● 10c RUNS YOUR ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR 4 DAYS!

● 10c BUYS "COOKIN' POWER" FOR TWO WHOLE MEALS!
YES...10¢ buys a lot of power in Los Angeles because the electric rates of your Department of Water and Power are among the lowest in the United States.
Rates are low despite the fact that over half of your Los Angeles power comes from Hoover Dam, 266 miles away; despite the fact that your Department must continuously build and add facilities to meet the demands of thousands of new citizens every year.
Today and tomorrow, your Department will continue to place the willing giant of electricity at your service at the lowest possible cost. Let electricity help you to enjoy modern comfort, luxury and convenience—economically.

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S NOTEBOOK:

Gee! this is one heckuva week for this column . . . in other words our program is just too crowded . . . too many people to see and meet and just too many places to go. . . . Libby Clark, talented scribe, doing her bit for the Community Chest. Sorry to have missed out on the luscious dinner at Libby's home but understand that not only was the food wonderful but the money netted for such a worthy cause was wonderful.

Doll League's packing friends in, in spite of the messy weather, at their annual Doll League Formal. . . . The Sugar Ray Robinson's bon voyage party in New York recently brought out all of the Harlemites with New York's newly-elected Mayor Vincent Impellitteri heading the send-off aggregation. . . . Hear that all of the Cotton Club Girls, Inc., turned out to wish ex-chorine Edna Mae bon voyage. . . . One thing about the Johnson Bath House, it's never too cold or too hot to get treatment there. Believe me when I say "it's satisfying."

It's really news hearing that Floyd Dixion has joined the group of Johnny Moore's Blazers which has recently been reunited. . . . Stump and Stumpy a riot on Milton Berle show. . . . Atty. Walter Gordon really back in the swing of things again with standing room only. . . . Reports have it that Jimmy Edwars now in Bermuda has postponed his tour with the famed Charioteers and is contemplating a personal appearance tour for his recent picture, "Lights Out."

Rex Ingram in the city with very few friends unhep as to his arrival. . . . Benny Carter in New York with plans of a wonderful idea . . . here's hoping . . . we know Benny having a swelluva time hello-ing to old friends.

Charlotte O'Neil, attractive spouse of actor Fred O'Neil, in the city on a vacation list. . . . Joel Fluellen and Bill Jones throwing a little party over at the cozy apartment of Joel's . . . and oh, brother! can that Joel burn! . . . Estelle Sherewood introducing friends to one of the city's noted artists, Theo Hancock, right now.

Aha' Cyrol Shepherd says "An optimist is an old lady who will stay up on the last night of the world to read the morning papers." . . . That's George Ramsey, the San Diego sportsman, you see in the city cruising around in his beyoootiful new 1950 Cad. . . . We still maintain that Berman, of the place of the same name, is without a doubt his best advertisement. We have no idea of what else he does well but he really wears his clothes well . . . that's for sure.

GETTING THE NEWS FROM G.G.:

Surprising getting the news of the sudden folding of "Lost in the Stars" in Chicago . . . aha . . . there's no business like show business . . . up a week and down the next and it all up to you, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Public. . . . When asking pretty Dottie Dandridge about a reconciliation with ex-hubby Harold Nicholas, she softly coos, "uh-huh," which is, I guess, plain enough. . . . Nat King Cole and the Trio to appear at New York's Rochester Eastman Theater with the Rochester Symphony Orchestra. The Coles are expected home for Christmas.

Dollhin's Record Sho still a mad house . . . with that man selling records faster than you can say the word . . . to those interested. John Dollphin is the sole owner of the place and takes care of all details himself. 'Nuff said.

W. C. Handy celebrates 77th birthday with new tune, "They That Sow in Tears." . . . Les Dames Social and Charity Club getting ready for their "March of Cans." Angelle Stratton and Thelma Hayes newest members to be added to the membership.

We predict the new ballad, "I Cried," by Arthur Prysock, a sure singsation. Oooooo that number. Speaking of new tunes, we like Roy Milton's "Oh Babe." . . . Latest report on the TV and radio strike was that the AFRA-threatened strike against the transcription companies was still unsettled. . . . Eddie Heywood doing a single at the Oasis. We had hoped for the trio, think it would have added much more to the piano artistry of Eddie Heywood.

The Last Word opens this week with a complete new management. . . . The Flame still holds forth with the ear-pleasing vocaling of Mari Lynn, who incidentally did alright for herself recently on a TV show. . . . William Goward, long employee at Barker Bros., getting constant raves on his Sunday morning broadcast. . . . The war of nerves is still on along Hep-Cat Row. Fellas are all wondering who'll be next. . . . Bob Strauther (one of our fave friends) doing a wonderful job as the new promotionalist for the Elks Auditorium.

Pretty Savannah Churchill will be next off to Europe . . . after completing engagements in the Eastern niteries. . . . Shapely Verna Hill wants it known that she ran into a door (and not a fist) and unprettied her cute upturned nose. Oh well, that's what the girl said! . . . Comes that time again as it must, you know, which brings to mind that "The proposal that housewives acquire an engineer's approach seems sound. There are times when a husband needs throttling."

LOS ANGELES . . . Blues king Jimmy Witherspoon and band leader Harry James were among the guest stars who performed at a recent gigantic benefit frolic at the Hollywood Palladium. The two personalities are pictured chatting at intermission time. Willie Smith, one time Jimmy Lunceford ace, and a member of the James crew looks on. Witherspoon is currently headlining the revue at CLUB OASIS.

REVIVES TUNE . . . Bobbie Caston's waxing of "Call Me Darling" seems to have revived and we hear that Miss Caston has plans of doing the number again with a new twist.

"Home Of The Brave" Locked Out In Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda—(Special to Calvin News Service) . . . While 300 local Bermudians waited outside Alexandria Hall in the rain, hoping for a chance to see an exclusive showing of "Home of the Brave," which has appeared on theatre screens all over the world, except in Bermuda However, due to pressure from the Hamilton Corporation, citing a fire ordinance law, against 35 m.m. motion pictures being shown there, "Home of the Brave" was locked out.

James Edwards, who co-stars in the film, made a gallant speech on the steps of the Hall to the crowd explaining why he had brought his own personal 16 m.m. print to the island—so that the people would have a chance to see what has been kept from them—by censorship. He explained that 16 m.m. print is safe and could in no way cause fire. Therefore, there was a definite "misunderstanding." The performance was for the benefit of the Bermuda Sailor's Home.

"This is tragic," said Mr. Edwards, "but I look upon it as a victory. We know where we stand. It will be shown—if it has to be shown in a tent."

Mr. Edwards, his manager Sunde' Frank, Mr. Hill, David Tucker, Negro member of the Parliament, Reginald Pearman and others went to visit the Mayor and received a promise that the Corporation would meet at once to consider a request that the picture be shown.

Columbia Releases Waxing of Benny Goodman Carnegie Jazz Concert

A verbatim report of one of the most famous popular musical events of recent years, Benny Goodman's notable Carnegie Hall Jazz Concert in 1938, is realeased on Columbia Records this week. Described by musicologist Irving Kolodin as "one of the authentic documents in American musical history," these collector's item recordings reproduce on two 12-inch LP discs a complete concert of 23 selectionsb y some of the leading jazz musicians of our day.

Participating in this Jazz Concert, which was recorded on the night of January 16, 1938 and never released on discs until now, were the Benny Goodman band of that day and an imposing array of guest stars. The Goodman aggregation included such stellar musicians as Harry James and Ziggy Elman on trumpet, Gene Kruppa on drums and Jess Stacy, pianist. Among the assisting soloists were Count Basie, Teddy Wilson, Lionel Hampton, Bobby Hackett, Johnny Hodges, Cootie Williams, Lester Young, Harry Carney, Buck Clayton and vocalist Martha Tilton.

The Carnegie Hall program was based on the regular Goodman band's repertoire of jazz standards, recorded specialties and current popular hits, with arrangements by Fletcher Henderson, Jim Mundy and Edgar Sampson. Especially arranged for this porgram was a historical vignette of "Twenty Years of Jazz," which surveyed such landmarks of the popular music field as the Original Dixieland Band, Bix Beiderbecke, Ted Lewis, Louis Armstrong and the perennial Duke Ellington.

A highlight of the evening was an experimental "Jam Session" by the Goodman ensemble and guest soloists from the Duke Ellington and Count Basie bands. Also featured in this concert were the famed Trio, consisting of Benny Goodman, pianist Teddy Wilson and drummer Gene Krupa, and the Quartet, with Lionel Hampton on vibes joining the Trio personnel. The Concert concluded with a memorable 12-minute performance of the classic Goodman ritual, "Sing, Sing, Sing."

The Deeps In Canada

MONTREAL—The internationally famous Deep River Boys, who are currently achieving almost unprecedented success on their theater and concert tour of the British Isles, will make their first North American appearance upon their return from England at Montreal's swank Diana Lounge, one of the Dominion of Canada's foremost niteries, where they have been signed for a two-week engagement, opening January 16.

Sassy's Great And Getting Greater

NEW YORK—Sarah Vaughan, who not so long ago was called by recording executives a singer whose appeal was limited to an audience of jazz lovers, has suddenly blossomed forth as one of the biggest-selling girl vocalists in the recording field.

According to current record sales figures, Sarah is surpassed in disc sales by only two other girl singers, Jo Stafford and Doris Day. As a result of her present popularity boom, Sarah's records are literally flooding the market on two major labels, Columbia and MGM, and she currently enjoys the top position among female recording stars with no less than three best-selling discs for Columbia, "Thinking of You," "I Love the Guy" and "Perdido."

Flames New Disc Tagged "Crazy With the Blues"

NEW YORK — Columbia Records, through director of artists and repertoire Mitch Miller, announced this week the release of the first recordings by its newly-signed rhythm and blues artists, Ollie Shepard and his orchestra and the Three Flames.

Blues singer Shepard, who performs with a six-piece jump combo, and the Three Flames, popular novelty instrumental-vocal trio were signed to Columbia recording contracts earlier this month to augment the label's rapidly expanding roster of Negro talent.

Shepard's initial release will couple two of his own original compositions, "Crazy, with the Blues" and "Big Fine Automobile," while the Three Flames will bow with a pairing of "Succotash Baby" and "Sky Full of Sunshine." The new disc will hit the market December 4 with a full scale nationwide promotion.

New Guitarist With Orioles

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Although shattered by the tragic automobile accident that last week claimed the life of one of their members and hospitalized two others, the high-flying Orioles, led by Sonny Till and Alex Sharp went through their scheduled engagement on the stage of the Earle Theater here and won the greatest acclaim that has yet to come to the popular singing group.

Till and Sharp, the two members of the quintet who were not in the accident near Baltimore in which guitarist Tommy Gaither was killed instantly and George Nelson and Johnny Reed sustained severe injuries, opened on the Earle stage with a patch-up unit that put on one of the greatest performances ever seen in the Quaker City.

Guitarist Ralph Williams has been announced as the replacement for the late Tommy Gaither and a sixth member, pianist Charlie Harris, has also been added.

Bruins Slight Favorites To Shade Trojans Saturday

Victorious in only one of seven games, the University of Southern California football team enters its "Biggest Game" with UCLA this Saturday in the Coliseum on the short end of the odds for the first time since 1946.

Against common opponents, Coach Jeff Cravath's Trojans have outdone the Bruins only against California's Rose Bowl-bound Bears. After SC lost 13-7 to Cal in an early season game, the Bruins were the victims of a 35-0 rout at the hands of the Golden Bears.

In favor of the Uclans, they have scored decisive victories over Stanford and Oregon, both only tied by Troy. Both teams played on a par against the Washington Huskies with UCLA getting a 21-20 loss compared with SC's 28-13 setback.

To achieve their first victory over Southern California in four years, however, the Bruins must parry the aroused running attack of Cravath's team. Functioning behind effective blocking, speedy Al Carmichael, Jim Sears and Cosimo Cutri now are striking for long gains from Trojan halfback positions.

Intimate fumbles and physical mistakes have held up the Trojan offense. UCLA counters with the single wing offense of Red Sanders which has showed punch in the clutches against all Bruin opponents except California and Illinois.

With sophomore Donn Moomaw leading them, UCLA's linemen have compiled an enviable defense record. A battle of linebackers looms, nevertheless, with Patterson Cannamela pacing Troy's defensive forces. He has been the defensive standout of SC's games.

No less than four tailbacks have shared Sanders' offensive duties. They are sophomore Ted Narleski, Joe Marvin, Bob Moore, and Johnny Florence.

Moore's punting probably has been the outstanding feature of UCLA's single wing. He averaged more than 48 yards per kick against California.

In all-time competition with UCLA Trojan football teams have won 13, lost 2, and tied 4, but are expected to lose number three this week end as the Bruins are favored by about 6 points.

Jeff In Milk Bowl Game Today

The cream of the city prep football crop will be seen in action this morning in the annual Milk Bowl carnival at the Coliseum.

The champion and runner-up in each of the city's five leagues will show its stuff in five 20-minute periods with the clubs divided into North and South. The clock will not stop, and each new team will take over at the exact point that the last team left off.

Festivities will start at 11 a.m. and should be over by 2 p.m. so that one will be able to make it back home in time forThanksgiving dinner.

Bands and drill teams from the various schools will also participate.

Pairings are as follows:

Midget Autos Race For Last Time At Gilmore Tonight

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22: Gilmore Stadium, where midget auto racing first hit the big time, will draw the curtain on 17 years of small car action with the running of the 150-lap Gilmore Grand Prix on Thanksgiving evening, November 23rd.

With all of the leading big car and midget race chauffeurs in the country on hand for championship races on the Coast, one of the greatest fields in the star studded history of the Grand Prix is expected for the 1950 running.

Among those expected to battle for the 14 starting positions are Bill Vukovich, Allan Heath, Tony Bettenhausen, Danny Oakes, Jim Davies, Joe Garson, Perry Grimm, Sam Hanks, Norm Holtkamp, Johnny McDowell, Jack McGrath, Gordon Reid, Johnny Tolan, Rodger Ward and Bill Zaring.

Picking a favorite from among these likely qualifying hopefuls is like tabbing eight horse races in succession. However, Heath, Vukovich, Davies, Holtkamp, Bettenhausen and Schindler likely will get most of the votes of the midget race fans.

In addition to the 150-lap Grand Prix, there will be a trophy dash for the four fastest qualifiers and a 25-lap semi-windup on Thanksgiving eve. There will be no increase in prices, the regular admission tab of $1.25, tax included, prevailing.

Pepperdine Hosts Arizona State At Gilmore Saturday

Pepperdine's Waves and the Arizona State Lumberjacks of Flagstaff wind up their grid seasons with a game Saturday night at Gilmore Stadium.

The Waves, who defeated Fresno State last Saturday night to complete CCAA conference play with a 2-2 record, will be trying for their fourth victory of the season and their fourth straight since 1947 over the Jacks. In Flagstaff, however, Coach Ben Reiges, the former UCLA quarterback, was quoted as saying his team has an even chance to beat the Waves and that he definitely will provide a ball game for his ex-Bruin mates now coaching at Pepperdine.

Reiges has a light and fast team heavily studded with sophomores. Gus Headington, booter from Texas, failed to show up at the border course last Sunday and lost a chance to pass or break the tie with his eastern rival, Jockey Joe Culmone. Many fans came from all parts of California to root for their favorite but he left the Caliente fans on the disappointed side. Jockey Glen Lasswell was the star of the day in scoring with three winners. The feature attraction was won by Somoracle, with Jockey Webb in the saddle, paying $10.60. The daily-double combination of Pigeon Flight, winner of the second race, and Autumn Fire, victor of the third, paid $88.20. Quniela backers of Rockwood Play and Battle Oak received $21.20 when they finished in that order. General Manager Walter C. Marty has arranged a gal au revoir card of 12 races for this closing Sunday. Featured will be "The Au Revoir." Secondary, "The Hasta La Vista." $6,000 will be given away for lucky door prizes, $1,000 at noon and $5,000 after the last race. No handicapping is necessary. The largest crowd of the season is expected for the gala closing. Watch for the reopening.

Loyola to Tackle Tough Santa Clara

Jordan Olivar's Loyola Lions put their 12-game winning streak on the line Sunday at Gilmore Stadium when they take on always tough Santa Clara.

The Bronchos are the last team to beat the Lions. Last season the Broncs Orange Bowl champions took the measure of the Olivarmen 27-19 at Sacramento.

Santa Clara has gained a considerable reputation as the upset team of the coast in recent years. Of the major unbeaten teams in the nation this season the Broncs are the last team to whip three of the seven. Santa Clara was the last team to beat Kentucky, Oklahoma, and Loyola.

The Loyola attack will be paced by big George Musacco, who is among the nation's top ground gainers this season with an average gain of 109 yards per game. George has toted the ball 763 yards in 151 carries for a nifty 5-yard average this season.

Don Klosterman, the sharp Loyola QB, will also bear watching. Don has completed over 55% of his passes this season and although he is a junior, is rated as one of the best T quarterbacks in the nation.

The pre-game sale indicates that a crowd in excess of 15,000 will be on hand for the game.

HOLLYWOOD PARK — Phil D. may not be the best two-year-old on the grounds but we will have to take him until a better one shows up. The son of War Dog-Ellie was always close to the pace and caught Pat's Own turning for home and the charmed circle to win going away by three lengths. Despite a steady drizzle the track remained fast and the winner's time for the seven furlongs was 1:23 1-5. In the supporting feature the $10,000 Debonair Handicap, the King's ranch Curandero upset the hope of the favored Calumet entry of Bewitch and Ponder who could do not better than run third and fourth. Valquest was second, a length behind the winner. Curandero's time for the mile was 1:36 flat and paid in the mutuels $13.10. Two big features are in store for the lovers of the sport of kings this week. The Thanksgiving Day Handicap will bring together the big name horses, such as Hill Prince, Noor, Ponder, Your Host and others in the big money bracket. This handicap carries an added value of $35,000. On Saturday, November 25, fillies will have their chance in the $25,000 added Cinderella tSakes at one mile and one-sixteenth. The cream of the two-year-old fillies will go postward Friday, November 24, in the Hollywood Lassie Stakes, a distance of six furlongs with an added value of $25,000.

Hollywood Park Presents Three-Day Stakes Program

Hollywood Park will present the busiest three-day stakes schedule in its history this weekend when the $35,000 Thanksgiving Day Handicap, $25,000 Lassie Stakes and $25,000 Cinderella Stakes will be staged on successive days.

Today's Thanksgiving Day 1 1/16 miles Handicap, except for the absence of Noor, will be a preview of the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup. Headed by Hill Prince, "Horse of the Year," Ponder, Your Host and Assault, the list of 40 horses who have been assigned weights includes many of the country's top handicap stars.

Among the nominees are Bernbrook, Vulcan's Forge, Wistful, Bewitch, Curandero, Frankly, Great Circle, On Trust, Manyunk, Theory, Stone Age, Star Fiddle, Blue Reading and Micheo.

Hill Prince, who will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, has been top-weighted at 128 pounds, with Ponder and Your Host at 124 and Assault at 122. For today's program, first post will be at 12 o'clock noon instead of at the usual 1 p.m.

The Hollywood Lassie Stakes tomorrow is a six-furlong dash for two-year-old fillies. Among stakes winners nominated for the Lassie are Sickle's Image, James H. Connor Memorial Stakes at Narragansett; Haughty Miss, Tanforan Lassie; Worn Out, California Centennial at Tanforan, and Holler, Osunitas at Del Mar.

Other top contenders are expected to be Alfred Vanderbilt's Slave Bracelet and Sweet Talk, the latter a half-sister to Bed O' Roses; Wisteria, third in the Spinaway Stakes; Witch Wooky, second in the Osunitas; Jimmette, Chaldara, Dutch Wife, and Ruth Lily.

The Cinderella Stakes, new to the Hollypark program this year, will be the Saturday headliner and will feature three-year-old fillies going a mile and one sixteenth. Vanderbilt's powerful twosome of Next Move, "Three-Year-Old Filly of the Year," and Bed O' Roses, "Two-Year-Old Filly of 1949," looms as the outstanding threat.

Rams-Yanks Game On TV Tonight

The crucial major league football game between the high-flying Los Angeles Rams and the powerful New York Yankees, played in New York last Sunday will be presented in its entirety on film, to local television fans this evening. The Admiral telecast will be carried on KNBH Channel 4, starting at 9:15 p.m.

Bob Kelley, who is on the road with the Rams, will fly here from the east to provide a play-by-play description of the contest along with his own comments on the game and on the Rams' title chances.

Every play of the game will be covered on the film, with the time-outs and other delays edited out so that the entire contest can be shown in the one-hour telecast.

ELAJC Meets El Camino Today In Grid Finale

The resurgent Huskies of East Los Angeles Junior College bring their grid season to a climax at noon today when they meet the explosive El Camino Warriors for the Metropolitan conference championship on the El Camino field.

This fourth gridiron meeting between these two Metropolitan conference elevens finds them tied for first place.

East L. A. has won all three previous battles all of which were played at El Camino. In fact the Warrors have scored only once in the series, that being in 1948 when the final count was 27-7. The Huskies won in 1947 and 1949 by identical scores of 6 to 0.

Scores Mean Little

However, scores mean little in these grudge games. In 1947 Amby Schindler's band of Warriors ruled three touchdown favorites at game time and lost. In 1948 the teams were rated all even but ELA won handily 27-7. Last year the unbeaten Huskies were rated as heavy favorites but considered themselves lucky to escape with a 6-0 decision.

Teams Even in '50

On the basis of common opponents there appears to be little difference between Warrior and Huskie in 1950. Both scalped Santa Monica by 49 points. Both edged Harbor by one touchdown. Bakersfield and San Diego were other common victims. Both the Efans and El Camino were blanked by Long Beach.

Coach Al Hunt of the Huskies will again rely on Lewis "Hustler" Williams, his leading scorer as well as leading ground gainer. If left handed ace Ben Vartanian is ready, a Huskie aerial attack may materialize, and if the situation arises Tom Zaby may be called upon for a field goal. Defensively line backers Dennie Gill and Morrie Toimasov are counted on to fill in rapidly with Captain Bob Hughes and Louie Augustine ready to pick off enemy aerials.

The El Camino campus site of the Turkey Day clash, is located at Crenshaw and Redondo Beach Boulevard. An overflow crowd is anticipated.

SUGAR RAY VS. CHARLES?

Grantland Rice says that Ray Robinson has an eye towards Ezzard Charles and a title fight with him. He goes on to say that Robinson is at his best at 170 pounds. Charles fights at about 185 pounds.

While it is true that middleweights have defeated heavyweights in some instances in the past, Sugar Ray would not have an easy time with Charles, who like himself is a master boxer. Charles' heavier punches would soon show on Robinson also.

Ezzard Charles, while not one of the greatest of champions, certainly should be rated with some of the men who held the title such as Max Baer, Primo Carnera, James Braddock, and Jack Sharkey. And, as champion, should be able to take care of the middleweight king. (Robinson is the uncrowned middleweight champ.)

Looking back on some of the past heavyweight champs we find that Braddock lost 20 fights or more on his way to the top. Carnera was big and clumsy and had no reflexes at all, yet got up off the floor six times against Baer before staying down in the 11th. Sharky, a guy with a lot of guts, was an in-and-outter.

Charles is a bona fide champion and might not have had too much trouble with some of the above in their prime.

He will get a chance to prove his ability next Tuesday in Cincinnati at the 15,000 capacity Garden Arena against Nick Barone.

Ez has lost one battle already. The Cincy Commissioners have decreed that he must shave off his mustache. Quite a loss, but he will probably be compensated by the 42½ per cent of the gate that he is to receive.

Other heavyweights in the news are Jersey Joe Walcot and Joe Louis Walker fights a young hopeful from Utah, Rex Layne, tomorrow night at Madison Square Gardens while Louis fights a 23 year old Argentine gladiator, Cesar Brion next Wednesday in Chicago.

ARAGON VS. IKE WILLIAMS?

Art Aragon who cooled Carlos Chavez in one round the other evening at the Olympic is being considered for a title match with lightweight champion Ike Williams.

His impressive victory over Chavez who up to Tuesday had never been knocked out, puts him near the top. However, John L. Davis has beaten Art three out of five times and should rate an edge in consideration for a title shot.

Davis' victory over Freddy Dawson last week, however close, qualifies him as the nation's number one lightweight, but it is doubtful that Harry Fine, Davis' manager can entice

Holy Cross Church Announces Two Weeks Religious Mission

The Reverend Denis J. Falvey, pastor of Holy Cross Church, 4705 South Main St., Los Angeles, announces a two weeks Mission at Holy Cross Church beginning Sunday, December 3rd, and closing Sunday evening, December 17th. The Mission will consist of a series of religious exercises and sermons on vital topics.

With the close of the Holy Year approaching, a year of great graces and many blessings, Father Falvey invites all his parishioners to make this Mission which will be conducted by the Reverend William A. Michell and the Reverend Richard A. Malloy of the Paulist Fathers.

This Mission will also provide appropriate preparation for Christmas. Morning Masses during the Mission will be offered at 6:30, 8, and 9 o'clock.

Evening services will be held at 7:45 and will include a "Question Box" period wherein questions about the Catholic faith and its practices will be answered. Non-Catholics are cordially invited to attend any of the Mission services.

Naborhood C'm'ty Church Services

Thanksgiving service will be held at 11 a.m. at the Neighborhood Community Church, 47th place at San Pedro.

The Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, pastor of Neighborhood Community Church, will deliver the Thanksgiving Day message at 11 o'clock. An invitation has been extended to all who wish to worship on Thanksgiving Day.

At 8 p.m. the Neighborhood congregation will worship with the Rev. S. M. Marion, First AME Zion Church, Pico and Paloma, in celebration of the minister's 54th anniversary. Rev. Collins will preach at this service.

The choir, now in its 6th year under the direction of Miss Margaret Davis, will furnish music for the women's day program Sunday morning, December 10.

Gospel Service Every Sunday

A pleasant Sunday afternoon service is being conducted at 3 o'clock every Sunday at the United Gospel Workers' Mission, 1437½ E. 48th street, according to Rev. Nora James, pastor.

The services are in charge of Bishop C. F. Kyle of the United Christian Church, who also conducts a fundamental Bible class at the mission every Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Evening of Song, Rose Of Sharon Baptist

The Rose of Sharon Baptist Church, 1527 Paloma Ave., is pleased to present, through the courtesy of the Mary G. Rubin Studio, an evening of song and poetry beginning promptly at 8 p.m., Friday, November 24.

Featured soloists of the evening will be Mrs. Robbie Lee Preston, mezzo-soprano, and Mr. Vernon A. Strait, baritone.

Also participating in the evening's program will be artists from the New Writers Guild who will give poetic and dramatic readings.

The public is cordially invited. No admission will be charged. Mrs. Ethyel Mayo, sponsor, Rev. George B. Ballark, minister.

"The Era of Unity" is the subject on which Mrs. Jesma Herbert will deliver her lecture at the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 S. New Hampshire avenue, on Sunday afternoon, November 26, at 3:30 o'clock.

"We are beginning to realize the need for unity amongst nations. 'The World Is One Home, and Mankind Its Citizens,' said Baha'u'llah, 50 years ago.

Monthly Forum, Cotton Rally at St. Stephens AME

Rev. J. S. Bagneris, Jr., pastor of the St. Stephens A. M. E. Church, 436 South Crocker Street, announces that the Laymen's League of the Church headed by Mr. Bert Farmer, president of the League, is sponsoring on Monday, November 27, at 8:00 p.m. in the church auditorium, the first of a series of monthly Forum discussions dealing with subjects of vital importance and of interest to the entire community. Prominent persons are being secured to lead these discussions; persons who are well versed and conversant with the various problems to be discussed. Atty. Vince Monroe Townsend will deliver the first major address on "What do the Elections Mean to Negroes?"

There will be special Thanksgiving services at the church beginning at 12 noon with a turkey dinner sponsored by the Allen Christian Endeavor League, Miss Arneice Cooper, president. Worship services will be held at 8:00 p.m. At this time members of the congregation will give their special Thanksgiving offerings. Mrs. H. L. Bryant, presidenet of the Usher Board will give away a nice picnic ham at this time.

"COTTON PICKING" RALLY

The Missionary Society of the St. Stephens A. M. E. Church is sponsoring a mammoth "Cotton Picking" Rally on Sunday, November 26th, at the 3:00 p.m. hour. The Rally Sermon will be delivered by Dr. William Jacks, pastor of the Johnson Chapel A. M. E. Church, Santa Ana, California. Dr. Jacks, a newcomer to California, recently from Missouri, will be accompanied by his choir, ushers, congregation and other officials of the church.

Mrs. Annie Bell Bagneris, who is president of the Society has distributed "cotton sacks" to the various members and friends of the church and is "paying 4c per pound." The individual "picking" the highest amount of "cotton" over 100 pounds will be rewarded and recognized as the "Champion Cotton Picker." The public is invited to witness this unusual program.

Red Cross Plan To Train High School Students

Steps were taken this week by the Los Angeles Red Cross Chapter to train every student in junior and senior high school grades in the basic fundamentals of "self help" in time of any disaster through its First Aid instructional program.

The initial move found Red Cross launching instructor training classes among the faculty members of public, private and parochial schools within the city limits of Los Angeles—an action needed to provide teaching strength for this gigantic undertaking.

By next February when the second semester of the 1950-51 school year gets underway, Red Cross hopes to have a sufficient number of Red Cross First Aid teachers to start the student training, it was pointed out by Roger C. Plaisted, director of First Aid, water safety and accident prevention for Los Angeles Chapter.

Christmas Basket Frolic Planned By Californians

What is destined to be one of the most colorful affairs of the season, is the Christmas Basket Autumn Frolic, to be given by the "Californians," on Saturday, December 2, at Western Knights Masonic Hall, 1480 West Jefferson Blvd., according to Winfield Jones, head of this young philanthropic group.

Dancing will begin at 10 p.m. to the lilting strains of Campbell's and his colorful Combo. Refreshments will be served in the club's lounge.

The fall theme and football will dominate the decorations and activities.

Arrangements are under the chairmanship of Walter McDowell. Proceeds will be used for the purchase of Xmas baskets to be given to the less fortunate families of the Westside community. The public is invited.

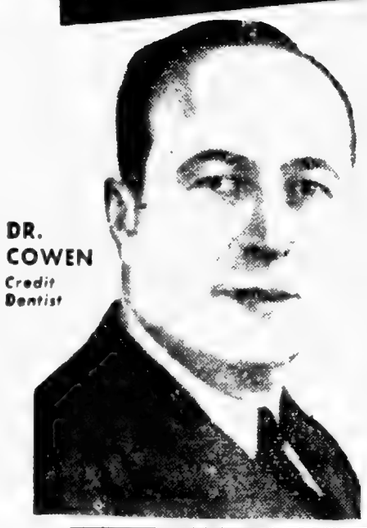
Thanksgiving Ball for the Athenian Club

The Athenians Social Club are again putting out their welcome mat to the collegiate crowd. This time it will be bigger and better, for it's their "Second Annual Thanksgiving Ball." The affair will take place at the Elks Hall, 4016 South Central avenue, on Thanksgiving night, Thursday, November 23, from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m.



A donation of fifty cents is asked of everyone who attends. So if you want to have some fun during the Thanksgiving holiday, why not get on the ball and come on down to the Elks Hall when the Athenians give their Thanksgiving Ball.

Women and Laws

"Laws of Importance to Women" will be the topic discussed by Judge Mildred Lillie and Judge Elisabeth Eberhard Ziegler, two Los Angeles women jurists, at the second meeting of the Institute of Women's Interests to be held at East Los Angeles Junior College on November 28.

Surveys show the principal causes of traffic accidents in the Los Angeles area to be: Failure to yield Right of Way, Speeding, Drunk Driving, Running Stop Lights, and Following Too Closely. (L.A.P.D.)

Special NAACP Committee Will Present Fund-Raising Affair

The Special Activities Committee, a volunteer group of men and women representing labor, the entertainment field and a wide variety of social and civic clubs, is staging its third big fund-raising event for the NAACP. The affair will be a cocktail dancing party given Sunday, November 26 at the Beverly Chateau, 7819 Beverly Boulevard to which the public is invited. Music will be by Gerald Wilson's orchestra. The time of the affair has been set at 4:30 to 10:30.

Preliminary ticket reports made at the Committee's regular meeting last Thursday indicated a record attendance for the event. The personnel of the Committee covers a wide variety of community interest.

Members include, AFL representative James Anderson, CIO representative John Dial; Doretha Burns, president of the Lucky Duchess Bridge Club, and Committee co-chairman; Estell Kemple, president Troupetts Club and Committee treasurer; Beatrice Winburn, business manager; Louise Bradshaw, Secretary; Mrs. T. Bone Walker, president of the Mona Lisa Bridge Club; Mr. J. Presley, president of the Van Courtland Social Club; Mr. A. P. Kitchens, NAACP Board Member; Winnie Orr and many others. Mrs. D. C. Montgomery is chairman of the group.

The Committee has taken over the Beverly Chateau for the entire afternoon and evening; the bar, cloakroom and ticket window will all be handled by Committee members.

Pre-Employment Training for Christmas Sales People Set

"Learn to Earn" is the Christmas slogan used by merchants in Central Avenue and South Los Angeles Districts, in announcing the pre-employment Sales Training program to prepare extra clerks to service the huge holiday shoppers expected to crowd the stores early in December.

Certificates from the Los Angeles Board of Education will be awarded those successfully completing the training. Entrance may be obtained by registering with the Los Angeles Urban League, A Community Chest Agency, 2510 S. Central, Room 301. ADams 5128. The Los Angeles Board of Education and the Merchants are sponsors with the Urban League.

The course is designed to cover Sales Personality, The Approach, Handling Difficult Customers, Handling Objections and Developing Sales Presentation. This "quickie course" will be presented in three sessions of two hours each on the following days: Tuesday, Nov. 28; Thursday, Nov. 30; and Tuesday, Dec. 5, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The classes will be held at the Jefferson High School, 41st and Hooper, and are presented by the Distributive Education Department of the Adult Education Program.

Cooperating

The businesses already signed as sponsors are: Ricks Store for Men, 4103 S. Central; The Rose Shop, 4109 S. Central; Fleishman's Department Store, 4411 S. Central; Robert-Lee Clothiers & Jewelers, 4114 S. Central; B. & B. Department Store, 4362 S. Central; Hitchcock Hardware Store, 4106 S. Central; and the New York Garment Company, 4420 S. Central Avenue. Mr. Lee Merriweather, Industrial Field Secretary of the Los Angeles Urban League, says other firms are expected to join the "Learn to Earn Program."

Alphas Make Initiation 7 in Nov.

Sunday night ended the pledgeship of seven Spinxmen of a Phi A Fraternity who were duly initiated into the Alpha Delta Chapter (USC). The Hell Week activities were topped off by a banquet at the Alpha house which attracted more than 35 brothers. Chef Tommie Robinson provided a tasty ham dinner with all the trimmings for the occasion.

The men of the hour are Bobby Brewington, Edward Day, Chukuemeka Okeke, Marcus Shepherd, Calvin Spann and Kenneth Younger. Congratulations to the new fraternity men.

$10,000,000 Bond Sale

To provide additions and improvements to the municipal power system necessary to keep pace with the growth in all sections of the city, the sale of $10,000,000 in electric plant revenue bonds to the First Boston Corporation, lowest bidder, was authorized by the Los Angeles City Board of Water and Power Commissioners.

More Blood Needed

Red Cross Service officials were told this week that reverses in the Korean fighting will necessitate an immediate 50 per cent increase in the amount of whole blood to be sen by the Red Cross to the fighting front.

BRIDGE NOTES
by Ann Daniels

Final preparations are being made for the 10th Annual Sectional Duplicate Bridge play which will take place at the main auditorium of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company Bldg., Adams and Western. The date is on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 25 and 26. The affair is being sponsored by the Harmony Bridge Club. Among the outstanding players who will participate in the tournament are such personalities as May Denton, Dr. A. L. Wallace, L. Clay, H. Street, R. Andrews, T. Burest, M. Swanson, A. Stevens, K. Scott, Daisy Watson, president, and W. H. Harrison, Tournament Director. Hattie Grave is secretary.

Kappa Kapers to Become Annual Pre-Game Affair With the Crowning of 'Miss Football'

Like the rest of Kappa 'K' affairs—Karavan, Koncert, Karnival (which will be staged next year), the KAPPA KAPERS is going to be an annual affair the night of the UCLA-USC football game.

The response to the invitation for this year's KAPERS, which will be held at the Elks on Saturday, Nov. 25th, 1950 from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. has been encouraging.

The selection committee of Upsilon Chapter, Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity reports that there will be pleasant surprises for all those attending.

Students from the Bay area who are coming down for the game have been invited and are expected to attend. Among those invited are the society editors, gossip columnists of the leading newspapers in the community and the top notch disc jockeys.

The dance falls on the historic Thanksgiving weekend—a time when everyone is set to have fun.

Arrangements have been made with PHY TAYLOR'S KOMBO to have a request session. Everyone who wishes to have his favorite number played may request same.

Players and admirers of USC and UCLA will be there to celebrate victory or forget defeat and as a result this affair promises to really be an enjoyable one.

Graphic Arts Institute Gets New Courses

Charles Williams, President of the California Institute of Graphic Arts (formerly the California School of Photography) announces that the State Board of Education has seen fit to approve courses in Advanced Photography under the G.I. Bill.

The new courses offered are: Advanced Portraiture and Fashion, Advanced Commercial and Flash, and Direct Color Processes. Other courses being taught by the Institute are Basic Photography, Photo-Lithography and Fine Arts.

Founded in 1947 as the California School of Photography, the Institute boasts of the West's most complete course in Photo Lithography and has recently instituted a course in Fine Arts under the able tutorship of Miss June Phillips.

Bill of Rights Conf.

Bishop Walter Mitchel and Bishop Edward L. Parsons, of California, in statements issued to the National Conference to Defend the Bill of Rights, to be held in New York City on December 2 and 3, 1950, condemned the current attacks on foreign-born Americans. It was announced by Rev. John W. Darr, Jr., chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign-born Americans, it was announced by Rev. John W. Darr, Jr., chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

It is nothing short of a tragedy of the first order that the Bill of Rights has to be defended in this country," Bishop Mitchell stated in his message.

"We cannot hope to continue a leadership among free nations if we become totalitarian. Certainly the present situation has disclosed a distressing number of fascist-minded people," declared Bishop Parsons in his message.

Pioneer News

Mrs. Florence Carter, Mary Jural, and Camilla Leftridge were the lovely hostesses entertaining the Pioneer Club, No. 1, at the beautiful home of Mrs. Carter, 120 N. Benton Way. Delicious refreshments were served.

It has been learned since the meeting that Miss Alphonsine Palton, daughter of Mrs. Carter, has passed away October 27, and also that the cousin of Mrs. Leftridge, William Searcy, passed on Tuesday, November 7. The sympathy of the club is extended to Mrs. Carter to her mother, and to her sister, Mrs. Colima Bryant, and to Mrs. Leftridge for their bereavement.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Williams, 1346 East 41st place, Nov. 21.

A Letter to My Chum, Gene.

Dear Chum

First the blitz now you. England doesn't deserve it.

No jive, what's the lick "Over There?" Have you run into the ghost of the Moors, the spirit of Queen Bess, Jack the Ripper, Richard Coeur de Lion, the Bronson Gals, Sherlock Holmes, Hank the Nightwatchman?

How do you feel promenading in Olde London Towne? And, Dr. Watson, have you got yourself a British accent?

The gells. Tell me, how are the gells? What are you doing in the way of cementing British-American relations?

Do people call you "guv'nor?" In the middle of a blackout, have you run into any spies, like in the Mo'om pitchers? Have you found romance in an air raid shelter?

Enough questions? Righto.

You should see Los Angeles.

Prizes are offered for every woman caught in skirts. Bigger prizes for every citizen civilian over 21 in good health and under ninety.

Personally, I have never been so popular. Women I beat off with Uncle Joe's oakwood cane. Dames which once rose above me with the greatest of ease, I even found hidden depths in mine own myopic orbs. Yesterday Lena Horne chased me for three blocks. Poor dear, I finally let her kiss me.

The Negro population has more than doubled. What used to be Little Tokyo is now a first class Negro slum. The city and county governments have been phoney about dropping race restrictions from housing property and private property race restrictions remain unchallenged.

Some advances have been made, however, in the last few weeks.

Believe it or not, there has developed a Snob's Brigade on the question of our new Negro population. Noses tilted Upward, my dear. Considering a Quick, Henry the Flit campaign against rough-like rodents.

For the most part, however, the town is united behind a drive for "full and equal" housing. The new Negro vote is going to be an item for the boys downtown to think about . . . to think and think and think about. I assure you.

A. Philips howed up a few weeks ago. Guess what he wants this time? An all-Negro political party! Nobody bought anything. Nobody even noticed that mess.

Remember that big barn out at 108th and Central? It is now glamorized with the presence of Erskine Hawkins and opening night the citizens were nicked three bucks per head. Cover charge! 'Tis groovy, though, and the prices are back in reaching distance.

Walter Williams and the shipyard workers have fought a magnificent battle against jim-crow unionism of the Boilermakers International and have an FEPC order coming up.

L. A. Ry. still won't hire Negroes. It's got the city transportation tied up like a Boyer love scene. You should see the "U." It's a mob scene on wheels. Walter Lear Gordon, Jr., has become the papa of twins!

You'd LIKE his new secretary. She was just in to ask about some letterheads. Strictly business. She doesn't walk, either. She Trips! Married, I hear.

Remember your girl, Jessie Mae? The two of us are steady and ever-loving companions. I wanted you to know. Anything for a pal.

Don't let the tales of riots and such get under your skin. Hitler's stooge helpers are busy stirring up race friction everywhere, but the really important thing is that unions of white and Negro Americans are working side by side today, building the raw material of victory. The CIO is waging a brilliant battle for Negro and white unity. Hundreds of all unions are joining in. One great achievement locally has been the unity of rank-and-file citizens of the Mexican and Negro community. Papa Hearst would have called off his zoot suit riot had he known this very thing would become its most startling consequence.

All in all, chum, I think we are going to have a nice, shiny big world if we work at it right from the start.

Look, try and be careful, will you?

Before closing, let me remark that Los Angeles is in the midst of a gas attack. Uh huh. A synthetic rubber plant in town has got the whole burg weeping in its beer. Some places the gas is so thick you can only see a block ahead.

Ain't it awful?

Give my regards to Hitler.

Sincerely,

JOHN.

COTTONWOOD ROAD

Cottonwood Road, slum of dead-end road paved with broken dreams and withered hope;
Dirty lace on a filthy underskirt of a rich city who would deny her own.
Streets radiate from your foul body like cancerous tentacles breeding disease.
Sidewalks like pythogenic trails littered with broken glass and refuse that only poverty can discard.
I see your unclean wounds swathed in old paper and rags that stuff your broken window panes.
Yards covered with treasured junk; iron, bottles, rags, scavanged lumber warped and rotting . . . still waiting to be part of someone's home.
Only dying weeds and vermin guard the poorman's treasure.
Children and flies share the live scum of open sewers—unmindful of your stench.
Juke boxes that blare resentment loud as cannon salvos from both sides of Cottonwood Road cannot smother the hammer-blows of voices protesting against the lot of those who cannot hear the heartbreak of victims sinking in the quagmire of Cottonwood Road.
Do the mighty of the city, like the minister and priest hear the prayers of this ghetto where all of human color blends? Yes, but they too, like Saint Garcia, must be cast in stone.

"PRELUDE TO LOVE"

By Bobby Reedburg

An ebony night kissed an infinite Star,
A midnight moon ormed a magic bar—
In costly seconds that fleeted by;
I bartered for love but captured a sigh.

"MY HEART"

By Bobby Reedburg

My passionate heart could not wait,
To taste of love and know my fate.
The myth of love so sublime,
Led me to you darling mine.
And when my heart had its fling,
It winced and cried from love's sting.

Carver Jr. High PTA

Carver Jr. High School P.T.A. awarded the students of the school with an assembly in appreciation for the largest membership ever had during the history of P.T.A. at Carver. For one and a half hours they were spellbound with the music of such famous celebrities as Big J. McNeely, Hunter Hancock, Kenny Washington, Lionel Hampton and his Orchestra. Lionel along with the other stars played all the latest numbers. His last was his ever famous Flying Home. Big J. McNeely featured his famous quartet, The Borons, and they were well received, also featured were Fred Leonard, a popular young singer and Gel Bernia, singer with Hampton Band.

Mrs. Roy Clark is program chairman.

Barbara

I spose you know, by now, with whom . . . That Leah Jane Certer is really very fond of H. L. but, I'll be darned, if she'll admit it. . . .

Thought for the Week

There's so much good in the worst of us and so much bad in the best of us that it hardly behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us.

Wonder with whom Cecilia Lyons is going to the prom? . . . Joan Southern is simply REGUSTED with her school grades. You ain't by yourself dearie, we all are. . . . Rita Pierson was truly broken-hearted when she and Jack Casonhus split up. Seems to be quite busy now with Guy Blackburn. . . . Caught a glimpse of Wendell Williams the other day. You know, he's quite a handsome little soul. . . . Eugene Hawkins, there's someone who is desperately in love with you. Her initials are N. L. Hint, she goes to Jeff. . . . Stella Pierson, oh!!! so, your present sweet-potutie is Melvin Cook. Jeanette Washington celebrated her birthday last Friday nite, with a raving hop. Candies and nuts present were: Joe Clark, Eúrope Williams, Pat Smith, Claudine Washington, David Robinson, Norman Holmes, Jody Clark, and Ronald Clark. Did you know that that Hightower boy likes Mary Walton??? David Bonner is said to have a deep crush on Leah Jane Center. . . . Gwynne Burris is the apple of Leroy Williams' eye.

Thanksgiving Ball Slated Next On the Athenion Calendar

The Athenians' Social Club are again putting out their welcome mat to the collegiate crowd. This time it will be bigger and better for it's their Second Annual Thanksgiving Ball. The affair will take place at the Elks Hall, 4016 South Central Avenue on tonite. The time is from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. The admission is 50c.

STOP IT! STOP IT! My goodness, printers are rushing me this week. Keep your shirts on, I'll be through in a sec.

Remember, don't be greedy-guts. Leave room for tomorrow's dinner.

Who knows, they might become one, Rose Hartsfield and Clarence Caraway. . . . Dave Butler is in the army now. Guess the tears am flowing for Fay Glascow

The Pasadena W.M.C.A. League will start again real soon. The Artisons who came out on top last year will be well represented. Feature players are: Kenny and Hugo Hill, Ples Friffin and Walter Lumkin and ooodles of others. Of course you know they're all champs.

Yours sincerely,
Barbara

School Pupils to Visit Bank, Tues.

Members of the Ninety-Second Street School sixth grade class of Mr. Jack Sprankling are scheduled to make a tour of the Farmers and Merchants bank, Watts branch, on Tuesday, December 5, as part of a social studies lesson.

Accompany the children in addition to their teacher will be Mr. Carroll L. Lang, Assistant Supervisor of the Thrift, Conservation, and School Savings Program of the Los Angeles City Schools.

In addition to the above class, children from other grades who are planning to open a new school savings account will also make the trip.

During the course of the tour, which will be handled by President Charles Griffith and his staff, the youngsters will be allowed to enter the vault and see the safe deposit boxes, and will be taken behind the counters to see how the bank business is carried on.

After returning to school the children will have a discussion about their trip in preparation for a written essay about what they have learned at the bank. The children also plan to make oral reports, posters, and write letters of appreciation to the manager of the bank.

Telephone service is still a bargain...for since 1940, rates have gone up much less than the cost of living.

GOOD FRIEND OF THE FAMILY BUDGET

The telephone actually takes less of it than in 1940

1. Seems like the prices of most things you buy have about doubled, in the last ten years. Among the standout exceptions is your telephone service. There have been rate increases, of course, to help meet increased costs of furnishing service...higher wages, higher prices for materials, higher costs generally. But telephone rates have gone up far less than most other things. And that's only part of the story.

2. Telephone installers are making your service a better all-around bargain, too. When you buy a pound of something, you still get sixteen ounces...although the price may have doubled. Twelve items still make a dozen. But not so with telephone service. Your telephone dollars buy, on the average, twice as many available connections as ten years ago...for we've more than doubled the system in that time.

3. Today you can call more of the people you want to call...many more people can call you. And the calls you get are often more important than the calls you make. Yet average telephone rates have gone up less than half as much as the cost of living generally. They're up much less than our costs of providing service. It all comes down to this: Today telephone service can be purchased for fewer hours of work than in 1940. Your telephone is a mighty good friend of the family budget.

Price increases since 1940

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

Bond Sales Report

Sale of U. S. Savings Bonds in the E Series during October were $8,033,223.50 in the 11 counties of Southern California, it was announced by J. B. Messick, state director of the U. S. Savings Bond Division, Treasury Department.

The Third Side

By Harris M. Ring

"I couldn't look another turkey in the face,"
Is very often heard this time of year.
Which, when you consider it, is rather strange
Since we mostly get the other end, I fear.

Toast of the current opera season in Los Angeles is one Mme. Kirsten Flagstad. The madame, it might be noted, was the toast of Nazi society during World War II and the wife of a Norwegian quisling .I haven't seen the madame's programme but I'm sure that it included selected arias from:

"The Mastersigners of Nuremberg Laws," "The Rhinegold" ("The Greenbacks"), "Tristan and Isolde-out" and "The False Ring of the Nibelung," all by Richard Wagner.

"The Twilight of the Gods of Capitalism," by William Z. Foster.

"The Freischutz-staffel (SS)" and "(Mein) Kampf und Sieg (Seil)," both by Carl Maria von Weber.

"The Daughter of the Black Shirt Regiment," by Gaetano Donizetti.

"The Un-bothered Bride," by Friedrich Smetana.

"In the Hall of the American Legion," by Edward Grieg.

"California, Here I Come," by (way of) Irving Berlin.

"Girl of the Gold in West," by Giacomo Puccini.

Modern German lieder(leader), such as Adolf Hitler.

I was standing by a building in construction and was reading the credits (a la Hollywood):
Tilework by Jones & Co.
Heating by Smith, Inc.
Plastered by Rock & Rye.
Garbage Disposal by Plunger.
Etc., etc.
Right in the middle of all those signs was a modest one which read, simply, "Claghorn for Assembly."

Investigation

On the subject of "crime,"
Are you innocent? I'm.

Speaking of Tibet, Ogden Nash once wrote he'd seen one-L lamas and two-L llams, but on three-L lllamas. Be that as it may, and the situation being what it is, the Dalai Lama didn't dally—he go the "L" out of Tibet.

A news item from Harrisburg, Ark., states that "attorney J. J. Mardis expects to celebrate his 100th birthday Saturday by trying a case."

Bourbon or Scotch?

All things considered .Chiang Kai-shek is now known as the General-less-and-less-imo.

the slipping Ike. Williams into the ring with his boy in the near future.

Davis, in the meantime, is scheduled to face former lightweight champ Beau Jack tomorrow night in San Francisco. However, the fight may not come off due to an eye injury to Jack.

John L. is also scheduled to defend his State lightweight title a week from Tuesday at the Olympic against Freddie Herman in a twelve round affair.

A rematch with Art Aragon is also in the cards.

Manager Jimmy Roche says Aragon will fight Davis next time not for his lightweight crown but for his welterweight crown. Roche claims that Golden Boy can whip the Oakland Buzzsaw if the weights are over 135.

We don't know about that, but Aragon looked mighty good the other evening at 138¼.

Bridges Statement Hits Claim Of Third Labor Federation

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, in a forthright reply to the reports that have appeared in the metropolitan press regarding the one-day meeting of a group of unions in Washington next Tuesday, issued the following statement:

"The November 28 conference in Washington will be a one-day meeting of a group of unions for the purpose of pooling their resources to fight off wage freezes and the continuing attacks upon the living standards of their members.

No Third Group

"The JLWU has participated in sponsoring this conference for the purposes stated. In no way can the conference be construed as being for the purpose of establishing or taking steps to establish a third labor federation or any apparatus looking forward to a third labor federation.

"The conference aims at getting together those national and local unions which are not tied to political machines or to any personal or political schemes and deals between politicians and national labor leaders.

Confusing

"Insofar as the ILWU is concerned, it is felt that the establishment of a third labor movement at this time would merely serve to confuse and mislead the rank and file of labor."

Ten Years Old

The Tuskegee treatment and training center for infantile paralysis and the Tuskegee Institute Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will jointly observe their tenth anniversary with a two-day conference opening Monday, November 27th at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

URGE TRUMAN FREE VICTIM OF JIMCROW

A wave of indignation swept across the nation this week when it was announced that President Truman had sentenced Lt. Leon Gilbert of York, Pa. to 20 years at hard labor. Gilbert had previously been condemned to death by a court-martial for refusing to lead 12 men to certain death. Protests led by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People several Negro newspapers, nationally - known Negro and white leaders and labor organizations brought about a review of the death sentence by an army Judge Advocate.

Distinguished

The 20 year sentence represents a commutation of the army court-martial, and it carries with it a dishonorable discharge from the Army. Gilbert, 32, enlisted in the Army in 1940. He served with distinction in the Italian campaign, and he was honorably discharged in 1946. Called up as a reservist in 1947, Gilbert was 2nd World Peace Congress; Paul Robeson, Refused Visa, Sends Rec.

WARSAW, Poland—The Second World Peace Congress opened to the strains of "Chopin's Polonaise" in the magnificent Assembly Hall prepared on short notice by the heroic efforts of the Peace Committee.

Rising amid thunderous applause Jolliot-Curie, Chairman of the World Peace Committee in a brief speech paid tribute to the Polish government for enabling the Congress to be held at short notice. The success of the delegates in reaching the Polish capital in time was proof of their sense of responsibility, he said. Over 2,000 delegates and guests became every sort of [illegible]

Another speaker, head of the Swedish delegation said that the ancient British tradition of freedom was damaged by Attlee's decision. The sabotage of the Sheffield Congress had already put thousands on the alert for peace in England and had given a new impetus to the peace movement, he said. Clement Attlee, prime minister of England, had refused visas to many of the peace delegates, so that the conference could not be held in England.

Days of work with general meetings, seven commissions worked on the following subjects: The application of the Congress manifesto, finding means to assure the banning of the atomic weapons, and all other arms for mass destruction, general rearmament reduction, means for the outlawing of war propaganda in all countries, ways of establishing normal economic relations between all countries in the spirit of the United Nations Charter, means for establishing cultural relations between all nations, definition of aggression, means for broadening the peace movement.

The presidium included Joliot-Curie, Abbe Boullier, Louis Sail-

Wilkins Blasts Life Magazine

NEW YORK—Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, in his first official act since his release from Sydenham Hospital, reiterated his conviction that the omission of Negroes from LIFE'S Picture History of World War II "constitutes a serious editorial blunder which, among other things, has done a great injustice to 15,000,000 Americans who are struggling against great odds to identify themselves as citizens measuring up to the finest traditions of the Nation."

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

Nov. 28. "Representative L. Mendel Rivers, (D., S. C.) said today he would urge President Truman to use the atomic bomb against Chinese Communist troops in Korea."

In a statement coming from a Congressional representative is an attack on civilization.

But then I suppose we should consider the source. Rep. Rivers comes from a section of "free America" where human life is not respected, unless it is covered over with a white skin.

There are people, however, in this glorious Republic who are beginning to feel that some steps other than buying and selling votes in political campaigns, should be taken to keep men out of the law-making bodies in Washington such representatives like this man Rivers.

This type of representatives, supposedly elected by citizens to make laws for the protection, defense, and happiness of all citizens.

I have never heard, and I don't think anyone else has, of Rep Rivers recommending that drastic legal measures be taken in cases of illegal lynchings of innocent Negroes in his state where they do happen, you know.

His calling on President Truman to use the atomic bomb in Korea is by no means an indication of Mr. Rivers' loyalty to his government. It is the sort of hate that is a greater threat to our future existence than destruction by the atomic bomb.

The wisest action by Pres. Truman would be the withdrawal of our troops from Korea. Keep our soldiers at home and strengthen our own defense.

The Korean people will settle their own difficulties sooner without interference from us than they will with our tender, merciful assistance to the South Koreans.

The Koreans are one family, alike in culture, color, and religion. And that is more than we can say about ourselves. In America we have always drawn lines on color, culture, living standards, racial identities and often religion. There is a definite lack of unity in our "Union forever."

Now that we have allowed a bigot, one Gen. Douglas MacArthur, to lead us head-long into a war with a nation we have had no brief for nor against, it appears that we are trying to justify our position by claiming that we are fighting Communist aggression.

By what stretch of the imagination could the Communists encroach on the United States in Korea?

Our only possessions in Korea are the things we have stolen by might and hope to steal. Any bursting of the atomic bomb on Korea, or anywhere else, will be a disastrous bombing on us.

So President Truman, the thousands of plain working Americans ask that you spurn the advice of Rep Rivers, send MacArthur back to Tokyo, where he seemingly enjoys the job of being boss of the Japanese, and order our troops home immediately.

Hugh Bryson Says Nothing Lost; MSC Will Carry On The Fight

SAN FRANCISCO—Hugh Bryson, President of the National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards, announced today that "the fight of MCS to stay in CIO and to return it to its democratic founding principles has failed."

"It wasn't too much to expect," Bryson continued, "that the stacked convention of CIO pie-cards would have examined the record of MCS members in their struggle to carry out the legitimate CIO objectives. However, it is most obvious that they did not.

"MCS has every job organized in its jurisdiction. It has won far better conditions for its members than have the other maritime unions for men doing the same work. We have democratic conventions, secret referendums, the right to recall officers, and rank and file action at the point of production all the time. MCS members will continue to run their affairs, and will continue to elect the officers of their own choosing. The CIO will not tolerate this.

"MCS will still fight for labor unity and for joint action for repeal of Taft-Hartley, for repeal

Treble Damage Suits Reveal Overcharges

Twenty-three treble damage lawsuits resulting from rent overcharges and with possible damages in excess of $30,000 were filed last Friday in Federal Court by attorneys for the Office of Housing Expediter.

The actual amounts collected over ceiling prices totaled $10,754.20. Treble damages can be collected only for that part of the overceiling charges that occurred during the 12-month period prior to filing of the suits.

threatened with cancellation of his program by Station KGFJ, Hollywood, over which he has been broadcasting for three years and four months.

Berman's sponsor, the non-profit Los Angeles Radio Committee, was informed last week that its contract for radio time each evening at 8:15 was being cancelled as of Nov. 30.

A city-wide protest rally is set for Dec. 8 at the Embassy Auditorium, 9th and Grand, at 8:30 p.m.

The notice came from Miss Thelma Kirschner, manager of Station KGFJ. No reason was given.

Hundreds of protests against the cancellation have already been received by the committee.

More than a thousand calls of protest and letters of protest have been made to Station KGFJ.

Pioneer Women Launch Drive To Aid Israel

Enlistment of local aid for the thousands of new refugee mothers and children now pouring into Israel is the goal of a new membership drive to be launched next week by the Los Angeles Council of Pioneer Women, it was announced by Mrs. Albert E. Marks, Vice-President.

Initial event in the drive, headed by Mrs. Marks as Membership Chairman, is to be held Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 6th, 1 o'clock p.m., in the Ritz Theatre Wilshire and La Brea Blvds. The program will feature the appearance of a top motion picture personality, name to be announced later; showing of the dramatic Paramount film on Israel, "New Pioneers," and a short talk by Reuven Dafni, local Israeli Consul.

In addition, a musical interlude will be supplied by noted violinist, Arnold Jurasky, who has appeared with Arturo Toscanini and Walter Damrosch. Admission will be free via a courtesy card which can be obtained from any Pioneer Women member or by calling Council Headquarters, DU. 3-3574.

Goal of the drive is to enroll 1,000 Los Angeles women in the campaign to bring health, education and security to the women and youth among the 20,000 new refugees now arriving in Israel each month.

Condemn Denial Of Bail For Foreign-Born

In a telegram to Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, six prominent Americans have joined in condemning the denial of bail to non-citizens in deportation proceedings by the Justice Department, it was announced by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

Those signing the telegram were: Prof. Edwin Berry Burgum, Rev. John W. Darr, Jr., Uta Hagen, Alfred Kreymborg.

GUNMAN SENTENCED TO SAN QUENTIN

Roy Parker, 61-year-old janitor, and parolee from a life sentence in San Quentin, was found guilty of first-degree murder on two counts in a trial without a jury Tuesday and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Parker shot and killed 32-year-old Alfred Killian, noted trumpeter in Duke Ellington's band, and Vivian White, 31, in an E. 35th street apartment building last September. He told arresting police that he had shot the musican over a $15 debt. When apprehended a short distance from the scene, Parker had three guns in his possession. Two of them were reportedly stolen from a neighborhood grocery store, and one allegedly the property of the landlady of the E. 35th street building.

The convicted man will be sent back to San Quentin from which prison he was released about 10 years ago after having served 15 years of a life sentence.

Marshall Says Negro Soldiers Are Scapegoats For Big Brass

NEW YORK—"The defense of our GIs in Korea, many of whom apparently are victims of racial discrimination in courts martial proceedings, is the No 1 task of the NAACP legal department," Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, said this week.

Appeals from convicted 24th Infantrymen continue to come into NAACP headquarters here. Mr. Marshall has assigned two members of his legal staff to work on these cases in preparation of hearings before the Judge General of the Department of the Army.

Scrape Goats

"The letters we have received from convicted GIs and the talks we have had with war correspondents strongly indicate that many of those men have been victimized by racial discrimination. It seems apparent that some of them are being made scrapegoats for the failures of higher personnel. The NAACP will do everything possible to vindicate these men," Marshall said.

Mrs. Bass Will Speak Sunday

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, editor of The California Eagle, recently returned from a trip to the Soviet Union, will be guest speaker, and Averill Berman, noted radio commentator, will speak on current events, Sunday, Dec. 3, 8 p.m., at the City Terrace Cultural Center, 3875 City Terrace Drive, under the auspices of the Center board.

ADL Approves Campaign for Civil Rights

Educational campaigns designed to strengthen the California Civil Rights Code and to eliminate segregation in the public schools of Arizona were approved unanimously by the Anti-Defamation League's Southern California Regional Advisory Board at its annual meeting held on November 19 at the Mayfair Hotel, Los Angeles.

The Board, composed of representatives from Southern California, Arizona and Southern Nevada, met in an all-day session to formulate policies and programs for 1951.

Judge Stanley Mosk, Los Angeles, was re-elected President of the Board. Isaac Sukman, Long Beach, and Jack Y. Berman, Los Angeles, were re-elected Vice-Presidents. David Blumberg, Los Angeles, was re-elected Treasurer, and Milton A. Senn, ADL Director, Secretary.

Former Broadway Federal Head Files Suit To Recover Funds

In the first of what reportedly will be a series of moves to reestablish his position in the business community, H. A. Howard, founder and former president-manager of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, who was recently exonerated of all charges of embezzlement of funds from that institution, this week filed suit against Dr. H. Claude Hudson, M. Earl Grant and Jackson L. Taylor to recover $7,240.44 assertedly owed him by the trio.

Dr. Hudson is now president of Broadway Federal, Earl Grant is manager of Broadway Federal as well as president manager of the Watts Savings and Loan Associa-

Postal Employees Raise $2000 Toward Westview Fund Drive

Proceeds from the Postal employees benefit dance and breakfast for the St. Augustine—Westview Hospital have added more than $2,000 to the hospital fund, Postmaster Michael D. Fanning, Hospital Board President, announced this week.

Held at the Elks Club, 4016 South Central Avenue, the dance attracted more than 2,000 people and was followed with breakfast at the Alpha House, 2116 South Western Avenue.

Fanning praised Postal employees for their enthusiasm in the current fund-raising campaign and said more than $24,000 of the $40,000 pledged by them has already been raised.

Personnel of Station K at Vermont and Central Avenues, Fanning said, sold more than $700 worth of tickets to the dance. A special plaque has been awarded the station for its contribution.

Door prize winners at the dance were Leon A. White, 4027 South Halldale Avenue who received a 16-inch television set; Mrs. L. Caldwell, 1717 East 42nd Street, who was awarded a $100 Savings Bond, and Teresa Ficcaro, 2211 De Adeline Street, Rosemead, who received a $25 bond.

Music for the dance was donated by "Jeep" Smith and His Jeepsters. The hall was provided by the Elks.

Repeal Levering Act, Urges NCJAC

SAN FRANCISCO—A resolution was sent this week to Governor Earl Warren and the State legislators by the Northern California Joint Action Council for Repeal of the Levering Act, calling upon them to ". . . rise above the fear and confusion of the war hysteria in which the Levering Act was so hastily contrived and passed . . ." and to ". . . remain true to their oath to defend the Constitution of the State and nation and speak out now for revocation of the Levering Act through the Courts or the Legislature."

The Levering Act, signed by the Governor on October 3, 1950, drafts all public employees as civil defense workers, without choice or additional compensation, subject to such civil defense activities as may be assigned to them by their superiors or by law. It provides that no compensation shall be paid to any civil defense worker unless he has taken the test oath prescribed in the statute.

The resolution, opposing the Levering Act on constitutional grounds, was passed unanimously by the crowd of over 1,000 people at the Joint Action Council meeting at Scottish Rite Auditorium on November 20th. Speakers were Carey McWilliams, State Senator George Miller, Jr., Eddie Tangen, Sec.-Treas. of the Marine Cooks and Stewards Union, and three non-signing teachers, Marguerite Ellis, Dr. John Beecher and Frank Rowe.

Held In Slavery For 50 Years Woman Awarded $26,000 Damages

A half century of slavery, during which she worked without pay and without freedom for the late Mrs. Alice McCauley Valensin brought a $26,000 award to Eliza P. Matthews this week.

Miss Matthews, who was held in mental and physical bondage, and who had sparse contact with the outside world during her bondage, sued the estate of the woman who enslaved her for $60,000. A Sacramento Superior Court jury returned a verdict in her favor for $41,310.

A compromise offer of $26,000 was accepted by Miss Matthews when Judge Malcolmn C. Glenn said he would give approval for a new trial unless Miss Williams agreed to accept the $26,000.

stationed in Japan prior to the Korean war. His wife gave birth to their second child while she was with him in Japan.

Lt. Gilbert is the first of close to two hundred Negro soldiers who were court-martialed by whitesuperior officers as an "example." He admits having refused to lead a platoon of 12 men into what he says was certain death on the basis of his position as an officer. Had he been white instead of a Negro, it is believed, his refusal and subsequent explanation would have been taken in a different light.

Jim Crow

The opinion is widely held, because Lt. Gilbert isa Negro serving in a Jim Crow army under white superior officers, most of whom do not feel that a Negro has any opinions a white man is bound to respect, his advice against sending 12 men to certain death was classified as refusal to obey an order. It has been pointed out that prejudiced white officers could send Negro officers to their death on the battlefield, or have them shot for refusal to obey an order.

The NAACP is protesting more than 100 court-martial sentences to long terms at hard labor meted out to Negro soldiers in Korea. Throughout the nation, protests against the 20 year sentence are mounting. The CALIFORNIA EAGLE is mobilizing a campaign with the objective of freeing Lt. Gilbert of any penalty because of the jimcrow circumstances surrounding his case. A call has been sent to labor, civic, church, social and community organizations to send letters and wires to President Truman demanding that Gilbert be freed, and that the whole pattern of Jimcrow and mistreatment of Negro soldiers in Korea be wiped out immediately.

Central Gardens Neighbors To Meet On Business Organization

Wednesday evening, December 13, at the First Baptist Church of Central Ave. Gardens, located at 84th and Zamora Ave., the first meeting of the people of the community to organize for business will be held.

Ten years ago, Mrs. Idell A. Bateman, a successful owner and operator of a store in the community,advanced the idea of a COMMUNITY COOPERATIVE. The neighbors responded. Their organization was gaining momentum and plans were near completion when Rev. Clayton Russell was asked to address a big mass meeting held by the organization. Noting the enthusiasm of the people for the idea, Rev. Russell launched out ahead and started the Victory Markets.

Mrs. Bateman states: "I begged Rev. Russell not to start the Victory Markets at that time. I knew that the Cooperative Plan was about the only plan whereby we as a people could hope to gain a foothold in the business world. I knew that he did not have the plan sufficiently developed to start the stores then. I knew that they would fail because of this fact and that with their failure, would go the confidence of the people. Now, after 10 years of thinging through, benefitting by the mistakes made, I am confident that the neighbors of this unique community can set a plan in operation that will have unforeseen results."

Attorney Marshall Denton, well known for his brilliance of delivery and logical thinking, will explain the plan in detail. All neighbors and friends are invited to be on hand to ask any questions. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

VOICE OF ROBESON STIRS CONGRESS

So heavy was the pressure of work at the Peace Congress that when the delegates were asked to work over Monday night, almost all of them did so and the session of general debate reached a conclusion at five A.M. in the morning.

Their perseverance was rewarded by a deeply moving speech by Paul Robeson. Robeson was prevented from attendgining the Second World Peace Congress by the American Government but the delegates heard his voice and they heard him sing. Robeson made a special record which was flown from New York to Warsaw.

"We from America recognise that we have a special responsibility for the crisis of time . . . We accept that challenge," he said. He declared that the Congress should not imagine he was inactive in the fight for peace simply because the seizure of his passport had made it impossible for him to travel.

"I do not live a life of ease," he said. "I remain with my brethen to suffer with them, endure insults with them, to toil with them and to struggle with them."

He concluded his speech with an impassioned appeal for peace. Then the hall resounded to his great voice singing "Joe Hill." He sang, too, in Russian and Yiddish.

CONGRESS WARNS UNO TO RETURN TO PRINCIPLES

With a powerful warning that the peoples of the world want the United Nations to return to its basic principles or else be replaced by a more effective agency, the 2,000 delegates from 71 countries created the new world organization—World Peace Council.

It has probably been the most eventful meeting in modern history since the founding of the United Nations at San Francisco five years ago. The meeting, held in a swiftly converted printing plant of war-ruined Warsaw after the British government's sabotage of the meeting scheduled at Sheffield, was almost indescribable for the richness of its drama, the sweep of its ideas and varied contributions from the assembled delegates.

Not only the leaders but the rank and filers were there—from Madagascar to Canada, from West Africa to Chile, from war-ravaged Korea to Denmark—all colors, all native costumes, all creeds and political attitudes from the left far to the right.

The exceptional breadth and emphasis on the urgency of the peace effort by the peoples of every social class was reflected in the fact it did not condemn the United States but called for a Big Five agreement within a reinvigorated United Nations to halt the Korean war by immediate settlement. The emphasis is entirely on a positive program addressed equally to all governments and all peoples.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the seventh installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

School children are happy but ... not boisterous such as we see ... American children. ...

This may be considered a criticism of one's own home and country. But if the criticism you call it, I defend my stand by saying, "It is intended to be a healthy helpful criticism."

I have watched and listened to two groups of American school children enroute to and from a high school, and a primary school in the district where I live. Often I have been embarrassed and grieved by the conduct, language, and general behavior of some of the students.

In Moscow and some other cities in Russia, I made the same observations of similar schools and students of like ages. The conduct of the Russian children will not admit a comparison.

To illustrate the difference. One day I stood near the entrance of one of the large schools of Moscow at closing time. I saw great crowds of students in groups and singly leaving the school. They were chatting, and like students everywhere, seemed to be engaged in lively discussions on topics of the day. But never a voice was raised above the simple conversational modulation. There was no running, screaming, boys pulling girls, nor expressions of vulgarities that offended the adult pedestrian.

One day while discussing with an American official our system of dealing with crime among the youth of our country, I ventured to say that I had observed in Russia that it had no youth crime problem.

The high official with whom I was speaking, without even considering the connection between my statement and the issue we were handling, got very red—I mean in the face—and almost screamed, "You like the Russian government better than ours."

In order to avoid any such conclusion concerning what I have stated as a different approach to child education in Russia and the United States—my observations are made without prejudice or malice, but with the hope that benefits may come from them that may elevate our standard of culture in our school system.

Our educational investment is in our youth. Our future existence and high place of leadership among the nations of the world, depends upon our tomorrow and our youth will be the leaders of that tomorrow.

It is our grave duty to plan their future on a high level.

News from Europe and Other Countries

JAPANESE ARMY AND GENERAL MACARTHUR

MANILA—A 500,000 strong Japanese army is to be set up by Spring next year.

General Douglas MacArthur is to assure command of both British and American armed forces in the Far East in the planned extension of the anti-Chinese moves and military operations against the national liberation movements in South East Asia.

This was agreed upon at the recent negotiations in Hongkong between United States Consul General Rankin, Commander of the British naval forces in the Pacific Bylander, and Kuomintang representative Chen Tse-min.

It was also agreed that the British units in Hongkong are to be placed at MacArthur's disposition or use against the Viet Nam or Chinese People's Republic should the necessity arise. Hongkong was assigned to the Kuomintang as a base for anti-Chinese activities.

TAMPERING WITH PEACE PLANE

PARIS—Following the dangerous buzzing by an American jet plane near Frankfurt of the Soviet plane carrying Maurice Thorez to Moscow, disturbing facts were revealed concerning a Polish plane chartered to take WFTU leaders and other prominent delegates to the Peace Congress in Warsaw.

This Polish transport plane was due to take off from Le Bourget Airport in Paris on Tuesday morning carrying trade unionists and peace delegates from several countries.

Polish pilots carefully overhauled the plane and left it on Monday evening in perfect flying order. The plane remained on the airfield all night—unguarded.

Next morning during a trial run the pilots found that the plane had been tampered with and something seriously amiss with the engines. They delayed the take-off until another complete overhaul had been made but this time the pilots stood on guard until ready to go.

Thus it was late Wednesday when the Polish plane with its load of trade union leaders and peace delegates could fly to Warsaw.

A formal protest has been lodged and an enquiry is under way.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

CANDIZ, Spain—The 16 families who live in the tiny hamlet of Red Hill, near Cadiz want the name changed to Clay Hill because they say the present one has a "subversive flavour."

"I think it sounds unpatriotic, and people hesitate before saying Red Hill" because they think it might offend us," said Mrs. Ralph Thornton, one of the residents.

NEW CONSTITUTION IN PUERTO RICO

The law passed recently by the U. S. Government which "allows the people of Puerto Rico to draw up their own Constitution," actually is merely a question of amendments to the "Colonial Charter" adopted by the U.S. Congress in 1917. This Charter will in fact remain the chief law even after the so-called Constitution of Puerto Rico has been ratified.

Because of the "Colonial Charter" Puerto Rico will be unable, as is the case now, to avoid the ruinous competition of large-scale U. S. industry whose goods will be released from all customs dues on the Puerto Rican market; she will have no say in the administration in the zones where U. S. bases have been set up; she will be unable to prevent the expropriation of new lands for military purposes as was the case three years ago with the island of Vieques; she will be unable to prevent compulsory military service for Puerto Ricans in the U.S. army. U.S. Federal laws will apply in Puerto Rico wholly on the decision of the U. S. Government which, for instance, is imposing the enslaving Taft-Hartley law upon our country.

The Government of Puerto Rico will continue also in the future to be only a responsible representative of the U.S. authorities; the legislative chambers will, as now, pass only such laws as do not conflict with the interests of the U.S.; U.S. courts will have the right, as was formerly the case, to annul the decisions of the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico and of even any laws and articles passed by the colonial legislative organ.

A-BOMB BAN DRIVE

PARIS—The effectiveness of the world peace movement received confirmation in a long commentary from New York in the Paris edition of the "New York Herald Tribune" the French commentator Jean Jacques Servan Schreiber admits in fact that it is the magnificent results of the drive for the ban on atomic weapons that is preventing the maniacs in the Washington government from launching world-wide destruction.

Under the heading "To Use or Not To Use the A-Bomb," Servan Schreiber says that "the divorce ... American and European public opinion on the fundamental atomic issue is such that no policy-maker, on either side of the ocean, dares to take up the matter openly."

LONDON—Crowds are flocking to the Picasso exhibition in London.

The average daily attendance at the exhibitions arranged by the Arts Council of Britain is 250, but more than three times this number have been attending the Picasso exhibition.

As already reported, Picasso declined to attend the opening of this exhibition as a protest against the banning of the Sheffield Peace Congress by the British Government.

OPPOSITION TO REARMAMENT

BERLIN—The West German people's opposition to the remilitarisation of their country was, it is generally agreed, the main factor which determined the results of Sunday's election to the provincial parliaments of the two provinces in the American Zone.

The elections in Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden gave an overwhelming victory to the Social Democrats who, although in reality co-operating in the American colonisation of Germany, based their election platform on demagogic "opposition" to open and immediate rearmament as demanded by Catholic Prime Minister Konrad Adenauer.

They also made use of Adenauer's disastrous economic policies which have resulted in skyrocketing prices and huge unemployment, and they demanded new general elections in Western Germany on these two major issues.

SYDNEY, Australia—The Australian working class and the trade unions are showing much interest in the grand welcome planned to greet leading peace fighter Lance Sharkey when he emerges from jail at the beginning of next month.

Last year Sharkey was sentenced to 18 months' prison for making a statement in support of peace.

At the time of his imprisonment he was Secretary of the Australian Communist Party.

U.S. AIDS TITO

LONDON—"Military circles in the United States are known to regard the Tito regime more and more as a powerful ally in another world war" states "New York Herald Tribune" (Paris edition), in a despatch from its Belgrade correspondent.

Tito is frantically beseeching his Anglo-American allies for food and arms, and the above-mentioned correspondent discloses that Tito has already received "an unspecified number of military pistols from Belgium."

It is thought here that Truman will ship tanks and other heavy equipment to Tito even without awaiting the approval of the Congress.

The ports of Salonica and Fiume will be the unloading points for this material.

KOREAN ARMISTICE

NEW YORK—An urgent recommendation for an immediate armistice in Korea and the admission of the Chinese People's Republic to the United Nations was sent last week to President Truman and the United Nations by Dr. Harry F. Ward, Professor Emeritus of the Union Theological Seminary. The plea was sent on behalf of an emergency conference on world peace and China held here.

Many distinguished academic and religious leaders supported the conference at which 26 states were represented.

The statement also demanded the withdrawal of foreign forces from Formosa. "Whatever theories one favours on how the crisis came about, humanity hopes and prays for a peaceful resolution" the plea concludes.

TOKYO—Charges by the Korean People's Republic to the United Nations that Gen. MacAruthur is using Japanese military personnel in Korea, was confirmed in a series of articles by Keyes Beech, Tokyo correspondent of the Chicago Daily News.

Japanese soldiers and sailors manned ships that landed the U.S. First Cavalry Division in Pohong in July, Beech said. He also revealed that 5000 former Japanese army ... are today training four ... divisions which MacA... ordered established ... use of "A National ... Reserve."

... policemen" have re... intensive army train... all types of weapons.

CHINESE VOLUNTEERS IN KOREA

PEKING—An editorial in "People's Daily" points out the great significance of the Chinese volunteers who are helping the Koreans and protecting their country.

The victories of these volunteers have not only begun to change the military situation in Korea, but they are also beginning to check the flames of imperialist aggression, it states." Under the blow dealt jointly by the Korean and Chinese people the American and British reactionary rulers are beginning to feel that the prospects in their aggressive war against the peoples of Asia are dubious. They are beginning to feel that their wishful hopes of occupying all Korea and directing the flames of war towards China are misfiken. They show misgiving and panic."

SHANGHAI—Owing to indignation over the American aggression in Korea and the growing political awareness of the Chinese people there has been a popular demand here that no more American films be shown.

MAKE FRIENDS OF TIBETANS

PEKING—Delegations of Tibetans come long distances from remote hamlets and scattered homes to meet the Chinese People's Liberations Army units encamped on the Tibetan Plateau reports the correspondent of New China News Agency accompanying the troops. The People's Army men study the Tibetan language and customs while in camp and have already learned to exchange greetings of friendship with their Tibetan visitors.

Chinese soldiers help the Tibetan woodcutters to carry their timber to the towns. In the evenings the local people gather about the army men's camp fires and Tibetan and Chinese songs are sung and local traditional dances are performed.

The correspondent says that in spite of the rigors of camping 3,000 metres above sea-level, the fighters of the People's Liberation Army have made their camps warm, human centres. By planning and ingenuity the men have made satisfactory temporary homes of their frail green army tents. The tents have been connected by paths and each group vies with the others for the most colorful display of flags and slogans.

Over the tent entrances are signs such as "Fighters' Paradise," "World Peace" and "Ever Determined" made from white mountain stones and brightened with grasses and flowers. Some soldiers have even begun flower gardens with rare mountain plants gathered in sheltered spots.

Simultaneously with the opening of a two-day conference on Africa, Lincoln University, Oxford, Pennsylvania, announced on November 17th the formal establishment of America's first Institute for the Study of African Affairs.

The "New York Times" intimates that the institute is to serve the double purpose of educating in the United States future American agents among the African people, and to investigate all possibilities of American penetration of Africa.

LONDON—A placard bearing the words "World Youth Peace Relay" was described as "a label likely to cause trouble," by a London magistrate when he fined a peace relay runnre four pounds for having it pinned to his chest while running through the center of London.

The peace runner, well known athlete Stanley Howsham, was taking part in the peace relay to Sheffield when he was arrested for this "act of provocation" in displaying the placard in the London streets.

BRITAIN AND NEPAL

A treaty of peace and friendship between the Governments of Great Britain and Nepal was signed on October 30, at Katmandu, the capital of Nepal, by the Prime Minister of Nepal, Maharaja Mohun Shumshere Jung Bahadur Rana, and the British Ambassador, Lieutenant-Colonel Sir George Falconer. The treaty has been made because certain provisions of the previous Treaty of Katmandu, signed in 1923, presupposed that Britain and Nepal had a common frontier. Those provisions ceased to be applicable when India and Pakistan became independent in 1947.

KARACHI—Pakistan and the Phillippines will soon sign a treaty of friendship. The draft of the treaty is being examined by the two Governments and it is expected to be signed at Washington by the Ambassadors of the two countries.

LONDON — Ghulam Mohammed, Pakistan Finance Minister, said tonight he would press the United States Government for a $500,000,000 ... to help his country. He told newsmen when he arrived by plane from Karachi that he planned to go to New York by plane in five days to seek the loan.

NEW DELHI — Each month about 1,000 birds are admitted to Delhi's hospital for birds. A full-time veterinarian and a dispenser look after the needs of injured birds. When cured, the tame birds are not returned to their owners, but are set free.

Major Studio Representatives Discuss Negro Actor Unemployment

... for Negro extras in recent years was held November 21 in the assembly room of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Building at La Cienega and Beverly Blvd.

Twelve producers representing the major studios met with executives and members of the Screen Extras Guild to discuss ways and means of integrating Negroes into pictures. The conference which grew out of the scarity of work, was the result of the efforts of the Negro Motion Picture Players Association.

Capt. W. James Adamson, reserve officer in the California National Guard, veteran motion picture player and playwright, put over the grievances of the producers. Speaking for his committee, Adamson asked the producers to treat the Negro ... as ... and to show the Negro on the screen as an Average American Citizen.

He pointed out that the Negro did not need to be dramatized or caricatured every time he appears on the screen. "Make him a natural, normal American. Show him shopping, riding a street car, at a ball game, attending a theatre, working in a factory. In short," the report suggested," show him doing the thousand and one things he does every day of his life.

"We can only reason that the scarcity of work for Negro players has been the results of rank discrimination or an oversight."

The producers called for a ten minute recess to deliberate. Returning to the assembly room Howard Philbrick, head of Central Casting turned the meeting over to William Hopkins of Columbia Pictures. Mr. Hopkins admitted that there had been a drastic oversight on the part of the studios and assured the players that they could expect a favorable change in the policy of hiring Negro players. Hopkins also stated that casting directors, script writers and directors would be asked to take this new policy in consideration when new stories are being written or cast.

Jimmy Payne, young actor last seen locally as the "Golden Boy" ... initiated the committee ... with a short but ... talk.

Mrs. Anna Mabry, a member of the board of directors of the Screen Extras Guild, presided at the meeting. Producers present with William Hopkins were William Cowett and Bob Ellsworth of Paramount, Mark Bushner and Ralph Winters, RKO; Emmett Ward and Hoyt Bower of Warner Brothers and Jasper Russell of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Negro actors and actresses attending were Mrs. Johnny Mae Beard, president of the association; Mrs. Bessie M. Reed, executive secretary; Miss Ella Mae Brown, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Lola Harris, chaplain; Mrs. Alberta Clark, past president; Mrs. Frances F. Driver, Miss Agnes Lloyd, Maxie Thrower, Howard Washington, Ivan H. Browning, Jimmy Payne and Mrs. Anna Mabry, a member of the board of directors of the Screen Extras Guild who presided at the meeting.

Lending support to the Negro extras' problem were H. O'Neil Shank, executive secretary and Dick Gordon, president of the board of directors, from the Screen Extras Guild; Bob Sarmo, general manager and Ronet Gilbert, legal advisor of the Screen Extras Guild and Mr. Corfino of Central Casting.

Noted Editor To Visit Los Angeles

Ralph Izard, former labor editor of the Chicago Sun has just returned from three months travel in China and will be in Los Angeles for one week, from December 11 to 18.

Mr. Izard is one of the first American newspapermen to visit China since the establishment of the Chinese People's Republic a year ago. He travelled through the interior of China, from Canton through Hankow to Peking, spoke with government leaders, trade unionists, businessmen, students, peasants and regional administrators. He will bring to Los Angeles audiences a first hand report of what is happening and what progress is being made in China under the new government.

As correspondent for Telepress, Ltd., Mr. Izard spent a year in India. He also covered the Japanese surrender of Korea for Yank, the Army magazine, and in the course of the trip just completed, he visited the Philippines and Japan as well as China. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and has worked for newspapers in Cleveland, New York and San Francisco, including the Daily Worker and the Daily People's World.

Mr. Izard will visit Los Angeles under the auspices of the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy.

Conf. Against Jimcro In Nation's Capital

A conference against Jimcrow and discrimination in the nation's capital will be held Sunday, December 10, in Washington, at 1015 M Street, N.W., beginning at 1:30 p.m. It is being initiated by the Negro Trade Union Council for Negro Rights.

"The right to vote is denied to both Negro and white citizens of Washington," states the call to the conference. "Segregation, ghettos, high rents, high prices, and slums hit Negro citizens hardest. Government promises of decent, low-cost housing are still paper promises. The wasteful dual school system, the segregation and discrimination in medical services—these cut down the education, health, and living standards of Washington's Negro minority . . .

"Therefore the Washington Trade Union Council for Negro Rights is issuing a call for a conference to end these injustices."

Second in YM Forum Series This Sunday

The first of a series of twelve Sunday afternoon Forums was introduced at 28th Street Branch YMCA last Sunday. Dr. William Lindsay Young, area director Conference of Christians and Jews, set the stage for the series of discussions of Human Relations by identifying ideal relations between men with the vision set forth in the preamble of the U. S. Constitution. Jack A. Spitzer, John Carmana, Ray Mishikuwa, Chukuemeka Okeke, and Mrs. Isaac M. Lewis participated in the discussion.

The second meeting of the series will be held at the YMCA next Sunday afternoon at half past four o'clock with Dr. W. H. Cook of Claremont College as principal speaker. Dr. F. Theodore Perkins of the same graduate school will be one of the discussants as will Ataloah, President of the National Congress of American Indians and Mr. Robert Reynolds, graduate student at USC.

Safety Meeting At Foshay Jr. High School

Foshay Junior High School was the setting for the annual meeting of the safety groups from all the junior high schools in Los Angeles. A representative from each safety group along with a teacher from each school attended the meeting held November 6 in the school auditorium. Mrs. Charlotte Fowler, science teacher at Foshay, was sponsor of the meeting.

Mrs. Gjertrud Smith, principal of Foshay, welcomed all the safety groups. Arlene Storey of the Leadership Class presided over the meeting and explained the work of the girls' safety groups at Foshay. Sergio Aguilar, Foshaymen captain, described the boys' safety groups. Guest speaker for the occasion was Miss Marjorie Miller, teacher at Manual Arts High School and former teacher of driver education at Belmont High School.

Leaders Needed in Fight Against Polio

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—The contribution of Negro leaders in the field of health was hailed here last Monday by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

In a speech at a dinner meeting commemorating the tenth anniversary of the Tuskegee Infantile Paralysis Center and the Tuskegee March of Dimes Chapter, Mr. O'Connor gave recognition to the need for greater numbers of Negro men and women in positions of responsibility and leadership in the fight against infantile paralysis.

Since 1942 March of Dimes money has financed the training of Negro students at a cost of $200,000. Mr. O'Connor stated. Their studies included medical social work, orthopedic nursing, health education, physical therapy and medicine.

Mr. O'Connor termed ironical the fact that, as March of Dimes research brings mankind closer to the goal of control, the disease is steadily attacking more people, producing a burden of patient care that can only be met through increased generous giving of the American people.

United Campaign to Break Down Jim Cro In Hospitals Initiated By Community Medical Foundation

In a letter to the Medical Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions referring to acts of bias against Mr. and Mrs. J. Raambo by the Queen of the Angels Hospital, the Community Medical Foundation last week urged ASP to embark on "a united campaign of all liberal and progressive medical people to once and for all break down the evils of segregation and discrimination which exist in every hospital in Los Angeles County." The Foundation is the parent organization of the Community Medical Center located at 5503 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

The letter from the Foundation, which was signed by Ken Hartford, Executive Director, pointed out that "the fight against discrimination cannot end with the Queen of the Angels Hospital and the discrimination against Mrs. Rambo . . . Every member and every officer of your organization practicing medicine in a Los Angeles hospital is by that practice associated with a hospital that discriminates against minority group people in one way or another . . . Your organization is thus in a position to carry a program against discrimination into these hospitals. A firm stand by the doctors connected with these institutions would be very effecting in convincing the institutions to take another look at their policies in regard to minority group patients and minority group staff members."

Cohn Will Head Drive For Free Cancer Hospital

Harry Cohn, president of Columbia Pictures Corporation, was named chairman of a national drive for $1,400,000 for the opening of a new cancer hospital on the grounds of the City of Hope, it was announced by Victor M. Carter, president of the non-sectarian institution in Duarte, California.

According to Carter, Cohn will head a committee of 100 nationally prominent leaders in the campaign to complete the first all-free cancer hospital in America, where vitcims of the disease will be admitted on the basis of need alone.

You Can't Stop It

Politicians in both the United States and in England tried their level best to prevent the Second Peace Congress from being held in Britain. Prime Minister Clement Attlee issued an order that no person applying for entry or transit in order to attend this Congress should be granted such permit.

But Attlee did not act alone in this attempt to prevent the Peace Congress being held. It was decided upon by the Combined Travel Board, in which Great Britain, France, and the United States are represented, but in which the USA is said to have the dominant influence.

Our Secretary of State Dean Acheson is said to have expressed great satisfaction at the action of Mr. Attlee. Mrs. Shipley, head of the Passport Division of the State Department, whose arbitrary rulings as to who shall and who shall not be permitted to leave these shores, issued the statement regarding Mr. Acheson's satisfaction.

But all their machinations, all their secret plans, could not prevent that Congress from being held. Locked out of Sheffield, England, the delegates to the [illegible] some 2000 trooped over to Warsaw, Poland, and received a tumultuous welcome there.

"[illegible] in Mr. Attlee's power to [illegible] Congress," said Prof. J. C. Crowther, head of the British peace delegation. "Instead it has had the effect of bringing the world peace to the [illegible] of millions of people in the capitalist world, and in Britain particular, who never heard of it before."

You can't stop this movement for peace. No power on earth can stop it. No progressive movement accomplishment of granting to all men the [illegible] rights of home and security and happiness.

Paul Robeson was not permitted to attend the Congress. But he made a record of the speech he would have delivered, the songs he would have sung. And he was there in very truth when that record was played, even more truly than if he had attended in person.

Now [illegible] to destroy Christianity by [illegible] Christians to the stake, [illegible] them with wax and burning them as candles to light his [illegible] orgies. But with every Christian who was burned, every Christian who was destroyed, a hundred rose to take his place.

No human being can stop the progress of the human race. It may be impeded. It may even be halted for the moment. But the impulse within the human breast, reaching for the light, will not down. Crushed to earth, it will arise again in greater power than ever.

You can't stop this movement for peace and progress and happiness. It is inherent in mankind. He who tries will but make more followers, will create more determination, more faith, more enthusiasm.

Lieutenant's Sentence Commuted

The decision to commute the sentence of death to 20 years at hard labor for Lieut. Leon A. Gilbert made Tuesday by President Truman will not serve as a morale builder for other Negro soldiers, especially those fighting in Korea at the present time.

Let's face some facts! The demand for Negro loyalty in the army and everywhere else should equalize the demand for equality in Uncle Sam's army.

Negro people for a very long time have been demanding that segregation and discrimination against Negroes be eradicated. Only a nod and an occasional wink has been the answer to these demands. Despite the fact that it has been denied even by some paid Negro political puppets, youthful Negro and white trainees right here in our own fair state, at Camp Roberts, are separated, segregated, and divided.

Lieutenant Gilbert no doubt has been a victim of such a condition, but it did not lessen his desire nor weaken his ability to serve well in two wars in the United States Army.

A member of that famous 24th Infantry, Lieutenant Gilbert has been many times decorated for bravery on duty.

President Truman has ordered that Gilbert be dismissed from the service, forfeit all pay. Because he is a man weary of war and nauseated by the smell of human blood, he refused to obey an order which would have led him and twelve other men to certain death.

Sixteen million loyal Negro Americans, and other loyal peace-loving Americans who believe in justice for other races and faiths join in a demand to President Truman that Lieut. Leon A. Gilbert be restored to the army, released from prison, paid for his service, and allowed to walk across this nation that he helped to defend and save from Hitler's fascistic and destructive attack—a free man and a brave soldier.

Lawyer's Guild Answers House Group

In an article appearing in the November 27 issue of The San Francisco Chronicle, the National Lawyers Guild answers what it terms "Spy Hunters Undermining Democracy."

The Guild's answer to the un-American Activities Committee is a clear-cut statement by Guild members which concluded with a sentence we interpret to mean, "We are not backing down on own stand. We know we are right, and we will continue to fight along this line until we win."

The Guild's statement follows:

The National Lawyers Guild, denying any Communist aims, assailed the House Committee on Un-American Activities as "the chief instrument for undermining the whole democratic process in the United States."

The statement replied to charges by the House group that the guild is "the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist party, its front organizations and controlled unions."

In an 18-page answer, the guild didn't deny that some of its 3700 members may have Red affiliations. It said it does not and will not investigate its members' political views.

"The National Lawyers Guild is not a Communist organization, nor a Communist front organization, nor dominated by Communists . . . The Guild unreservedly rejects any abridgement of freedom . . . whether in the United States, the Soviet Union or elsewhere."

The statement was made public at a news conference by Guild President Thomas I. Emerson, a Yale law professor and former enforcement chief of the Office of Price Administration (OPA).

It gave a point-by-point reply to the House committee's September 17 charges—calling them malicious "misrepresentations and distortions."

"Ever since its inception in 1938 the Committee on Un-American Activities has spearheaded the attack upon forces of progress.

"Under the guise of exposing 'subversive activities,' it has consistently and ruthlessly sought to impede, harass and suppress the liberal movement in this country. . . .

"The committee has functioned as the chief instrument for undermining the whole democratic process in the United States."

The House group charged that the guild, among other things, intervened on the Communist side in major court cases; attacked the FBI; opposed the Government's loyalty program; fought laws to curb Communism, and in general followed the Communist party line.

To this the guild replied:

1—It has defended the legal rights of Communists and non-Communists alike in "a continued effort to preserve and extend civil liberties." Today, the guild said, "it is most often the rights of Communists that are infringed."

2—It has not attacked the FBI for doing its legitimate job, but has opposed the FBI's use of wire-tapping and engaging in other "illegal" activities or work beyond its proper scope.

3—It joins many anti-Communists in opposing the Federal loyalty program. It also notes that the Supreme Court has agreed to review several loyalty cases, "thus establishing conclusively that the program does raise serious constitutional questions."

4—It opposes anti-Communist laws to the extent that they violate liberties guaranteed by the Bill of Rights.

"The National Lawyers Guild," the statement said, "is dedicated to the defense of the constitutional rights of all people including unpopular minorities.

"Our answer to the committee is that we will not be intimidated or silenced."

Abolish Cross Filing

The people of California have received a major benefit through the efforts of the "Abolish Cross Filing in California," non-partisan committee headed by John B. Elliott, well-known civic leader of Los Angeles, according to Glenn M. Anderson, state chairman of the Democratic Party.

"Although 'Cross Filing' is not a partisan issue," Anderson said, "it has tended to encourage the candidacy of so-called 'individualistic' candidates who have no party responsibility and adhere to no party platform. Such candidates, consequently, often are the stooges of lobbyists, gangsters and other interests that are denounced by both responsible parties."

"A hard task," Anderson concluded, "was performed by the hundreds of citizens who cooperated with Mr. Elliott's fine committee in their effort to bring order out of the existing chaos in the California political situation."

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

AS FREE AS MONEY

One of the great writers of our time, Anatole France—in discussing the claim that equality of opportunity existed for all in French society—declared: "Yes, the rich and the poor have an equal privilege to sleep under the bridge."

The same verdict can be rendered on the claim to free elections in America today, and always. The rich and the poor have the privilege of putting forward their candidates and of campaigning for them, but—in practice the money power of the nation has subverted the political freedom and the goals of democratic elections.

The corporations monopolize the elections, and legislatures, as effectively as they do the nation's economic life. There are free elections in our country to about the same degree that there is free enterprise. There can be no free competition where one side is so powerful that it can prevent the other side from competing.

The truth and wisdom of FDR's conclusion on the relation of monopoly to political power is borne out tragically by his country's fate since his death. Remember how he warned us that if we allow economic monopoly to become so powerful that it controls the nation's political life we will have fascism?

What we are discussing at this point is equality of opportunity in the operation of the election machinery—in the practical political job of selecting and electing candidates—and not the freedom of individuals to vote. In that sense, there are no free elections in the U.S.—since you simply can't conduct an effective campaign if you don't have large sums of money. The people and their representatives just don't have that kind of money.

But the unavailability of campaign funds for the people's representatives is only one part of the problem. The other is that by their control of the country's press, radio, lecture halls, et cetera, the money power (the nation's enemy) prevents the democratic forces from getting their message to the people.

The Golden Curtain

Talk about an iron curtain! The Republican-Democratic control of the nation's gold is really an impenetrable curtain shutting off the vast majority of voters from knowledge of the facts of political and economic life in America.

The economic royalists not only have all the money they need for newspaper space and radio time but they control these media—their owners are part and parcel of the money power—and refuse to sell space and time to the people's candidates when we are able to scrape a few dollars together.

This is what they call equality of opportunity in the land of free enterprise! Tie your opponent's arms—put weights on his feet—blind him and you're sure to win. That's the corporations' idea of a fair fight. From their point of view, though, they're right—that's the only way they can win.

Only by keeping the people from having a fair chance to win can they retain power. If the people had a fair chance, if there really existed free elections, the anti-democratic gang would not control our economic or political life. And they know and fear it.

That is why even their practically complete control of the press and radio and their kept candidates doesn't give them sufficient security. They must also resort to poisoning the minds of the people, make them afraid to exercise a free vote, condition them to support their own enemy's candidates and programs.

That is the real reason for the disloyal oath hysteria, the red-baiting and witch hunting. As Carey McWilliams so ably describes it in his latest book, "Witch Hunt," the rulers of America are trying "to create the dream of every politician and demagogue—a political audience made up entirely of those with conditioned reflexes."

In this respect, too, then there are no free elections in our land. But this very desperation of the enemy, this compelling necessity to buy elections and men's minds, is glaring proof of his weakness, not of his power. He is afraid of an enlightened electorate. And well he might be. Such an electorate—which all the decent men and women in America are helping to create—will be his undoing and the nation's salvation.

POTPOURRI

LETTER TO PRES. TRUMAN

The California Legislative Conference, representing 205 non-partisan organizations of labor, farm, pension, minority and civic groups, sent a letter to President Truman, urgently requesting that favorable action be taken on the following subjects at the special session of the 81st Congress, which convened last Monday, Nov. 27.

The subjects are: rent control extension, fair employment practices, excess profits tax, and repeal of the McCarran Act.

"Sentiment is mounting throughout the nation in protest against this sedition law," states the letter, referring to the McCarran Act. "As Thomas Jefferson led the fight to repeal the sedition law of his day, which elected him to the presidency, we the American people call upon you to use your executive power for the repeal of the McCarran Act."

RENT CONTROL

Max N. Bass, acting area rent director, for the Los Angeles Defense Rental Area, when notified that the Circuit Court of Appeals has reversed the lower Court in the last phase of the long-drawn battle over Rent Control in this city, stated:

"We are giving, and propose to continue giving, full advice and service to landlords and tenants with special emphasis on proper liberalized adjustments for landlords under the Act and Regulations and a firm compliance policy on behalf of tenants, which compliance policy will be directed against those few minority landlords who are deliberately flouting the Federal Laws, particularly any landlord who has been now or in the past accepting bonuses as a condition of renting apartments to new incoming tenants."

WASHINGTON—The Economic Co-operation Administration announced today that it is making an outright relief grant of $4,500,000 to the Indian government to purchase United States surplus sorghums to stretch food rations in famine-threatened India.

NEW DELHI—The President of the Republic of India, Dr. Rajendra Prasad, last night appealed to all lovers of justice and peace in the world to rally round the United Nations and "see to it that it becomes in fact one instrument of justice among nations and peace in the world."

ABOLISH CROSS FILING

The people of California have received a major benefit through the efforts of the "Abolish Cross Filing in California" non-partisan committee headed by John B. Elliott, well known civic leader of Los Angeles, according to Glenn M. Anderson, state chairman of the Democratic Party.

"Although 'Cross Filing' is not a partisan issue," Anderson said, "it has tended to encourage the candidacy of so-called 'individualistic' candidates who have no party responsibility and adhere to no party platform. SET THEM FREE!!

In midnight raids beginning Oct. 22, the Justice Dept. rearrested 47 non-citizens who had been free on bail in pending deportation cases. They were ordered held indefinitely in various detention quarters across the country. Sixteen of them are now in their fourth week of imprisonment without bail on Ellis Island. Counsel arranged for by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, active in preserving rights of non-citizens, have already obtained ten Federal District Court decisions rebuking the Justice Dept.'s denial of bail and freeing 20 of the 47 arrested.

Thirty prominent Americans, well known for their contributions to law, education, religion, and public affairs, asked Pres. Truman to order Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath "to grant bail and release immediately all non-citizens at present held without bail."

Eleven organizations, members of which are now in detention on Ellis Island for the fourth week, issued a statement condemning the continued imprisonment as "outrageous treatment of human beings," and calling for their freedom.

All interested in freeing these men and women are asked to write President Truman and Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath.

Mrs. Charlotta Bass
The California Eagle
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Bass,

Congratulations on your fine showing in the recent California campaign, you proved that the people in your district are awake and alive as to the issues of the day.

Constant work among the voters in the off-years will yield a great victory, as the crying need of our people is education.

Here in Detroit we elected Mrs. Charlene White as the first Negro woman to the state legislature. We also elected Dr. Milton as Coronor, and Chas. C. Diggs to the State Senate, and a race member to the legislature.

You are doing a great work in the Western country and we here in Michigan bid you continued success and good health.

Most sincerely yours,

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Please accept my thanks for using the story and picture of Georgia Bell in your November issue of the California Eagle. A point I failed to mention in the article is that Miss Bell has been a visitor to the United Nations on many occasions and certainly her major in International law will qualify her for a future position in this organization.

Although Ted Malone has mentioned her outstanding scholarship record over a national hook-up, Miss Bell has received but scant recognition from the Negro press. She is very grateful for the stories that appeared in the Los Angeles papers.

Best wishes for your continued success.

Gratefully yours,

The following letter was written to Mr. Watts, of the Workers Defense League, by Clarence Jackson. The WDL had fought tenaciously to prevent Jackson's return to a Georgia prison camp. It failed. Extradition papers were signed by Gov. Dewey in New York. But the WDL feels the publicity aroused in the conditions of prison life was worth the effort.

Dear Mr. Watts:

Just a few lines to extend my warm appreciation for the wonderful fight you have put up in my behalf. We have lost our fight but it gives me comfort and satisfaction to know that we have fought to the end. I am going back as you know, but with a feeling that I have been regarded as a human being and I hope and pray this feeling will remain with me throughout the years of my term. I did not think there were so many people interested in a small individual such as I. It has made me feel that as important as a human being. If I die through the outcome of my return I will be happy to do so, because I believe in God. And you have put every effort in this case to prevent it. Even people who dislike me feels the same as I feels only they are on the other side of the fence. I am Black and that is only one part of it that makes easy for them to send me out. They wants the things of life just as I do. They are not practically how they get it. They hire people and do not pay them enough. They takes what people own and build up power arrange so they can do those things and people cannot fight back. They do this things to black people more than others they do this things because they say black people are inferior. So that is why black people have to believe in themselves, because they made me feel that I have no protection, to them I am just a dog if they want to kick me they will just kick me. So I want to say thanks again from the bottom of my heart to you and all who have shown interest in my behalf.

yours sincerely
Clarence Jackson

1951 VOC

The 1951 Vocational Opportunity Campaign will be held during the week of March 11-18, according to Ann Tanneyhill, vocational guidance director, National Urban League.

The theme of this campaign addressed to youth is "The Future Is Yours—Plan and Prepare." The 1950 VOC reached over 350,000 young people, and was observed in 362 schools, colleges, and universities, and 350 cities and towns in the nation.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Signs of Awakening

The stupidly opportunistic misleaders who have all but destroyed the effectiveness of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, must recognize their handiwork in the increasing instances of police outrages and brutality, and the attacks on Negro homeowners in illegally-maintained restrictive communities.

John M. Lee

Having forced the branch into a position of perpetual retreat on most civil rights struggles, the persons responsible for the weakness of the NAACP are now willign to let it die rather than have their cowardly role exposed and reversed, but the NAACP will not die in Los Angeles. Rather it will grow stronger and give leadership in the swelling resistance to the fascist-like oppression that is being organized in the name of democracy.

Loaded down with ancient leadership, fixed and unchanging in point of view, the local branch can also boast executive members who have not paid a membership fee, and leading members who have not brought a single membership to the Association. Narrow in their outlook many of these persons are willing to accept the un-American doctrine that all who would seek, question and examine, are enemies of the nation, and they have put red-baiting above the welfare of the Negro community.

They are frightened by the noises of reaction, and they have deluded themselves into believing that their second-class status is the fullest measure of American citizenship. They are willing to compromise, forgetting that any compromise on the question of full civil rights for the Negro people is a betrayal of the rights of all Americans.

Confronted now by growing attacks on the Negro people, the local NAACP has expressed a new militancy through its capable head, Dr. E. I. Robinson. But Dr. Robinson cannot do the job alone. He needs the support of the community, and he needs dollars that the community will have to supply if the work of the branch is to move forward with the program he has prepared.

Anti-Negro forces are more strongly organized today than they have been in many years. They are using the hysteria of the times to divide the Negro people and separate them from their allies. There is no patriotism higher than that which is concerned with the rights and dignity of the individual. The true patriots are those who daily expose the hypocrisy of the dual-Americanism that would keep the Negro and other minority people in a position of inferiority.

There would be no need for the NAACP if the Negro people were not the victims of a continuing conspiracy to deprive them of the few citizenship privileges they won through years of protest and struggle. The NAACP can never be a simple cultural organization or a forum society. It has to hit often and hit hard if it is to win and maintain the respect of friend and foe alike.

Time is running out for those who think it is possible to come to terms with the enemies of freedom and civil liberties. There is no 'nice' way to gain the objectives for which the Negro people have been fighting throughout the time of their history in America.

The arrest and detention last week of a member of the legal committee of the local NAACP is further proof that the whims of prejudiced policemen are of greater value than the rights of a citizen if that citizen happens to be a Negro.

Dr. Robinson has indicated that the local branch will act vigorously and promptly in cases of police brutality and residence restriction because of race. It is the duty of the community to get behind this kind of a program with its dollars, and it should be made plain that what is expected is action . . . not reaction.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

One of our blind Chinese girls in Kunming wrote an essay on "Useless Things." Her thoughts are very original. Please take a few minutes' time to read this essay which follows.

"USELESS THINGS"
by
A Blind Chinese Girl

"There are many beautiful things in the world. People can easily love them. The useless things are never noticed by anyone. But how many people know how to change the useless things into things that are very useful?

"Broken bones we throw away; dirty ashes we empty as far away as possible, worn-out clothing we tear up and throw away.

"Are these things really useless? No! They are useful things too. Soap is made from ashes; fertilizer is made from ground-up bones; the best paper is made from worn-out clothing.

"Now, if useless things can be changed into useful, how much more important that useless people be changed! Everyone knows that mankind is higher than all material things. We blind people are the most pitiable in the world, especially in China. If a family has a blind child, the parents, brothers and sisters and the whole family will hate him. Why? Because they think that the blind one is useless.

"Now, thank the Lord, there is a living way open for blind people and that is the School for the Blind. Blind people can be trained to read and write in Braille and through the Braille, they can learn music, knitting and a [illegible] kinds of lessons. I know a person in Hong Kong who is blind, deaf and mute, but she has been trained to do beautiful knitting. If this girl with three deformities could be taught to knit, how much more those who are merely blind can be taught to do.

"If you would be willing to help us we would be very thankful."

The need today in China is so overwhelmingly great that it would be nothing less than criminal for us to have to cease sending funds to aid the more than 50 Schools for the Blind and the more than 50 Prevention-of-blindness Clinics we have established and are supporting in China. Our children would starve to death.

I should like also to add this word. Not one of our Schools for Prevention-of-blindness Clinics has been taxed up to the present time by the Communists. This Christian work of saving lives of blind children and of healing the eyes of those who would otherwise become blind, should go on. Contributions have ceased from some persons where they do not have the vision of what we are accomplishing for the Chinese people.

Is it necessary to add that we seriously need your help?

Gratefully yours,
Edgar H. Rue

Successful Third Annual Dance by Art Club

The Unique Art Club gave one of the most outstanding fall dances of the season. Their third annual dawn dance Nov. 18th at the beautiful Elks ballroom. More than five hundred fashionably gowned guests danced to the romantic tunes of Sammy Franklin and his orchestra. High lightof the affair was the unique presentation of the members at one o'clock sharp by master of ceremonies Charles Terminell. The introduction was made from the artistically decorated stage which consisted of chrysanthemums and other colorful fall flowers. Willie Brown was in charge of the decorations.

The club members wore fall colored gowns, while the president wore a gown of deep purple and orchid taffeta which was designed by Eva Wallace Gordan. Each member wore arm corsages of talisman roses, the club flower. A pre-cocktail party for the members and their escorts was held at the home of Mrs. Jacqueline Coleman, 1195 East 49th St.

Sally Stewart Federated Club Host Reception

The members of the Sally W. Stewart Federated Club paid honor to their past president, Mrs. Claudia Jernegan, when the Club sponsored a dinner at Mrs. Jernegan's home, at 2224 4th Ave., Tuesday, Nov. 14.

The reception was well attended by many friends and members of the Club. Mrs. Partee Pitts, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. Lucy Austin, mistress of ceremony, presented the guests with an entertaining program of songs and dramatic readings which added much to the evening's enjoyment. The beautifully decorated home reflected the artistic talents of the Club's decorator and drew the admiration of all the guests.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Eva Jones, newly elected president, Mrs. Claudia Jernegan, past president, and Mrs. St. Charles Edwards, chaplain.

Hostesses of the evening were Mrs. Partee Pitts, Mrs. Alice Diver, Mrs. Hazel Jenkins, Mrs. Gertrude Fell, Mrs. Lizzie B. Walker, Mrs. Mattie Austin, Mrs. Emil ine Brown and Mrs. Tennie Peoples and Mrs. Carrie Brooks.

Hundreds Attend Kappa Black and White Formal Held as Pre-Thanksgiving Ball

Glamor and splendor was exhibited on Wednesday night, November 23 when the men of the Kappa Alpha Psi, both graduates and undergraduates, presented their annual Black and White Formal. This affair is a much looked forward to occasion every year. And this year it was really tops in entertainment and enjoyment. The spacious Avodon Ballroom in downtown Los Angeles was the atmospheric setting.

The guests were well entertained by the melodic music of Sammy Franklin and his orchestra, frequently chosen to play for local club and fraternity formal dances. Rhumbas, congas and ever popular "Charleston" attracted many couples to dance awhile.

As tradition goes, a chosen queen is usually singled out to reign over the festivities. This year the chosen one was Miss Joyce Robinson, charming and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Robinson of the Peoples Funeral Home. Miss Robinson is a sophomore at USC, and is soon to become active in Delta Sigma Theta sorority. She was charming in a white net strapless, ankle-length creation with matching white sandals. Her attendants were Misses Ann Allen, wearing a white net full length number; Madeline Carter, displaying a daring straight line crepe evening ensemble with a beautiful side-swept hair creation, and Ruby McClendon, in black ankle length.

The crowning was immediately after the comedienne antics of a Hollywood personality. Kappas Milton Smith and Louis Foster were on hand to do the honors. Each attendant was presented with a floral spray of red roses, while the queen halo was a matching crown of floral lovliness.

After the crowning the Kappas gathered to serenade as is the usual custom. And the Kappa Sweetheart Song and "Satisfied" are always a big hit.

Before and after parties were numerous. A gay before party hostessed by the ever popular Hawkins Twins began a gala evening for many. A very select group was invited to the manse of Al Merchant, with admittance by invitation only. Many of the popular restaurants about town, Ivies Chicken Shack, Vina's on Western Ave., and The Flame attracted the "Stay up late" holiday enthusiasts, for the dance lasted until 3 a.m. in the early morning.

With over 500 guests in attendance, many out of town visitors and local guests were spotted. In the Mr. and Mrs. category there was Albert Epps, Louis Love, Cal. Johnson, Emment Ashford, L. Speight, Al Crozier, L. King, Jack Tilman, Louis Collier, Jim Kaneda, Cecil Morrell, Earl C. Broady, Sr., Al Robinson. As for more, glanced about to spot Katherine Maxwell, from Oakland; Verna Arnaud, Leola Reaves, Kay Bartlett of Pasadena, and Lois Banks, Sue Takimoto, Dorothy Lee, James [illegible], Velma Baker, Evelyn Thomas, Em. Arnaud, Jean Watkins, Gertrude Gipson, Lena Torrence, Earlene and Wilbur Tate. And of course plus all of the Kappas and their wives, and they would take up all the rest of the space.

• The season's annual is already being talked about with many that did not attend this year already saying that they are planning to be on the scene of events in 1951.

Holberts Give Thanksgiving Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holbert, 1369½ West 25th Street, entertained friends at a Thanksgiving dinner in their newly decorated apartment.

Sharing the couple's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Celestus Kink, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lane Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Goodwin of Fullerton, California.

Aside from the sumptuous four-course dinner, guests were entertained by muscial selections from George R. Smith, baritone. The guests were later joined by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kahn of Westwood. A pleasant evening was shared by all.

Walter Davis Jr. celebrated his 11th birthday Saturday by enjoying a horseback ride with some of his friends.

The Salisburys Host Mr. & Mrs. Social Club

The Milton Salisburys, noted for their unique entertainments, were host and hostess to the Mr. and Mrs. Social Club at their November meeting. The business meeting proceeded in the usual manner. Members discussed the last item on the club agenda: "The adoption of a needy family for Xmas," which they consider an annual "Must."

After the business meeting, the Salisburys proceeded with the social. Mrs. Estelle Salisbury prepared many unique hor d' ourves, while members and the guests were entertained with dancing and refreshments. As the hour grew late, a very delicious dinner was enjoyed by all.

'Beaux Arts' Ball Enjoyed By Social Set

The Beaux Arts Ball sponsored by The League of Allied Arts was a successful and colorful affair. Many turned out in costume to fill the Beverly Chateau on last Friday night.

The theme of the affair was to wear a costume portraying some comic or story book character. And some real clever costumes appeared. This affair was a First Annual, and the crowds will surely be looking forward to the next one. To plan a clever costume is always loads of fun.

Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson was general chairman of the affair, and the League is headed by Mrs. Dorothy Johnson as president.

Assistance League, Duarte Rest Home, Holds Linen Shower

In the spirit and keeping of the holiday season, the members and friends of the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health Association turned their thoughts to giving happiness to others on last Sunday afternoon at the Winfandel Club house where they held their 4th annual benefit linen shower and tea party for the tuberculosis rest home at Duarte, California. The club rooms were transformed into a winter land featuring unique displays of winter floral arrangements along with an exhibit of modern and antique objects d'art of China painting, ceramics, porcelain, translucent china, figurines, lamps and lamp bases.

Included among the florists, displaying their handiwork were Dorothy's Flower Shop, a table center piece of gold and rust chrysanthemums and cat tails; Newell [illegible] Mrs. Sonia Dee [illegible] arrangement of white and [illegible] chrysanthemums, and [illegible] blooms; Hazel's Flower [illegible] a unique [illegible] flower-bedecked antique tea pot, a candlelight-effect of paradise and fruit table arrangement and a French sewing basket bouquet; Casablanca, a buffet center piece of baby orchids, made up of individual corsages, one for each club member; Mrs. Robbie Slocum, a unique holiday piece of dry materials and a vegetable arrangement for the dining room; Mrs. Gracie Phillips, a tall vase French bouquet of winter blooms from her own gardens.

The china and ceramics exhibits were presented from the modern studio shop of Tony Hill, and from the hobby collection of Mrs. Alberta Joyce; and the artists' sisters, Mrs. Martha Jones and Teresa Cobbs whose delicate museum-like displays are attracting wide attention from patrons of art and give future promise for commercial competition.

Seen among the many guests admiring the exhibits and lauding the league for their cahritable achievements were Dr. Leonard Stovall, president-founder of the O. L. H. Association and the business manager, Mr. John Jackson, also displaying his brand new baby daughter. Mesdames Yolanda Stovall, president; Mrs. Bessie Burke, vice president and official hostess for the afternoon; and Mrs. Lolita Richards, chairman, join the league members in thanking all who helped to make the 1950 party such a success.

Peggy Edwards Chosen As Miss Football of 1950 At 'Kappa Kapers'

The football week end brought to the campus crowds for many affairs but front and foremost was the one presented by the U. C. L. A. undergrad chapter of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, on Saturday night past at the Elks Auditorium.

"Kappa Kapers" was the title which featured the music of Pv Taylor and his [illegible] combo. The feature of the evening was to crown the chosen queen of the occasion "Miss Football of 1950." Doing a coronation of Meng was Sherril [illegible] former undergrad member [illegible] now in the Alumni [illegible]. Introductions of the [illegible] were as follows: [illegible] Progene Fathree, Gloria Casey, [illegible] Gloria Taylor. Winner was Miss Peggy [illegible] who was crowned [illegible] with a "kiss" by [illegible] star Dave Williams.

[illegible] there was a re[illegible] from all of the local [illegible] Fay's Fortier, James Braggs, Orville Diggs, Leigh DeGreen, Peggy Sue Terry, Rlaph Wright and Petey Bradford, Hubie Knight, Haywood Thompson, Billy Benfield, Harold Machen, Susie Moore, Lois Banks, George Gopaul, Felix Ribbs of Oakland, Ulysses Carter and Shirley Graham, Al Graham and Ruby McClendon, Joe Champion, Andrew Wallace, Signora Howard and Howard Morehead, Kenneth Terry, Marvelle Henderson, Charlene Derrick, Jack Thompson and Hortense Hudson, Everett Brandon and Annie High, plus all the hard working Kappas from the chapter sponsoring the affair.

Under the leadership of Glen Mallory, the chapter has announced to the public that this affair will become an annual, with next year marking the second. The date will always be right after the popular game of UCLA vs. USC which is played every year.

After parties are always popular and the home of Elmer Lane, Scroller, was the center of attraction.

Med-Dental-Pharm Women View Artistic Displays

[illegible] meeting [illegible] coffee and cake in the dining [illegible] room and view at their leisure [illegible] the displays that were on exhibit [illegible] of Southern [illegible] by various artists in the city. [illegible] home of [illegible] That we all should know because [illegible] Nov. 21 [illegible] they are of our race. The con[illegible] were [illegible] tributing artists were: Mrs. Beulah Woodard, sculpture; Mr. Robert Reid, studies in water color; [illegible] business [illegible] Miss Yvonne Cole, paintings; [illegible] Miss Wilma James, ceramics; [illegible] Mrs. Irene Jones, ceramics; Mr. [illegible] P. H. Willard, floral display; [illegible] Mrs. Barbara Gandhi, floral display; Mrs. Gladys Smith, floral display; Mrs. Theodore Martin, lamps; Mrs. Louise Nicholson, knitting; Mrs. Joyce Cockrell, weaving; Mrs. Mamie Waugh, orchid display; Mrs. Irene Youngcraft, [illegible] Mrs. Lady George [illegible] Forde, millinery and knitting.

It would be most unfair to give special mention to anyone or two displays as they were all excellent but it was gratifying to know that such exceptional work is being done by members of our group.

Although the meeting was held on a night of intense fog, those who braved the weather were rewarded by a most enjoyable evening.

AUDREY BURRELL, daughter of Mrs. Eunice Burrell of 3614 Adair street, is one of the five contestants who is in the Co-Ed Popularity Contest given by the Calvarettes Social Club Inc. The contest ends Sunday, December 3, at the Elks Auditorium. Miss Burrell is a popular young Miss about town now attending the University of Southern California. Vote for her popularity.

Brilliant Alpha Party Marks Thanksgiving Season

By Wendell James Franklin

After the hectic rounds of parties and formal dances, the members of Alpha Phi Alpha brought an end to the Thanksgiving social season, with a closed cocktail party on last Thursday evening at the new Frat House located atop the famed Sugar Hill. In true Alpha spirit, the gaily lighted rooms and the warmth of the downstairs bar made a delightful holiday background for dancing and conversation. To provide the difference, a South American orchestra kept the many guests busy dancing varied versions of Tangoes, Sambas and Rhumbas. The entire evening was sparked by the presence of Mr. Thomas Chambers, past national president of Alpha Phi Alpha who was informally introduced by Rudolph Henderson, Regional vice president. Recent newly made Alphas, Robert Brewington, Kenneth Younger, Edward Day and Mr. O'kee received congratulations.

Among socially prominent personalities present were Atty. and Mrs. David Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Al Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor Waugh, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson Jr., Atty. Rex Freeman, Atty. Edward Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Edwards, and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Livingston of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Penn, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wright, Mr. and Mrs Leroy Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel DeBose, Mrs. Dorothy Summer, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Van Hargis, Mr. and Mrs. James Price and Wendell James Franklin.

The Alpha House, set a pace in the social and cultural life, in Los Angeles by setting up a house program of activities under the able leadership of house manager Samuel DeBose who recently was elected president of the Graduate Chapter.

In a few days bids will be in the mail for the annual Christmas Ball which Calif. society regards as an established custom and a must attend. In line with the Frat house program, a cocktail party will proceed the annual Ball.

GERTRUDE GIPSON

NEWS FROM A NEWSGIRL'S SECRETARY:

Dear Mrs. G: . . . Knowing how you enjoy the coming of the holidays and with the broad hint you threw at me last week when you started beefing about how much you had to do . . . well—we just knew it was time for yours truly to step in and help out, and what else could I do with you getting your plane ticket and flying off to Fresno . . . but pronto . . . soooo in looking over your poorly-written notes we managed to make heads of a few things . . . so here goes.

J. C. Heard, that swelluva drummer, now appearing out at the swank Haig nitery with his nifty little combo . . . peeking into your mail marked "personal" we see that Jimmy Edwards is having the time of his life in Bermuda. Says the island is beyoootiful and the people are great. . . . Kappas' Black and White as usual tops all previous formals with many new faces in the crowd . . . though we can't say that we really cared too much for the "specialty act." . . . Caught a glimpse of likeable Hazel Washington back in the city after accompanying lovely Lena Horn on short tour. . . . Larry Darnell headlines holiday show in New Jersey . . . while Billy Eckstine headlines holiday show at Orpheum and King Cole Trio we hear at the Paramount. . . . Pretty Angelle Stratton and lovely Yvonne Shepherd doing a terrific business in their new Real Estate set-up. . . . Ya know Mrs. G. . . . it's just like ya say we enjoyed very much the vocal styling of Mari Lynn appearing nitely at the Flame . . . the girl really has something . . . oooooh a voice we mean! . . . See on your desk here the clipping of Winchell's column that includes jotting about your close gal-pal Carolyn Rich ex-Cotton Club beauty . . . now there's a girl that really got more than beauty, add "brains." . . . By the way, she is the ex-spouse of the Bay City's Dr. Herbie Henderson, isn't she? . . . Now this is what we call "raking in the loot." Louie Jordan now grosses $500,000 from his records . . . since he waxed the song "Outskirts of Town" eight years ago, Jordan's Decca wavings have brought him over $500,000 in royalties alone. . . . Lillian Randolph and Sis Amanda leave next week for a three-week engagement in Oregon. Now there's a reckuva team . . . as a matter of fact Mrs. G. . . . we'd reallly like to sell them as a permanent team. . . Soo you like the cozy fifteen minute TV show of Hadda Brooks? . . . Well as yet we've had no time to look at TV shows with you driving me so. So the talented Hadda comes on Sunday evening on KLAC with mood music. . . . Charles Brown we see opens tomorrow night at the Oasis along with his complete Combo. . . . And by the way Mrs G. . . . song thrush Mabel Scott and hubby Charles Brown have not come to the parting of ways as sooo many people have put it but are "reeelclose." . . . Oh well, that's what Charlie says. . . . Hmmm this looks rather nice . . . see here on the desk an invitation House-Waven present William Luke, I'm sorry Miss G. we left out the "H" . . . now that's William H. Luke reading from WHISPERINGS . . . a book of amorous love by Alice Welch. . . . Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m. . . . there's no doubt about it Bill certainly has the voice for this sort of work. . . . Soo you really enjoyed the luncheon over at Juliet Ball's. . . . Hear that the newly Woolworth Estate purchased by the family of Julie's is really ultra, ultra. . . . See that attractive Frances Patterson was there also with her newly born little darling. . . . Carry on Mrs. G. . . . have a ball and leave the rest to me. . . . You know we picked up a copy of two eastern papers stating your coming marriage . . . now wait a minute! Howcum we know nothing about it or are we supposed to be surprised? . . . Speaking of marriage I just got one of those things you call a "Sudden Thawt" (about the only thing you can get free nowadays) "True test of a happy marriage is when a man stays up after midnight talking to his wife." . . Oh, for the life of your pretty sis Lillian, the girl gets a month vacation from the Board of Education with pay and can't make up her mind whether to go to K. C. with Dr. . . . Oh! There I go again talking too much . . . anyway, betcha wherever she goes and with whomever she goes, she'll have a lotta fun. . . . Phylis Scott will receive her Masters in Teaching come the cold winter. . . . Bud Marshall and Florence Redix, the new twosome, also Bill Jones and . . . Oh, well, maybe I shouldn't . . . love must be grand, huh, Mrs. G.? . . . See where Gordon Heath is definitely carving a new career for himself singing spirituals in an intimate, but well known Parisian nitery. . . . Heath will always be remembered for his bits in many of the outstanding movies and his role in "Deep Are the Roots." Les Bienfantsonts get that bouquet of orchids this week for their very unique installation party at the Alpha House. . . Outgoing president Lorrane Robinson was presented with a gift from the new president, Helen Lomax. . . . Club was installed by Dr. D. Overstreet Gray. . . Well, Mrs. G. . . . I'm not goingto attempt a closing thought ,as you usually do, if you don't mind . . . I'll just say I'm glad I'm through because this is a "JOB" and I mean just that. . . . Your loving secretary, "Beaula."

Music Bureau Plans Concert

[illegible] High School, will present a [illegible] for Adult Education Christmas program in the Memorial Auditorium. Hollywood [illegible] for Adult Evening High School, on Tuesday evening, December 5, 1950, [illegible] Evening at 8:15.

UNSURPASSED . . . Lovely Lena Horne, the darling of millions, just returned home again after completing engagements in Canada, Vancouver, etc. Lena is still unsurpassed in her particular field as far as we're concerned. (O.K., O.K., sooo it's my page!)

Dolphin Record Shop Overnight Success

GEORGE SHEARING . . . Sensational blind pianist, recently completed a series of concert tours with Billy Eckstine and has been reported to have netted more money than any other concert package in the business.

"When you think of records you think of Dolphins . . . the two just naturally go together" so Ray Robinson, Disc Jockey for Dolphin of Hollywood puts it on his nitely "Platter Party" show originating from the front window of the huge Record Shop at 1055 E. Vernon in L. A. Beginning from a mere nothing 1945 John Dolphin came to the city of Los Angeles wasted no time but immediately began excuting those ideas he had cherished for quite some time.

A congenial person with a big broad smile for everybody, John Dolphin has won the respect of thousands for his aggressiveness and constant drive. Not only does Mr. Dolphin own two huge record shops with over a quarter of a m... on records in stock but he is also a manufacturer of records and the inventor of the original serve self record merchandiser.

With his nightly "Platter Party" broadcast from 9:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. over station KGFJ, John Dolphin has pushed up that ladder of success such well known artists as Damita Jo Perry Mayfield, Jimmy Witherspoon, Jimmy Grissom, Floyd Dixon, Big Boy Crudup, and many others. With his Sunday Religious show, John Dolphin maintains a listening audience second to none.

Employed in the Record Shop at present are six delivery boys, who deliver over 2500 records weekly, and 11 courteous sales girls employed at all times to pull from those vast shelves any record you name.

There's no doubt about it, whether you like John Dolphin or not the man must be given due credit for one of the most thriving and progressive business in the market today and as the man whose name has come almost synonomous when speaking of records puts it "I love you, we ALL love you here at Dolphins of Hollywood."

MILDRED SMITH . . . Last seen in 20th Century's "No Way Out," has returned from Italy where she completed her engagement as a vocalist and is now being sought for another top role in a coming Hollywood film.

Broadway Calls Janis Carter

HOLLYWOOD—Although Janis Carter again plays a meanie in her supporting role to Robert Mitchum, Ava Gardner and Melvyn Douglas in RKO Radio's "My Forbidden Past," she hopes soon to be singing on Broadway. She has been offered the lead in a musical show to be produced in New York early next year.

Three Orchestras Give Services to Teen Town Party

NEW YORK CITY—Musicans' Local 802 of New York City has joined the ranks of those who are helping in the Program to combat Juvenile Delinquency through TeenTown which fosters an organized and directed program of fun, recreation, and training for youth at the Red Shield Club. The slogan of Teen-Town—"A Better Youth Today, A Better Citizen Today" along with the work so impressed A. Edward "Tiny" Walters, member of the executive Board of Local 802 and his colleagues who granted permission for members to donate their services to the Teen-Town parties during the year, and the recent party at the Renaissance which was donated by Bob Douglas found not one but three orchestras on hand to swing out for the youngsters to have fun.

Rhonda No Longer Warbles

Talley Beatty Dancers Open N. C. College Season

The Talley Beatty dancers of New York brought a tropical heat wave to Durham last Tuesday night, Noverber 21st to open North Carolina College's concert season.

Appropriately named "Tropicana," the troupe's program presented a versatile combination of serious interpretative dances of African, Indian, and related numbers with rollicking modern improvisations.

TRUDI SCHOOP, internationally famous dancer and mime, this week joined the staff of Dance Center, 462 N. Western avenue, it was announced by Paul Barlin, director. Mis Schoop, who has had more than 15 years of experience as a concert performer and choreographer, will direct the Center's adult school and teach classes in advanced work.

RECUPERATING . . . Hazel Scott, unique stylist of the ivories, has oeen reported as recuperating after a severe attack of virus that had her hospitalized. Miss Scott recently completed an engagement at the swank Ciro's.

Dorothy Maynor Dedicates Her Talent To Advancing Culture

To help members of her race find the means to contribute to American culture is the motivating ambition of the internationally acclaimed Negro singer, Dorothy Maynor, who will appear in Philharmonic Auditorium Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock under the joint sponsorship of Irwin Parnes Int'l. Indpendent Concerts and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Miss Maynor was chosen to sing at the Library of Congress to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the passage of the 15th Amendment; and as soloist at the 50th anniversary of the YWCA in November of 1943 she became the first woman to sing in the Washington Cathedral.

With Lauritz Melchior, she sang at a giant inter-faith rally which marked the 50th anniversary of the automotive industry. Her fondest memory was her appearance at New York Unithe statue of the late Negro educator, Booker T. Washington, was added to the galaxy of great men.

Now engaged in research into the unpublished folk music of her race, Miss Maynor recently declared in an interview: "I want to help the Negro achieve the important place in American life to which his talents and contributions entitle him."

Her current American tour follows a triumphant debut in Europe, where critics in Rome, Copenhagne, Stockholm, Oslo, Paris, and Amsterdam added their praises to those of the U. S. press.

Tramp Amuses Bob Mitchum

HOLLYWOOD—A tramp came to Robert Mitchum's home and asked for work. Bob told Jane Russell on the set of RKO Radio's "Macao." Bob gave him a couple of dollars and sent him away. The tramp came back later, asked for and received a glass of water. The bell rang a third time. There was the tramp again. He stared at Mitchum a long time. "Could I," he asked finally, "have your autograph?"

Ammons Band On Theatre Tour

BALTIMORE—Gene Ammons and his band opened a week's theater engagement here at the Royal Theater, Thursday, that witnessed a standing room only audience applauding their music. This is the first time that the sensational tenor sax star has played this house since 1947 when he was then a member of Billy Eckstein's band.

Featuring Sonny Stitt, another tenor and also saxophone star, the band is rated one of the best small combinations in the country.

In addition to Stitt, other members of the band are Mathew Gee, trombone; Billy Massey, trumpet; Gene Wright, bass; Julian Nance, piano; and Wesley Landers, drums. From here the band will move on to the Howard in Washington, D. C., Manager Dick Carpenter announced.

Gibson, Caps Piano Red Wax On RCA

PHILADELPHIA — In keeping with the policy of contracting top recording talent, RCA Victor recently signed Steve Gibson and the Red Caps and "Piano Red" to exclusive waxing pacts.

Gibson and his crew, who have scored successes on theatre and night club dates around the country, will record on the disk-ery's popular label along with other top artists such as Mindy Carson's and the Four Tunes. "That Old Gang of Mine" and "Blueberry Hill" are two of the standout discs which have made them long time sentimental blues favorites. The group is hailed as one of the country's most outstanding vocal and instrumental sextets because of their unique treatment of old and new ballads.

"Piano Red," whose hair is as flame colored as his music, has been pounding the keyboard since the age of six, yet has never had a piano lesson in his life.

The flip over of his "Rockin' With Red," "Red's Boogie" is slated, according to reviewers, to be as great a hit as the "A" side of the platter.

Papa Martin Writes Song

HOLLYWOOD — Tony Martin, now warbling in RKO Radio's "Two Tickets to Broadway," and his musical director, Hal Borne, have composed a song, "Shall I Sing or Shall I Dance?", which they have dedicated to eight-weeks-old Tony, Jr. The title stems from Tony's singing plus the fact that his wife, Cyd Charisse, is one of the screen's finest dancers.

Every home in Los Angeles and vicinity should have framed on the wall a Red Cross home nursing certificate!

Charles Brown Opens At Club Oasis

Charles Brown and his combo open a two week engagement at the Club Oasis, 2801 So. Western Ave., Friday night, December 1st.

Ivy Anderson heard young Charles play during an amateur contest at the Lincoln theatre in Los Angeles and offered him a job at her Chicken Shack. This was the beginning of his career as a professional musician.

In 1944 Brown joined Johnny Moore's Three Blazers. Until this time, he had not done any singing, but the manager of the Talk of the Town thought the trio needed a vocalist. He realized that Charles Brown's appearance and personality was an important asset to the trio and should be further exploited.

The voice clicked immediately. So former science teacher became not only the piano feature but vocalist as well.

Charles considers '49 one of the most important years in his life. He and Mable Scott were married and he left Johnny Moore's trio and started out with his own group. His tag "Good-time Charlie" was given to him because through all his years of serious study, he had learned the value of entertainment and having a good time. Now, with a lovely wife, a California home, and a group of his own, Charlie Brown is ready to set the country afire with a new blaze of hits of his own.

Red Sanders will lose 16 of his footballers from the 1950 UCLA team through graduation, but if Uncle Sam doesn't increase this number Red won't be too bad off next season.

The Bruin team which finished the season third in the PCC also consisted of 20 juniors and 10 sophomores all of which should return in 1951. Add to that some good freshman talent and perhaps a few top-flight JC transfers and the Bruins should be right up there again next year.

Those departing include Dave Williame, Howard Hansen, Bob Wilkinson, Breck Stroschein and Bob Watson. But those remaining include Ted Narleski, Donn Moomaw, Luther Keyes, Ernie Stockert, Bob Moore, Joe Marvin, Whitney Arcenaux, Julie Weisstein and Ike Jones.

Looking at the Bruins' past two games against Cal and USC one might say that they were "up" for one and "down" for the other. How else can you explain the two lopsided scores?

They had better be "up" early next year. Their first two games are against Texas A. & M. and Illinois.

MICHIGAN "DOOD IT"

Well, so we get the Big Ten champion in the Rose Bowl after all. It looked for a while that the second place team might show up. But bad weather and two blocked punts combined to allow Michigan to squeeze by Ohio State and Illinois in the standings and earn the bid.

Michigan with a record of five victories, three losses and one tie will have the worst record in recent years of any Rose Bowl participant. Yet they will have an excellent chance against California.

The Wolverines have a fine passer in Chuck Ortmann and the Bears showed how weak they are in that department last Saturday.

Another factor in favor of the Wolverines is that they are a member of the Big Ten. This alone seems to cause the coast schools to roll over and play dead. Here's hoping that the Golden Bears do not scare easily. They have the better team and should win. And it's about time.

Four tan gridders will make the jaunt with Michigan. They are end Lowell Perry, tackle Tom Johnson and halfbacks Dave Hill and Frank Howell.

SELECTED SHORTS

Florida A. & M. and Wilberforce have been selected to play in the Orange Blossom game at Miami next Saturday . . . Drake University of Des Moines, Iowa, is considered one of the top choices as a foe for Arizona State of Tempe in the Salad Bowl game at Phoenix. The game would pit together two of the nation's top offensive stars, Whizzer White of Tempe against Drake's sensational Johnny Drake.

Ray Robinson, who KOed Frenchman Jean Stock in Paris Monday night really did cross the ocean in style. He was accompanied by his wife, manager, two trainers, his secretary, personal barber and golf pro. . . . Young Rex Layne of Utah, who defeated Jersey Joe Walcott last week in New York, has lost only one fight in 29 ring appearances. He is 22 years old and weighs 192 pounds. . . . The Ocean Park Arena will reopen for boxing in January. . . . Next at the Olympic after the Davis-Herman go will find Art Aragon trading punches with Mario Trigo. This will be the rubber match. Trigo upset Aragon a year ago. Golden Boy reversed this a month later.

UCLA opens its basketball season tomorrow night at Westwood in a game with the alumni. This year's alumni team will really cause the Bruins to step if they are to win. Some of its members are expected to be George Stanich, Don Barkesdale, Dave Minor, John Stanich and Ralph Joeckel. Coach Johnny Wooden needn't worry too much, however. He has some pretty good boys on his side, too.

Two Negro Teams On Unbeaten List

With the college football season practically over, 21 teams are undefeated and untied. The list, headed by Army, Oklahoma and Princeton, also includes two Negro schools, Florida State and Maryland State.

Florida State completed its season with a record of eight victories while scoring 219 points and holding the opposition to 54 points.

Maryland State scored 361 points in its seven games while holding their opponents to 38. They have been trying unsuccessfully for four years to gain entrance into the Colored Intercollegiate Athletic Association and perhaps will make it next season due to their good showing.

Title Bout Postponed

The heavyweight championship fight between Ezzard Charles and Nick Barone, scheduled for last Tuesday in Cincinnati, was postponed due to inclement weather. The new date has been announced as Dec. 5.

Bowling Notes

By Lewis Russ

The league leading, wood tumbling Team 5 bowled over Temtation Drive Inn two games to one Monday night in the Atomic Mixed Foursome Bowling League at the Harlem Sports Center. Arthur Harold rocked the timber for a 551 series. Cleo Chung shot a 466 series.

Garcia's Super Service shook the lumber to down Busy Needle to games to one. Bea Motley sparked the attack topping the women with a 190 high game and a 488 high series. Ed McFall shot a 201 game and a 522 series.

Fleischman's Clothiers blasted the maple to tumble Shelton Bail Bonds two games to one. Bob Williams blew his top and racked up a lot of wood to top the leage with a 216 game and a 583 high series. Frank Garrett struck the pocket for a 218 high game and a 547 series. Millie Lightfoot bowling well rolled a 467 series. Timber tipping Katherine Porter of Shelton's tried hard in shooting a 180 game and a 480 series.

Roberson Motel Ties for Top Spot

The maple tilting, lug socking Roberson Motel whacked the pins to blank Benjamin's Cleners three games to none Friday night and move up into a tie for the lead in the Sunset Bowling League. John Millon whaled the stuff to top the league with a 567 series. Ed McFall spilled the pins for a 564 series. Alvin Griffin cleaned it up shooting a 218 high game and a 556 series.

Rogers Credit chucking hard and trying to maintain their slim league lead mowed down the lumber to drown Personal Linen two games to one. Lewis Russ keeled it over for a 217 game. Chuck Downs and Eddie Irving bowling well. However, in winning Rogers lost ground to the hard shooting Roberson Motel team.

Garrett's Sports staggered the lugs to tilt Empire Furniture three games to none. Waldo Jackson tore up timber, rolling a 201 game and a 559 series. Herman Jones racked up a 556 series.

Music Guild Commemorates Verdi, Dec. 7

The Music Guild's next concert —Thursday, December 7, at 8:30 p.m. in Wilshire-Ebell Theatre— will pay tribute to Guiseppe Verdi on the 50th anniversary of his death.

Other works on this program will include the Los Angeles premiere of Richard Wagner's Adagio for Clarinet and String Quintet, Max Reger's Clarinet Quintet, and the Septet by Beethoven.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

HOLLYWOOD PARK—Now in its fourth week of the split meeting, attendance and mutuel handle seems to be on the upgrade and with the biggest stake yet to be run the handle will soar. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's great fillie, Next Move, is about the best three-year-old seen in these parts in many years. The way she won the Cinderella Stakes with 126 pounds up make her the fillie of the year. The daughter of Bull Lea-Now What just coasted in the stakes.

GEO. A. RAMSEY

Bed of Roses closed a lot of ground in the La Brea Handicap and will be a tough fillie to beat over a distance of ground. This Saturday will feature the Vanity Handicap for three-year-olds and upwards fillies and mares at 1⅛ miles it carries an added value of $25,000 with the Vanderbilt Stable entry favored. And then one week hence the star attraction of the Hollywood Park meet will be run, the Hollywood Gold Cup which will net the winner $100,000 guaranteed.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—The curtains were dropped for the first time in many years when the famous Caliente closed its gates for one month for the purpose of vast improvements. One of the greatest will be the American tote board. About 8,000 fans were on hand for the gala closing event and also to cut up the $6,000 in prizes the track gave away to holders of lucky program numbers.

The form players had a bad day when the longshots kept scoring. It started in the first race when Bomber Wings, a maiden two-year-old upset the dope to beat the favored Touho Plume and pay in the mutuels $45.20.

From then on it was lush priced horses that visited the charmed circle. Other upsets were Copperhead's victory in the tenth race and the defeat of V-Boy in the feature attraction. Cuffie, who loves the Caliente track, came back after being away for some time to score a wire-to-wire win, paying in the mutuels $12.40.

The daily double combination of Glenn T. winner of the second race of the afternoon program, and Goldstreworth, victor of the third race, paid $88.80 while the quinicla backers of big V Lady a first starter at the border course, and Top Drawer, who ran in that order received $85.20. Caliente track will be open on Sundays and wagers will be accepted on Mexico City and Phoenix races at the foreign book.

Rams vs. Green Bay Game To Be Telecast

The Los Angeles Rams, who still have a fighting chance to win the National League football title, meet their last big test Sunday afternoon when they collide with the Green Bay Packers at the Coliseum in a game to be presented by Admiral over KNBH, Channel 4, starting at 1:45 p.m.

If the Rams win, and if the Chicago Bears lose one of their two remaining games, the Rams and Bears will meet in a playoff for the championship.

A pre-game telecast from the Ram dressing room — giving viewers a chance to become better acquainted with the players, coaches, and trainers—will be on Channel 4 from 11:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

Bob Kelley will do the play-by-play commentary, and Jerry Lawrence will fill in with the color.

Champ Defends State Welter Title At Olympic

The uncrowned lightweight champion of the world, John L. (Dynamite) Davis, pride of Oakland, drifts down L. A. way next Tuesday night to defend his state welterweight title at the Olympic auditorium, against Freddie Herman, pal and stablemate of Art (Golden Boy) Aragon.

There may be some who'll look askance, or h'ist quizzical eyebrows at the above reference to John L. — "uncrowned lightweight champion of the world." Well, who has a better right?

Last February, up in Seattle, John L. handed world champ Ike Williams a solid lacing—only to see the verdict go to Mr. Williams. However, the local press, as well as the newspaper service wires, all gave the victory to Davis.

Next to bow down to the Oakland warrior were Art Aragon and Carlos Chavez, both highly rated in the mythical "top 10." And just recently, John had his hand raised over Freddie Dawson up in Oakland.

There was quite a bit of fuss raised about that Dawson decision. Some folks didn't like it. But the fact remains that John L. Davis has been the victim of more bad decisions than any other scrapper on the Pacific Coast, if not in the entire land.

Time after time John L. has walloped opponents—only to see the official verdict handed to the gent he lambasted.

Twice this year, out of a dozen fights, Davis has dropped decisions: one to Williams, in Seattle; the other to Harold (Baby Face) Jones in Detroit. Both were denounced as bare-faced, shameless robberies.

During the past two years, Davis has been defrauded at least a half dozen times in important fights.

Hence there are many who shrug off the howls about the Dawson decision as much ado about nothing. It's about time John L. got the best of a close decision, they say. Well, why not?

Freddie Herman has had three fights as a member of the Jimmy Roche stable, won all three —two by knockout. He stopped Jess Robles in four, Don Rogers in eight, whipped Eddie Johnson in 10. Early this year Herman defeated Harold (Baby Puss) Jones at Hollywood Legion Stadium—the same Jones who, in August, grabbed that unjust verdict over John L.

Herman is a stiff puncher, particularly adept with a right cross. John L. is not a hard puncher, particularly — but he sure is a frequent one. Like the great Henry Armstrong, he wears down his foes.

There will be no raise in prices for this fight—$3 top plus tax. It will be a 12-rounder, since it is for the title.

Long Beach And Boise J. C. To Clash In Jr. Rose Bowl

The Vikings of Long Beach will attempt to break the winning streak of the Bronchos of Idaho in the Little Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena, Saturday, December 9.

Buck Andreasen, coach of the Long Beach City College will send a speedy backfield, headed by a sturdy line, against the Boise Junior College in the fifth annual Junior Rose Bowl contest. Boise, the team that has not tasted defeat in its last 40 games, boasts an array of brilliant players. It has played many four-year college teams during its long winning streak and also has met many of the strong junior squads. In the Potato Bowl last December the Broncos defeated a powerful team from Taft. Again this season, Modesto was one of the squads that fell before the strong running attack of the Broncos.

Dewey Tompkins, a transplanted Floridan, has been the great scoring threat for Long Beach. He holds the all-time scoring record for the Vikings having racked up 78 point's this season to smash the mark he set last year.

Jack Price, light in poundage but possessing a great throwing arm, has quarterbacked the Vikings to nine straight wins against teams from four different junior college conferences in Southern California.

Early this season the backfield men accounted for the victories but the forward wall has been improving so that only two touchdowns have been scored against the Norsemen in the past five games.

Tickets for the game have been placed on sale at all Mutual Ticket Agencies. Reserved seats are $2; students $1; and children will be admitted for 75 cents.

Thanksgiving Rally At Second Baptist Church Huge Success

More than 700 persons attended the united Thanksgiving rally held in the Second Baptist Church, and voiced their appreciation by saying it was the greatest Thanksgiving service they had ever attended.

The service was sponsored by the Strangers Rest Baptist Church. It was opened by a deacon from the Strangers Rest Church, and another from Zion Hill Baptist. Rev. E. Burns, pastor of Strangers Rest, served as master of ceremonies. More than 25 Zion Hill ushers assisted those from Strangers Rest in seating the guests. The two choirs, Zion Hill and Strangers Rest, together with the Los Angeles Singing Alliance, sang.

Dr. T. M. Chambers, of Zion Hill, preached the Thanksgiving sermon. He chose for his text First Samuel 7:12: "Then Samuel took a stone and set it between Mizpah and Shen, and called the stone Ebenezer, saying, 'Hitherto hath the Lord helped us.'" Dr. Chambers said the name Ebenezer meant, "Thanks."

Others who took part in the service were: Rev. E. S. Johnson, minister of Tabernacle Baptist, who offered prayer; Rev. T. R. Bailey, Galilee Baptist; Rev. A. Peters, Victory Baptist, who sang a solo, "The Little Wooden Church"; Rev. N. J. Kirkpatrick, New Hope Baptist, Long Beach, and moderator of the Providence Association, who extended the invitation after the sermon; and Rev. L. A. Felix, of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, who presented Dr. Chambers to the audience.

The offering was in charge of Dr. Chambers, Rev. Peters, Rev. Felix, and Rev. Kirkpatrick. Rev. Bailey presented $5.00 from his church; Rev. Johnson, $7.00; Rev. Felix and Rev. Peters, $5.00 each; Rev. Chambers, $10.00; Rev. Kirkpatrick, $75.00 from the Providence Association; and the Los Angeles Singing Alliance, Mr. A. L. Johnson, president, $20.00. The grand total was $503.41.

The deacons, choir, ushers, members and pastor of the Strangers Rest Baptist Church express their appreciation to all for their loyal cooperation. They wish to extend special thanks to Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, where the rally was held.

Dr. Reed Installed President IMA

Dr. Granville W. Reed was installed as president of the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance last week at the Conerstone Baptist Church. More than 150 persons were present at the dinner and installation services.

In his installation address, he expressed his appreciation at having been elected to head such an important organization as the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance. He said that he would do all within his power to have the organization foster civic righteousness, the affairs of labor, and encourage accredited charitable organizations in their financial campaigns. He further said he would strive for the coordination of the various denominations who are members of the Alliance, in promoting religious meetings such as revivals Christian education seminars, on subjects of interest and help to the general public.

Dr. Reed left last Thursday for Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the meeting of the Constituting Convention of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. He was selected as a delegate to this meeting by the International Council of Religious Education.

THE STRANGERS REST BAPTIST CHURCH CHOIR, with the Rev. E. Burns, pastor of the church, seated. The Strangers Rest Church sponsored a unity Thanksgiving rally at the Second Baptist Church on Thanksgiving Day, said to be one of the best ever held. This enterprising church with its progressive pastor is located at 526 Stanford avenue. It always has a warm welcome to all who attend its services. (See Story)

ST. LUKE'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH of Houston, Texas and the Rev. T. Vincent Harris, Rector, were hosts to the first annual Institute for Clergy Engaged in Negro Work. Murray, Austin, Texas.

Thanksgiving Dinner At Lewis Met. Church

Many hearts were made happy on Thanksgiving Day at the Lewis Metropolitan EME Church, 121 East 29th St., at a dinner given by Mrs. A. N. Kelly, of 225 East 30th St., who is operating a board and care home for the aged.

The dinner was in reality given as a joint dinner with Rev. T. Sears, pastor of the church, and many friends uniting with Mrs. Kelly. It was given in accordance with Luke 14:12 "When thou makest a dinner or supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor thy rich neighbors, lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee. But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind."

Friends who helped acted as waitresses, etc. Those who had cars brought many of the guests to the feast. Dinners were also sent out to those who were unable to come.

At the morning service, Mrs. Kelly spoke on FAITH—Hebrew 11:1. Remarks were made by Dr. Cobb, Mrs. Kelly and friends wish to thank all who helped.

St. Philip's Men's Day Sunday Opens With Morning Communion

Nov. 5 is Lay December 3, will be Men's Day at St. Philip's Episcopal Church, 28th and Stanford Avenue.

The occasion falls within the octave of St. Andrew's Day, Nov. 30, and will be observed by a Corporate Communion of the Confirmed men of the church at 8 a.m. Father H. Randolph Moore will be celebrant. The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which is an organization of men and boys within the spiritual embrace of the Episcopal Church, will also be observing the day with a Corporate Communion on a natural scale.

Following the 8 o'clock mass the Men's Club of St. Philip's Church will serve a breakfast in the Parish House from 9 to 10:30 a.m. and a dinner from 1 to 5 p.m.

The Men's Club has been functioning continuously as an organization of the church for the past fifteen years. It is dedicated to the high purpose of aiding the church's program being nutured by religious instruction and fellowship, not only of members of the church but also members of other denominations, several of whom are permanent and active members of the church.

In carrying out Sunday's program the men have planned an excellent dinner which they will prepare and serve with a musical background. The general public is invited. Father H. Randolph Moore is the Rector of St. Philip's.

Fear God, and keep His commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.—Ecclesiastes.

Mrs. Benjamin To Be Honored At Tea

Mrs. Fannie E. Benjamin will be honored on Sunday, December 10, from 3 to 7 p.m. at the beautiful residence of Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Blackwell, 203 West Vernon Ave., by the Women's Christian Fellowship of the People's Independent Church of Christ, at an Appreciation Tea.

This tea is to be one of the most outstanding events of the closing year. Mrs. Benjamin is at present connected with the Connor-Johnson Mortuary. She has been an organist for 25 years at the People's Independent Church, is a member and also on the executive board of directors of the American Guild of Organists, the first to be featured on one of their concert-meetings, and is also a teacher of piano and organ.

Mrs. Myrtle Canada is chairman for the event. Rev. Clayton D. Russell, D.D., minister of the church.

RUDOLF BING AND THE MET

As Rudolf Bing begins his first year as general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association, the future of the institution is even more clouded than it was fifteen years ago, when Edward Johnson took office in the midst of the depression.

The Korean War and the general need for rearmament put a quick stop to Congress' earlier intention of eliminating the twenty percent tax on admissions.

The Federal Internal Security Act, passed over President Truman's veto on September 23rd placed grave obstacles in the way of the entry of a number of the Metropolitan's foreign singers and eliminated from the roster Boris Christoff, upon whose exceptional theatrical gifts Mr. Bing had relied heavily for the opening-night revival of Verdi's Don Carlo and for a proposed rejuvenation of Gounod's Faust. Increased operating costs were in view in many departments of the budget.

At the same time, Mr. Bing has taken the stand with the hearty concurrence of the board of trustees, that the Metropolitan must accept a broader responsibility for the welfare of its employees than it has admitted in the past.

Earlier in the year, the association applied for and was granted coverage for all its employees from Mr. Bing to the doormen, under the New York State Unemployment Insurance provisions. This move added between $50,000 and $60,000 to the 1950-51 budget. Moreover, the trustees are already committed to participation in Social Security benefits at the moment the new legislation becomes operative that gives institutions in the Metropolitan's category the option of sharing in the plan.

The Metropolitan's willingness to burden its deficit-ridden budget with a humanitarian outlay of from $70,000 to $80,000 merits the highest praise. Fortunately its subscribers are aware of the problem and have proved sympathetic to the call for extra financial support.

More than 85 per cent of them voluntarily contributed a 20% surcharge in response to an appeal from the management after Congress threw out the tax exemption measure. With such a three-way loyalty among management employees and friends of the Metropolitan can it only fail to solve its problems [illegible] by keeping Mr. Bing off the New York State unemployment [illegible]

EIGHTH NOTES

A film version of the ballet The Sleeping Beauty, will be produced in London in 1951 with MARGOT FONTEYN of the SADLER'S WELLS BALLET in title role. It is planned to replace the mimed scenes of the stage production with dialogue . . . KATHERINE DUNHAM and her company appeared for three weeks in September at the Teatro Casino Buenos Aires; and TALLEY BEATTY'S Tropicana opened a two-week tour of the Hawaiian Islands on October 1st. In her first South American tour since 1939 MARIAN ANDERSON sang 25 recitals in two months including four in Rio de Janeiro, four in Sao Paulo, and seven in Buenos Aires. . . . THE LITTLE SINGERS FROM PARIS, who appeared in the Wilshire Ebell theatre last Saturday evening are certainly in the virtuoso class. The trebles and altos, especially, sing with amazing accuracy of pitch, range of dynamics, and assurance, even if the lower were less firm in quality. Perhaps the very brilliance of the choir is a temptation, for at this concert the voices were sometimes strained in climaxes, and tempos were quickened merely to display agility . . . This was an Irvin Parnes production ad speaking of Parnes, don't forget the DOROTHY MAYNOR CONCERT this Sunday afternoon promptly at 3, in the Philharmonic. . . . Let's help disprove the remarks Albert Goldberg, of the Times, made regarding Miss Maynor's last appearance in Los Angeles. . . . ARTHUR JUDSON has announced that ALFRED WALLENSTEIN, conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic since 1943, has come under his management. The conductor, former music director of radio station WOR and the Mutual Broadcasting Company, has made guest appearances with many symphony orchestras, including those of Philadelphia, Chicago, Montreal, and Washington, as well as the NBC Symphony. . . . Andre Green and his SYMPHONIC CHOIRSTERS were presented in concert recently in the Hamilton Methodist [illegible]

Music by Brahms will be performed by the Los Angeles Piano Quartet at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park on Sunday afternoon, December 3 at 3 o'clock.

Yule Season Plans by YWCA

Public Housing, Prayer and World Fellowship are major concerns at Woodlawn YWCA as the Yuletide Season approaches. The movie "And Ten Thousand More" on Public Housing is to be shown to members and the general public at Woodlawn Branch YWCA, on Friday, December 1, at 7:30 p.m., sposored by the Public Affairs Committee of the Branch. This is an opportunity to become acquainted with location and regulations governing the 10,000 units of public housing now being constructed in Los Angeles. A well-informed lecturer will be on hand to give explanation and to answer questions which will arise.

Prayer and World Fellowship claim the attention of members of the YWCA preceding Christmas celebration, announces the World Fellowship Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Helen Wilson.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. Ella K. Mays, Young Adult Committee member, a program will be presented on the Los Angeles Sentinel Radio Program, Station KFOX, Sunday, December 3, at 10:00 a.m. This will be followed by prayer and vesper that afternoon at 4:00 at the Branch.

Piano Classes For Southeast Area Children

Another eight-week class in piano sponsored by the Church Welfare Bureau has been arranged for children residing in Compton, Watts and Willowbrook, from ages 6 to 8, beginning Saturday, December 2, and continuing through January 20, 1951. Registration and first lesson have been scheduled for December 2, from 10 to 11 a.m., at the Bel-Vue Community Church, 118th street and Stanford avenue. Registration fee of 25 cents is required of each registrant.

Mrs. Ruth Winston, a product of the New England Conservatory of Music and an accomplished teacher of piano and voice in Los Angeles, whose flexible and compatible personality has endeared her among the children with whom she has worked, will serve as instructor. Mrs. Kathryn Epps will be the registrar.

Leisure time activities, story telling and special musical recitals along with the regular class period will constitute the one-hour activity session.

Parents are urged to register their children for these music sessions now available to our community under the Church Welfare Bureau sponsorship.

the radio committee, has written Miss Kirschner telling her that he is preparing a protest to be filed with the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

Two delegations of civic and labor leaders have called upon Miss Kirschner, who refused to see them.

More than a quarter million listeners in the Los Angeles area hear Berman's nightly program, according to a survey conducted by Station KGFJ.

"Free speech on the air is threatened by the cancellation of a radio program that is paid for by the people who listen to it," committee chairman Penn Vandervoort said.

"The airwaves belong to the people, and yet a private enterprise which is granted use of the air by the people is daring to say that a voice that speaks for the people cannot be heard.

"We urge every person in Los Angeles who listens to Averill Berman and every person who believes that any attempt to destroy free speech on the air must be defeated, to call Station KGFJ, HIllside 0201, and protest to Miss Kirschner.

"And write to Miss Kirschner, Station KGFJ, Hollywood 28, and send a copy to the Federal Communications Commission in Washington."

National Bank

Russell H. Pray, who headed Howard's defense counsel in the federal court action in which Howard won sweeping exoneration of charges that he was guilty of misapplication of funds entrusted to the Broadway Federal, filed suit in Municipal Court. It alleges that each of the persons named is indebted to Howard for the sum of $2,413.48 advanced in connection with the formation and organization of a commercial national bank to be known as Fidelity National Bank of Los Angeles.

The complaint sets forth that in May 1949, the defendants agreed to a proposal that Howard advance as a loan to them, the necessary funds to meet their share of the expenses incidental to forming and organizing the national bank. Howard's complaint alleges that he demanded payment from each of the defendants in September of this year, and neither of them has paid any part of their indebtedness.

He asks the court to render judgment in his behalf against the defendants the full amount of the loans plus interest from September 12, 1950, and for the court costs.

Glamour is an item you gotta understand.

Glamour has become a very important factor in our lives. It comes goonly into view on every billboard. The mo-om pitchers would lie down and die without it.

Basic definition of glamour runs about as follows.

Glamour is what you use to hide something else!

For instance, Betty Grable is a nice well-fed number who sticks out in the right places. Chances are she looks groggy in the morning and probably becomes a very weary bedragged citizen after a day under the movie arc lights.

But glamour turns her into something more than a girl who swears like anybody else. She is the stuff of dreams. At no time is she other than pink and lovely. She stares from a million studio photographs lush as a night at W. C. Fields.

But the Grable kind of glamour isn't very dangerous.

What Joe citizen had better peel his peepers for is another brand altogether.

We used to see it on the Chamber of commerce billboards extolling the OPEN SHOP. A frolicsome working man was shown cavorting in Nature's Bower with wife and child. This happy state of affairs, the billboard asserted, flowed by straight wire from the glorious fact that he belonged to no blasted blankety-blank red infested trade union.

Now, the Pittsburgh Courier last week presented us with a glamorous photo of Garner Van Grayson, head of the Negro Auxiliary of the Boilermakers Union, which some unscrupulous persons have made so bold as to label a Jim-Crow outfit operated by a handkerchief-head bunch of Uncle Toms.

Brother Grayson is surrounded by seven secretaries—yep, count em'—all very easy on the eyes. The accompanying text points out that despite the unseemingly accusation of Jim-Crowism, Brother Grayson's auxiliary has several thousand dollars in the bank and is a priceless boon to the workers of Calship, Consolidated and Western Pipe and Steel yards.

Of course, some people thought this photo should have been placed in the Los Angeles Tribune. The Tribune, it was recalled had early and militantly supported the damned Jim-Crow mess—oops pardon!—auxiliary A-35 (for Negroes) and legitimately deserves whatever publicity plums there may be forthcoming.

Anyway, it was very glamorous.

I am in receipt of a letter from one of our soldier lads somewhere in Persia. I think it indicates that Garner Van G. and mob had better concentrate much harder on their glamour campaign or else maybe they'll have to run for their lives when the boys come marching home. It appears that a really BIG hunk of glamour, say, FOURTEEN secretaries is required to hide Jim-Crowism in this hep age.

Be that as it may, perhaps the boys at Auxiliary A-35 (for Negroes) might like to know what a P.O. 797 c/o P M N.Y. thinks about 'em.

To wit:

Dear John,

"I received two of your columns today and after reading them I was burned up about the article you wrote concerning the Jim-Crow union at Calship yards.

"I can't see why, after hearing day after day what we, the soldiers overseas, are fighting for, such conditions can be allowed to exist.

"As you and I know there is always one who will sell his fellow man down the road for a few pieces of silver. But as I see it any man who calls himself a member of the Negro race and intentionally tries to hoodwink his fellow workers into a Jim-Crow outfit doesn't deserve to be respected by his fellow workers. Being a citizen of Los Angeles I am very much interested in the outcome.

"You and the rest of the people, including myself, know the policy of the Los Angeles Tribune. And for the benefit of the soldiers who are on foreign soil, the job of making things right rests on the shoulders of people who can think and see farther than the end of their nose.

"I can't see how a preson who calls himself an American can uphold Jim-Crow ideas when all of us are fighting for a common cause along with our allies. I cannot but have the greatest contempt for the so-called organizer who for a paltry $300 per can try to sell his fellowman something that he himself (the Uncle Tom) understands, is no good.

"When his children will be pushed back and others put in front for good things, then he will be the first to cry to high Heavens for some sort of relief.

"I'd like for him to have to spend a month over here with us when we first got here. Sleeping on the ground and no heat; homesick and God knows what else. Maybe he can see why we don't want segregation of any sort.

"So keep up the good work. We are with you.

"Your pen can do more sometimes than our guns."

Dear David:

Thanks.

A Fair Employment Practice Committee probe of Jim-Crow unionism has been obtained by the thousands of shipyard workers who NEVER accepted the Jim-Crow union and will NEVER ing up very soon.

Until then I think maybe A-35 had better put on three floor shows a day and wear white tail feathers.

After all, when glamour is a guy's only weapon, who can blame him for using it?

Best regards.

John.

"EXODUS"
By Bobby Reedburg

Haunted heart by ecstacies of love.
Haunted soul, condemned from above.

Haunted memories of long lost desire,
Captivated moments that extinguished the fire.

Exotic contemplation that punctures life,
Rough trodden roads fill the hyprosy and strife.

"HAUNTED"
By Bobby Reedburg

You are gone now, there's nothing left,
Nothing but thoughts of you lingering with every breath.

No, nothing but heartaches, memories and tears,
Nothing but the sting of your lips echoing through the years.

The love we shared have withered away,
The vows you made have past with the day.

The tenderness of your voice in a moment of bliss,
Led me to love; but denied me to kiss.

"STARS"
By Bobby Reedburg

Each star is a kiss for night and and the dew its sigh,
Yet when morning comes their romance seems to die.

Ross Snyder Playground Holiday Plans

Ross Snyder Playground directors are planning a gala holiday season with numerous parties, tournaments, games and dances. The traditional community night program will be held Monday, December 8, at 8 p.m. A one-act play, "The Least of These," will be featured.

Wednesday, December 13, is the date for the children of the lower grades from Nevins Avenue School. The children will engage in games and contests and will be entertained by a Puppet Show.

In addition to the parties given by the various Youth Clubs meeting at Ross Snyder, there will also be dances for "Teen Agers" on Friday, December 15, Friday, December 22, and Friday, December 29.

The Ross Snyder Basketball League will start their season December 26.

After School Program Open At Foshay

An excellent program of extra-curricular activities is in progress at Foshay Junior High School. These activities take place after school and something is going on every day of the week. The playground is open from 3 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. each day and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. From Monday to Friday pupils may remain after school to take part in clubs or sports.

Girls and boys may take their choice of tennis, swimming, football, tumbling, and square dancing. Mr. Otis Paden and Mrs. Esther Hunt have a square dance club which meets on Wednesday afternoons. At the recent Hi-Jinks assembly the square dancers were one of the featured dance groups.

Eastside Settlement Notes

Eastside Settlement Children to appear on Televison Thursday, December 21, at 9 p.m., over KTTV, Channel 11. The following children from the Settlement are appearing on the Ralph Edwards Show—"Truth and Consequences": Maurice Crosby, Alyce Jordan, Pearl Jordan, Ruth Jordan, Fred Hill, Doris Bates and Anthony Rae Hicks. We are indebted to Mrs. Lulu Hall, a neighbor, who took the children to Hollywood for the performance.

Mothers Club — A Christmas party is being planned for the children and youth of the Settlement by the following members of the Mothers Club: Mrs. Louise Brooks, Ezzie Bates, Edna Bradford, Drucilla Casey, Molsie Sims, Clarice Johnson, Maxine Gibbs, Juanita Allen and Mrs. Edna Crutchfield.

A party for all children under 11 years of age will attend the party Friday, December 29, at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Drucilla Casey is the chairman of this party.

The same day plans are to have all the teenage boys and girls at 7:30-9:30 p.m. Mrs. Edna Crutchfield is the chairman for the Teenage party.

NAACP Youth Execs Plan Elections

The Los Angeles NAACP Youth Council met Friday, Nov. — at its regular executive meeting to discuss, among other things, the elections of new officers for the coming year. A nomination committee was set up to bring in proposals for the next general meeting to be discussed and acted upon at that time. Chairman of the election committee is Clarence Young.

The NAACP Youth Council has, in the year, brought new confidence to the Negro Youth of Los Angeles in their fight for freedom and equality, and pledges themselves for greater accomplishments in the coming period.

All young people interested in participating in the councils are urged to become members.

YMCA Pals Night Fri., Jeff Hi

To honor fathers and sons or mothers and sons, 28th Street YMCA will celebrate Pal's Night at Jefferson High School, Friday night, December 1.

This annual event promises to set new records in attendance and program. George Dickerson, line coach at UCLA will be the main speaker. Gridiron stars from UCLA, Whittier and Loyola will be guests of honor.

The turkey dinner will be prepared by chefs from the Dining Car Cooks and Waiters Association. Musical and comedy stars from stage, screen and radio will entertain. Reservations are being received at the High School, the Junior High Schools and most of the elementary schools in the area as well as at the 28th Street YMCA.

Ya know somethin???? someone, who calls he, she or itself the creeper, realizing the complete emptiness of the column these past weeks, sent in a bit of news. Just thought that by telling ya this I might be able to shame you into, perhaps, sending in a few words. . . . Even though it's winter you had better take out your swim suits and try them on for size, cause I'm telling ya tears will be flowin like wine. Hold your breath, alas!!! Joe Rouzon has joined the Air Force. . . . Bill Thompson, just who did you bring to the Chi-rho meeting last week?? Because I have a wee bit of mercy in my heart, I won't mention her name. Try teasing me again and watch if rigor mortis doesn't set in. . . . The love bug seems to be bitting James Scott and Billy Faye. Might even result in marriage . . . 'Tis for sure that Frank Hightower has a terrific crush on Mary Walton. . . . Fred Arnad has gone to the Lone Star Republic, Texas. Well gals, that's one 50 Ford that you won't be riding in for awhile. . . . Louie Ash has his heart captured by a little girl called Lou Ann Snooks, over at Manual.

Party A-brewin

St. Patrick is gonna give a swoonderful little hop this coming Saturday, I think. The admission is about 50c. I'd say that price is terrifically low, for so wonderful a time to be had. About the time???? Your guess is as good as mine.

Jody Clark isn't doing so bad with Buster. Why!!! just the other nite he bought her a beautiful collection of pearl accessaries. . . . After having his heart broken, Edward Jernigan signed up for overseas duty. Booker has been recently making his home over at Belmont. They say his primary reason is Jo Ann Marshall.

Lover Boy

Because of the genious judgment of Dorothy Johnson, Andrew McGlover is this week's lover boy. He is 6 ft., weighs 150 lbs. has brown eyes, and black hair and is a student over at Jeff. His ambition??????, girls, of course.

Charles Holmes' present heart throb is a little girl on West Vernon. Think she goes to Manual.

Ascot Sixth Grade Pupils To Visit Bank

Members of the Ascot School sixth grade class of Mrs. Mary Gardner made a tour of the Avalon and Vernon Branch of the Security-First National Bank, on Wednesday, November 29, as part of a social studies lesson.

Accompanying the children in addition to their teacher, will be Richard S. Moore, Assistant Supervisor of the Thrift, Conservation, and School Savings Program of the Los Angeles City Schools.

In addition to the above class, children from other grades who are planning to open a new school savings account also made the trip.

During the course of the tour, which will be handled by Manager E. J. Benton and his staff, the youngsters were allowed to enter the vault and see the safe deposit boxes, and will be taken behind the counters to see how the bank business is carried out.

After returning to school the children had a discussion about their trip in preparation for a written essay about what they had learned at the bank. The children also plan to make oral reports, posters, and write letters of appreciation to the Manager of the bank.

Olympia PTA

Olympia Council will hold its regular meeting Monday, Dec. 4, in the auditorium of John Muir Jr. High School, 5929 S. Vermont Avenue. Presidents of the 20 PTA units comprising the council will convene at 9:30 a.m. and at the same hour, Mrs. William Tivnen of Bell, Mrs. C. S. LeCain of Huntington Park, and Mrs. Walter Welday of Los Angeles will conduct a publicity work shop for all unit publicity chairmen including record book and clipping chairmen.

The general session will begin at 10:30 a.m. with Mrs. C. C. Wahlquist, council president, presiding. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Walker, who announces that the John Muir orchestra will play an overture under the direction of Mrs. Josephine Bowlus. The Girl's Glee Club will also render several numbers and a Christmas reading by a student of the school will be featured. Luncheon, which is by reservation, will be served after the meeting.

C'm'ty Sing at Canaan

Canaan Baptist Church, 1182 E. 35th Street, is striving to make Sunday, Dec. 3, an unusually fine day with a powerful gospel sermon being delivered at both the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services by one of the best gospel preachers on the Coast.

At 3 p.m. a special community song service will be led by that inimitable gospel singer, Madame Mary Collier. Come early, bring a friend and enjoy a great treat.

Antioch Church News

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Class No. 5 was the banner class in Sunday school in attendance, Mrs. Hatley, teacher; and Class No. 2 was the banner class in offering, Mrs. J. Roberson ,teacher. W. M. White is the superintendent of the Sunday school.

Rev. R. N. Holt and Mrs. Holt have returned from their vacation which they spent visiting in the East. Rev. Holt brought a soul-stirring message, illustrated with blackboard drawings, at the 11 a.m. service. These sermons are becoming so popular that many persons leave their home church to come and enjoy them.

The Senior and Junior Missionary Societies gave a surprise to the assistant pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Smith, on Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. E. M. Lawrence, 1126 East Monroe Street.

The young women of the church had their regular third Sunday program on Sunday night.

Mr. J. H. Wormly and Mr. F. H. Roberson are recovering, although still on the sick list.

"The Slabtown Convention," a play given by the Pastor's Benevolent Society, went over in a big way, Friday night, Nov. 17. A total of $28 was raised on this occasion.

Services For James Alexander, Philanthropist, Held Last Week

Funeral services for the late James Alexander were held on November 22 at the Angelus Funeral Home. Mr. Alexander died on November 16. He had lived in Los Angeles since 1887.

The deceased was born in Austin, Texas, on October 30, 1866, the son of William M. and Fannie E. Alexander. Deprived of the opportunity for formal education because of the death of his father, which made it necessary that he get to work at an early age, James Alexander nevertheless had an insatiable appetite for knowledge.

Studies

With every spare hour, he attended night school, studying such subjects as bookkeeping, finance, history, law, and philosophy. He worked as a janitor, handyman and as a waiter as he sought higher education.

A Republican, the deceased was a natural crusader for the rights of man. An avid baseball enthusiast, he organized the Afro-American baseball league. He also organized the Charles Sumner Marching Club.

When the United States Internal Revenue office was opened here, James Alexander was recommended for the position of cashier. President Taft accepted the recommendation and Mr. Alexander held the post for 17 years. At the time of his appointment he was the elevator operator and janitor at the Boston Store, now J. W. Robinson's. J. W. Robinson posted the bond necessary for the position.

Through his political influence the late Mr. Robinson brought about the appointment of the first Negro clerk in the State House, the first Negro clerk in the State Harbor Commission, the first Negro woman in the post office, the first Negro clerk in the County Recorder's office, and the first Negro clerk in the city of Los Angeles. He also secured hundreds of lesser jobs that were ordinarily unavailable.

A self-made man, the late James Alexander gave the best he had and was known as a philanthropist.

Surviving him is his wife, Mattie Ray Alexander, whom he married in 1944 following the death of his first wife in 1940. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery.

INFINITESMAL DECIMAL

I've seen some things that were tiny,
Minute or exceedingly fine;
But none so small as the fraction
On the gasoline station sign.

Thanksgiving Day, it turns out, was so-named because on that day thanks are given by the local merchants because the following day starts the Chrismas shopping season.

Designers of men's clothing have cut out the use of coin pockets (formerly watch pockets) in men's jackets and trousers. How could they have known my current financial status?

Perhaps the National Planning Administration cracked down on the construction of new theaters because of the use of such huge quantities of building materials in "Copper Canyon," "Glass Mountain" and "Asphalt Jungle."

A local film fan columnist recently told about one Nevada Smith who wore a 120-carat dazzler on her finger at one of the bistros. I've seen 3-carat dazzlers that looked like small flashlights. How does one carry 120 carats—with ice thongs?

UNUSUALLY UNUSUAL

I don't mind if the weather's unseasanable,
But why does it have to be unreasonable?

Those of us who have paid homage (paid, anyhow) to the great goddess, Roulette, realize that the only time the banks are broken in Reno is when the Truckee River does it.

In the movie "Go for Broke" the GI's from the Islands prove to be typical soldiers. They aren't adverse to an occasional short snort, they're partial to a well-turned ankle and they go for the ukulele. In other words, they like Hawaiian women and song.

If he were alive today, V. I. Lenin would undoubtedly speak of television as the myopia of the masses.

Dispatches from Korea tell of bitter cold winds sweeping "down from Siberia" onto so-called United Nations troops. Shortly a resolution will be introduced into the Security Council by one of the smaller nations labeling these winds as aggressors and demanding that they withdraw immediately across the Yalu River. If, on the other hand, the winds prove to be from the Gobi Desert, it will be tied in with the Formosa debate. And, finally, if they are from India's Himalyan Mountains, let's just forget all about it.

Att'y Denton Will Speak At First Baptist

Attorney Marshall Denton, well known for his brilliance of delivery and logical thinking, will be the speaker at a community meeting Wednesday evening, December 13, at the First Baptist Church, 94th and Zamora Ave. A pioneer resident of Central Gardens, the neighbors have followed his successful career with a great deal of interest.

The meeting is being called by Mrs. Idell A. Bateman in the interest of organizing for business. All neighbors and friends are invited to attend. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

Mother Stewart Home

Rev. Mother M. M. Stewart, pastor of the church at 4112 Avalon Blvd., has returned to the city and welcomes the public to her services every Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.; Sunday School every Sunday, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.; 11 a.m., regular service, and evening service from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Baha'i World Faith

"The Walls Came Tumbling Down" is the subject on which Mr. Donald Witzel will deliver his lecture at the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, December 3, at 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. Witzel says, Baha'u'llah stated 75 years ago, "Soon will the present day order be rolled up, and a new one spread out in its stead."

Letter from Canada

Madonna House,
Combermere, Canada.

Dear Friends in Christ:

May His peace be always with you! Before us still are the ways and means of learning to know God so as to love Him more and serve Him better. . . . Hence the need of a Catholic lending library almost everywhere, in each parish, town, village, hamlet. . . .

When we open a new branch of Friendship House, the first thing we do is install shelves and beg money for books. . . . You should do the same. . . . Without books any outline on Catholic Action remains sterile. . . . So, how about it?

In His Infinite Charity,
Sincerely,
CATHERINE DOHERTY.

NEGROES ALERT IN RE-ZONING

Negroes Need Representation In The Congress Of The U. S.

The State Assembly Interim Committee on Elections and Re-apportionment will hold an open hearing on Congressional Re-apportionment on Friday, Dec. 8, 10 a.m., at the State Building, First and Spring streets.

Southern California is entitled to at least three more Congressmen. Nearly every citizen in our community is agreed that a united effort must be made to obtain the kind of re-apportionment of the 14th Congressional District which will make possible the election of a Negro to the U. S. House of Representatives.

For this purpose, the Rev. H. A. Marion and Rev. H. Mansfield Scott have invited a representative number of community leaders to attend a lunch Thursday noon, Dec. 7, at the Downbeat Grill, 4201 S. Central Ave., where a discussion will be held and widest possible agreement on re-apportionment will be reached.

The California Eagle urges every voter and community leader to attend and speak out at the public hearing set by the State Assembly Interim Committee on Elections and Re-apportionment at 10 a.m. Dec. 8 at the State Building.

Only full participation by voters can guarantee a Congressional District designed to make possible the election of a Negro to Congress, who can truly represent the citizens of the community.

Four-Power Peace Conference Proposal Urged On Truman

The three top national officers of the Committee for Peaceful Alternatives joined this week in urging President Truman's acceptance of Britain's foreign minister Bevins' proposal of a four-power conference which would include the Soviet Union in an effort to seek a peaceful solution to the world crisis.

Cease Fire

The telegram issued by Prof. Robert J. Havighurst, chairman of the board of the National Committee, University of Chicago, condemned the threat to use an atomic bomb in Asia and urged instead an immediate unconditional cease-fire in Korea. He was joined by Prof. Kermit Eby, co-chairman, University of Chicago, and Dean John B. Thompson, co-chairman, Rockefeller Memorial Chapel, University of Chicago.

President Truman's disclosure that the decision to use atomic weapons would be left to the military drew the fire of the leaders of the Committee for Peaceful Alternatives. "Decisions affecting our people and the peoples of the world must not be made on the battlefield. We urge an immediate return to the traditional American concept of the priority of a democratic civilian government over the military in the conduct of foreign and military affairs."

The Committee for Peaceful Alternatives is an organization of religious leaders, scientists and cultural figures with more than 100 local committees in 30 states. Thomas Mann is honorary chairman.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

On Thanksgiving morning, November 23, 1950, I left Los Angeles early by auto for San Francisco. At the wheel was Pauletta Fears, who not among women drivers, but among all drivers is tops.

The 451 miles linking Los Angeles with San Francisco was made in less than eight hours.

We spent Thursday night at the Carver Hotel at 16th and Market streets in Oakland, and left the next morning for San Francisco and the California Labor School, where I was to be part of a two-day celebration.

My first engagement at the school was Friday evening at 8 o'clock, hence I had a few hours to spare.

In planning the San Francisco trip, I included a visit to San Quentin prison.

Over a long stretch of years I have corresponded with Wesley Robert Wells, a prisoner at San Quentin.

Wells was first admitted to the prison on a three-year self-defense murder charge. Unfortunately for young Wells, he was not the kind who would be kicked around, even in prison, just because he was an American Negro.

So Wesley Wells, it seems, like most American Negroes, in and out of prison, had to fight to live the life of a despised prisoner.

From reports that have leaked out of San Quentin from time to time, Wells, because of his keen perception, militant attitude, and higher degree of intelligence over the average prisoner, white or Negro, became the target for hate and attack by the prisoners' guards.

On an occasion when he had been brutally attacked and beaten by a guard, it is said that Wells in defense threw a cuspidor at the guard.

The man was not injured. But for this act Wells was re-sentenced and sentenced to death.

Until a few weeks ago he has been in death row, according to prison regulations. However, even that order has been changed for Wesley Robert Wells.

Recently, according to an investigation made by the San Francisco Civil Rights Congress, 13 unarmed, unresisting inmates of the San Quentin death row were brutally slugged by guards when they asked for lights after midnight to aid them in preparing their own defense briefs, pen and ink to prepare the briefs, screens in their windows, better food and more time for exercise.

When these requests were denied, the prisoners staged a sit-down strike.

As a result they are on the same old diet of four slices of bread each day, water and a "smelly vitamin slab." And they are placed in solitary confinement.

Under such circumstances it was impossible for me to achieve my long-cherished desire to visit Wesley Robert Wells in San Quentin prison.

I was glad, however, to have a pleasant visit with Festus Coleman, who is serving his last lap of some nine years in the famous northern California prison.

I am not one to think and say that all Negroes convicted of crime and imprisonment, are innocent. But because of a thorough investigation of the two cases mentioned here, I am prone to believe that both Wells and Coleman are victims of circumstantial evidence, induced TOMORROW'S LEADERS—Strong, sturdy, young healthy bodies are being built daily at Polly's Playhouse and Child Care institution, 1926 South Oxford. Under the strict supervision of registered attendants, with efficient and competent nurses to care for your child, Polly's Playhouse is one of the best equipped Child Care nurseries of its kind in the city. Under the direction of Pauline Parks, well-known Los Angeles businesswoman, the nursery features a spacious playhouse and recreation parlor as well as play and study room. At Polly's Playhouse your child gets the best care obtainable. Resident or day care for your child. If you live on the outskirts of town (and work in the city) you can drop your child off at Polly's Playhouse on your way to work and pick him up on your way home. Suzette Harbin is sponsoring a Benefit for this interracial nursery school on Sunday, December 10 from 4-11 p.m., at 1926 So. Oxford. Refreshments, music, and entertainment will be featured throughout the evening. Funds will be used to obtain a television set and other equipment.

Willie Johnson Faces Trial On Rent Excesses

Bay Area Citizenry Honors Eagle Editor in Four Day Institute for World Peace

By Phyllis Scott

In the interest of peace and friendship between the American and Soviet peoples, the California Labor School of San Francisco featured Charlotta A. Bass, EAGLE editor, in a two day institute last weekend. The distinguished American woman of the press and public life addressed several thousand enthusiastic people on her impressions of a recent trip to Europe and the Soviet Union.

Participating on the Friday evening forum Mrs. Bass spoke on "I Saw the Soviet People" giving first hand impression of the trip followed by a question and answer period. The following day a motorcade was held in Oakland under the auspices of the Civil Rights Congress protesting federal imprisonment of Lt. Gilbert.

The Fillmore IPP club honored Charlotta Bass as special guest at their afternoon reception and again, that evening she was honored at a banquet, served by Mrs. Alia T. Washington, IPP candidate from Berkeley for State Comptroller.

At the 33rd anniversary celebration of the Soviet Union held in the California Labor School auditorium, Mrs. Bass made a talk on American-Soviet friendship in original costume. A musical pageant was dramatically presented depicting the history of Russia since the revolution.

"The Negro People and the Fight for Peace" was the theme of Mrs. Bass' address at Third Street Baptist Church pastored by Rev. Haynes on Sunday morning in San Francisco. That afternoon she was honored guest at a reception given by the American-Russian Institute there. In the evening she addressed a capacity audience at Cooper Union Church, which is pastored by Rev. Fonoroy, delegate to the Second World Defenders of the Peace Congress at Warsaw.

The Wesley Wells case was the main topic discussed at the San Francisco Mass meeting sponsored by the Civil Rights Congress on Monday evening. Preceeding that meeting Mrs. Bass spoke before the ILWU Scalers union on "rallying the Negro and white workers to unite in the fight for peace, better wages, and better living conditions."

Borough Issues Statement On Korean Crisis

Reuben W. Borough, state chairman of the Independent Progressive Party, this week issued a statement on the current crisis in Korea, part of which follows:

"General MacArthur's special communique asking for further instructions from the United Nations is a full admission that a solution of the situation in Korea by military means is impossible. The choice lies between a peaceful settlement, reached through mediation and negotiation between all of the interested parties, of the extension of the war to Chinese soil and the pre-

Winner of Tuesday's Fight Meets Charles

Clarence Henry, promising young heavyweight who has been seen locally at the Olympic, has been signed by matchmaker Cal Eaton to meet Willie Bean at the Olympic Tuesday night, it was announced yesterday.

The winner of this match will be signed for a title bout with Champ Ezzard Charles, who announced that he will take on the winner without hesitation.

Reports indicate that Reno, Nev., is bidding for the championship match also, but Eaton is confident that he will get it for either the Olympic or Wrigley Field.

Grandmother Discovers Child Pinned Under Abandoned Icebox

A tiny three-year-old girl who had been playing in the back yard of her home with her brother and sister and two neighborhood children was found smothered to death by an abandoned ice box that had apparently fallen across her body. The dead girl is Dianne Davidson, daughter of Clyde and Clarissa Davidson of 1943 E. 124th street.

The little girl and her brother and sister had been left in the care of their grandmother, Mrs. Octavia Bryant, at the 124th street address. Mrs. Bryant said the children were playing with two other children from the neighborhood in the back yard.

The grandmother discovered the body of little Dianne when she went to the yard to check up on the children's activities. An ambulance took the tot to Tweedy Industrial Hospital in South Gate where she was pronounced dead on arrival. The remains were removed to the Smith and Williams undertaking parlor.

Watts Hearing Test Survey Is First In The United States

At a recent meeting of the hearing test survey committee of the Watts Health Council, Mr. Lowell Ruch, Executive Director of the Hearing Center of Metropolitan Los Angeles, told the group that the current community-wide preschool age children's hearing test survey in the Watts district is the first program of its kind ever conducted anywhere in the United States.

Mr. Ruch commended the fine spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm being displayed by local community organizations (such as P.T.A., churches, housing developments, community centers, etc.) who are actively participating in this important child health service.

350 Tests

Mr. Lorenzo Foster, chairman of the survey committee, reported that approximately 350 children between two and six years of age were tested for hearing during the first eight days of testing. Several hearing impairments have been uncovered and plans are already under way to have these youngsters thoroughly

DR. NANCY BULLOCK WOOLRIDGE, grand basileus of the Zeta Phi Beta sorority, led this nationally known organization when it took over the city of New Orleans, December 27-30, for the national convention of the Zetas. Dr. Woolridge is well known for her achievements in the field of education as well as her leadership of the Zetas. She is an English professor at Hampton Institute, and holds a master's degree from Columbia University, and her doctorate from the University of Chicago. Sorors from 175 chapter sent delegates to the national conclave. The theme was: "Democracy, Human Relations, and World Peace."

Vigilante-Like Action Planned To Revive Racial Covenants

Citizens United Incorporated, a lily-white organization dedicated to reviving the restrictive covenants outlawed by the United States Supreme Court, met last Tuesday night at 1818 E. 71st Street. A Rev. W. H. Hampton, presided and quoted from the bible to establish that Negroes are supposed to be separted from whites.

Double Attack

An attorney whose name was given as Van Noren, told the group, "You will have to attack the buyer as well as the seller." It was pointed out that action had been taken against Oscar C. Reichow, a realtor who sold property to a Negro family.

A representative of a real estate firm, whose name is Beatty reported that: "A nigger I have helped on many occasions told me all niggers should be like him, because he is from Georgia and knows his place as a nigger."

Several Groups

Plans were formulated to extend the organization into other districts. Already set up are: The Neighborly Neighbors, The Neighborly Endeavor, The Ministers Association, the Margaret Hess Association and several others. The single purpose of all these groups is to prevent Negroes from moving into certain areas considered restricted by the leaders of the organization, or to force Negroes out by fair means or foul.

Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the local NAACP has announced that his organization will fight every attempt to enforce restrictive covenants in the light of the high court decision. The legal committee of the local branch is planning to act against the methods being used by the Citizens United Group.

Several members of Citizens United group told a California Eagle reporter they feared the organization's main purpose is to inspire violence.

Broadway Federal Sues Howard Over Alleged $70,000 Loss

An action instituteed by members of the board of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association against H. A. Howard, founder and former president-manager, will seek to recover in Superior court some $70,000 which a recent action in federal court failed to esetablish had been embezzled by the nationally-known financier.

Not Guilty

Howard was recently found not guilty on 22 counts of a 24 count indictment charging him with embezzlement and misapporpiration of funds. He was adjudged guilty on two counts which had to do with submitting improper reports to the Home Loan Bank. Attorneys for Howard are appealing the guilty verdict on the two counts.

Attorney Thomas L. Griffith Jr. filed the action on behalf of the Broadway Federal board members. It is charged that Howard carried through several transactions, using funds of the Association, and diverted the profits to his own use. The federal court action was based on a similar premise, and it came to trial after more than a year of extensive investigation.

Not Notified

Howard is still a member of of Board of Directors of the Association, and he stated he was not notified of the meeting at which the determination to file the suit was made. It is Howard's contention that the suit, which has tied up all his real and personal assets including his first certificate of investment as a guarantor for the Broadway Federal, is a spite action prompted by a certain officer of the association.

49th Street School Class Visits Bank

Members of the Forty-Ninth Street School sixth grade class of Mrs. N. Render, are scheduled to make a tour of the Avalon and Vernon Branch of the Security-First National Bank on Tuesday, December 12, as part of a social studies lesson.

Accompanying the children in addition to their teacher will be Mr. Richard S. Moore, Assistant Supervisor of the Thrift, Conservation, and School Savings Program of the Los Angeles City Schools.

In addition to the above class, children from other grades who are planning to open a new school savings account will also make the trip.

During the course of the tour, which will be handled by Manager E. J. Benton and his staff, the youngsters will be allowed to enter the vault and see the safe deposit boxes, and will be taken behind the counters to see how the bank business is carried on.

After returning to school the children will have a discussion about their trip in preparation for a written essay about what they have learned at the bank. The children also plan to make oral reports, posters, and write letters of appreciation to the manager of the bank.

Jeff PTA Hosts To Parents Of B-10 Students

This Friday night, December 8th, the P.T.A. of Jefferson High have invited the parents of all B-10 students to be their special guests for the evening. To check the interest of the parents in the welfare of their children, a roll call will be given at 7:30 in the cafeteria of the school located at 41st and Hooper Ave.

Peace Meeting Phones Truman

A group of ladies attended an afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. Bernice Watkins, 1138 East 88th Place. The discussion was on the vital issue of war and peace, and after a unanimous vote the ladies put through a phone call to Pres. Truman at the White House in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Truman was unable to speak with them but his secretary, Mr. L. P. Hutchinson, received the call nad assured the ladies that their message would be given Mr. Truman at once. The ladies asked for an immediate cessation of fighting in Korea and asked to have the matter mediated in the United Nations. They also told Mr. Hutchinson that they were absolutely opposed to the use of atomic bombs anywhere in the world.

The following ladies were present: Mrs. Vivian Moons, Mrs. Thelma Dill, Mrs. Bernice Watkins, Mrs. Letia Robertson, Mrs. Teresa Jackson, Mrs. Loris Zimmerman, Mrs. Phyllis Thornton, Mrs. Georgia James, Mrs. Ola Newsome, Mrs. Mabel Porter, Mrs. Lulu Johnson, Mrs. Elba Thrutchley.

cipitation of a world-wide conflict.

"President Truman's statement that the A-Bomb might be used, can only be considered in the light of a war that will cost the lives of millions of people. The American people have demonstrated overwhelmingly many times that they do not support its use against any nation, and certainly not against the Chinese people, with whom we have long and traditional ties.

"In this grave hour, we urge that our President act at once to save the lives of American soldiers now in Korea and the peace of the world.

"The initiative is still with the people. We can have peace if we demand it. The President must hear from us immediately."

board members, reports will be given by the chairmen of the various committees as well as the officers of the Branch.

The meeting will begin promptly at 3:30 in order that the voting may begin not later than 5:30, pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution. All members who have paid their memberships 30 days prior to this meeting, or persons whose memberships have been transferred from the National Office, will be entitled to vote and to be elected to office.

All members are urged to bring their membership certificate, receipt or notice, received through the mail, for membership identification purposes.

The SIDEWALK

by racial prejudice on the part of those involved on the white side of the fence.

After my visit with Festus Coleman, I had a lengthy chat with Warden Clinton Duffy, whom I have also known for a goodly number of years.

The warden received me very cordially, but stated that due to the fact that Wesley Wells was in solitary confinement on death row, as much as he would like to, he could not permit me to see him.

Warden Duffy pointed out that he had made many changes which resulted in prison improvements. For the first time in San Quentin history two Negroes now hold important positions on the prison personnel.

The one thing that interested me most was the practice of racial segregation in the prison.

I asked the kindly warden if it had been abolished. "No," was the answer.

The warden said he had tried to stamp out segregation, especially in the mess hall, but was not successful, because both the Negro and the white prisoners wanted it that way.

It was a sad commentary that here in a free world, free and equal rights are denied some Americans, either by lack of application of the Constitution and the by-laws, or racial hatred by some law-making officials in high places.

Some of our senators are calling for the use of the atom bomb to convince the Chinese people that their presence in Korea is an invasion of the UN jurisdiction.

Many of us citizens of the United States who have served our country in times of war and peace, are asking our zealous government officials so concerned about the welfare of the Koreans, seven thousand miles away from our shores, what remedy they have to offer the Negroes, the Jewish people, the political prisoners and the foreign born in this time of suffering because of our racial identity, our political views, or our accidental birth in another country.

Detention Of Foreign-Born Without Bail Up To Truman

Sixty-nine prominent Americans this week asked the President to order Attorney General J. Howard McGrath "to grant bail and release immediately to all non-citizens held without bail," as eight non-citizens rounded out their fifth week of detention by the Justice Department in Los Angeles, Seattle, Duluth and Detroit.

Signers of the open letter to President Truman, released by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, included Elmer A. Benson, former Senator from Minnesota, Robert Morse Lovett, former Governor of the Virgin Islands, writers Millen Brand, Sara Bard Field, Dashiell Hammett, attorneys Thomas I. Emerson and Francis Fisher Kane, educators Alexander Meiklejohn, A. J. Carlson, Jerome Davis, Albert Guerard, and P. A. Sorokin, and publisher, Haldeman-Julius, together with many other men and women prominent for their contributions to law, affairs.

Your Tax Form Will Be Late

All persons who made federal income tax returns last year in Southern California will, as usual, receive by mail copies of the forms for use in reporting their incomes for 1950. However, instead of receiving them in early December, as heretofore, they will not be distributed until about January 2.

Robert A. Riddell, collector of internal revenue, states that due to the late delivery of income tax forms to his office, accountants and others who are accustomed to obtaining them in quantities will probably not be able to secure their supplies until after December 15.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson appeared in court for Johnson for setting of the trial date. Johnson is the owner of four apartments located at 1125 East 24th Street. The aggregate amount of the overcharge is said to be in the neighborhood of $1,625.

Those slated to appear as government witness against Johnson include: Edna Sampson, Ben and Eola Coley, Delores Lamb, Jack Clemete, Cora Capura and Mrs. Jules Langhome. The seventh witness, Rosa Belle Wallace, Johnson claims, he has satisfied all her claims. In addition Johnson declares he has a judgment for $140 against Mrs. Wallace.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the eighth installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, detailing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' visit of three European countries—France, Csechoslovakia, and Russia.

I was intrigued by the wholehearted approach of Russian women in every endeavor for the re-building of the country. I drove across what is designated Old Russia, and then New Russia. Everywhere I saw women at work, shopping, driving jeeps, digging foundations for new homes, and street sweeping.

In Moscow I was particularly interested in the role of women in education and industry, and in the opera.

Now I had seen them crowded in the shops, buying every day. There seemed no end to spending in Moscow. Daily the shops are crowded, mostly with women.

I had seen women in high positions in the educational institutions. I had seen them competing with men in all the industries.

The big event of life in Moscow had arrived. I was to see the opera.

The first thing I discovered about the opera in Moscow was that those who attend do not go to display their finery. They are interested in the art. Even young school children know the history of the production.

What I saw my evening at the opera in Moscow is indescribable. The curtain went up on a stage of more than a thousand performers in the most gorgeous costumes I had ever seen. But my attention was drawn to the audience. I saw factory workers, sales people from the shops, and farmers in their street and work apparel, all seated together enjoying the opera.

In the audience also were many Chinese, Japanese, Koreans, Indians, and many, many other Asian peoples.

People of all nations were there. They rubbed elbows. They enjoyed the wonderful opera together. Not one looked askance at another. For they were friends and neighbors in the Soviet Union, the land that insists that all men are equal in fact as well as in theory.

Perhaps this friendly feeling in the audience, as well as the goodwill that emanated from the one thousand actors on the stage helped me to enjoy the play as much as anything—the wonderful singing, the gorgeous costumes, all things that made this a wonderful evening.

At another time I saw an interpretation of "Dombey and Son"—altogether different from what we usually think of it. It showed the background of the drab English business deals, the frustration, the inner rebellion against conditions which at that time could not be resolved. This, too, was a thoroughly enjoyable play.

spreading and to assert independent British policy. We cannot tolerate the extension of war at the request of General MacArthur," it continued.

The statement supports the proposals of the Second World Peace Congress and calls on the British government "to withstand all United States pressure for extending the war and to take the initiative in calling a meeting of the five great powers to settle outstanding differences."

ALBANIA LOOKS TO FUTURE

On November 29, Albania, the smallest of the people's democracies, celebrated the sixth anniversary of her independence. This small country—until recently regarded by bourgeois pedants as some kind of European curiosity, a far-away and inaccesible Balkan state inhabited by half-savage, illiterate herdsmen, where there was not even a railway and where women veiled their faces—has now taken on a new significance. The Albanian people have passed directly from yesterday to tomorrow. In this country, where six years ago feudalism still reigned, the people, inspired by the great October Revolution, are enthusiastically building socialism.

For 500 years the Albanian people suffered the bitterest oppression. But this small heroic nation never ceased to fight for liberty. Unconquerable even under foreign domination, it preserved its national culture, its unbreakable will for independence. On November 29, 1944, the country was completely liberated.

BRITISH SOLDIERS NEEDED IN MALAYA

LONDON—Lieutenant-General Sir Harold Briggs chief of military operations in Malaya, has demanded in a report to Colonial Secretary Griffith that no further contingents of British troops be sent to Korea while the present "catastrophic situation" continues in Malaya.

Briggs said that "Malaya can be lost to Britain if effective measures are not immediately adopted" to suppress the "rebels," who, he says, have greatly increased numerically and become more experienced in military operations since last year.

CHINA'S REPRESENTATIVE SPEAKS TO U.N.

PEKING—At the meeting of the U.N. Security Council held November 28 at Lake Success to discuss China's charge of U. S. armed aggresison on Taiwan, Wu Hsiu-chuan, representative of the People's Republic of China, addressed the Council at length, solemnly charging the U. S. armed aggression against Taiwan and putting forward the following three proposals:

(1) That the U.N. Security Council openly condemn, and take practical steps to apply severe sanctions against the U. S. Government for its criminal acts of armed aggression against Taiwan, the territory of China, and for its armed intervention in Korea;

(2) That the U.N. Security Council immediately adopt effective measures to secure the complete withdrawal by the U. S. Government of its forces of armed aggression from Taiwan;

(3) That the U.N. Security Council immediately adopt effective measures to secure the withdrawal from Korea of the armed forces of the U. S. and all other countries and to leave the people of North and South Korea to settle the domestic affairs of Korea themselves.

A-BOMB THREAT BRINGS PROTEST

LONDON — Truman's press statement concerning the proposed use of the atom bomb in Korea has produced quicker and more widespread protest from Labor members of parliament than anything which has occurred for several years.

More than 100 of them immediately signed a letter to Premier Attlee saying that if the bomb were used Britain should withdraw her forces from Korea and if this were not done they would withdraw their support from the government. The signatories included Alice Bacon, chairman of the Labor Party and three other executive members.

This sensational letter was written at a time when crowds of voters were lobbying the House of Commons and when throughout Britain in the streets and on buses, in factories and in homes, people were saying "Truman has gone mad."

Britain's capitalist press does not come out against the use of the atom bomb. On the contrary, the Daily Express warmly supports Truman's threat to use the bomb. All the papers take pains to emphasize that any misunderstandings and split in Anglo-American relations should be avoided by all possible means.

GERMAN PEOPLE AGAINST REMILITARIZATION

BERLIN—The fight of the German people against the remilitarization of their country is growing daily, and to such an extent that the bourgeois West German press is being forced to take account of the feeling of the broad masses of the population.

West German youth, too, is calling for the maintenance of peace. The "Frankfurter Zeitung" writes about the result of a poll which was organized by a branch of the "International Union of the Christian Working Class Youth." Results showed that 71 per cent of those questioned are decisively against the remilitarization of Western Germany.

Even former German officers on whose "military willingness" American warmongers are placing their hopes, are refusing in increasing numbers to be part of American aggressive interests against the Soviet Union.

PARIS—Women all over the world celebrated the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Women's International Democratic Federation this first week in December.

It was founded December 1, 1945, in Paris. On November 30 the world headquarters in Paris held a reception for the women in Paris who were on their way home from the Peace Conference in Warsaw. There was also a gay soiree on December 3 at the Salle Pleyel, scene of the first World Peace Congress.

PEKING TIBETANS SUPPORT LIBERATION

PEKING — Tibetans are expressing profound support for the recent proclamation on the peaceful liberation of Tibet issued jointly by the Southwest Military and Administrative Committee and the Southwest Command of the People's Liberation Army, and also for the joint declaration of the democratic parties on November 4.

In a letter to the Peking "People's Daily," Chi Chin-mei, Tibetan representative, states that "We Tibetans firmly and sincerely back this joint declaration with effective action. We Tibetans are giving the People's Liberation Army all-out support for the early liberation of the whole of Tibet."

PEKING PUBLIC UTILITIES

PEKING — Peking's public utilities have made remarkable progress in the past year, and the citizens in Peking enjoy efficient public services such as they have never had before.

About 110 trams run daily on the city's circular tram route and other lines, carrying sometimes as many as 250,000 passengers a day. They are punctual and run to a strict schedule. Trams are kept very clean and the tram workers vie with one another in their efforts to provide an efficient service. Fares are low. The number of people using trams rose from two and one-half million in January to five million in October.

Under the Kuomintang, the city's tram company was run most inefficiently. People had to wait half an hour or more for a tram. Breakdowns were common and fares were high. The number of passengers rarely exceeded 100,000 monthly.

U. S. TO TAKE OVER INDIAN PROVINCE

BOMBAY — An entire Indian Province is to be placed at the disposal of a United States manganese-prospecting firm. It is the Province of Crissa, whose government has granted prospecting rights throughout the province to the firm.

United States interests are frantically seeking to control and exploit India's manganese resources, which after those of the Soviet Union are the richest in the world. Manganese is an essential ingredient for high quality steel.

The progressive press here comments that Indian big business is eager to feed the American war machine," but adds that "to India's millions the war preparations bring ruin."

SLAVE LABOR IN INDIAN DIAMOND MINES

BOMBAY—Outright slavery in the diamond mines of the Penna District of Vindhya Pradesh in Indian is exposed by the Indian "National Standard."

The newspaper describes how the labor force for the mines is drawn from certain backward tribes in the district. A young man is purchased with a "loan" of 100 rupees to get married.

The man and his wife are thereupon condemned to lifelong slavery, for it is impossible for the worker to repay the loan at a male wage of 10 annas daily and a female wage of eight.

Children of four or five years of age work in the mines, which are primitive technically. Last August seven workers were buried alive when a mine collapsed.

The owner of the mine is president of the Panna District Congress Committee.

BUDAPEST, Hungary — At a ceremony honoring the 125th anniversary of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Soviet Dubinin, one of the many leading representatives of the scientific world who attended the celebration, presented a large number of important scientific books from the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

TITO IN ATLANTIC PACT

NEW YORK—In their recent talks with Yugoslav Foreign Minister Kardelj, State Secretary Acheson and British UN delegates Sir Gladwyn Jegg increased their pressure to bring Yugoslavia into the Atlantic Pact. American and British diplomats in Belgrade have also been pressing Tito to accept this demand.

SOFIA—The Turkish press has reported a big currency smuggling scandal involving officials of the American Military Mission to Turkey and the Marshall administration.

ROME, Italy — The General Confereration of Italian Labor will conduct a national crusade against misery under the slogan, "No Italian without bread this winter." More than 3,500,000 persons are listed as "poor" in Italy.

WARSAW, Poland — Joliot-Curie, chairman of the World Partisans of Peace, spoke for almost one and one-half hours at the Second World Peace Congress before 2000 delegates from all parts of the world.

No part of Curie's speech was listened to with such attention as when he asked, "Why should humanity not organize the struggle against such scourges as cancer and tuberculosis with the energy now being applied to war preparations?"

WARSAW, Poland—Eleven Americans were elected to the presidium of the World Peace Congress. They are: Howard Fast, noted writer; Paul Robeson, the famous American Negro actor, singer and artist; Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, noted philanthropist and educator; Prof. Fletcher, member of the atom bomb project in New Mexico; Dr. Kingsbury, New York; Charles Howard, Negro lawyer from Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. Theresa Robinson, of the Civil Liberties Committee of the World Brotherhood of Elks; Dr. Willard Uphouse, of the Religion and Labor Foundation and New York chairman of the Committee for International Peaceful Alternatives; Charles Proctor of the Union of Packing House Workers, CIO, Chicago; Helen Johnson, of the Minutewomen of Peace, Boston; and Rev. Robert Muir of Boston.

Charles Proctor is a Negro elected by his Union to attend the Congress. Rightwing leaders asked Philip Murray to prevent his attending the Congress, but he managed to go anyway.

BRITISH POSITION IN MALAYA

LONDON—After two and one-half years' fierce onslaught against the Malayan People's Army the British government is in a worse position than ever. It is for this reason that General Sir Harold Briggs, Commander of the British troops in Malaya, has come posthaste to London for discussions with the British Colonial Secretary, and to press for more men and arms to be sent to Malaya.

A. P. Foster Sutton, the Officer Administering the Federal Government, told the Legislative Council that the casualties inflicted on the guerrillas "had no decisive effect. There are unfortunately generally made good by recruitments." He added that there were no signs of an imminent break in the morale of the Malayan People's Liberation Army.

FRENCH SUFFER DEFEATS IN VIET NAM

BANGKOK—The fall of the French outpost of Chuphaisan to the Viet Nam People's Army threatens the important French stronghold of Mon Cay only 20 miles away on the East coast of Viet Nam close to the Chinese border. The small triangle formed by the delta of the Red River and anchored in the north by Mon Cay is all of North Nam that remains in French hands and guerrilla fighters are active throughout the delta. Several times recently they cut rail connection between Hanoi, the Northern capital, and its seaport Haiphong.

The deteriorating military situation has forced the French to bring out Emperor Bao Dai in the hope of rousing some support from the Viet Namese people and to raise the morale of Viet Namese collaborators. Bao Dai, after returning in October from a long stay on the French Riviera, immediately took up residence at a remote mountain stronghold in Dalat where he has been spending his time hunting.

FINNISH PUBLIC OPINION FOR PEACE

HELSINKI—In spite of the violent pro-American propaganda of the reactionary press Finnish public opinion is strongly for peace and against General MacArthur. Even indifferent people say that by bombing Manchuria or using the atom bomb the Americans would be responsible for starting world war III.

LONDON — The British Peace Committee warns that "Britain stands in peril" in a statement issued by Vincent Duncan Jones. "Our too great dependence on the United States policy can involve us in a war with China..... People of all parties must draw together to prevent war from

Rossie Elliot Gets Post With Urban League

The appointment of Rossie O. Elliott, 11406 Compton avenue, to the Los Angeles Urban League staff, was announced this week by Wesley R. Brazier, acting executive director.

Elliott, a native Texan, will serve in the capacity of field worker in the Health and Welfare Department. He fills the vacancy created by the leave of absence granted Albert Justice, who was called to active service in the United States Army on November 1.

A veteran of World War II, Elliott is a graduate of Tillotson College, Austin, Texas, with additional graduate study at the University of Southern California.

The new appointee has worked extensively with organized groups. He will devote most of his activity to the southeast Los Angeles district.

Street Repairs Need Sketched By Rev. Owens

Rev. John H. Owens of 1478 W. 37th Street, through the co-operation of Councilman Don Allen of the Seventh Councilmanic District, was able to secure approval for certain necessary street repairs in the Councilman's District and in the neighborhood in which Rev. Owens lives.

Rev. Owens became acquainted with the Councilman through the Southwest Community Committee of which the Rev. Owens has been an active participant for the past several years.

Rev. Owens drew the sketches for the repairs, himself, thus securing earlier action, having studied Civil Engineering at both Los Angeles City College and the University of California at Los Angeles.

Father Moore, Rev. Kingsley And Fred Roberts On Jury List

Father A. Randolph Moore, rector of St. Phillips Episcopal church, the Rev. Harold M. Kingsley, Presbyterion clergyman, and former Assemblyman Fred M. Roberts, a mortician, have been nominated for service with the 1951 county grand jury.

Judge Edwin Jefferson nominated Father Moore, who resides at 1235 Westchester place, Rev. Kingsley, who lives at 2656½ Kenwood Avenue, was nominated by Judge Robert H. Scott, and Fred Roberts, who lives at 350 E. Jefferson Boulevard, was nominated by Judge Jesse E. Stephens.

The names of all three will be placed in the jury wheel early next month along with 143 other be drawn by lot, and 19 of these candidates. A roster of 30 will will be selected by the presiding judge of the criminal division.

Public Workers Ask Council To Obey Charter And Grant Raise

City employees, members of Local 264 of the United Public Workers, filled the City Council chamber last Thursday morning and heard their business agent, Sidney Moore, and leaders of their union ask the members of the Council to grant them a raise in pay to meet the rising cost of living.

Moore, who read a prepared report on salary levels and comparative relationship of salary levels paid the men in his union to those paid workers in private industry, told the Councilmen that many of the employees had to go to Bakersfield and pick cotton to augment their meager incomes from the city. He also revealed that the union furnished clothing for many of the children of members in order that they could continue to attend school classes.

Councilmen Moore, Roybal and Allen led the 10 members of the Council who voted favorably on the question of a raise under a suspension of the rules. Four adverse votes, however, sent the matter to committee.

The Council expressed itself as willing to grant the raise providing members would vote for a sales tax or some other tax measure in order to provide the funds.

It was pointed out that because the salary scale of the workers is far below the standard it is mandatory under the city charter to grant the increases requested. However, it was indicated that the Council will not comply with the charter requirement until a new tax has been voted.

The close to 500 representatives of the city workers who appeared before the Council, took the time off for the occasion. Their jobs were covered during their absence by fellow employees who doubled up their duties.

Thrifty Drugs 100th Store To Open Today

Thrifty Drug Stores reach a milestone this morning at 9:00 a.m., when their 100th store in California is officially opened at Ventura Boulevard and Laurel Canyon Road in Studio City. Thrifty has attained this remarkable growth in the short span of 21 years.

It was in 1929 when the organization opened its first drug store in downtown Los Angeles. Thrifty Drug Stores now extend from Santa Rosa to San Diego and El Centro.

In a commemorative opening of this modern, beautiful drug store, Studio City officials will join with the executives of Thrifty Drug Stores in a formal ribbon cutting ceremony. With Thrifty banners flying, the ribbon will be cut by Lt. Gov. Knight, assisted by Sheriff Biscailuz, both of whom enthusiastically heralded the advent of Thrifty as a "great civic event."

Dorothy Maynor in Successful Concert

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority is to be congratulated on their recent successful sponsoring of the popular concert artist, Dorothy Maynor. The Philharmonic Auditorium was the center of fashionable Los Angeles elite, who turned out in large numbers to hear the melodic offerings of the artist.

Under the chairmanship of Nu Sigma member, Lorenzo Jordan Cole, the concert went off in grand style. Each Soror really did her part to make this occasion an unforgetable experience.

IN OREGON . . . Lillian Randolph along with her sister Amanda, are appearing nitely at one of the top niteries in Oregon. Lillian, however, planes in twice a week for her Gildersleeve show.

Orange Blossom Meeting Held In Clark Hotel

Miss Agnes Payne was hostess to the regular meeting of the Orange Blossom Club of the Daughters Elks of the Hiawatha Temple No. 91 last month. The meeting was held in the beautiful Blue Room of the Clark Hotel, 1821 S. Central Ave. A large number of members were present.

After all of the hostess had been transacted, the members adjourned to the dining room. The table was decorated with the club's colors, yellow and white. The center piece was large luscious oranges, and the hostess presented each member and guest a lovely Gardenia corsage. A delicious turkey dinner was served with all the trimmings, and was enjoyed by all.

The honored guest was Mrs. Esther Greenley, Daughter Ruler of Hiawatha Temple. She gave a very informative talk on Elkdom, and congratulated the members on the progress of the club, which was organized over 18 years ago by the late Mrs. Anna (Mother) Hicks. She was also a charter member of Hiawatha Temple.

Pictures were taken of the members and guests, and the hostess, Miss Agnes Payne, was given a rousing vote of thanks. The next and last meeting in 1950 will be held Thursday afternoon, December 21 at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Rachel Ailey, 738 E. 18th St. Mrs. Kansas Tibbs is president, Mrs. Wilma Martin Mays is secretary and Mrs. Elizabeth Kimbrough is treasurer.

Death entered the club on November 22 and took a loyal member, Mrs. Eva Primmer of 1776 E. 111th Place. Funeral services were held Thursday, November 30 from Macedonia Baptist Church, 111th and Graham Ave. The Orange Blossom Club members extend the deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Report by Lottie Forrester, 1075 E. 33rd St., Los Angeles.

Kappa Scrollers Choose Parkview Manor For "Red And White" Holiday Hop

The Scrollers Pledge Club of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity (Upsilon Chapter) will present the public with a "Holiday Hop" that promises tobe the most outstanding affair of the season, Saturday night, December 16, 9 p.m. until at famous Parkview Manor, 2200 West 7th Street overlooking beautiful Westlake Park.

Few can possibly forget the annual "Red & White" formal and many are sure to remember the coming affair which promises o be the last word in informality. Accent will still be on red & white, in recognition and in honor of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. (All those Kappa men will bethere girls). The Scrollers will swing and sway to the fancies of the ladiesand lend their charming girls to lonely men.

Phyron Taylor and his sensational band will make dancing smooth and fine. Rumors are that all the local high school, college and university socialites will be there enjoying themselves and adding to the pleasures of others. The Scrollers will make this Christmas vacation real white (sprinkled with a little red of course).

Victory Dinner Dance To Honor Mrs. Bass And Her Co-Workers

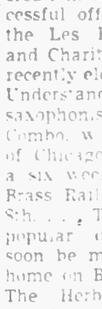
PRIVATE CLUB parties and Benefit occasions will take the day when certain dates in the near future roll around. . . . The Phi-Delphian Social Club has announced that their Annual Christmas Eve Invitational is being revived this year. . . . The LES DAMES will soon be notifying friends of their "March of Cans" affair. Rather unique title fitting the Yuletide Season. . . . LES BEAU DAMES, an active group, have a variety of Christmas plans in the making with a climax of a Gala Invitational New Year's Eve Party. . . . So guys and gals get your "running shoes" ready, for a Gala Holiday Season is on its way!



FASHION TAKES THE DAY

WE CONGRATULATE the women who are featured in this issue as ten of the best dressed women in our estimation. They really deserve honor for smartness, grace, and poise. Top awards go to Doris Jamison, Eloise Davis, Bernice Barnum, Velma Rogers, Helen Wright, Leontyne King, Ouida Williams, Edna Porter, Lena Torrence and Betty Clark.

Not only are these chosen few just connoisseurs of fashion, but they are also accomplished professional and community workers, taking in such work as school principals, elementary teachers, and secretarial fields of endeavor.

VIEWING PEOPLE

AND WHAT fashions reigned over the recent Formal Dance held by the Original Calverettes at the Elks Aud. Club President, Clothilde Woodson was really most outstanding in a clever creation, all white. . . . A successful office term of proxy for the Les Bien Faisantes Social and Charity Club is the wish of recently elected Helen Lomax. . . . Understand that Wardell Gray saxophonist with Count Basie Combo, will enjoy the coolness of Chicago as the group plays a six weeks engagement at the Brass Rail beginning December 5th. . . . The Al Robinson's and popular daughter Joyce, will soon be moving into their new home on Buckingham Road . . . The Herbert Neals enjoyed Thanksgiving vacation with relatives in San Diego, Calif. . . . Clara and Everett Boswell entertained Mrs. Hilda Madrid with a Family Reunion Dinner for the Thanksgiving holiday. Mrs. Madrid (Clara's mother) was thrilled to have her three daughters and two teen-age sons present for the occasion. . . . Popular State College Co-Ed, Bernice Banks informs us that she plans to spend the holiday vacation with her family in Portland, Oregon . . . . Jerry Curtis and young daughter LaNita will spend the Yule-days with relatives of hubby Alfred Curtis, in Lake Charles, Louisiana. . . . Just passing through following "Uncle Sam's" call was Morgan Maxwell. Morgan will be in Fort Ord by the time this is read. Know a certain USC Co-Ed will really miss his charming daily smile. . . . Friends of John Gipson, popular Alpha Man, reports that he is well on his way to the heart of the South, Camp Polk, La. . . . Others to soon answer the call are Otis Williams, and Wilbur and Winston McKesson. . . . Let's all hope for a turn of events that will soon alter grim picture of this fast proaching world conflict. . . . really "feel" for the boys t are continuously leaving circles more and more by week. . . . With this thought wishing, hoping, and prayi for a 'Real Peace,' this is signing off until next week.

THE REPRESENTATIVE 10 IN FASHIONS–FOR 1950

"INDIVIDUALITY" STANDS OUT IN SELECTION OF REPRESENTATIVE TEN IN FASHIONS FOR 1950

Along about this time of year when polls are being taken and the athlete of the year is chosen, when the movie magazines are selecting the most co-operative males and females in the cinema world, and you're going crazy over your Christmas list trying to think what to give your husband's family this year, what better time to divert to fashions and the fashionable women who represent the whole.

According to the largest dictionary in the world, "Fashionable" is defined as: "Conforming in deportment, in dress, and in all the details of social life with the usage of polite society." That definition was good enough for us. So, we set about selecting the ten local women whom we thought personified these characteristics. Some, no doubt, will say they are not the ten best dressed women, but it will be hard not to agree that they certainly combine the required attributes for fashion charm, and as fashionists in the local set, they will be hard to top.

We feel that the ten women we have selected fill one of the first requirements in that they dress as individuals—yet keep an eye peeled to the chic side of fashion. The side that best suits her personality. That we have to admit is a trait women find hard to develop. Simply because a style is the prevailing race, does not mean that we can dash out and don that very idea. But, there is a happy medium if we keep in mind that a personal style is essential. Take the Duchess of Windsor, the center hair part is a trade mark almost, with her. Yet she varies it with a dip or a wave as the mode decrees. The same applies in her choice of smart, plain clothing.

It isn't often a girl in her early twenties gets on a best dressed list, because usually the very young woman hasn't found her "personal style" yet. Her very youngness allows for lots of flexibility in selection. But, as a woman matures, she discovers the type of dress she wears best and the most flattering colors, and builds her wardrobe reputation around these discoveries.

Without more ado, here's our selection of the women who represent the best dressed field and whom you will find photographed for your inspection.

Bernice Barnum was our first choice. As the principal of Nevin Street school she combines so much smartness of appearance in her tailored attire. Not severe, but aiding the little feminine touches that keep in mind her "personal" style. Mrs. Barnum's wardrobe is complete in that she keeps six suits per season (that's four seasons, remember), and in the colors best suited to her complexion and beautifully accents her grey hair. She likes the very dressy dress-up dresses in glamorous materials. An example was the flowing silver lame with the double net overskirt that was her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary gown in which she recently celebrated that occasion as the wife of Gerald Barnum, one of California's pioneers. But we photographed Mrs. Barnum in a dressy brown double breasted suit, tobacco brown calf accessories, a scarf of exquisite baum martins and a pert little dressy hat.

Still holding down one of the ten best dresses spots after nine seasons, Leontyne King is widely recognized for her queenly grace. A former Chicagoan, the wife of Celestus King, local business man and sportsman, Leontyne finds time from helping with their thriving business to being active in the Wilfandel Club and the Independent Scholarship Guild, both Philanthropic organizations. Besides being one of the pretties grandmothers we know (she is particularly proud of her three grandchildren) she always possess a charm that is built around self assurance. Her advice to the fashion conscious woman is first of all figure, namely from skin out be correct, next, color and fabric, and lastly wear your clothes and not let them wear you.

Velma Rogers comes up a second season as a selectee in this group of "fashionists." Women who set the fashions or illustrate them. Eva Wallace Gordon has made Velma Rogers' clothes for some years. Every designer is recognized by the clothes he makes and the women who wear them. Mrs. Rogers believes in giving the credit where the credit is due. Her favorite milliner, Gladys Peoples, came in for her shape of praise as we commented on the very smart matador hat in black hatters plush which she was wearing the day we caught her. Just stepping out of her new futuramic Oldsmobile, Velma was stunning in a black crepe dress with abundant taffeta trim. A straight triple skin silver fox stole, black suede accessories and offsetting the black the smart touch of russet tan gloves. This lady is another busy career woman too, besides running her own busy House of Beauty, she is Staff Beautician at the Angelus Funeral Home.

Mrs. Walter Davis or Elois as she is known to her friends, is a charming wife and mother to three healthy youngsters between the ages of six and eleven. Mrs. Davis feels that a tired man wants to see a pretty woman well dressed and feminine and she is all of that. Her choice of a frock to be photographed in was a tobacco brown tafetta short cocktail dress with a soft fischu of balenciago tulle. She is president of the Jack and Jill Mother's and Children's Club, a board member of Steven's House at U.C.L.A. and active in the Medical-Dental and Pharmaceutical Auxiliary. Still this busy, charming woman finds time to indulge "a little" in her hobby of floral arranging.

No Best Dressed list of women is complete without an actress. Our choice was Lena Torrence, a newcomer to the ranks of the Best Dressed. Miss Torrence has a natural exotic appearance which she knows how to accent with the type of individual correctness in attire that shows off her feminine charms. We particularly liked her in Mae Crowder's "Holiday" suit of black wool with the rows of silk fringe on the pencil slim skirt. She has just finished a film at R.K.O. Pathe Studios, "Tarzan's Peril"; an assignment for Foote and Cone Advertising Agents, and is being featured in a Swedish magazine in an article by Ingrid Hult. Lena has been a cover girl in this country for one of the leadin National magazines and much featured in another. She's on her way to the top in her field.

Betty Clark, wife of hotel man, Horace Clark, is a designer of some of the smartest hats being worn. She has a clothes sense that makes her a standout in a crowd. Recently home from a three month trip throughout Europe with her husband, Betty complimented her already extensive wardrobe with some of the very chic things that European designers are known for. After being fortunate enough to attend all of the invitational Paris showings, Mrs. Clark had the famous bootmaker of Florence, Italy, Ferragammo, make her some exquisite evening slippers. We wanted to know what she had chosen for the Holiday whirl and so for our camera Betty Clark wore a "Carmen" design in white starched cotton lace. Two piece, Bolero and strapless dress, she added her own design in milinery, a white head huging toque of rare Egert feathers. Off setting this already stunning outfit, the jewelry motiff was carried out in a Parisian Rhinestone collar and earring set.

Now we come to the tall, tailored and absolutely stunning wife of Attorney David W. Williams, Ouida. This graceful, poised woman is noted for her preference of the very plainly tailored frock and suit. She is a native Californian, and an Alumna of Los Angeles High School. Her most ardent admirers are her two young sons. At present Mrs. Williams wields the gavel as president of the Lullabye Guild and is a member of the Auxiliary Guild of the Children's Home Society. Does she have a hobby? Of course, "David and the boys."

Another barristers wife was chosen to be among this group of women who lead the fashion parade. She is petite, fragile Helen Wright. Here again we revert back to our original analysis and find an individuality we find most charming and utterly unaffected. We caught Helen just returning from a Christmas Shopping spree and took her as she was. Wearing Christian Dior's Royal Purple Cashmere coat in the three quarter length, with a contrasting skirt in checked wool. Beside being a member of the popular Turn-About Charity Club, Helen Wright does most of her entertaining in the warm months about her beautiful swimming pool. She says she is just a home body and in the beautiful home that she has, one can imagine that as a comparatively easy job.

Dignity and a pleasing personality are the rare combined graces of our next choice, Edna Hammett Porter. Mrs. Porter knows that a woman with her many diversified activities must at all times maintain a deportment and appearance that are an asset, yet hers is a doubly difficult job of selecting the right wearing aparrel. She conducts her own music studio; she is Minister of Music at her husbands church, Progressive Baptist; she is the National Organist of the National Baptist Convention (which means almost annual travel); the staff organist at Angelus Funeral Home; and the National Organist of the National Sunday School and B.Y.P.U. Congress. Yet Edna Porter meets these many duties with a quiet dignity and a feminine approach that mark her as a very fashionable woman. Her choices of smart dark suits and dresses are always set off with the last word in mad hats. And one would never guess her hobby—she collects earrings.

Our last but by no means least is Doris Jamieson, senior student at the University of California at Westwood in the school of Aparrel Designing. Doris is fast making a name for herself with the striking ensembles she has done for herself. Taking all eyes recently, we caught her in a strapeless white satin short evening gown. Featuring the set in flounces at the skirts hem in back, and two huge black velvet bows in the front, the "touch". So there you have it. Our choices of the representative Ten best dressed women in Los Angeles, with their individual style and intepretation of the modes of the day.

MRS. BERNICE BARNUM . . . the typical career woman, agrees that the little details about a woman's wearing apparel is most important. Mrs. Barnum is the Principal of Nevin Street School and the wife of Mr. George Barnum.

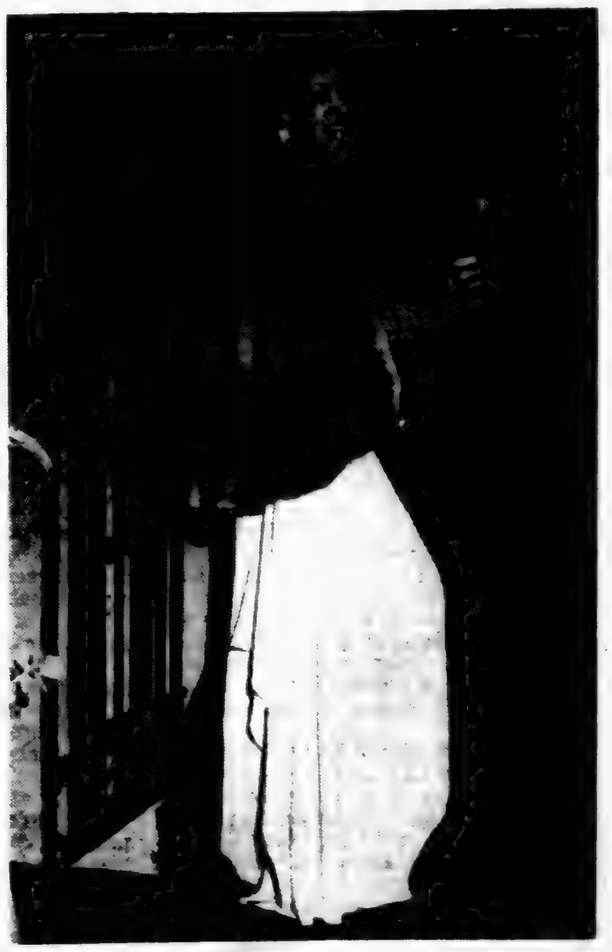
MISS LENA TORRENCE . . . A recent newcomer to the ranks of the best dressed, is the exotic type and manages to always stand out in any crowd. Miss Torrence is well established as an actress and as an instructor of charm.

MRS. VELMA ROGERS . . . caught smiling as she emerges from her automobile in a smart black crepe dress with abundant taffeta trim, a triple skin silver fox stole and a dressy matador hat in black hatters plush. Mrs. Rogers divides her time between her successful Real Estate office and her busy "House of Beauty."

MRS. WALTER DAVIS . . . easily selected among the ten well dressed, is always dressed in good taste, whether it's a luncheon, her various club meetings, a cocktail, or out with her noted husband, Dr. Walter Davis. Here she is shown in a tobacco-brown taffeta short cocktail dress with a soft fischu of balenciago tulle.

MRS. R. B. PORTER . . . opens the door with a pleasing smile as she no doubt leaves for Sunday service at the Progressive Baptist Church, of which her husband, Rev. R. B. Porter, is the pastor. The conductor of her own music studio and Minister of Music at her husband's church, Mrs. Porter always tops her outfit with a stunning hat.

MISS DORIS JAMIESON . . . a senior student at the University of California at Westwood in the school af Apparel Designing, Miss Jamieson feels that there is no particular day in the week for being well dressed. Women should be well dressed at all times.



MRS. CRISPUS WRIGHT . . . the petite, fragile type was snapped by Eagle photographer as she was coming in from a shopping spree, here is shown in a Christian Dior royal purple cashmere coat in the three quarter length with a contrasting skirt in checked wool. Mrs. Wright is the wife of the noted Barrister, Atty. Crispus A. Wright.

MRS. DAVID WILLIAMS . . . Graceful and well poised at all times, believes that a woman's wardrobe need not be expensive but should be practical. Ouida is the wife of Atty. David Williams.

MRS. HORACE CLARK . . . noted milliner and wife of hotel owner Horace Clark, is a designer of some of the smartest clothes and hats ever worn. For the holiday whirl Mrs. Clark will be seen in something with the cocktail flare shown above which is called a "Carmen."

MRS. CELESTUS KING . . . comes back again in sharing honors with those selected as well dressed. Mrs. King always possesses a charm that is built around self assurance. Here she is shown in a white crepe formal with bugle cut beads at the neckline and a soft drapery at hemline, she tops this with a silver blue mink cape.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

A Program For Peace

The Independent Progressive Party, the one political party in the United States which has a definite plan for permanent peace, comes forward now in this grave international crisis and offers a simple plan which can stop the war in Korea and bring our boys out of the mess into which our present administration pushed them.

Says the IPP:

The sudden turn of events of the last few days in Korea has created a critical situation that has brought us to the brink of a possible all-out war with the People's Republic of China.

Having already plunged us into a "hot war" as an interventionist in the internal affairs of Korea and completely stifling the universal aspiration of the Korean people for unification and independence, our government now contemplates "new war plans" which may very well be the start of a world-wide conflict. Already, President Truman and other bi-partisan leadership have voiced strong sentiment concerning the use of the A-bomb and even possible declaration of war.

CONSEQUENCES OF AN INTERVENTIONIST POLICY

What has happened in Korea is something that the Progressive Party freely predicted as possible consequences if we persisted in pursuing the interventionist policy as outlined by the Truman administration and the bi-partisan leadership.

As you recall, it was the firm conviction of the Progressive Party as contained in its previous policy statements on Korea that the interference in the internal affairs of that country, especially with arms, would mean a head-on collision with the universal demands of the Asians and other colonial people who are seeking liberation and independence.

It was our contention that to block such an inevitable course of events, whether it be in Korea, French Indo-China or Philippines, would bring on the wrath of the entire Asian population who are determined to win complete freedom and independence from foreign domination.

POSSIBILITIES FOR PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

We have said all along that the present conflict in Korea can be settled peacefully by mediation provided we accept the basic premise that this is a fight of the Korean people for unification and for an independent government—without Syngman Rhee. We demanded that the United Nations be given the proper authority to negotiate the Korean issue by admitting New [illegible]. Of course, this was never done. [illegible] today, what we warned against [illegible] happened. We are faced with the reality of fighting the entire liberation movement of Asia. Already, the arm-chair generals and the Wall Street warmongers have began beating the drum for an all-out war while President Truman admitted that he has under consideration the possible use of the A-bomb.

WE STAND ALONE

But the most significant development during this critical period has been the relative passiveness on the part of even the Western European countries as well as other Asian nations. It is becoming increasingly clear that it is the United States government alone who is thinking of an all-out war. Even British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin came out firmly with his belief that the peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict is definitely possible while even Prime Minister Attlee has decided to fly to Washington to discuss the critical situation with President Truman directly.

All this has not deterred the forces of reaction in this country who are hell-bent on plunging us into a third World War. And it may very well be within the next few days that the whole course of history will be decided as to whether we shall have peace or war.

PEOPLE'S PROGRAM FOR PEACE

However, what will be major determining factor is to what extent the sentiment of the people can be mobilized to express themselves for peaceful settlement of the Korean issue. This is the task that faces the Progressive Party throughout the country.

Already our party, ever alert to the issue of the day, has started a nation-wide campaign for peace. Our national chairman, Elmer Bensen, has sent a communication to President Truman demanding the peaceful settlement of the issue.

Our minimum demands at this time is the following three-point program:

(1) Immediate cease-fire order to be issued through the United Nations;

(2) Immediate appointment of a special UN commission that would include representatives of the United States and Soviet Union to mediate settlement with South and North Korea as well as New China; and

(3) The A-bomb not be used against the people of either Korea or China.

The IPP urges all who are interested in peace, and especially all of its members, to write or wire President Harry S. Truman, White House, Washington, D. C., and Hon. Trygve Lie, Secretary-General, United Nations, Flushing, N. Y.

Tell these gentlemen that you want peace. Not war. Tell them you expect them as your president and your secretary general in the UN to work unremittingly for PEACE. Not to save our face or the face of any other nation or individual, at the cost of human lives. PEACE is the one and only objective.

Shall We Fight?

The coming of Prime Minister Attlee to this country immediately after President Truman's threat to use the A-bomb on Korea, leads us, the American people, to believe that Europe is not anxious to engage in a war with any country.

Truly we have been a vital part in the two world wars, but not in the same way Europe was involved. We sacrifiecd our soldiers on the battlefields of the world, but unlike Europe our cities were not bombed and destroyed.

In Attlee's country most of the cities and towns bear mute evidence of the meaning of war.

Europe is sick and tired of war.

Senators McCarthy, Brewster, Smith, and Knowland are using every means at their command to whip up a war with Russia. They are saying to this government and to Europe that we are defenseless against an attack by Russia.

"Why," said John McCloy, American occupation chief in Germany, "the Soviets have enough troops in Eastern Germany, right on hand, to put to the Rhine now."

Despite these facts we continue to call for war. Daily we nag at Russia. We have done everything within our power and scope to make Russia strike back in a word battle, but the Soviet Union to all intents and purposes, remains quiet on the subject of war.

We have accused Russia of interference in Korea. But as a matter of fact we have no real evidence of interference. We continue to air our imaginary grievances, however, against the Soviet Union. Almost daily we say to Russia, "Come on. Let's fight."

Just why we are so anxious to engage in a controversy with a bigger nation when we have not been sufficiently strong to settle our differences with little Korea, is beyond the imagination.

Several weeks ago General MacArthur announced to the American people that the fighting in Korea was over. All that was left to be done was to mop up.

Well, today, there is a different story. The fighting seems to be over all right. But instead of us mopping up, we are on the verge of being pushed into the sea.

The agitators of war are more concerned with the wounding of our pride than with the loss of life of our men, who are perishing daily on the bloody battlefields of Korea.

Senators and others who sound off every day calling for the use of the atom bomb, should be given the loyalty test. For they are the disturbers of the peace and the promoters of war. They are the persons in America who are disloyal. Not those who would have peace.

Let My People Go

With the calmness of a gentle breeze sweeping over a grove of willow trees, but nevertheless like the depth of the ocean, Herbert Biberman, just released from a Federal prison in Texarkana, Texas, spoke to the members of the Arts, Sciences and Professions and their friends last Sunday evening at the Embassy auditorium.

The Sunday evening program of songs, dances and skits was the culmination of a two-day session and panel discussion of advancement made and areas to be explored by the Artists, Scientists and Professions.

The entire program was lively and inspiring.

But the climax—Herbert Biberman, one of the Hollywood Ten, came on the stage and was greeted with thunderous applause.

He has just been released from prison, and is reporting to his friends in Los Angeles.

Is Herbert Biberman a bitter man because of his experience?

To this question we would answer, "No."

But Herbert Biberman comes back molded and finished like a highly-polished diamond, made of sterner stuff with a fixed determination to fight harder for the things that will make our world a place where just men may live together in peace. Where freedom of thought will be as uncontrolled as the free air we breathe.

Mr. Biberman told about the books he found in the prison, and the people he met.

One parallel he drew, in a few words, a story not only portraying prison life but life in government ranks and society as we know them.

Two characters. One a government official who had a great deal to do with the incarceration of the Hollywood Ten, and himself, later on became involved in the misappropriation of government funds, that landed him in prison.

The other, a Negro imprisoned for having on his person a pint and a half of whisky he could not account for.

The government official who stole the many thousands is today enjoying his freedom. The Negro, caught with the pint and a half, is still in prison.

Without any effort at dramatizing his prison experience, Herbert Biberman pleaded the case for the freedom of the other eight of the Hollywood Ten still in prison, and for freedom of thought and speech for all Americans with greater eloquence than words can describe.

It was as if the great Prophet of old was standing before the bar of justice, crying aloud to the Pharaoh of that day, "Let my people go! Let my people go!"

TRUTH WILL RISE

It is not surprising that there is so much confusion among people regarding world affairs or national problems in view of the way in which the press deliberately misinforms us. But from time to time they are compelled to tell a bit of the truth, if only to serve their own purposes—as when thieves fall out.

Three recent reports—from Korea, from Germany, and from Michigan—do much to illuminate conditions worldwide.

The dispatch from Korea to the New York Times reveals that though installed in power with full support of the UN, and with his opponents' "broken back," a certain Syngham Rhee "has been unable to win support of a large segment of the population . . ."

Is it not pertinent to ask therefore: Since we knew the North Koreans did not want Rhee ,and now our own observance says that the South Koreans don't want him, what becomes of the U. S. arguments justifying intervention in Korea to "support Mr. Rhee, the legal head of Korea, and to enable the Korean people to determine their own affairs"?

The reports from West Germany show that in two important elections there in recent days, the people decisively rejected the policy of rearming Germany. Where does the U. S. stand then with its fierce insistence on the rearming of Germany as essential to the defense of Europe and the "Western democracies"—when the people of France and Europe and even Germany are so violently opposed to it?

May it not be asked therefore: If the people in whose interests we say we are intervening spurn us and our efforts, does this not indicate that we are not serving their best interests—that, in fact, what we are doing is opposed to their best interests? That maybe what is being done is more in the interests of those who are forcing these programs on the others?

Specifically: It is reported that MacArthur, the general directing the Korean war, owns considerable investments in the Far East, as do other big financiers, in uniform and out. They also own large interests in West Germany and throughout Europe. Might it be interpreted that those who are pushing the war are concerned about their investments? Their policy certainly isn't bringing peace and security to Korea and Germany. What then is its purpose?

On both possible interpretations of the war-mongers' motives, they are wrong. They have no more right in law or morals to use American lives and resources to try to dictate to other people how they shall shape their national lives (if that is their purpose)—than they have to use American lives and resources to save the investments of the Du Ponts and MacArthurs!

RULERS' PRIVILEGE VS. PEOPLE'S HOPES

The dispatches from Korea and Germany (and every other place) reveal that our rulers have no basic understanding of the forces operating in the world today. The hopes and aspirations of billions of human beings they count for nothing when weighed against their own profits and power.

Perhaps it is more correct to say that they do understand world forces, that they know the liberation movements everywhere are not "Red plots" but attempts of those peoples to run their own lives. But America's rulers simply will not accept what is historically inevitable since it constitutes a threat to their continued monopoly of profit and power.

Therefore, they must try to crush it, to turn history back. And I think that in their desperation they know they will not succeed, any more than did other tyrants in the past, any more than King Canute was able to stop the ocean waves from rolling over him.

Opposed as their whole program is to the interests of other peoples, it is even more opposed to the vital interests of the American people. What are we getting out of it—except mounting casualty lists, lower living standards and fewer civil liberties? And an evil reputation that may outlast the Nazis (the way we've been fondling them . . .)?

The leaders of the nation must abandon the idea that the U.S.A. has been divinely chosen (even by MacArthur) to take on the "white man's burden." This is not the era of the American Imperialist Century—but the Century of World Equality. It is in working for such a goal—peace on earth and equal access to the earth's riches for all peoples—that the true interests of the American people lie, not in insanely trying to subjugate other nations to enrich still more the privileged few in Wall Street and Washington.

How much longer do the madmen think they can get away with flounting the will of the world? Do they think the American people will continue to support them? Let them take notice of the signs of protest.

From Michigan last Sunday comes the report of the resignation of the chairman of a county draft board who said: "I could not be a party to forcing Americans to fight, freeze and die in the hills of Korea in a cause that is neither holy nor just. . . . I will do my best to support and protect my country but I cannot nor will I sustain nor support the national administration which does not practice the first principles of enlightened statesmanship."

That American, Leonard L. Case, will be remembered when MacArthurs and Achesons have long been forgotten.

Concerning Racial Unity in America

Some time ago the Council on Interracial Unity made a survey of the leaders of America on their opinion of the "American Way" and what each and all of us could do about preserving and advancing that way. For the true American way spells progress, and any plan or program which does not include progress on its agenda, cannot be the real American way, no matter how much its proponents may thump their breasts and shout aloud of "Liberty and Justice and the Constitution, etc."

Here are a few of those opinions:

Two-thirds of the United States Negro population have incomes too low for a decent standard of living, which means over exposure to disease and death, and prevalence of crime.

Two-thirds of the Southern Negroes are still disfranchised in defiance of the law.

In human rights, including travel, recreation, public courtesy, marriage and death, it is clear that Negroes can still be insulted and deprived of rights and decencies beyond any other group in this country, or any other country that claims to be civilized.

Dr. W. E. B. DuBois

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peacably to assemble, and to petition the government for redress of grievances."

1st Amendment, U. S. Constitution

"The leadership of the United States over the world is doomed unless its people rid themselves of their lingering contempt for Negro citizens.

Bishop William Scarlett

"Poor race relations may undermine the democratic ideal and prevent democracy from working. Since the whole world looks to the United States to achieve world democracy, it is this nation's obligation to work toward the brotherhood of man ideal and to emphasize the human dignity of the individual."

Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations

The future of our country and its democratic ideals rests upon the elimination of intolerance of any American because of his race, his color, his creed, or the country of his origin.

Council Against Intolerance in America

The fact that we can make a change, however, little at first, inspires us with the determination to unite in a fight for real freedom from want and oppression.

Charlotta Bass, California Eagle

The Council of Interracial Unity then states its policy:

As Americans, we believe that America can lead the world in a true definition of democracy in action. We shall oppose all intolerant practices that set Gentile against Jew, black against white, and race against race. Only when these evil and intolerant practices are fully abolished can America bid the world to come up to her standard of democracy.

We shall oppose police brutality in American cities against all racial minorities. We strongly urge the cooperation of police and court officials.

We pledge our efforts to secure the passage of a National Fair Employment Practice law, complete abolition of the Poll Tax as a requirement for voting, Anti-Lynch law, abolishing of all racial discrimination in all armed forces of the United States.

To work unceasingly within our homes, churches, lodges, labor unions, clubs, political parties, schools, shops, factories, offices, etc., for equal justice to all.

We shall encourage the studies of race relations and social science in American schools and colleges.

Council of Interracial Unity, George H. Wright, secretary.

This, we opine, is a platform on which every man, woman and child can stand.

Political Pot-Pourri

STATEHOOD FILIBUSTER

WASHINGTON — The Senate filibuster against the Alaskan and Hawaiian statehood bills has been denounced as damaging to America's world position, "particularly in the Pacific basin, as a champion of democracy and equality of opportunity for all peoples," by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, and A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, AFL.

TO PUSH GILBERT CASE

NEW YORK—Further action on behalf of Lieutenant Leon A. Gilbert, whose death sentence was commuted by President Truman to 20 years in prison, will be pushed to the limit, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, announced following a conference in Washington between NAACP Attorney Frank Reeves and Judson E. Ruch, York, Pa., attorney retained by Mrs. Gilbert.

REPEAL McCARRAN ACT

The Civil Rights Congress this week released a statement calling for a campaign toward repeal of the McCarran Act.

The statement noted that "by its very nature and method of passage, the McCarran Act is 'shot-gun' legislation," seemingly designed to deny freedom to Communists. It in reality denies freedom to any section of American people who hold thoughts, write words or make speeches which may be considered, in the opinion of a small select body, un-orthodox, heretical or "dangerous."

Three demands are made on President Truman: That he order the immediate release of those now held without bail by the Justice Department (four are now held at Terminal Island in San Pedro), that the President call for immediate cessation of attempts to enforce the McCarran Law which he himself called unenforceable and unconstitutional.

Civil rights in the United States fall somewhat, but not seriously, short of the standards outlined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Such is the conclusion of Roger Baldwin, 950 One World Award winner, in a twenty-cent pamphlet, HUMAN RIGHTS—WORLD DECLARATION AND AMERICAN PRACTICE, released last week by the Public Affairs Committee, non-profit, educational organization at 22 East 38th Street, New York City.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

With the recent announcement by the Secretary of State of the official qualification of the legislative petition to abolish cross-filing, the League of Women Voters of California has already swung into action to secure a favorable vote for the measure in the 1951 session of the State Legislature. Since the petition carries an urgency clause making it mandatory for the Legislature to act within 40 days after it convenes, the League will engage in an intensive campaign prior to the legislative recess in February.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

A Man of Parts

Fortunately Councilman Davenport didn't write the dictionary. But whether he did or not, he has all of the pat cliches and hasty explanations at hand to explain his frequent verbal lapses into chauvinism and real low condescension.

John M. Lee

Last week while he was attempting to straddle the fence on the question of a mandatory salary raise for the city employees who haul away your garbage and tin cans, and keep your public buildings clean and in order, Davenport came up with a figure of speech that is the hallmark of white supremacy.

Referring to Councilman Moore's unwavering support of a pay raise for the badly underpaid city employees, Davenport accused the venerable Mr. Moore of posing as "The Great White Father before all these people."

It just happened that "all these people" were more than 90 per cent Negroes. It was our impression that Davenport, a gravel-voiced exponent of the old school of bombastic oratory, was being carried away with himself, and fell into the unfortunate descriptive with his eyes closed while his mouth was wide open.

In that spirit, we called his attention to the offensiveness of the term, But Councilman Davenport is a man of many parts. He is not only the voice of the City Council, he, is, in addition an authoritative lexicographer and an historian of great self-esteem. He promptly rebuffed any definition of the term except his own.

Scoffing at the suggestion that he could be guilty of offending with mere words, Davenport identified himself as a true friend and staunch champion of the "Colored" people. He pointed out that the term, "Great White Father" was first applied to the late FDR, by a grateful America.

We countered by explaining that the Indians were taught by the early white settlers to refer to the president of the United States as the "Great Father," and later, when the pattern of white supremacy really began to evolve, "The Great WHITE Father." But the councilman pooh! pooched! that as a lot of nonsense.

Later, at the microphone, Councilman Davenport reinforced his position by bluntly stating he would not apologize for the remark because, it is in effect, a good old American custom. He said he yielded to no man in his friendship to the Negro people, and he told the Negroes in the audience that they better be careful and not make an enemy of one who has been their friend on many occasions.

He told magnificently of a great deed he had recently performed on behalf of and in conjunction with the Urban League, and he intimated that by this token alone, he was privileged to insult as many Negroes as he pleased. "Go back and look at your school books," the councilman advised with a majestic flourish, and we did.

What we found on the subject is essentially what we told the learned solon. In effect, the term came into usage as a device to teach the Indians proper respect for the color "white," and whenever it is used it has no higher purpose, and we are against it.

We are against Councilman Davenport, too, and luckily we are in a position to do something about it. He represents the district where we live, and we can understand his aloofness from the realities of racial insults, since he has characterized his terms in office by an aloofness from the Negro citizens in the district.

He will have an opportunity to test his definition as a standard in the next election.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I've heard you speak many times, at Gilmore stadium—Henry Wallace meetings—and other public gatherings. I always thought, although I never said, that you were sweller and finer than fine. Admired you a lot. Don't have too much time now. Hope to see you all in person soon. Give my regards to your staff. Gertrude Gipson. I think she'll remember me, as of two years ago.

Emory Anderson
Detroit, Michigan

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Where in the annuals of history can a more cynical example of a hidden Offensive Against A Minority (to halt its stirrings for recognition and equality) be found than in the wide publicity given the Negro troops in Korea?

Surely only the unthinking or the most selfish, equipped with blinders (i.e. bribed with personal fame or fortune), can fail to see the hypocrisy of a "free press" which attacks every militant person or group at home who tries to stop a lynching or free a Mrs. Ingram, as a "Moscow-directed Communist" or an "Un-American Red Front" and yet goes all out to "prove" it advocates racial equality because currently it is arguing that "Negro troops in Korea are earning their right to equality at home." This publicity does not get any F.E.P.C. laws, anti-lynching bills or civil rights programs enacted. It does not get any homes, schools, nurseries, play grounds, Community First Aid stations, hospitals, or home management-budget guidance centers built to enable people to live better and to logically study and solve their everyday problems. What it does do is:

(1) Imply that the Korean war is justified and seek to win Negro support to protect the Wall Street investments there.

(2) Offer Negro soldiers a chance to test their heroism and sure publicity therefor.

(3) HALT and REDIRECT the GROWING DEMANDS for RECOGNITION at home.

(4) Attempt to prove with Negro heroism and loyalty ("my country right or wrong") that we practice as well as preach democracy at home.

(5) Drive a wedge between aspirations of Negro people here and those of Asiatic origin by having them fight each other (age old "divide and conquer" theory).

I should like to ask every American Negro citizen: Which freedom is more important to you: the freedom for a few to invest wherever they please (with government guaranteed protection which affords some Negroes a chance to die heroically), or the freedom for all Negroes to LIVE wherever they please?

Sincerely yours,
Mary Phillips

Gentlemen

The other day our children brought home a notice of the proposed A-Bomb drills to be conducted in the Compton Schools. We wonder if you honestly think that this is the answer to the so-called A-Bomb threat? No, the answer is to see that atom bombs are not dropped on our country or on any country. That is the only way to eliminate the threat of atom bombing.

We are constantly being told through the schools how to keep our children mentally sound. It has been shown in recent reports from various school districts throughout the country that the "A-Bomb Drills" have a very bad psychological effect upon the children.

We, as parents and members of the Independent Progressive Party in the Compton School District, do not want our children to be psychological misfits in our society.

We, therefore, appeal to you, before it is too late, to join forces with all others including the International Red Cross to outlaw the atom bomb as the only protection for our children, both mentally and physically.

In addition, we feel that we, as parents, are entitled to an immediate public hearing on this issue and we demand that a date be set and that this organization be notified of the date, in order that we may be allowed to present our views.

U. S. BIG BUSINESS IN LIBERATED KOREA

WASHINGTON — Standard Oil Company Vice-President C. E. Meyer became the director of United States "aid" for Korea on December 1, thus paving the way for economic domination of "United Nations Liberated" parts of Korea by United States big business.

Meyer has worked for the Rockefeller oil interests in the Far East for the past 35 years, except for a brief period with the United States diplomatic service.

GERTRUDE GIPSON

Guess we'd better start off this week expressing our thanks to our sec. Beulah for the penning of the column last week and I think we'd better start straightening out a few little things. First, that we are not married . . . not yet that is . . . we'll tellya when. . . . We sure got the surprise of our life when sitting in on one of the "Jam at 4" sessions Sunday, and Bill Jones grabbed the ole mike and gave out with "Embraceable You" and believe me the fella can sing.

Bill Jones and Larry King are the two seniors in charge of the matinee sessions and will present this Sunday Dexter Gordon, Chico Hamilton, Gerald Wiggins, Bill Hadnott and Sonny Cris. . . . Trio of J. C. Heard packing them in out at the Haig, and appeared recently on the Spotlighter and Peter Potter TV show. . . . Charles Crawford doing a wonderful job as theatrical ed. on one of our up and coming weeklies.

Zenith's, composed of a group of pretty and shapely girls, had a full house recently at their fish fry . . . and gee! we can't remember when we have had better. . . . We're mighty proud of the choice selected by the Eagle this year in their selection of 10 of the well-dressed women in the city . . . if you note, we did not say THE 10 best-dressed but we definitely feel that the 10 selected could easily rate among 10 of the best-dressed women in the city.

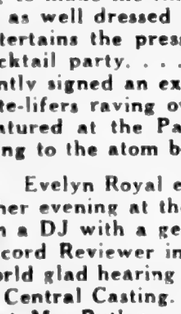
Pretty Dottie Dandridge the headliner at Las Vegas' swank "El Rancho." . . . Les Dames putting their invitations in the mail for their second annual "March of Cans" with the Alpha House as the setting . . . date has been set for Sunday afternoon the 17th of Dec. All sorta guest artists promising to be on hand for the affair.

On hand at the weekly musical at the cozy apt. of Phil Moore were Elois Davis, Joe and Betsy Green, Libby Clark and Thad (oh! darn it, last name has slipped me), Dottie Dandridge, Marshall and Evelyn Royal and many mnay more. . . . Bernard Hamilton joints Uncle Sam's number and tells us of his coming plans for marriage. Bernie is just completing a serial for RKO.

Lena Horne graciously accepted the invitation to be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Dental, Medical and Pharmaceutical Auxiliary. . . . Dr. Delo Gray completing plans for his trip to Kansas City where he will attend the Alpha Convention. . . . Congrats to Wini Orr for her wonderful story on the 10 women selected as well-dressed. . . . Aha, Joel Fluellen quips, "I can understand why girls with new engagement rings suddenly get left-handed, with a new hand-painted tie I always let my coat hang open.

GETTING IT STRAIGHT FROM G.G.:

Billy Daniels responsible for the nitely crowds out at the Mocambo. . . . Friends glad getting the news of the speedy recovery of pretty Cora Howard. . . . Charles Brown over at the Oasis has one of the niftiest little combos we've listened to in many a moon and saaay, this June Barton has a voice right out of this world . . . and personality galore. . . . Louie Armstrong the next attractoin at the Oasis. . . . Here's hoping that Joe Abrams and Bill Robinson really do a terrific engagement with "Ole Satchmo" because the two guys deserve the best of breaks.



SUDDEN THAWT: "Although we have two bathrooms in our house there is always a fatal fascination for the one I'm in." . . . Billy Eckstine, so reports have it, became suddenly ill and was rushed to the hospital in the Bay city. Here's hoping one of the greatest vocalists of the day will get well but QUICK. . . . Helen Humes making a terrific comeback since her recording of "Million Dollar Baby."

We drifted a bit out of our dept. this week in helping to make the final decision as to the 10 women selected as well dressed (see social section). . . . Steve Gibson entertains the press tomorrow evening with an informal cocktail party. . . . Steve Gibson and the Red Caps recently signed an exclusive contract with RCA-Victor. . . . Nite-lifers raving over the new cocktail drink "Rita Ali" featured at the Paradise. They claim it's the closest thing to the atom bomb.

Evelyn Royal entertaining with vocals for friends the other evening at the home of Phil Moore. . . . Bill Sampson a DJ with a genuine personality appears in Capitol's Record Reviewer in "The Disc Jock Speaks." . . . Movie world glad hearing of the improvement of Charles Butler of Central Casting. . . . A complete examination revealed that Mr. Butler was definitely overworked and showed also a slight kidney infection.

That well known sportsman about town (whose name we think we'd better not reveal right now), says "He's got too many women and too little time." . . . A smile as heartwarming as baby's hug is that of Louise (Bo) Franklin. . . . She's the pretty miss that checks your heart (we mean hat) at the Oasis. . . . Velam Rogers still Oh'n and Ah'n about her wonderful trip east. . . . Vel says she actually did more in four days than most people can do in twenty.

Movie goers were discussing the movie, "Lost Weekend," the other day . . . and up pops handsome Jimmy Webb with "speaking of Lost weekends," I'd like to get lost over the weekend with pretty Peggy Griffin!" . . . Well, here it is again and time for a closing thought which reminds us of the time my mother once heard me pray and said, "Gertrude, don't bother to give God so many instructions; just report for duty."

Telephone Hour Radio Soloists For December

A varied musical program, featuring outstanding talents of famous soloists including a tenor, baritone, violinist and pianist, will highlight Telephone Hour radio broadcasts during December, it was announced this week by Earl S. Ricker, manager of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The broadcasts are heard each Monday evening at 9 p.m. over NBC stations.

The manager said that all of the December guest stars have appeared before on the Hour. They are Ferruccio Tagliavini, Michael Rabin, Robert Casadesus and John Charles Thomas. Accompaniment for the artists, as well as special music, will be porvided by the Bell Telephone Orchestra under the direction of Donald Voorhees.

Tagliavini, well known tenor, will sing four selections on the December 4 broadcast: "Questa o quella from 'Rigoletto'," "L'anima ho stanca from 'Adrian Lecouvreur'," "Io sono un cuor de muoore from 'Chopin'," and "Dici tingello."

Violinist Rabin, whose debut on the Telephone Hour brought tremendous response from enthusiastic listeners, makes his second appearance this season on the December 11 broadcast.

Casadesus, pianist, on the December 18 broadcast, will play Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata—Finale," and "Concerto No. 5 in E flat Major—Finale."

The Christmas Day program will be filled by Thomas, whose career as a singer and champion of American composers fills an important chapter in the musical history of this country.

20th Century Music Played In Concert

A second concert of 20th century music for violin and piano will be played by Robert Gross and Leonard Stein on Sunday, December 10, at 8:30 p.m. in the Assistance League Play House, 1367 North St. Andrews Place, Hollywood.

The pair will feature two works new to this area—a sonata by Earl Kim and a sonata for violin alone by Egon Wellesz.

Kim is a Los Angeles youth of Korean parentage who won the coveted Prix de Paris after studies at Los Angeles City College and with Roger Sessions at the University of California.

The performance of Wellesz' sonata is its first in the United States, where the music of this distinguished, German-born professor of music at Oxford University has been sadly neglected. Although a pupil of Arnold Schoenberg, and author of a biography on the exponent of the 12-tone system, Wellesz' own music is not particularly atonal. He is one of the world's greatest authorities on Byzantine music.

Contenders For The $5,000 Heidt Radio Grand Finals Prize

Horace Heidt's third annual nationwide talent hunt comes to an exciting climax Sunday night, December 10, when the CBS radio network broadcasts the Grand Finals of his "Original Youth Opportunity Program" from Washington, D. C. The winner will receive $5,000, the runners-up, $1,000 each. Finalists include:

HORACE HEIDT

SARI BARABAS, sensational Hungarian DP soprano, discovered by Heidt on his overseas tour for the Air Force last Spring.

JESSE OWENS, 18-year-old ex-shoeshine boy and baritone from Akron, Ohio (left) and singer BRAD GORDON, ex-GI and former CBS usher from California, receive best wishes from Heidt.

RUDY VARJU and LEE JENNER, 23-year-old ex-teamsters and harmonica duo from Chicago.

ARNETT COBB: If there is to be an award for Outstanding Performance in 1950, it should go to Arnett Cobb, the great bandleader, who recovered from a serious illness to resume swinging the baton.

Southern Drama Assn. Sponsors 2nd Annual Play Contest

The Southern Association of Dramatic and Speech Arts is sponsoring this year its second annual one-act play writing contest with the deadline for entries set at midnight, February 15. The first prize is $25; the second is $15; and the third is $10. In addition to the monetary awards, productions of the first two plays may be given at the annual meeting of the association in April, and all three may be published in SADSA Encore, the association's official magazine. Any person, regardless of age, training or experience may submit as many entries as he pleases.

Address all inquiries and send manuscripts to: The SADSA Playwriting Committee, care of Randolph Edmonds, Box 89, Florida A. & M. College, Tallahassee, Fla.

Joe Adams On KFI-TV Show

"Mayor of Melody," Joe Adams, will be presented in a half hour all-star revue for the benefit of the Chest X-ray over KFI-TV Friday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m. Leading stars of the entertainment world will participate in Adams' show and the studio audience will be invitational, composed of approximately 125 civic leaders.

Joe also contributed his time and talents to a five-hour special Community Chest program over KFWB last Tuesday, November 28.

Future Artists Concert Sunday At Bowen

The fifth annual Future Artists Concert will be presented at 4 p.m. Sunday, December 17, at Bowen Memorial Methodist Church, E. 37th at Trinity streets, it was announced by Leon W. Steward, originator of the project and chairman of the sponsoring committee.

Seven piano teachers will cooperate in this year's pre-Christmas children's concert. Among those cooperating are Miss Lucile Bacotes, Mesdames Ethel Brooks, Lucile Hughley, Eunice Blackwell, Eugene Clarke, Ethel Thompson, Dovie Steward and perhaps William H. Wilkins.

The committee has invited Sterling Herschel Spivey, a lad of 13, to be the annual guest of the project.

Recently Eugene won first prize in the Fall Talent Festival held at Lynwood Academy among 150 contestants. The project was conducted by the Southern California conference of Seventh-day Adventists. The successful young musical student is a pupil of Mayme Lowe Payne.

"MAN OF ARAN"

A documentary classic by Robert Flaherty and a short March of Time will be presented at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park, Friday evening, December 8, at 8 o'clock.

"Man of Aran," the Robert Flaherty film, was made in 1934.

The documentary films are shown in the Museum's second floor lecture hall.

Admission is free.

Broadway Calls Tom Gomez

HOLLYWOOD—Thomas Gomez now working with Robert Mitchum, Jane Russell and William Bendix in RKO Radio's "Macao," is weighing an offer to return to Broadway this winter to play the Duke of Kent in John Houseman's production of "King Lear."

Negro Baritone In Heidt's Grand Finals

If the Cinderella legend was ever to be rewritten in terms of a modern male, first candidate on the list would be Jesse Owens, 18-year-old baritone from Akron, Ohio.

One year ago, Jesse (no relative of the great Olympic star) was shining shoes in the barber shop of the Portage Hotel in Akron. Next Sunday night, December 10, he steps onstage at Washington, D. C.'s Uline Arena and lets his golden baritone tones ring out in a try for the $5,000 top prize at the grand finals CBS broadcast of Horace Heidt's "Original Youth Opportunity Program," sponsored by Philip Morris.

Competing against Jesse for the $5,000 jackpot and gold championship belt will be the cream of the youthful talent discovered by Heidt in his 12-month tour across this country and throughout Europe. Included among the contestants will be Rudy Varju and Lee Jenner, ex-teamsters from Chicago who form a harmonica duo; Sari Barabas, sensational Hungarian DP soprano; Brad Gordon, singing GI and ex-usher at CBS; and another contender still to be selected.

The grand finals, which will be held under the auspices of the Bolling Field Air Base for the benefit of the servicemen's welfare activities, will be viewed by a packed house of 8,000 people and heard on the entire CBS network.

Faith Domergue To Make Double Debut On Bdwy.

Howard Hughes will stage the most daring introduction of a new star in the history of the films on Christmas day when he will present his latest discovery, Faith Domergue, in simultaneous New York premieres of "Where Danger Lives" and "Vendetta" at the Criterion and Globe theaters.

Never before has any star made a double debut on Broadway in two important pictures and the event will provide a fitting climax to one of the most extensive publicity campaigns ever conducted for the launching of a new screen personality.

Hamp Smashing Records In The East

Lionel Hampton, who broke all records during his West Coast stay, is currently setting new highs in the East.

Last week The Hamp and his all-star musical revue played Detroit's Paradise Theater, where he drew $22,000 into the theater box office despite the fact that the area was facing record blizzards and snowfalls. Following the Detroit engagement The Hamp was tendered a tesimonial dinner by the Toledo Citizens' Committee, a signal honor and one rarely extended to a figure of the entertainment world.

Hampton's band and show is now appearing at the Click in Philadelphia, where a new featured comedian with the organization is Pat Taylor, former member of the Cleveland Buckeye ball team. Also receiving much applause and creating much comment is a new skit, "The Mystic Suitcase," based on a stint which appeared on Ralph Edwards' "Truth or Consequences" national radio show, on which the "King of the Vibes" appeared as guest star while he was in Los Angeles.

While the greatest number of traffic accidents in Los Angeles occur in the hour 5:00 to 6:00 p.m., the greatest number of pedestrians are killed between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m. This illustrates the reason for the winter month's motto: "LOOK OUT WHEN IT'S DARK OUT!"

Witherspoon Plays Avodon Tomorrow Night

Jimmy Witherspoon, Jump King of the Blues, will be on hand tomorrow night at the Avodon (Friday, Dec. 8) along with his all-star band, which includes such swing greats as Sonny Cris, Hampton Hall, Jack McVea and many more. Also sharing the spotlight along with Spoon will be Vido Musso.

Jimmy Witherspoon, who has just completed a three-week engagement at the Oasis, will give out with those blues favorites "No Rolling Blues," "Big Fine Gal," "Ain't Nobody's Business" and all of the others. So get ready, dance lovers, because you're in for one of the best evenings you've spent in many a moon. Dancing gets under way around 9 p.m. and will last until the wee hours of the morn.

Bull Moose Rides Into Philly Show

PHILADELPHIA — Bandleader Bull Moose Jackson has just signed a contract to appear with his orchestra at the famed Show Boat Cafe in Philadelphia for one week, opening December 4. Bull Moose, whose new records "Big Fat Mamas Are Back in Style Again" and "For You My Beloved" are sweeping the country, has just completed a very successful coast to coast tour where he set new records all along the California coast line and through the South. Moose will return to New York after his Show Boat engagement for a short vacation prior to fulfilling his Christmas engagements.

LOVELY VIRGINIA MAYO, Warner Brothers star, demonstrates the self-service Christmas Seal merchandiser which is being placed throughout Los Angeles County this week for the benefit of those who did not receive the traditional health-bringing stamps through the mail. "Everyone should buy Christmas Seals," the pretty actress emphasizes, "because they are one means through which all can join in the fight against tuberculosis."

Roy Milton Band Returns From Tour

The Roy Milton Solid Senders express chugs into town early next week following an extended five months tour from coast to coast which covered more than 50,000 miles.

According to Ben Waller, Milton's personal manager, the tour was by far the most successful in the aggregation's colorful history.

Milton's initial Los Angeles engagement is scheduled for next Friday when he jousts with Eddie "Cleanhead" Vinson and his crew in a battle of bands at the Avodon ballroom. Roy will also play his annual dance at the Elks auditorium.

Newest addition to Milton's hard hitting, high riding musical thunderbolt is vocalist Freddie Clark who Maestro Milton described as being a Billy Eckstine and Perry Como all rolled into one.

Counting himself, Camille Howard, pianist, Lillie . . . band vocalist and Clark, Milton now boasts of four outstanding vocalist-entertainers.

Timmie Rogers Emcees Show At Miami Club

NEW YORK CITY — Timmie Rogers, just about the hottest comic in Negro show business at the present time, has just signed a contract to emcee the next show at Miami Beach's famed Celebrity Club beginning December 15.

Incidentally, Timmie's new tune, "Everybody Wants to Go to Heaven, But Nobody Wants to Die" looks like a hot disc and will probably rival his big hit tune "Fla-Ga-La-Pa."

Film Folk Face Jungle Perils

HOLLYWOOD—Lex Barker and other members of the cast and crew of "Tarzan's Peril," Sol Lesser picture for RKO Radio, faced months of jungle perils while filming the movie in British East Africa. White and native hunters were hired to protect the film against dangerous animals and natives.

SPORTS EDITOR

In the old mail bag this week was a bit of news from Ruby Goodwin of a very worthy project.

Long Tom Hawkins, remembered in the boxing circles of yesteryear as the Negro heavyweight champion of the world is now a member of the Pioneer Training School in Burbank, Calif.

No Long Tom isn't planning a comeback. He is leaving that hard and uncertain road to former champion Joe Louis.

The Pioneer Training School is for Army and guide dogs. Long Tom Hawkins is blind!

In his youth Tom was a husky ebony giant. Wherever the talk drifts back to the days of Dempsy, Willard and Wills, someone will mention the name of Long Tom Hawkins lauded as one of the cleanest fighters the ring has ever known.

In the days of white supremacy in the prize ring, the brooding shuffling figures of Sam Langford, Harry Wills, Bearcat Wright talked the acknowledged champions of their day. Both managers and promoters doged the dusky contenders. Finally in desperation the Negro fighters set up their own heavyweight championship.

When Long Tom was at the height of his career he was matched with Bearcat Wright. Tom defeated Wright and won the Negro heavyweight title. San Diego was proud of her native son.

His glory was short lived for an eye injury impaired the fighter's sight and soon after came blindness. Deserted by his wife and fair weather friends, Long Tom sought solace in the church. He is now a minister in the Church of God in Christ.

A few months ago Irving Stein, young middle weight champion of California heard the story of Long Tom Hawkins. Filled with compassion for a fellow boxer who at one time had been at the top of the heap Stein fought a benefit bout to get enough money to help Tom get a Seeing-Eye dog. The bout was not well attended for many people had forgotten Long Tom.

Enough interest was created to earn Tom an invitation to enter the Pioneer Training School.

Capt. L. A. Kreimer, who heads the school, explained that it costs $861 to train a dog with the man. The minimum from four to eight weeks is required to train the two together. A healthy democratic air prevades the whole of the school. There is nothing that even hints at discrimination. Two inmates share the large double bedroom furnished with single beds, chests, chairs and tables.

To date 7 Negroes have been given Seeing-Eye dogs. So far the school has no record of financial gifts received from any Negro individual or organization. In view of the long waiting list of applicants for guide dogs it is hoped that those who are able will contribute to this worthwhile project.

Harry Hall, San Diego realtor and civic leader, accompanied Long Tom from his home to the Burbank school.

The school is located at 188 S. Virginia Street, Burbank, Calif.

Thank you Miss Goodwin.

JOHN L. IS STILL CHAMP

Well, for a while there Tuesday night it looked as if we were going to have a new State lightweight champion.

Freddie Herman went to work on John L. Davis as if he owned him as he staggered the champ several times in the first three rounds. But he seemed to tire in the latter stages and was holding on to Davis very noticeably in the last rounds. Even at that, he seemed to have built up a comfortable lead over the champion.

The verdict, when announced, was greeted by boos and various objects thrown by the irate fans. It was a split decision with one judge calling it a draw.

In the end it was condition that paid off, for Davis after taking all that Herman could dish out came back to take practically all the other rounds by his aggressiveness.

But John L. Davis has shown that he can be had.

OTHER BOXING NOTES

Babe McCoy is trying to arrange a Willie Bean-Clarence Henry bout for Dec. 19. . . . Ray Robinson, still abroad, is scheduled to fight Dutch middleweight champion Luc Van Dam at Brussels Saturday. Ray should have good luck over there. . . . Other fights include: Dec. 7 (tonight) Sandy Saddler vs. Del Flanagan in Detroit; 13th, Chicago—Lee Oma vs. Bob Satterfield; 15th, New York—Paddy Young vs. Kid Gavilan; Jan. 15th, Miami—Ray Robinson vs. Bobby Dykes (title); 17th, Detroit—Ezzard Charles vs. Vern Mitchell (title); Feb. 14th, Chicago—Jake LaMotta vs. Ray Robinson (title); 16th, New York—Sandy Saddler vs. Willie Pep (title).

Boys' Basketball School Started

Basketballs replaeed footballs in the hands of many youthful athletes throughout the city this week as Los Angeles youngsters got ready for the big, city-wide Basketball School for Boys that opened Monday.

Classes have been scheduled for 22 municipal recreation centers accessible to every major district of Los Angeles, according to the City Recreation and Park Department, sponsor of the school.

The free hoop school will be open to boys from 13 to 18 years of age and will continue through Saturday, December 23.

During the three-week course, the Recreation and Park Department's top basketball instructors will teach the fundamentals and the basic skills of basketball. In addition, experienced tips on the game will be offered by local college stars and coaches.

Instruction will include selection of equipment, training tips, basketball rules, catching and passing, and shooting methods.

Playgrounds which have scheduled the Basketball School for Boys include:

Ross Snyder Playground, Tuesdays; Pueblo Del Rio Playground, Tuesdays; and South Park Playground, Saturdays.

ELAJC Hoopmen Take On Chaffey College

The East Los Angeles Junior College hoopmen will take on Chaffey college on the Ontario court, Friday. They lost their opener to Pasadena CC, 58-45, then bounced back to nip Mt. San Antonio junior college 68-65 at Garfield high school last Saturday.

Leading the Huskies on the court will be John "Bogie" Bogdanov at the center position. Bogdanov is a 6 foot 5 inch letterman from last year's Metro conference championship five.

At the forward positions will be Larry Lumpkin and Ronnie Gould. Lumpkin was the starting forward on the Jefferson high school team last year. In one game against Garfield high he scored 45 points.

Bowling Notes

JOHN L. DAVIS, state lightweight and welterweight champion. The Oakland buzz-saw was as close to being KOed as he has ever been Tuesday night as he weathered a blistering early round attack by Freddie Herman and then went on to win a 12 round split decision over his tiring opponent.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

GEO. A. RAMSEY

HOLLYWOOD PARK — Next Move, the fleet daughter of Bull Lea-Now What made a show of her field in the Vanity Handicap. Breaking on top, she made it a wire-to-wire win and beat the best three-year-old fillies and mares in the country. She seemed to just glide along in the mile and one-eighth race. Never extended, all Jockey Eric Guerin did was to hold the reigns and let her run. It was another great victory for Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, the breeder of Next Move.

Bed o' Roses, her stablemate, will be heard from in the near future. The latter closed much ground in the stretch. Bewitch and Wistful made bold challenges but the best they could do was to finish second and third. The time was 1:49 2-5. The entry paid $3.00. It was a day of upsets, the longshot players were thrilled when Grand Tower won the first race, paying $141.30, $68.50, $27.80 across the board for a $2 ticket. Only two favorites were able to visit the charmed circle. They were Sweet Talk in the second race and Next Move in the Vanity.

Mangahick, a speedster from the East, made good his first out by defeating some of the fastest sprinters on the grounds, including Bolero and Miche. This Saturday, December 9, the main event will be run. It's the Hollywood Gold Cup at one mile and one-quarter, with $100,000 net guaranteed to the winner. The greatest horses in the world will compete for this rich prize and glory.

Such horses as Noor, Hill Prince, Ponder, On Trust, Your Move and many others will go to the post. Your writer picks Noor first, Ponder second and Hill Prince third. Over 50,000 lovers of the sport of kings are expected to witness this great classic.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—John Alessio, the guiding genius of Caliente, is on the grounds night and day supervising the great improvement Caliente is now going through. When finished it will be more beautiful than ever. Its lakes and lawn with the Caliente girl in her gondola will be a new feature.

The grandstand will be enlarged and added boxes and the front stairway will also be an added convenience. The coffee shop and all bars will be remodeled. Many new horses will be on hand for the reopening December 31.

General Manager Walter C. Marty plans some new handicaps for the coming season. The stables and buildings in the background are also undergoing new improvements.

Bruin Hoopsters To Fly North To Meet Oregon In Two Games

Despite Coach John Wooden's successful record of 49 wins against only 14 losses since coming to UCLA two years ago, the record book will be all against the Bruins when they fly north to meet the University of Oregon at Eugene this week.

UCLA has met the Ducks but twice previously — during the 1936-37 and 1937-38 seasons—and lost both times by 56-30 and 47-26 scores.

Since that time the Bruins also met Oregon State eight times and manage dto salvage only a pair of wins. All told, the count is 8-2 in favor of the Oregon teams.

Wooden's Pacific Coast Conference champions opened their 27-game schedule with wins over Bruin alumni and Arizona State at Tempe last weekend. Scores were 72-44 and 79-49, respectively.

At the same time Oregon was losing to Utah, 59-39, and winning from Utah State, 66-64.

UCLA came up with a rather impressive .416 team percentage in shooting from the floor and uncovered a scoring star in six-foot-four sophomore Dick Ridgway, who may be the answer to replacing the graduated Al Sawyer at forward.

Ridgway hit for 25 points to lead his teammates. Jerry Norman, who started both games ahead of Ridgway, was next with 22.

Another promising newcomer was six-foot-three Don Johnson, who could supply much of the drive generated by All-Coast guard George Stanich during the last three seasons. Johnson, a transfer from Fullerton JC, garneerd 21 points in two games.

Captain Eddie Sheldrake, switched to forward since winning Little All-America honors last year, bucketed 18 points over the weekend, hitting a neat eight out of 13 field goal attempts.

Fifteen players and five UCLA staff members will fly to Eugene, Ore., Thursday, Dec. 7, arriving at 5:30 p.m. via United Airlines chartered plane. They will work out immediately after their arrival.

The party will be quartered at Hotel Eugene and will return to the Burbank airport Sunday afternoon.

Probable starters are Norman and Sheldrake, forwards; Grover Luchsinger, center; and Art Alper and Johnson, guards. This was the same quintet who started the first two games of the season.

Final UCLA Football Statistics Revealed

Final statistics covering UCLA's football season—with six games won and three lost—revealed newcomers to Coach Sanders' Bruin team taking over in every department.

Ted Narleski, the 156-pound Woodlynne, N. J., sophomore turned in his outstanding performance of the year in the record-breaking 39-0 rout of crosstown USC to finish the season ahead of all team mates in rushing, passing and kickoff returns.

In doing so Narleski boosted himself to 18th among all-time "great" UCLA ground-gainers with 480 yards in 88 ball-carrying attempts. He also completed 26 out of 50 passing attempts for a fine 52 per cent and had better than a 24-yard average on kickoff returns. With two years before him Narleski could even threaten the greatest Bruin of them all—Kenny Washington, whose gross ground yardage of 2275 yards in 1937-38-39 is tops.

Another eastener, Joe Sabol, from Swedeland, Pa., took charge of punt returns with 18 for 194 yards and a 10.77-yard average and pass interceptions with five for 92 yards and one touchdown. Sabol is another sophomore and promises to be hard to beat out for next year's right halfback spot.

Another newcomer to lead in his department was Compton JC transfer Bob Moore, who, despite an injured leg for the second half of the season, finished among the nation's leading punters with a 41.5-yard average for 63 kicks.

Senior right halfback Howard Hansen, whose wife, LaVon, had died after a long illness only two days before the season's final game between UCLA and SC, climbed from 16th place among all-time ground-gainers to eight and a final rushing total of 837 yards in 174 ball-carrying tries for a net of 742 and a three-year average of 4.26 yards per play.

Hansen now stands behind only Kenny Washington, Chuck Cheshire, Cal Rossi, Ernie Johnson, Skip Rowland, Jackie Robinson and Johnny Roesch.

Art Aragon To Oppose Trigo Next At Olympic

Next Tuesday's main event at Olympic Auditorium will pit Art (Golden Boy) Aragon against Mario Trigo.

This will be the rubber match between the two lightweights. It was last December that Trigo, a five to one underdog, rose to the heights and won a decision over Aragon. Golden Boy reversed this decision a month later.

Aragon in nine fights this year has won seven, six by knockouts. His most recent was a first round KO of Carlos Chaviz, a gent who had never been counted out before.

Trigo, who thinks that this month holds some kind of charm for him, is positive that he can duplicate his victory of last December. He holds victories over Bernard Dosucen, Chaviz, Joe Lopez, Phil Kim and Chief Archie Whitewater also.

Inter-church Demonstration At 1st AME For Christian Youth

The sanctuary of historic First African Methodist Episcopal Church, 801 Towne Avenue, Los Angeles, California, was the site of a most unusual demonstration of interchurch-interracial cooperation among Christian young people recently.

An interdenominational committee of youthful Christians, under the leadership of The Rev. Geridene P. Newton, retiring minister of Youth at Eighth and Towne, sponsored a Christian Youth Rally, in which more than ten churches of the city participated

A Psalm of Thanksgiving, effectively lead by Mr. Hayward Gray, marked the opening of the Rally which claimed and held the attention of the congregation to its dramatic conclusion.

Participating Churches and pastors in this unique venture were: Bethel A.M.E., The Rev. T. L. Scott; Calvary Baptist, the Rev. M. L. Scott; Emmanuel Church of God, Bishop S. M. Crouch; First A.M.E., The Rev. A. A. Shaw; Hollywood Presbyterian, The Rev. L. Evans; Neighborhood Community, The Rev. H. M. Collins; Peoples United Church of Christ; Phillips Temple C.M.E., The Rev. N. S. Curry; Salem Baptist, The Rev. C. A. Davis; and Second Baptist, The Rev. J. R. Henderson.

Women's Day At Neighborhood Church Observed This Sunday

Mrs. Anna E. Guess ,head teacher at Carver Junior High school was selected by Neighborhood Community Church to head the Women's Day Rally, 47th Pl. and San Pedro, Sunday, December 10th. Mrs. Guess served 10 years in the Child Care Center; she has lived in Los Angeles 27 years and has been an active member of Neighborhood church since its inception. Her active and energetic co-chairman is Mrs. Pearl Heard

ELLA PERKINS' DINNER will be served in Mitchell Hall of the church immediately following the morning service so named, because Mrs. Ella Perkins gave the first church dinner when it was organized. Mrs. Perkins is yet a very active member.

Appearing on the program at 11 o'clock Sunday morning will be two outstanding soloists, Mrs. Addie Williams and Mrs. Erie Gladney of the Earl Hines Singers. Louise Beavers of radio, stage and screen is also scheduled for the morning program. Mistress of Ceremonies is Miss Thomasinia Ayers, teacher at the Carver Junior High School. Miss Ayers has just returned from Berkley where she attended the Conclave. She is a member of Zeta Sorority.

A pageant "The Adoration" depicting the Christ Child will be presented by Mrs. Belle Riley at the evening service. The play was written by Mrs. Riley who will also direct it.

The women have selected a male speaker. Dynamic, seasoned and soul-stirring is the minister chosen to bring the message Sunday morning.

Hamilton Church School Holds Benefit Canned Goods Sale

Another successful canned goods drive was held by the Hamilton Methodist Church School during Thanksgiving week. Some 645 cans and $52 in cash were collected and presented to the demonstration rest home of the Outdoor Life and Health Association.

The drive is an annual Thanksgiving activity of the church school, pastored by Rev. D. D. Turpeau. The members endeavor to follow the precept "it is better to give than to receive," and have selected the demonstration rest home to profit from their generosity.

This year a six-car caravan, including Reverend Turpeau, Mrs. Dela T. Andrews, canned goods chairman, the church junior choir, and a Boy Scout troop traveled to Duarte to deliver the cans to the stockroom at the sanatorium. The Boy Scouts unloaded the cans while the choir rendered several numbers for the patients.

The 645 cans represent a considerable saving on food and will mean that money allotted for food of this nature can be used for some needed repairs at the sanatorium.

Seminary Will Offer Program For Christmas

A pre-Christmas program will be given by the Baptist Theological Seminary on December 18th at the Southern Baptist Church, 23rd and Stanford.

'The Christmas Star' based on Matthew 2:2 will be rendered in song and speech by the students of the Seminary on Monday night, December 18th at 7:30 p.m.

There will not be an admission charge. Friends of the Seminary and Southern Baptist Church are cordially invited to attend.

Southeast Area Churches Join In Mass Messiah Presentation

At four o'clock next Sunday afternoon the choirs of 270 Protestant churches throughout the Los Angeles metropolitan area will unite in a community-wide presentation of Handel's sacred oratorio, Messiah. Twenty-seven simultaneous presentations are scheduled.

The united Messiah presentations, which are now being given for the fourth consecutive year, are planned by the churches under the auspices of the joint music commission of the Southern California Council of Protestant Churches and the Church Federation of Los Angeles. Dr. Gordon Bachlund is director of the Messiah project.

More than 3500 singers will participate in the presentations this year. They represent churches of 29 different denominations. The 108 soloists were selected through competitive auditions in which approximately 500 singers tried out. All soloists, as well as all other persons participating in the presentations, donate their talents and services to the project.

Under the plan, the churches in each area unite to give a performance in a centrally located church or auditorium in the area. Churches in this area are:

First African Methodist Episcopal, First Methodist Youth Choir, Huntington Park, Good Shepherd Missionary Baptist, New Hope Baptist, Phillips Temple Methodist, Progressive Baptist, Second Baptist, Zion Hill Baptist, First Methodist Crusader Choir, Huntington Park.

Neighborhood Church Choir Music Series

Last Sunday morning, the 1st Sunday in December, the Rev. Gamaliel Mansfield Collins, assistant to the minister and director of music presented the choir in the first of a series of Christmas music, after which he preached a very short and most inspiring sermon. The young Rev. Collins, son of the church pastor, is a veteran of World War II, returned from that conflict, seasoned, serious and most sincere about his life's work . . . the ministry, preaching out of the depth of his heart.

On Sunday, Dec. 17, young Rev. Collins will present a Men's Chorus in an outstanding musical program supporting the morning serviceit has been announced that they will for that day (Men's Day) a woman speaker.

Card of Thanks

Grateful Widow

Mrs. Evelyn Brooks, 859 E. 54th Street, wishes to thank the many friends for all their kindness during the sickness and death of her beloved husband, Mr. Samuel D. Brooks, who passed on November 7, 1950, especially Mt. Zion Baptist Church, the Rev. Prentice, pastor, Rev. Washington, assistant pastor and all the kind members.

Grateful thanks also for the excellent service of the Conner Johnson staff, and the brilliant Mrs. Benjamin, their lady attendant. The neighbors of Mr. Brooks' community won't ever be forgotten by his devoted wife.

Thanks is not sufficiently said by her for the many kindnesses and thoughtful acts, which will always be in her heart.

Sincerely,
Mrs. S. D. Brooks

Western Baptist Convention Announces Seminary Extension

The Western Baptist State Convention of California, Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, President, comprising nearly eighty churches and more than 75,000 Baptists, this week announced that in cooperation with the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society and the California Baptist Theological Seminary it would open a fully accredited extension department of the California Seminary on March 12, 1951.

This is one of the most progressive steps taken by the Convention in its long history and will greatly strengthen the work of the Convention by providing an opportunity for pastors, theological students and others interested in the field of Christian Education to further prepare themselves.

Eight Years

For eight years the Western Baptist State Convention of California and the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society have been cooperating in promoting a great program of Christian Education which has enjoyed unusual success under the leadership of Dr. Horace N. Mays, State Director of Christian Education for the Convention and Director of the Department of Negro Activities for the City Mission Society.

Dr. Mays is a product of the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Penn. and accepted the call in 1942 to shoulder the task of building and projecting into the life of the Convention a vital program of Christian Education. Since then the great Baptist organizations above named have provided the opportunity for Dr. Mays to pursue graduate studies at the University of Southern California and the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary where he became the first Negro to be awarded the Doctorate in Religious Education in May, 1950.

One of the finest examples of brotherhood in action is the working relationship of the Convention under Dr. Henderson and the Baptist City Mission Society under its able and far-sighted Executive Secretary, Dr. Ralph L. Mayberry.

A Joint Committee consisting of equal representation from both organizations administers the program carried on so successfully by Dr. Mays. The Western Baptist State Convention of California is one of the few conventions in America to offer a full-fledged program of Christian Education consisting of leadership education, summer assemblies, youth congresses, and laboratory schools for the training of workers in special fields.

3000 Leaders

During the past eight years more than 3000 church leaders have registered in their leadership training schools for the more than 200 courses offered. More than 2500 have received credit course cards. More than 1,000 youth and adults have attended the annual summer assemblies in which more than fifty youth have been converted.

The seminary extension will employ qualified instructors from the Seminary and from the Convention. Credits garnted will apply toward standard degrees offered by the Seminary.

Oragnize A New Concert Chorus

Formation of a new Concert Youth Chorus, specially designed for the presentation of choral masterpieces, was announced this week by J. Arthur Lewis, Coordinator of the City of Los Angeles Bureau of Music. The new unit, open to Los Angeles singers of high school and college age, will meet every Friday night from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. in Room 219 of John Burroughs Junior High School, 600 So. McCadden Place.

Music Guild Concert

Artists to be heard on the next Music Guild program, Thursday, December 7, at 8:30 p.m. in Wilshire-Ebell Theatre, will include, in addition to the celebrated Paganini Quartet, four distinguished resident artists. They are:

Mitchel Lurie, one of the country's outstanding concert clarinetists. This will be his first Los Angeels appearance after several years of concertizing in the East.

Don Christlieb, one of the many fine instrumentalists playing in motion picture studios.

Joseph Eger, who returns for his second Music Guild engagement this season.

Anton Torello, for many years first double-bass of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

ENJOYMENT IN MUSIC

There is enormous pleasure to be found in the mere process of listening to music, with all the possibilities of records, the radio, school, club, church and theater music, and eventually the concert hall and opera house. Unless the music is of the type that has no lasting quality, familiarity breeds enjoyment, and not contempt.

There is a particular excitement in discovering a piece of music that grows more fascinating with each successive hearing—particularly if each time the listener finds new beauties that he had not suspected before. This is the real explanation of the attitude of the confirmed concert-goer, and it may explain also why so many people would rather hear something that they already know than to experience with unfamiilar material, no matter how good.

Of course there must be a first time for everything, and the listener is fortunate if a new piece is introduced in the presence of someone who has heard it before and can therefore build a proper predisposition to enthusiasm. It always helps to be placed in a receptive mood, and if the novelty then turns out to be honestly enjoyable, the pleasure is all the greater.

Every great composition can stand practically unlimited repetition, following the well-known law of the survival of the fittest. Whatever is cheap and obvious and commonplace, even though it may exert an immediate appeal, fails when put to the test of permanence.

The average popular song is a good example. Its very nature demands that it be quickly and easily remembered by the time radio has done its work, reminding you of the same hackneyed tune 10 or a dozen times a day the life of that tune is doomed. Six months is about the limit of its activity and six weeks will often suffice to kill it completely.

The average listener makes these decisions himself, showing thereby a fundamental appreciation of the things that are not transient but permanent.

The pleasure derived from music is at best not accurately definable. You yourself are the only one who knows if you have it, and so long as you are satisfied that is all that really matters. It is far better to feel the thrill of honestly enjoying some comparatively insignificant music than to pretend to like something that secretly bores you to death.

ETHICS AND THE MUSICIAN

It often becomes necessary to remind musicians that ethics should be part of their everyday life. An example of unethical practice is that of any musician whether church or otherwise who refuses to step down from his or her throne of temporary glory in face of another far better and more intelligent musician. It seems that Los Angeles makes a practice of keeping their church personnel for life even after they have outlived their usefulness. The music department of any church is second in importance; and it should be the best the church can afford. If this is not in evidence the church will remain in a rut.

We find that some musicians (young) do not know their limitations and often attempt to do those things with which they are not familiar. Fairness in all situations is the most important part of having ethics. If there is no fairness or unprejudiced opinion there are no ethics.

Jeanne Jackson.

Toy Loans

The Toy Loan Division of the County Probation Department again is conducting a drive for toys to replenish its stock.

The 41 Toy Lending Centers through which these toys are loaned out to children are in particular need at the present time of mechanical toys of all sorts, skates, and dolls.

Persons desiring to donate toys may either bring them in person to the Toy Loan Workshop at 200 North Avenue 18, Los Angeles 31, or may telephone CApitol 1-2189 for a truck to pick up the toys.

See Masonry As Growing Force

Granted their first charter in 1784, the Masons have grown until today they number more than 500,000 members.

Touching every phase of American life, the Prince Hall Masons, the order to which Negroes belong, trace their fraternal linage from England by way of Prince Hall, the first Negro initiated into Freemasonry in America.

Henry A. Talbert Appointed To Church Welfare Bureau Post

Appointment of Henry A. Talbert as acting director of the group work division of the Church Federation of Los Angeles was announced early this week.

Talbert, 33, joined the Church Welfare Bureau as a group worker five years ago and became supervisor of the group work staff in 1948.

He was a captain in the army in World War II, assigned to military intelligence.

A graduate of Tougaloo College in Mississippi, Talbert also hold a master's degree from the USC Graduate School of Social Work.

Talbert's appointment is effective immediately, according to Erwin W. Johnston, director of the Church Welfare Bureau. He succeeds Miss Catherine Lee Wahlstrom, who was with the bureau for the past five years. Miss Wahlstrom resigned to travel and take advanced study in social work.

The Church Welfare Bureau is a Red Feather Service of the Community Chest.

Ascot Avenue PTA Reports

Today's teaching was beautifully demonstrated at the Tuesday meeting of the Ascot Avenue PTA. This demonstration was given by Mrs. Mazique and five of her B-1 students. The parents afterward took an active part in discussions and questions.

The Vernon branch librarian, Mrs. Sutton, gave a brief talk inviting the parents to frequent the library as well as the children.

The guest speaker was Jules Haywood, who told us about his stay abroad. He studied music in France and visited in Italy, England and Switzerland. After this interesting talk the film "Doubting Thomas" was shown as a boost to the Community Chest.

The president, Mrs. Elmer Baker, stressed the donut sale for Dec. 6. The proceeds will go to purchase Christmas candy for the children. She also stressed the attendance with the room count going to Miss Jacobus and her A-1 class.

'Two Brothers' Oratorio In Ebell Concert

The Jewish Peoples Chorus, under the baton of Eugene Malek will introduce the oratorio "Tzvei Brider" (Two Brothers) at its mid-season and Schaefer concert on Dec. 16th at the Wilshire-Ebell Theatre.

The text of the oratorio are the words of the noted Jewish poet, Y. L. Peretz, whose 100th birthday anniversary is being celebrated at this time. The musical arrangement was written by Jewish composer, Jacob Schaefer, who is also being honored at this concert.

Other numbers to be presented are excerpts from the Handel oratorio "Judas Maccabeus," the Chinese cantata "The Yellow River," and "Songs of Our Times," a musical dramatization of songs of Israel, folk songs, and numerous other contemporary compositions.

Concert Hears Quartet Play Verdi Work

The Paganini Quartet, which will appear at the next concert of the Music Guild, Thursday, December 7, at 8:30 p.m. in Wilshire-Ebell Theater, has become in the short time since its inception in 1946 one of the leading chamber music groups in the world.

Through numerous concerts in the United States and in Europe as well as through their outstanding performances on RCA-Victor records they have acquired an enviable reputation for the polish of their playing and tehir serious musicianship.

One of the works to be performed at the Music Guild concert, Verdi's String Quartet, has just been recorded by the Paganini Quarter and is about to be reelased by RCA-Victor.

Christmas Concert

A chorus of 70 voices combining the singing classes of Hollywood Evening Adult School and the Los Angeles Adult Education Center, assisted by a fifty-piece orchestra from Fairfax Evening High School, will present a Christmas Program in the Auditorium of the Los Angeles High School, on Tuesday evening, December 12, at 8:15.

The program is under the general direction of Michael Marsman, instructor in Voice and Choral Techniques and Music Consultant for the Adult Education Branch of the Los Angeles City Schools. Gregory Golubeff will conduct the Fairfax Adult Orchestra.

New Negro Paper

A new fighting monthly paper for Negroes, called Freedom, made its appearance on the newstands of San Francisco this week. Its editorial board is made up of nationally known famous Negro leaders. It is an eight-page tabloid, and stresses its intentio of waging an uncompromising fight against all forms of jimcrow and oppression.

It adopted its name from the first Negro newspaper published in the United States. "Freedom's Journal:" At that time, 1827, John Russworm and Samuel Cornish, editors, wrote, "Our people feel themselves sorely aggrieved under the existing state of things."

The same condition prevails today, only worse, say the editors of Freedom. "A hell worse than slavery faces us unless the present drive toward atomic war and fascist dictatorship is halted in its tracks. The need of the hour is for courageous hearts, clear heads, and united action."

Therefore Freedom was born. Its offices are located at 53 West 125th street, New York, N.Y.

Hooper Avenue PTA

Hooper Ave. P.T.A. executive board will meet in the office of the principal, Mr. Clarence L. Axtell, Monday, December 11 at 2 p.m. Mrs. Lonzie Jones is president.

Due to the auditorium being repaired, there was no November meeting.

DOROTHY MAYNOR

After a lapse of several years, Dorothy Maynor returned to Los Angeles' Philharmonic Auditorium last Sunday afternoon when she sang a vocal concert to be remembered long by the thousands who attended. There are few times when this writer becomes emotional over a musical presentation. Sunday however, we lived an experience with the incomparable Miss Maynor. We doubt if there are many other sopranos who are divinely blessed with such ability to control and float mezzo-voice tones as exquisitely and delicately as this artist did. Perhaps she is not the zenith of perfection and perhaps there are some moments when the singer apparently employs questionable technical nuances, she is still a great artist, sincere and convincing. It was apparent at the onset of the performance last Sunday, the Cantata No. 51 of Johann Sebastian Bach, that the singer would have to pull her accompanist along as it were, for the rendition did lack the proper synchronization, however. Miss Maynor was more than superb in the rendition of certain of the lieder. Her German was fluent.

In the aria "Come Scoglio" the artist demonstrated her great and exciting range; employing frequently the warm chest tones of the contralto. The English group presenting almost exclusively the works of Frederick Delius were sung with fluidity of understanding uncommon in the many recitalists. Miss Maynor clearly interpreted the joy and exhilaration of the music.

Included with the English group were the spirituals of choice: There's a Man Goin' Round Taking Names and the traditional Give Me That Old Time Religion. The audience was uncontrolled in its acceptance of Miss Maynor's program She granted twelve encores.

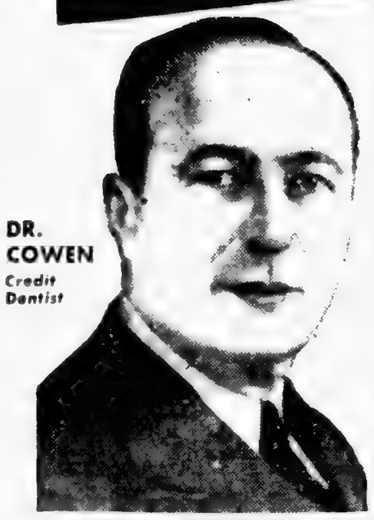
As far as the Metropolitan press is concerned, we have come to the conclusion that there is some major reason why one daily in particular has made a special effort to play down the genuine artistic qualities inherent in this artist. The review from this daily appearing in the Monday morning's editions was certainly anything but objectified.

Well, for our own interest and we hope for the interest of our readers we will attempt to answer the following questions posed by these recent developments: (1) Why is Miss Maynor no longer appearing on the Behmeyer Course? (2) Has this local daily assumed an attitude or are we laboring under some sensitive misapprehension?

Delta Sigma Theta, Nu Sigma Chapter, deserves the sincere appreciation of the entire community for making this experience possible. We only hope that next time they will come in for a full share of presenting the artist by having the publicity read "Delta Sigma Theta presents" and avoid using an individual's name when in right they have supplied the crowd and hence have done the presenting.

Phillis Wheatley Foundation Sponsors Play-Writing Contest For High School, College Youth

In commeration of the 200th anniversary of the rise to fame of the brilliant Negro poetess, Phyllis Wheatley, Miss Jane Hunter at a recent meeting of the National Phillis Wheately Foundation announced that the Trustees of the Foundation authorized the promotion of a National "play-writing" contest. The active participation will begin September 1951 through 1953. The contest will culminate in the production of the plays of the winning contestants in 1954, in Cleveland, Ohio. The presentation of the plays will mark the 200th anniversary of Phillis Wheatley's rise to fame.



The contest is open to high school and college students of sophomore ages in all states. The Trustees of the Foundation wish through these plays, to arouse the interest of other young people in the life work and achievements of the girl, Phillis Wheatley, whose life struggle is symbolic of the fact that Negro youth today, can overcome the difficulties of their environment and also make contributions of cultural value.

At present a committee is at work on the details regarding plans governing the contest.

Information regarding the achievements of Phillis Wheatley maybe secured from the office of the Foundation in Cleveland, Ohio.

First releases of housing data to come out of the U. S. Census of 1950 gave indifator today that California is still far from its goal of decent homes for its more than 10,000,000 inhabitants.

Towels dry fluffier, softer in my automatic gas clothes dryer... with far less work for me... at far lower cost, too!

Automatic Gas Clothes Dryer illustrated is WHIRLPOOL. Other leading makes include Bendix and Kenmore.

My new automatic gas clothes dryer supplies perfect drying weather whenever I choose to wash...reduces drying time to minutes...assures soft, fluffy sweet-smelling clothes...and saves me so much work. For example, I no longer lug heavy baskets to outside lines. I don't hang up pieces and in turn take them down. I just toss my wet clothes into my automatic gas clothes dryer...set the control...and in a matter of minutes take them out.

Yes, clothes drying is really convenient with my new gas clothes dryer ...so much faster, too! And besides being better, gas costs less. The installed price of an automatic gas clothes dryer is lower than that of other automatic dryers. The operating cost is lower, too. With gas, it's only 2¢ to 3¢ per dryer-full.

See the displays now at dealers' or your Gas Company. Then ask your Santa (or use your Christmas money) to bring you the pleasure and convenience of automatic gas clothes drying.

THE EAGLE'S NEST

TO ENCOURAGE YOUNG WRITERS

Dedicated to JOHN KINLOCH who gave his life fighting for democracy.

WE BELIEVE THAT NOW MORE THAN EVER ALL YOUNG WRITERS MUST BE ENCOURAGED—AND HELP BUILD OUR PEOPLE'S CULTURE. TO ENCOURAGE THEM, WE WILL DEVOTE A FULL PAGE IN EACH ISSUE OF THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE FOR PUBLISHING THEIR WORKS.

COME YE WRITERS! SEND US YOUR ESSAYS, ARTICLES, POEMS, STORIES, SKETCHES—WHATEVER YOU FEEL YOU MUST SAY. KEEP THEM UNDER 1000 WORDS. SEND THEM TO THE EAGLE'S NEST, c/o CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 1065 EAST 41ST STREET, LOS ANGELES.

Tonight the city is tense. A riot may happen in the next breath.

And if it does, there will be a committee appointed to investigate it. The committee will report, and it will have a great deal to say about how to stop the NEXT riot.

But somebody will be dead in a pink cushioned box and scars will streak across the face of our city that will not heal, and a thousand kids will have seen the riot and they will never forget it. It will lie in their minds, hard and cold; a ball of hate to rattle in their heads for a thousand tomorrows.

And somewhere tonight there is a man clearing his throat for the speech he will make after the next riot.

"These N---s have got to be shown their place. Los Angeles is a Southern Town now, and we're gotta let the darkies know it."

There are presses in our city tonight which will print the stories to start the next riot.

"Tonight Mrs. Lula Blatz, attractive housewife, was brutally insulted by a hulking Negro rapist. . . ."

And somewhere tonight there is the tongue which will send up the first lynch cry. . . . "Get That N----r."

And the hate is there.

Like devilish electric sparks it whistles out of eyes that remember Mississippi and from the Dixie-accented voice of the street car conductor just in from Oklahoma.

It is here in the furniture sign, "Nigger Bathroom," hastily snatched down by a pair of trembling black hands.

But most of all it bites into the gizzard of a guy who comes from Corpus Christi to Little Tokyo and is tired of the smell of poverty with a sixty dollar check in his pocket.

He is tired of the streets "across Main" where a Nazi may find lodging, but not a Negro. Is tired of the letter from Joe at Camp Stewart, Miss., and the familiar irony of setting behind the sign marked FOR COLORED, and feeling your insides curl up and turn white.

These are things to make men mad.

Tonight there is a room in our city, and a table, and chairs where evil men sit to plan the next riot. All these things may be the feet and arms and legs of the next riot, but this room is its soul.

Here is where the riot is not a collection of grievances, an outburst, an emotional explosion. Here is where the riot is conscious and loaded with politics.

Here is where the Los Angeles Railway Company leers across the unity of America and determines it will hire no Negroes, will permit its street cars, jammed to the seams, to roll through our town, moving match boxes where the word Nigger from an Oklahoma conductor's lips may set hell loose.

Here is the Examiner and the Herald. Here the stories plotted for tomorrow's paper. The story of that hulking Negro rapist.

And another room where lesser Fascist figures plan where to plunge the knife in their nation's back.

What did Walter White say?

Riots do not happen—they are provoked.

What names did he call?

The Klan, Coughlin, Gerald L. K. Smith, the Black Legion, The Committee of One Million.

Who will say they are not here also?

What about the "funny" stories of how the Jews won't fight and how scared a Negro soldier became at Guadalcanal. What fascist tongues first spelled them in our city's ear.

And Carey McWilliams, a gentleman of wide renown who has written books that are classics on the shelves of schools that study "race relations."—this Carey McWilliams, a professional guy who does not spout to hear his lungs deflate, gives a speech and says Los Angeles is "between riots unless we act. . . ."

Unless We Act

There must be another room in the city where conscious people face the threat of battle on our streets. We must fill that room.

We must decide to throw all the force of a great democracy against the secret lies whispered from ear to ear, the chortled joke against the Jew, the housing restriction, the defense plant where a Negro, no matter how good, cannot become a lead man, or do at all the job he's best fitted for.

We must take to the air, so that thousands of radios in thousands of parlors of common men will tell the story of one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

We must call a meeting of a hundred thousand people, so that Los Angeles may sing together the songs that have made our country great, and hear together of Colin Kelley and Dorie Miller, and see the ordered marching lines of black soldiers, and hear Robeson's mighty voice boom the glory of our land, so that we may drown the secret lies in a chorus of common people learning that all men ARE created equal and must be treated equal or no man will live free and our nation's blood will have spilled for nothing and our boys will come marching home to a desert where fascist buzzards eat the carcass we called liberty.

The cost of each three-day Christmas vacation outing will be only $5.50. The non-profit fee covers six meals, two nights' lodging, and participation in all regular camp activities. Any girl eight years of age or older may enjoy the outings.

Reservations may be made by calling the Griffith Park Girls Camp direct at OLympia 1215, or at the offices of the Recreation and Park Department, Room 225, L. A. City Hall, MIchigan 5211, Station 352.

White House Conf.

George Hjelte, general manager of the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department, this week attended the Mid-century White House Conference on Children and Youth.

Held in Washington, D. C., the conference began last Sunday (Dec. 3) and was scheduled to end today (Dec. 7).

Hjelte read a paper on "The Contribution of Leisure Activities to the Development of a Wholesome Personality."

Scout Exec. In D. C.

Arnold C. Sorenson, scout executive of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council, is in Washington, D. C., to attend the mid-century White House conference on children and youth, which ends today.

Sorenson is one of 103 persons from the state of California invited to represent various youth activities and other aspects affecting youth at the conference.

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

Gloria Evans, Audrey Springs, Barbara Anderza, Loraine Houton, and Rose Marie Hartsfield have finally hit the spotlight. My, but they hada hard time tryin' to keep up with the Sisters in charge of the year book, all but pleading on their knees so that they could get their names in it this year. Such is life. . . . Alma Winchester and Dandruff Dan, the mystery man, are getting along fine together. . . . No¼, readers, I'm gonna intrust you with my most secret, secret. Promise not to breathe a word of it. Here goes, then. Marlene Simmons is simply googy about Clarence "Andy Pandy" Anderson. Remember . . . you promised not to tell. . . . After all of three years, Johnny Carter is still in love with Johnetta Branche. Gosh . . . that must be true, true love. . . . Haven't heard of or from Sherman Walker. Confess, girls, which one of you has him? I know he's cute, but you don't havee to hoard, you know. . . . Cleaveland Ellington, where have ya been keeping yo'self, honey chile? Haven't seen ya in a long time. By this I don't mean to say that I miss you. Quite on the contrary. I'm enjoying peace and plenty of it. Don't take it to heart, you're onee of the sweetest boys that I know. . . . But I don't know many (smile). . . . Who is the apple of Johnny Semana's eye? ? ? or haven't ya found oute yet? . . . Did ya know that some people actually waste money on some people? Well, it's true, 'cause a boy called all the way from Frisco, hold it . . . just to call Ole Ora Williams. . . . Can you imagine that? ? ? Jody Clark still has her snooty nose high up in the air. She drove a "50" Pontiac to church Sunday, you know.

From now on, according to the Creeper, I shall have all the news to be had. Why, the sweet little darling said that he was greatly offended because of my terming him a she, he or it, in my last column. . . . Norma Jones, ya still love Dennis, don't you? ? ? Becky Wright, of Pasadena, is the queen of hearts, according to the comment of the males. . . . Maurine Merleson is now in possession of a great key. What kind of a key, you might ask It's the most wonderful of all keys. Sure, you guessed it. It's the key to Rudolph Brown's heart. . . . Charles Holmes has finally confessed. That little girl who lives on Vernon, her name is Judy W. My goodness! he didn't even tell her last name. Must thing that he might create unnecessary competition. . . . Connie Barnes, is it Blood, Snooks or Mickey? . . . Albert C. has practically moved on West 30th and Cataline. Hum . . . must be love.

Community Coop To Be Discussed At Central Gardens

Excitement is agog in the neighborhood of Central Avenue Gardens over the meeting scheduled for Wednesday night, December 13th at the First Baptist Church, 94th and Zamora Ave.

It is on this night that plans made ten years ago by this group for a Community Cooperative will be brought into discusion again.

Attorney Marshall Denton, whom the community is proud to claim as one of its own, he having been a pioneer resident of the Gardens, will be the speaker.

Recreation Department's Yuletide In Over 100 City Playgrounds

With most Los Angeles children, teen-agers, and grownups already making plans for the Yuletide season, the City Recreation and Park Department today was busy completing its own plans for hundreds of special Christmas events to be held at most municipal playgrounds.

More than 100 city playgrounds have scheduled children's parties and playlets, and for teen-agers there will be tree trimming "bees," caroling parties and a host of other events.

Climaxing the series of holiday observances at each of the receration centers, according to the Recreation and Park Department, there will be big community Christmas programs for all members of the family.

Playground community clubhouses will be gaily decorated with brightly lighted trees and Christmas trimmings handmade by youngsters under the guidance of recreation directors.

Special holiday events, scheduled to take place on various dates throughout the month of December, will also include games and sports, field days, tournaments, exhibits outings, handicrafts and hobbies, and boys' and girls' club programs.

Christmas Spirit Is Theme Of Jeff Drama Students' Pageant

The "Return of the Christmas Spirit" is the theme of this year's Christmas pageant at Jefferson High this Friday night, December 8th at 7:30 in the 'school auditorium.

The play will be produced by the same talented students in the drama department who received wide recognition last Easter for their moving and beautiful Easter play.

The production this year will be enhanced with some background choral singing by the well known A Cappella Choir. The play is directed by Mr. Jean LeVeque, and the choir is under the leadership of Mr. Larry Larsen. The pageant is a serious effort on the part of Jefferson High School to rekindle the true spirit of Christmas which seems to be lacking in these times.

There will be no admission charge to the performance. However, there will be an opportunity for patrons to make a material contribution in the form of canned goods for the needy in the community.

A space has been set aside under the Chirstmas tree in the lobby of the auditorium for any canned goods, no matter how small, which friends of Jefferson wish to give for the less fortunate around us.

On behalf of the faculty and the student body at Jefferson High School Principal Arthur N. Farnham wishes to extend to all a Merry Christmas and a happy, prosperous and fruitful New Year.

Avalon Christian Church Men's Day

The men of Avalon Christian Church will be in charge of the Annual Men's Day services on Sunday, December 10, at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. The speaker at the eleven o'clock hour will be the well-known attorney, Vince Monroe Townsend, who will be introduced by Mr. Robert B. Strather, well-known in civic and fraternal circles. Special music will be rendered by Mr. Samuel King, who is an outstanding soloist.

There will also be a special Men's Day service at 3 p.m., at which time the speaker will be the Rev. M. L. Scott, new pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, who is leading this church to a new level of prominence in the city. Special music will also be be featured at this service, and a reading by Mr. H. B. Hunt.

Under the able leadership of Mrs. Daniel Vaughn Sawyer, manager of the local office of the Universal Life Insurance Company, and Mr. J. A. Petteway, superintendent for the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Men of Avalon are hoping to raise $2500 to redecorate and recondition the church property. Teh spirit of cooperation is high in the church and it is expected that the goal will be reached.

A Men's Day dinner will be held by the group of Mr. T. S. Anderson at 1 p.m. on next Sunday so that the families will not have to go home for dinner, and to enable the afternoon service to start on time.

The evening service at 8 p.m. will be under the leadership of Mrs. Pauline Coffee and the Capella Choir. Mrs. Coffee returns to the Avalon Church for regular Sunday evening evangelistic services after a trip to Northern California where she was a convention speaker. The public is invited to all the services of the church. Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke is pastor of the church.

Trinity St. P.-T.A.

"Music Renews Our Christmas Spirit" is the topic for Trinity St. PTA association meeting, which is to be held December 14, at 7:30 p.m., in the school auditorium.

The entire school is preparing a very interesting Christmas program.

The annual Community singing will be under the supervision of Mrs. Marall Malek, music chairman.

The grab bag will be sponsored by the Room Mothers' organization.

JPFO Honors Eagle Editor In Testimonial

By WINIFRED ORR

A breath of the Soviet Union was brought to the people of Los Angeles gathered in the Embassy auditorium last Sunday evening at a testimonial given by the Jewish People's Fraternal Order honoring Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, who has recently returned from a trip to Europe including the Soviet Union.

"Naturally I had heard talk about the Iron Curtain land the bloody Red Square," said Mrs.

CHARLOTTA A. BASS, editor and publisher of the California Eagle, was honored at a testimonial program last Sunday by the Jewish People's Fraternal Order. On the right, Mrs. Bass is presented with a plaque by Sadie Duroshkin, JPFO executive secretary. On the left, Pearl Fagelson, in behalf of the Emma Lazarus Division of JPFO, presents Mrs. Bass with a miniature of the Statue of Liberty while Celia Schwartz, president of Emma Lazarus Division looks on. Inscribed on the base of the statuette are the immortal words written by Emma Lazarus for the base of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

No Skating For Negroes In Roller Dome, Culver City, Negroes Told

On November 31st at 8 p.m. Sonny Reed, well known musician and band leader in the Bay Area took his friends and family (7 adults and 3 children ages 5, 8 and 11) to the Roller Dome at Washington Place and Washington Blvd. in Culver City.

Mr. Reed had called earlier to find out what time they opened, what the price of tickets was, and what the proper type of dress was. The group came according to the instructions they had received.

Mr. Reed and friend Stanley Smith, walked to the ticket window and asked to buy tickets for admission. They were told by the manager-owner that "We don't admit Negroes. Negroes are not allowed to skate here, take your skating elsewhere."

The two men turned and walked to the parking lot to get into their car. They were standing next to their car when two patrolmen in a squad car pulled into the parking lot, got out of their squad car, came over to Mr. Reed and his group and said that they had been called by the manager of the Roller Dome.

"You have been tampering with cars in the parking lot."

Mr. Reed denied this. The policemen said, "You must have been or we wouldn't have gotten the call.

"We're going to take you down

Messenger Boy Thrown In Jail And Denied Medical Attention

A kidnapping charge lodged against a 19 year old Western Union messenger who had been mercilessly beaten by a motorcycle officer at the corner of Hill St. and Pico Boulevard Monday, has brought demands for a thorough investigation. Reported to the California Eagle by an eyewitness whose identity is being withheld, the beating and subsequent arrest of the youth, Edward Stanley of 13333 Dern, brought a series of startling disclosures that have been called to the attention of Police Chief Parker.

The youth, jailed at the University police station, was being held virtually incommunicado until a California Eagle reporter and attorney Rayfield Lundy went to the police station and demanded to see him. Verbal permission was given by the detective bureau to a jail officer, but almost immediately, the sergeant in charge rescinded the order. Lundy, who is serving as counsel for young Stanley without fee ,took issue with the sergeant's order, and he was granted permission to confer with his client.

The Eagle representative protested his exclusion and he was granted a written pass. While the controversy raged, the Sergeant and two jail officers went into the detention cell where young Stanley was being held. They spent a half hour trying to influence him to say he did not want to see Lundy or the reporter. The youth insisted he had not done anything to be in jail, and he would be glad to talk to anyone who would help get him out.

He told the Eagle reporter that

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

Some good people throw rocks, and hide their hands.

Mostly this sort of practice is common to what is called politics, but not clean politics.

During the recent Congressional election, when I was a candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional District, one day I was a visitor to the Baptist Ministers Union. I spoke a few words, and among them I mentioned the fact that I had recently visited Russia and contrary to reports that there were no churches in Russia, I had discovered many churches holding services just as we do here in our country.

Some of the brethren who were open-minded, wanted to hear what I had to say. But since the agenda for that day had been earlier arranged with a full program, the time allotted to me was so limited that some of the ministers among them my own pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, suggested that more time be allowed me at the next meeting of the Union.

However when the time for the next meeting rolled around I was told by my very good friend and the fellow townsman of my deceased husband, Joseph B. Bass, the Rev. Stevens, that I could not appear on the program. When I asked why, his only answer was: "I am sorry. But I am inviting you to speak at the groundbreaking services of the Ararat, my new church, next Sunday."

While I appreciated Rev. Stevens' attitude, I have until today wanted to know why I was denied the opportunity to speak to a body of Christians with whom I have been connected denominationally about forty years.

But what I've grapevine I now understand that the denial was based on the accusation of a minister connected with the Church that I was a Communist. I am renewing my request to come before the Baptist Ministers Union to answer my brother's accusation.

I call your attention to the 8th chapter of John the Apostle.

"Jesus went unto the Mount of Olives.

And early in the morning he came down again unto the temple, and all the people came unto him, and he sat down, and taught them.

And the scribes and Pharisees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery; and when they had set her in the midst, they said unto him, "Master, this woman was taken in adultery."

I delete part of the chapter, using only that portion which relates to the truth which I hope to convey.

This they said, tempting him that they might have to accuse him.

But Jesus stooped down and with his finger wrote on the ground, as though he heard them not.

So when they continued asking him, he lifted up himself and said unto them, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." And again he stooped down and wrote on the ground.

And they which heard it, being convicted in their own conscience, went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, even unto the last:

And Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

Truly my case and that of this woman is not precisely parallel.

The Bible character was accused by the brethren of

WIDF Supports Plans Of World Peace Congress

PARIS, France—The Women's International Democratic Federation gives its entire support to the Manifesto of the Peoples of the World and to the Address to the United Nations Organization issued by the Second World World Peace Congress held at Warsaw from November 16th to 22nd 1950, according to a recent statement issued by the WIDF.

The W.I.D.F. emphasises the special importance for peace-loving women of the proposals contained in Point Seven of the Address to the U.N.O.

The banning of weapons of mass extermination.

The denouncing as a war criminal of any government which uses them first.

The progressive, simultaneous and immediate reduction of all armed forces, whether land, sea or air.

The control of the reduction of conventional weapons of mass destruction, as well as of war stocks, the control also to cover production, declared or presumed.

The W.I.D.F. considers the decisions of the two World Peace

Negro Vets Condemn Discrimination In Federal Printing

Negro veterans of World War II last week again condemned the discrimination against them at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. In a letter to members of the Senate Raymond F. Cook, chairman of the Veterans Committee of the United Public Workers Union, charged that even while the agency continues to exclude the Negro veterans from the plate printers craft, it is hiring white plate printers weekly. Mr. Cook said that contact on the FEPC issue was renewed with Senators Langer, Lehmann and Humphrey because of a letter which the Negro veterans recently received from Alvin W. Hall, director of the Bureau of Engraving, stating that no appointments would be made as long as Congress was actively considering the bill which would bar the appoint-

Congress Extends Rent Controls But Los Angeles Is In Doubt

Rent decontrol in Los Angeles is still a moot question despite the passage of controls until March 31 by action of both houses of Congress. Crux of the local controversy is the Cain amendment to the recently-passed extension bill. It is retroactive and says that local governing bodies can order decontrol by a simple ordinance.

Almost five months of squabbling over the decontrol measure passed by the City Council, during which time a half dozen courts have decided one way or another on the question have left Angelenos with rent curbs and a pittery feeling that anything can happen at any time.

It is possible that the United States Supreme Court will deal with the Council's decontrol bill, and some quarters expect President Truman to act if the going gets too rough. Housing Expediter Tighe Woods has refused to decontrol Los Angeles rents, and in this position he is supported by the overwhelming number of tenants who complain of housing shortages and threatened sky-high rent hikes.

Southeast Area Group To Fight Restrictions

A representative group of citizens in the Southeast area met recently to plan action against the revived restrictive covenants campaign that is being waged by certain real estate interests against Negro home owners.

Directing its attention to the case concerning a Negro family on E. 117th Street, the group composed of trade union and IPP representatives and members of the Southeast Interracial Council, met at the home of Mr. and Charging extreme mental and physical cruelty, through her counsel, Atty. Jas. N. Reese, Mrs. Melissa Brown filed suit for divorce last week against her husband, Fred. The hearing is slated to take place Dec. 20, in Dept. "S" so great has been her fear of her husband for four months, that she had to have a temporary levy a restraining order against him. He had habitually beaten her unmercifully, and threatened her life, she told Reese.

With Mrs. Clack are Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle editor-publisher, Charles Glen of the Southern California Peace Council, and Mrs. Clack's husband. Mrs. Clack will report on her visit to the Soviet Union and on the overwhelming desire for peace she found during her travels abroad.

Marshall Waits MacArthur OK For Japan Trip

NEW YORK—Application for a military entry permit to enable him to go to Japan has been made by Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who hopes to undertake the defense of 24th Infantryman in courts-martial cases.

More than a score of these Negro soldiers have appealed to the association for assistance.

Marshall's application will come before General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, who alone can approve the trip. Word is expected to reach the NAACP offices on Gen. MacArthur's decision in about 15 days. In the meantime, preparations are being made for Marshall's departure for Japan as soon as the permission is received.

Dr. Bunche Asks For Peace And True Equality

OSLO, Norway—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche former United Nations mediator, called for peace and equality Monday when he was awarded the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize for his successful mediation in Palestine.

"May there be in our time a world of peace in which we, the people, make full use of the possibilities which are in us, a world of freedom and equality among all men," the noted statesman said.

Dr. Bunche received the Nobel gold medal, a diploma and a check for $31,178.

In a lecture on peace delivered in Aula Auditorium, Dr. Bunche told his auditors, ". . . the massive and destive millions of Asia and Africa are a significant factor in all peace calculations."

The former Howard University professor who reportedly has been given a professorship at Harvard University, was reared in Los Angeles by his grandmother following the death of his parents. He received his education here and is a graduate of UCLA.

Divorce Case Toned Down By Agreement

The divorce action began last month by Mrs. Maggie Willingham against her restaurant owner husband, Enoch Willingham, which had all of the elements of a sensational trial, has been settled.

The parties through their lawyers, got together and made a property settlement prior to going ahead with the action.

Leaders Plan Action Against Gerrymander In 14th District

The Assembly interim elections and reapportionment committee ducked the issue of reapportionment of the 14th Congressional District at its meeting held in Los Angeles last Friday. Meeting in the state building with Assemblyman Laughlin E. Waters presiding, the committee flatly refused to permit discussion of the issue.

According to Waters, his committee would have to obtain tract maps and complete census data before it could tackle the district problem. Leaders interested in having the 14th reapportioned so that it will be possible to elect a Negro congressman, led by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle publisher, were on hand to make the demands of the citizens in the 14th known.

Later, He Says

Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins stated that the committee will take up the reapportionment next January in Sacramento. He said there was some hope for another session in Los Angeles next February.

Among the 14th District leaders who attended the session prepared to inform the committee that the Negro voters in the 14th will not stand for a gerrymandering deal were: former Assemblyman Fred Roberts, Horace Alexander, of the IPP, and Mrs. Faustina Johnson of the Watts Chamber of Commerce.

Plan Meeting

Meanwhile, B. B. Bratton, C.P.A., and former Republican congressional candidate from the 14th, is head of a steering committee of five which will arrange a meeting at the Crystal Tea Room on December 21 for a broad discussion of more minority legislative representation on local, state and national levels.

The committee was appointed at a meeting called by Rev. H. Mansfield Collins and Rev. S. H. Marion at the Downbeat Grill last Thursday. Present at the meeting were: Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, IPP congressional candidate; Leon Giles, Republican assembly candidate; Vince Monroe Townsend, Democratic congressional candidate; Attorney Herbert Simmons, Dr. E. I. Robinson, NAACP president; Virginia Ruiz, of the Mexican-American National Association; Alfredo Montoya, president of the same body; Mrs. Faustina Johnson, Madison Shockley, Mrs. Konstantine Sparkuhl and other leaders.

to the station for questioning unless you clear out of here."

They had put Mr. Reed and his friend into the patrol car and were attempting to handcuff them when the manager of the Roller Dome came out to the parking lot.

Mr. Reed asked him why they hadn't been allowed into the Roller Dome.

The manager said "Other arenas had to go out of business when they admitted Negroes and I'm not going to have it happen to me. You have to take your skating elsewhere."

Mr. Reed protested and mentioned the fact that he had fought to guarantee his rights in the last war. The manager called the policemen over to the side and spoke to them. The police came back shortly and released the two men, telling them to clear out of Culver City and never show their faces there again.

The Bi-Racial Committee to stop police brutality has initiated a campaign in the area to have every one call the Roller Dome and protest their discriminatory policy. The committee is also planning to protest the actions of the Culver City police. Mr. Reed also reported the police used slanderous language against him in the presence of his three young children.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Bayard Feted At Wedding Reception

On November 26, 1950, at the beautiful West Side home of Mr. and Mrs. Emongo Rutledge, 530 W. 56th St., a beautiful wedding reception was given in honor of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Bayard, a very popular couple among the younger set. The table was beautifully arranged with a lovely wedding cake. They received many lovely gifts from local and out-of-town friends. There were more than seventy-five guests and many telegrams and cards from out of the city. The bride's gown was made of white satin and Valencia lace. The attending bridesmaids looked lovely in gowns made of tulle and satin. Their bonquets were made of garden flowers. The bride and groom will be at home to their many friends at 1526 E. 48th St. They wish to thank their many friends for the many gifts and beautiful inspirations of congratulations.

Officials of the United Public Workers Union have announced that steps to bring this entire matter before the American voters have been speeded up and that they expect a flood of wires to reach President Truman protesting his one year's delay in enforcing the decision of his own FEP Board which ruled that the Negro veterans should be promoted to the plate printing craft at the Bureau of Engraving.

disrupting the moral atmosphere in which they lived and moved.

When Jesus called upon them to testify to their purity, they could not stand the test. They were perhaps more guilty than the accused woman.

I am accused of being a Communist.

The sins I have committed have been a forty-year fight in this community for equal rights for the Negro people, and other oppressed minorities.

I have called for equality all along the line: in jobs, housing, hotel accommodations, schools and educational facilities, swimming pools, etc.

I have fought Jimcrow in housing projects and in railroad accommodations for Negroes between California and the South.

I have fought unceasingly police brutality against Negro and Mexican Americans.

I feel that a present example of injustice and criminal neglect is the government paradox in the cases of Lieutenant Gilbert and Else Koch.

Gilbert, whose reputation as a good citizen and a brave soldier is beyond question, was given a brief trial by courtmartial, and sentenced to death when he refused to lead his men to certain death.

Ilse Koch murdered thousands of innocent people, then used the skins from their bodies to make lampshades.

Gilbert's trial was quick and decisive.

The butcher of Buchenwald was given a lengthy trial by an American military court, and sentenced to only four years' imprisonment.

The German people were not satisfied with the American court's decision, however, and Ilse is being tried again. This time by a German court.

Even though Gilbert's sentence has been commuted to 20 years at hard labor by the President, I call attention to the inequality of these two cases.

And if this sort of protest makes me unpopular with some people, even of my own racial identity, I am willing to be unpopular.

Because Jesus spent his time on earth fighting corruption in high places, administering to the sick, poor, and needy, refusing to condemn the woman who was the victim of the sort of life her accusers made for her, he, too, was unpopular. No doubt if he lived today, he would be called a Communist.

For it seems that only those who fight against the forces that make war and destroy the peace and unity among peoples and nations, are called Communists.

Yes, I am guilty of fighting against all the things that destroy the peace. I am guilty of fighting for full citizenship for my people, and of all minority groups. I am guilty of working for the rights of all Americans, regardless of color or creed or race.

Does this make me a Communist?

I ask only for a fair trial before the Baptist Ministers Union.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE EAGLE

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the eighth installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

HAPPY CHILDREN of Georgia gather around Charlotta A. Bass in the entrance to the Palace of Fine Arts. One of the most beautiful structures in Russia, the edifice was once the palace of the Czars in Belisi. The spacious grounds are used by the children of workers now to run and play and gather flowers. Before the picture was taken, the children danced and sang to entertain Mrs. Bass.

WAYLAND RUDD, citizen of the USSR, motion picture producer and actor, toasts Charlotta A. Bass at a reception in her honor the evening before she left Moscow to return to Los Angeles. The gala affair took place in the National Hotel, and was attended by representatives from every walk of life. Rudd had been an American citizen before he became a citizen of Russia, where he said, he enjoyed full equality.

THE COLOR QUESTION

It has been stated and restated by many American writers that there is no race or color question in many parts of Europe, but particularly in Russia.

My first observation of Europe's position on the race and color question was at Prague, perhaps at the National Student Peace Conference.

I remember the first afternoon I entered the great auditorium where the conference was being held. Each row of tables that stretched down the full length of the room was capacity filled with students. I understood that all told there were three thousand students in attendance at this Second World Students Peace Conference.

It was not, however, the great numbers of students present that interested me most, but the sober attitude of these students and the seriousness with which they tackled the questions of peace and war.

Conferences of such, or nearly such proportions in my country that I have observed, have always been predominantly white with a few dark persons tucked apart in the back or some remote corner of the hall.

Such was not the case in Prague. As I was directed to a seat on the speakers' stand where I could get a full view of the auditorium, the first thing that attracted my attention was the African delegation right out in front.

Next to the African delegation was the Soviet—I want to say aggregation and I say this advisedly. For in this delegation there was every human element, from a Frigid Zone blond to a clay-baked brown from deep down in India.

And mixed right in the middle of these were the sophisticated British and the pompous Americans.

To this Students Conference had come some of the best minds of our time and this period of intense world complex problems.

Among the first speakers to be presented to the Congress was Professor J. D. Bernal, who spoke on the subject "Weapons of Mass Destruction."

One of the lasting and most profound utterances made by this educator in his speech was this statement: "As long as the A-bomb hangs over the world as a possible weapon of war there can be no general reconciliation."

Kenneth Ingram, using as his subject "World Organization," said that governments were gambling with high stakes. Every armaments race in history, he said, had always led to war.

And 83-year-old Lady Parmoor, speaking on "Students and Peace" said that "Since war begins in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defense of Peace must be constructed."

After these and other guest speakers had been presented the students themselves took over.

The student representing the youth of Korea was among the first speakers. He said in part:

Allow me to greet you on behalf of the youth of Korea and to convey to you who are present at the Second Congress of IUS our most sincere and fighting salutes. We thank you for your brotherly support and sympathy, which you have manifested in our fight against armed intervention of the American imperialists in Korea.

During the five years from 1945 until the first six months of this year American imperialists and their puppets in the S. M. Rhee government massacred in a barbaric way more than 200,000 of our patriots. Representatives of seven political parties and public organizations in Southern Korea saw the danger of colonization and division of our country, and that is why they appealed in June, 1949, to the Koeran people in a declaration showing concrete methods for the country in accordance with the wish of the whole Korean nation.

"The democratic national front of Korea emphasized in its appeal that our people do not want a civil war. Our people do not want to shed blood in the interest of American imperialists and their reactionary lackeys. The Korean people wish to unite the country in peace and are confident that they will achieve this and by their own means."

Students from Africa, Indian, Burma, Puerto Rico, the West Indies and all the so-called dark countries raised their voices against the invasion of Korea, blaming in most part the United States for the war in Korea.

They also denounced colonialism in the British African colonies.

Color in Russia

My most sanguine expectations were surpassed in Russia. For here I did not expect to find enough dark people even to project a color question. Yet here one of the first persons I met was a young Negro girl, Lily Golden. She is the daughter of a Negro and a white woman, who were married and who lived for a time in that section of "free" America where it is unlawful for a Negro to marry a white woman. Her father, John Golden, had been a victim of persecution in his childhood and youth. He and his wife were even more brutally persecuted after they were married.

They finally came to the USSR. Here, says Mrs. Golden, "for the first time my husband and I felt like human beings."

I also met Mrs. Patterson, the widow of Lloyd Patterson, one of the 22 Negroes who went to Russia in the early thirties to enter the motion picture industry. He, too, had known racial discrimination and persecution in his own land. In Russia he married a beautiful girl, and from this union three sons were born. But in 1941 Patterson was shell-shocked in Moscow during a German raid, his health declined, and within a few months he died. Mrs. Patterson was left to care for her three sons. She is a recognized artist in the Soviet Union, and supports her family with her earnings from art.

Then there is Weyland Rudd, another of the 22 who went to Russia to enter the motion picture industry. He married a Russian girl, and I had the pleasure of visiting him while in Moscow. He is a fine looking man, highly respected, and is a movie producer connected with one of the large movie concerns in Moscow. Since my return home I received a card from him, saying he and a famous Russian actress had played "Deep are the Roots" for the Soviet people.

No, there is no race or color question in the USSR. Each and all are citizens of one great country, all working together for peace, not war. There is no war hysteria there. No cry for the atom bomb. Welded together for the good of all, there is no room for hatred, for bitterness, for strife. There is no discrimination, no segregation. There is real unity instead, all working together for world peace and for the welfare and happiness of all mankind.

News from Europe and Other Countries

PRAGUE—A great drive is under way in Czechoslovakia mines to fulfill this year's planned target by December 15, and the special targets in excess of the plan, which the workers have set themselves, by December 23.

AFRICANS CHALLENGE WHITE MAN

JOHANNESBURG, S. Africa—Forced by pressure to give an "explanation" of the South African government's racist policy of segregation for all non-Europeans—90% of the country's population—Minister of Native Affirs, Dr. Verwoerd, failed miserably to justify this policy to the African people.

In an uncompromising rejection of Verwoerd's argument, the African leader, Selope Thema, declared the white man's dominion was going to be challenged by Africans all over Africa. "I am not prepared to stand in the relationship of servant to anyone," he said. "We can live together only as partners. If the white man alone is to make the laws, then the laws must apply to white men alone."

BERLIN — Very few former young officers and hardly any rank-and-file soldiers apply for service in the West German police army, according to a public complaint made by the West German government's "Security Commissioner."

AMERICAN TO HEAD TURKISH BANK

WASHINGTON — The new Turkish Bank of "Industrial Reconstruction" is to be headed by an American — Norman Tucker, who is resigning from his post as Director of the International Bank of Reconstruction.

The Turkish Bank of Industrial Reconstruction will direct American and other investments in industries and other fields of war potential. These plans involve the doubling of Turkey's steel production and the opening up of important chrome mines in Mara and Hatay Provinces. The strategic raw materials are to be shipped direct to the United States for war production and stockpiling.

SAVE HYDERABAD PEASANTS

LONDON — Public opinion is rallying in England to halt the execution of 17 Hyderabad peasants, India. The Indian Supreme Court rejected the appeal of the peasants who had been sentenced to death after a farcical trial for the crime, three years ago, of seizing land and resisting the troops of the feudal ruler who tried to restore the landlords' grip.

TURKEY WORRIED OVER KOREA

SOFIA—Articles in the Istanbul press show that the Turkish reactionaries are very worried by the successes of the People's Armies in Korea. Headlined "We Must Come out of the Trap in Korea," the newspaper Vatan urges "the best solution to the Korean war is to save the maximum land forces as the English did in the last war in Norway and France."

BRITISH WITHDRAWAL FROM EGYPT

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt—A draft motion approving "without reservation" the Egyptian Government's demands on Britain for the evacuation of the Suez Canal Zone, has been drawn up for voting by parliament.

Warnings are being expressed that the British are seeking some formula which would continue the occupation of Egyptian territory under some other guise, and heavy pressure of public opinion against such a settlement is being put on the government.

"LIBERATE TIBET"

CHUNG KING—A rally was held somewhere on the Sikang-Tibet front on November 17, at which Tibetan people of all strata expressed their desire to help the Korean people. The living Buddha Chunga stated at the meeting: "Our best way to resist American aggression is to put all our efforts into helping the People's Liberation Army to liberate Tibet." Peasants, monks, nomads, merchants and Lamas came to the meeting place bearing Chinese national flags, pictures of Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Commander-in-Chief, Chu Teh, and huge slogans in the Tibetan language.

TRUMAN A-BOMB THREAT BRINGS WORLD-WIDE PHOTESTS

NEW YORK—A wave of spontaneous peace actions and protests was the immediate reaction in the United States to President Truman's threat on November 30th to use the atom bomb in Korea.

More than 20,000 New York women who crowded the corridors of the United Nations demanded the immediate cessation of hostilities.

Chairman Marcantonio of the American Labour Party said that Truman's announcement was "a threat of war against all the people of the world."

Only a megalomaniac like MacArthur, states the West Coast People's World, "could have expected that China would permit a major United States force to entrench itself on its borders." "But no sober, thinking Americans," added the paper, "can blink the fact that the peoples of China and Korea will never permit their countries to be subjugated by General MacArthur."

The locals of the Ships' Scalers and Painters' Union, International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the National Union of Marine Cooks have endorsed proposals of the National Labour Conference for Peace.

These include the recognition of China and a cease-fire in Korea.

ITALY — "Criminal" — that is the universal verdict of the Italian people on Truman's threat to use the atom bomb in Korea. Wherever Italian people congregate the highest indignation is being expressed.

The strongest voice of protest against Truman proposal came from Italy's factory workers. Brief strikes were carried out in Milan and other industrial centers in northern Italy, as well as in Rome. Various Rome trade unions sent protest messages to the U. S. Embassy, to the president of the Italian Republic, and to the presidents of both houses of parliament.

PARIS, France—Here, just as in Britain, the rightist press has been making frantic efforts to distort and water down the threats contained in Truman's statements on the use of the atom bomb.

Yet Attlee's trip to Washington dispelled all these futile efforts at covering up the United States warmongers. Paris observers comment that Britain at least recognised the seriousness of Truman's threats.

Significantly noted here — and given more publicity even than Attlee's departure—was the fact that his trip to Washington was approved—and perhaps initiated —by Churchill, whose knowledge as to what constitutes a threat of war is unrivalled.

MEXICO CITY—President Truman's atomz-bomb threat evoked consternation and revulston in Mexico. Many people were visibly disturbed while others were indignant.

Two coal miners representing 7,000 strikers against three companies owned chiefly by United States capital, told Telepress correspondent: "He must be crazy. Does he think he can get away with it?"

Truman's statement aroused misgivings among many at Mexico City College, where the student body consists almost entirely of American vetrans of the last war whose studies are being financed by the United States government. One said laconically: "It is just as far from Moscow to New York as from New York to Moscow."

LONDON—Under the impact of public opinion, the British, French, Indian and even Canadian governments are now definitely in disagreement with Truman's policy of all—out war against the Chinese People's Republic.

All these governments are now trying to disassociate themselves from the responsibility for Truman's and MacArthur's aggression against China. Some of them are doing this openly.

In fact, the split between Washington is now so menacing that according to London Times correspondent at Lake Success, various delegations o fthe American camp are already "uncomfortably aware that, even more important than the Korean campaign, the unity of the West is at issue."

COPENHAGEN, Demark — The chairman of the Danish Communist Party handed Premier Erik Eriksen ,the following statement: "We urge the government to instruct the Danish delegation to the United Nations to oppose everyhing which may lead to further sharpening of the situation or the extension of the warlike events in East Asia, and instead support every effort to bring about a peaceful solution of the Korean conflict.

Premier Eriksen did not express disapproval of the demand.

SPANISH DEMOCRATS IN POL SPANISH DEMOCRATS IN POLAND

WARSAW—The Polish authorities have announced their willingness to provide hospitality in Poland for families of the Spanish democrats deported to Corsica and Africa by the French government. This action follows a letter from the Spanish democratic families, signed by 61 adults and 70 children.

CZECH PRIESTS SENTENCED

PRAGUE—Folowing a week's trial on charges of high treason and espionage, nine Czechoslovakian Catholic priests were sentenced to terms of imprisonment from life to ten years. The only life sentence was imposed on Abbot Jan Opasek, who was said to have made several trips to Rome to hand over espionage reports to the Pope.

SOFIA, Budgaria — The anniversary of the adoption of the constitution, three years ago, is being celebrated throughout Bulgaria. Called the Dimitrov Constitution, that great leader said it consolidated the people's power.

A. F. & A. M. Grand Lodge Raises Grigsby To Grand Jr. Warden

At a recent sitting of the A. F. A. M. Grand Lodge, Jurisdiction of California, Henry Lee Grigsby was raised to the post of Grand Junior Warden. Mr. Grigsby is Worshipful Master of St. Luke Lodge No. 29; the lodge has affiliations with Europe, Asia and Africa, and 36 states in this country. Mr. Grigsby made the welcoming address to delegates at the meeting on October 22.

The new Grand Junior Warden is well known in business, church, social and fraternal circles in this city. For a number of years he has owned and operated Henry's Service Station at the corner of Post and Webster, where the gross turn-over is well above $50,000 per year.

The service station employs seven full time workers, under the direction of a brother, Josh Grigsby, manager.

Mr. Grigsby and his wife, Ida B. Grigsby, reside at 1151 Webster, a $25,000 home purchased several years ago. The popular business man finds time to engage in many affairs of civic interest, among them, a member of the Board of Managers of the Buchanan Street YM-WY; and a member of the board of directors of the new $150,000 Macedonia Baptist Church.

A half-brother, Mr. Herbert Williams, is a building contractor in this city, while another brother, Henry Samuel Grigsby, is a member of the police force in El Centro, California. The family came to California in 1927 from the state of Mississippi.

Bass, in telling of her experiences abroad, and especially in that "forbidden" country of Russia. "But I passed through the Iron Curtain, and never felt a jar. I lived for a time in a hotel bordering the Red Square, I walked across it many times, I stopped and talked to people I met there, and never once was I questioned about my actions. Never once did I feel that I was being watched, or that anyone was following me."

Mrs. Bass had been a delegate from the United States last August to a meeting of the committee of the Defenders of the Peace, planning a conference in Great Britain later in the year. The committee meeting was held in Prague, Czechoslovakia. After the meeting Mrs. Bass visited the USSR.

The very first day of her arrival in Moscow, the people there were celebrating the birthday of Russia's beloved poet, Alexander Pushkin, of African descent. "Throngs of men, women, and children were bringing huge floral offerings and placing them at the foot of the great monument erected in the central part of the city in his honor," Mrs. Bass told her audience.

With respect to the honor done living Negroes, now in the Soviet Union, Mrs. Bass mentioned a few whom she had met—all former citizens of "free" America, who had finally left the USA and found refuge in the USSR, where they are respected and loved as leaders, and who now live the life every human being is entitled.

Mrs. Bass also described the factories she had visited in Russia, the collective and state farms, the schools, the great power and irrigation projects, the nurseries, the home, the shops.

One great textile factory in Moscow, she described, as being virtually a complete "town," with departments for nurseries, schools up to the university, library, recreation department—all in addition to the part of the factory containing the machinery where the real work was being done.

"In its industrial, scientific, and educational department are to be found peasant workers, intellectuals, artists, and some of the finest scientific minds in Russia." Mrs. Bass declared.

She visited the churches in Russia — that country that has been called "Godless," and where they say there are no churches. She talked with the priests of one Greek orthodox church, and had her picture taken with them. "Just to prove you can go to church in Russia," she remarked whimsically.

She spent a day on a tea farm in Georgia, and while in Georgia she visited the little one-room home where Joseph Stalin was born. And the little white church at the foot of a hill where Joseph Stalin's mother is resting.

"There is no race question in the Soviet Union," declared Mrs. Bass. "There is no war hysteria. No fear of the atom bomb. The people there are working for peace, and there is an atmosphere, a thinking, a yearning for peace."

"We can have that same atmosphere here," she said, raising her voice in determination. "We, Jew and Gentile, Negro and white, all of us, especially all minority groups, must work together for peace. I for one promise you that I will not cease fighting until that peace, the peace of the world, is accomplished."

The opening of the program was a skit by the A.S.P. Field Theatre, with Sanford Golden acting as master of ceremonies, Joe Johnson, port agent for the Marine Cooks, and Stewards; Sadie Durashkin, executive leader of the Emma Lazarus Chapter, JPFO; Beulah Richardson, who recited a poem of her own composition describing the fight of Judah against tyranny in the time of the Macabees; the 18-voice choral group under the direction of Sonny Vale; Rev. Stephen Fritchman, pastor of the First Unitarian Church—these were a few of the leaders of the community who honored Mrs. Bass with words of praise for her courage and for the work she has done and is doing for the people of Los Angeles, and especially those of the minority groups.

A beautiful golden plaque was presented to Mrs. Bass by the Jewish People's Fraternal Order, and a statuette of the goddess of liberty by the Emma Lazarus division. It is Emma Lazarus poem that is inscribed on the foot of the statue of liberty in New York harbor.

● Messenger Boy

he was riding his bicycle west on Pico some time after noon on Monday, on his way to deliver several telegrams. Somewhere in the vicinity of Hill Street, an automobile bearing three women, pulled up behind him. The driver blew the car's horn and the youth pulled over to the right. He says the car crowded him to the curb, and when he stopped for the traffic signal at Hill Street, the three women called him names and swore at him.

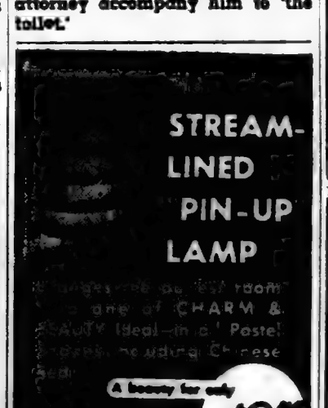
Beat By Cop

Stanley moved closer to the car to find out why the women were cursing him. As he did so, a motorcycle policeman came upon the scene. Without a word, the officer struck young Stanley a severe blow between the eyesand knocked him to the ground. Another man, reportedly a plain clothes officer, held the youth while the motorcycle cop pummelled him with his fist.

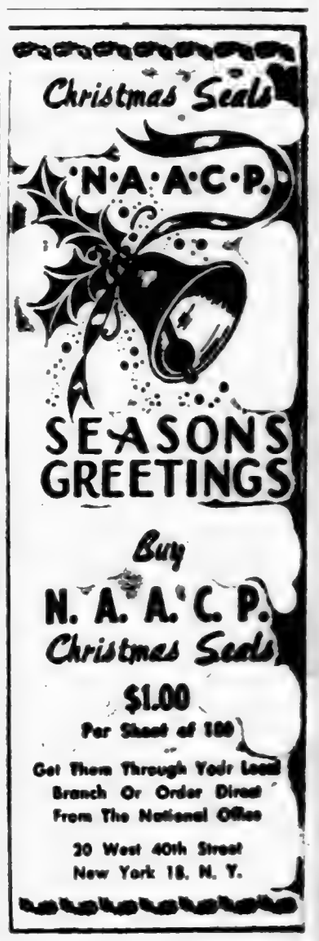
When seen in the University jail Stanley had a large lump on his forehead, a bruised right eye and his lower lip was lacerated. He said the cop beat him, then handcuffed him and took him to the University jail despite his plea that his head ached and he wanted medical attention.

Firecracker

The youth, who graduated from Jefferson High school last January, told his attorney and newsmen that he was ignored when he requested medical attention and some warm water to rince out his mouth which was caked with blood. He said that someone in the University police station set off a firecracker under his chair while he was being questioned.



At his request for medical attention, the Eagle reporter and attorney Lundy sent a prominent physician to the jail. He was refused permission to see the youth on his first visit, but later he returned and examined him. He reported that Stanley had a knot on his forehead 3 inches in diameter, a swollen eye and a lacerated lip. The doctor insisted that the youth be taken to Georgia Street Receiving hospital and given a more thorough examination including x-rays. This was done.



Investigation

The arrested youth told the doctor that he had asked for medical attention without success until he grew tired of pleading. The California Eagle notified Chief Parker's office of the refusal to grant Stanley medical attention even though it was evident that the youth had been beaten and was in pain. An investigation of the whole affair is underway by the Police Bureau of Internal Affairs.

Attorney Lundy secured a writ of Hebeas Corpus returnable Wednesday, and in attempting to serve a copy of the writ on police in City Hall headquarters, he was rudely received and rebuffed. In the hall, as he was leaving the building, Lundy was accosted by two cops, one of whom opened his coat displaying his gun, and demanded that the attorney accompany him to 'the toilet.'

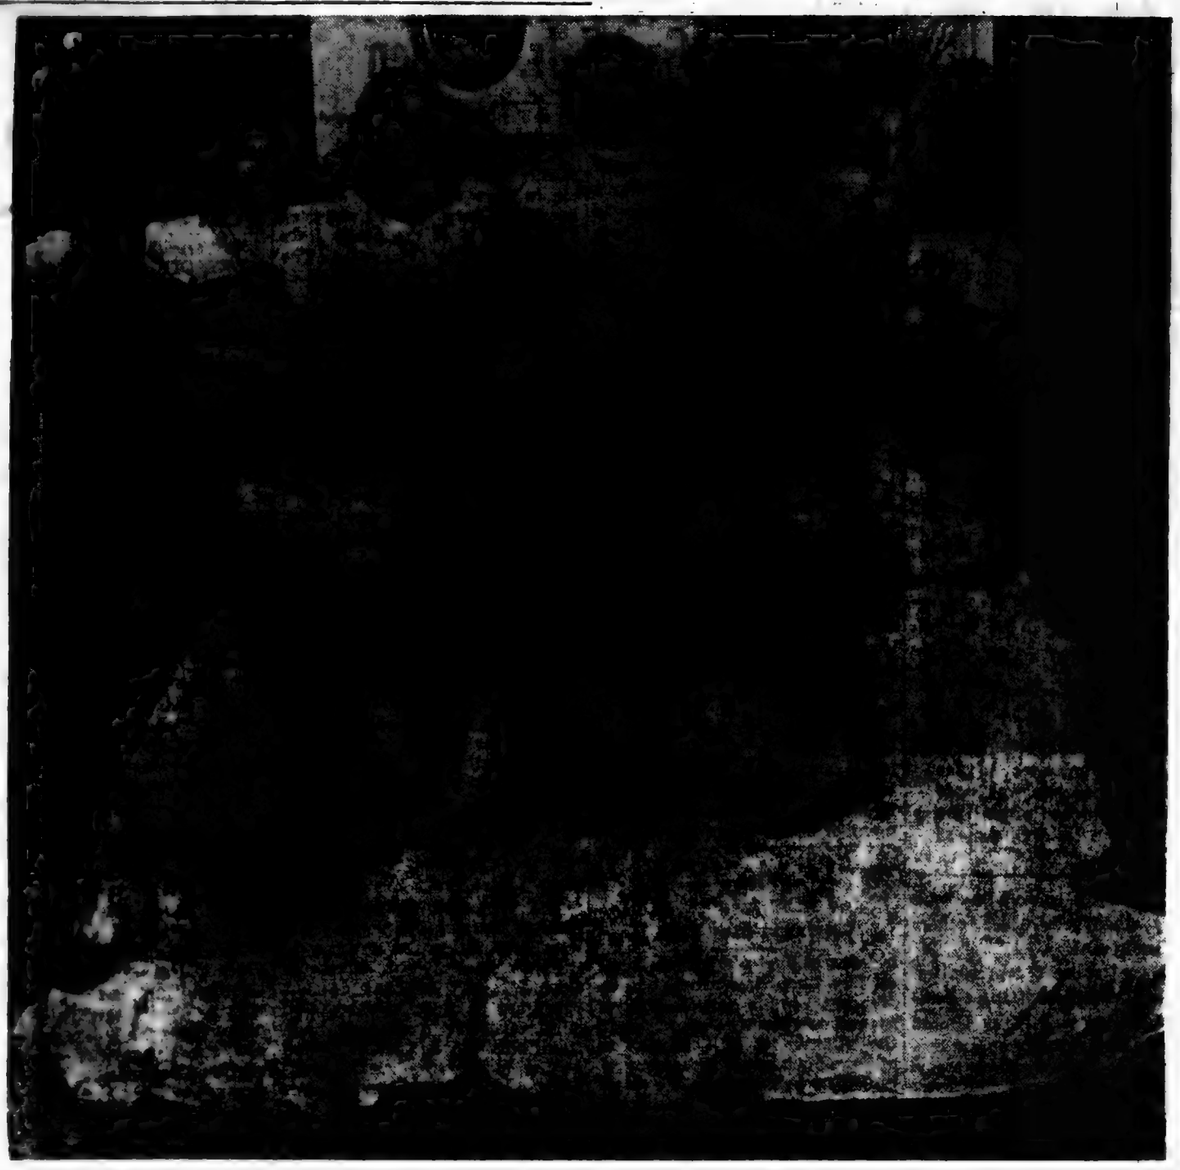
Detroit Police Stage Jimcrow Terror Raid

DETROIT—Termed "one of the most vicious examples of police brutality against the Negro people in an effort to force their acceptance of ghetto conditions and the jimcrow segregation policy of the government," the Civil Rights Congress has called for a widespread protest against a new violation of the American Constitution in the case of Charles Gordy, in Detroit.



On November 19 Detroit police invaded the home of Gordy, a Negro factory worker and trade union member. They manhandled, handcuffed and arrested his 17-year-old son without a warrant. As the police dragged young Gordy away one of the officers fired a shot at the father who protested against this brutal treatment. The elder Gordy returned the fire and one officer was killed and another wounded.

Within minutes, carloads of police converged on the area and without warning poured machine-gun and pistol fire into the house, and tear gas bombs were thrown in every window.

For at least an hour this murderous assault continued as 15 people, including women and children, huddled on the floor within. "Commando" police poured into the blockaded streets and struck bystanders with the butts of bayonetted rifles. Hundreds of police patrolled the area long after both the Gordys were in jail. Numerous bystanders were arrested for alleged "inciting to riot."

Only the fact that more than 4,000 onlookers witnessed the belligerent provocation of the police prevented more serious trouble.

ARI Tea Honors Mrs. Bass; Class In Russian

The American Russian Institute of Southern California will hold a reception and tea for Mrs. Charlotta Bass on Saturday, December 16, at 2 p.m. at 3335 Country Club Drive, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Bass recently returned from Europe, where she was a delegate to the Executive Committee of the Second World Peace Congress in Prague. While in Europe she visited the Soviet Union, and came back with a story from behind the Iron Curtain that deserves telling.

The Institute, always interested in the newest facts on the Soviet Union, invited Mrs. Bass particularly to tell what she saw in the Soviet Union, what impressions she received about this country, and to show the many items of interest which she brought with her.

The reception is open to friends of the Institute, and friends of Mrs. Bass. Reservations should be made before the 16th of December at the Institute, 1024¼ N. Western Ave., or phone GRanite 4179. Reservations are $1.

The proceeds of the afternoon will go to the upkeep of the California Eagle, the fighting Negro Newspaper, which Mrs. Bass edits.

The American Russian Institute's second beginners 'class in Russian will start on Friday, December 15, at 7:45 p.m. at the offices of the Institute at 1024¼ North Western Ave. The present class will become the intermediate class, and will be held on Friday evening at 9 p.m. Reva Mucha, the executive secretary of the Institute, stated: "The classes are free to the public. There's only one requisite necessary—that you really want to take the course, which runs about 10 weeks, and mean to attend regularly."

Registration for the classes can be made at any time either by calling or writing to the Institute at 1024¼ North Western Ave., GRanite 4179, which is open daily, Monday thru Friday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Friday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

RADIANTLY HAPPY as she and her groom prepare to cut the cake in keeping with the age-old tradition, the former Elouise Brown, now Mrs. Theadis Wells, lends warmth and charm to the scene which followed the beautiful garden wedding in which she and Theadis Wells exchanged vows. Beautiful music and radiant perfumed flowers added a note of rustic charm to the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Browning C. Allen.

Zeta Boule In New Orleans

I had a grand time in the Crescent City when delegates from 147 chapters meet for Zeta Phi Beta's 30th anniversary Dec. 27-30. The four-day meeting, which carries as its theme "Democracy, Human Relations and World Peace" is geared for three workshops and plenty of discussions. To see that the genial sorors have fun as well as work are the sorors of the hostess chapters, Alpha Gamma Zeta (graduate chapter) Alpha Beta (Dillard University) and Chi Alpha (Xavier University).

Mr. and Mrs. Willie West celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary Nov. 21. The Wests decided to go "two horses a play" on this eventful day. Mrs. West says she'll never forget their 26th anniversary. She was very successful at the Hollywood track.

The Wests are from Dallas, Texas, where Mr. West was head waiter. Mr. West is now head at a fashionable spot in Beverly Hills on Restaurant Row.

Annual Xmas Party For Alpha Wives

Trimming the Christmas tree for the Alpha House was the highlight of the annual Christmas party of the Alpha Wives Auxiliary on Friday night, December 8, when the wives entertained their husbands.

More than fifty persons spent a very festive evening among Christmas caroling, spoons, balloons and lavender punch.

Georgia Lumpkin directed a one-act playlet, with Rachel Lee and Roy Johnson principal characters.

Marion Maddox, the outgoing president, was presented a corsage of yellow roses with black ribbon, the colors of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Installation services conducted by Attorney William R. Freeman placed into office for 1951 the following persons; Rosemary Hampton, president; Helena House, vice-president; Ernestine Hibbler, recording secretary; Thelma Venerable, corresponding secretary; Mary King, treasurer; Marion Jackson, chaplain; Georgia Lumpkin, sergeant-at-arms; Josephine Ward, parliamentarian, and Rachel Lee, reporter.

Lois Carr, Josephine Ward, Mildred Miller and Rosemary Hampton were the committee members responsible for the party.

Suspense was the theme during the exchange of gifts when Helena House played Mrs. Santa Claus. Everyone opened gifts together and everyone howled with delight as snakes began popping out of the trick lighters the men were given as gifts. They were also given corn cob pipes.

Elouise Brown And Theadis Wells Speak Wedding Vows

In the midst of a beautiful indoor garden scene on Sunday, December 3, 1950, at 4 o'clock, Miss Elouise Brown and Theadis Wells spoke wedding vows. The double ring ceremony was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus S. Brown, 717 E. 32nd Street.

The house was beautifully decorated with mammoth chrysanthemums and other beautiful flowers of the season. Just before the ceremony began the old familiar wedding ballad "Because" was sung by Mr. Bobby Brooks, and immediately after the ceremony "Thank God for a Garden" was rendered by Mrs. Ann Lawrie. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The Rev. Browning C. Allen, presiding elder of the A.M.E. Church and lifelong friend of the bride's parents, performed the ceremony. Only fifty relatives and close friends attended the ceremony, after which the wedding reception followed, and from 4:30 until 7:30 more than 250 persons meandered in and around the Brown residence to say congratulations to the happy couple.

The bride was most beautiful in the traditional white. A most stunning combination of Chantilly lace over silk nylon net fashioned with high neckline and full-length sleeves, a fingertip veil whose halo was studded with pearls. She carried only her prayer book and four white orchids. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Marcella Brown, who wore a combination of gold lace and satin. Her halo was also studded with pearls and she carried a profusion of contrasting colorful flowers. The bride's mother chose aqua, while the groom's mother wore gold and brown. The groom was attended only by his best man, Mr. Robert Cooper.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus S. Brown of this city. The bride's mother, the former Gertrude Gotier, is a member of one of Los Angeles' pioneer families, while Mr. Brown, for over 28 years a cement contractor of this city, hails from a well-known family in Missouri.

Mr. Theadis Wells is the son of Mrs. Octavia Sheets, formerly of Oklahoma City. The bride is one of Los Angeles' business women, a member of the Business and Professional Girls League, and for the past six years has successfully operated Cafe Elouisa, 3329 So. San Pedro, where she expects to continue in business after the first of the year.

Mr. Theadis Wells, a World War II veteran, is now a student of Glover's Tailoring School. Mr. and Mrs. Wells were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts.

Matrons who assisted the bride's mother were Mrs. Prudence Cook and Mrs. Elizabeth Cook, the bride's aunts; Mrs. Dorothy Givens, Mrs. Wilda Smith, Mrs. Elinor Harrell, Mrs. Yolanda Billingsley, Mrs. Josephine Curry, Mrs. Mabel Jordan, Mrs. Francis Davis and Mrs. Ann Lawrie.

Members of the younger set who assisted the bride were Mrs. Ethel Anderson, Mrs. Lorraine Slater, Mrs. Elizabeth Ward, Mrs. Marion Jones, Mrs. Dorothy Mae Macon, Miss Sue Jones, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Jean Loftis, Mrs. Thelma Williams, Mrs. Patsy Brown, sister-in-law to the bride; Miss Rosalind Dauphine and Miss Mary Neil.

Photographer in charge was Mr. Charles Williams, president of the California Institute of Graphic Arts.

Mr. and Mrs. Theadis Wells will be at home to their friends after December 15 at 203 E. 37th Street.

Fashion Revue Planned By Women's Guild

At the last meeting of West View Street Augustine Hospital Women's Guild, a fashion revue was planned for the first week in March. This will be an interracial affair and Mrs. Sadie Louise Davidson is chairman of fashions, while Mrs. Esterline Powell is chairman of cocktails. This promises to be one of the smartest affairs of the year 1951.

This meeting was held December 5 at the Country Club home of Mrs. Sadie Louise Davidson, with President Gertrude Hicks presiding. November 7, Mrs. Margaret Jones was hostess and November 21 Mrs. Amy Cloud entertained. All three were charming hostesses.

Social Club Began Yuletide Celebration

The Mr. and Mrs. Social Club began its yuletide celebration on Saturday, Dec. 9, att he home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Dorn Sims, 723 E. Century Blvd. Business meeting proceeded in the usual manner. Plans for needy family adoption were completed. Vice president, Mr. Nathaniel Harding, presided in the absence of the president, Mr. Lloyd Herbs, who was out of the city. The club will have several parties during the yuletide season. The last party of the year will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Grays, 407 E. 138th St. After the business meeting Mr. and Mrs. Sims entertained the club with dancing and refreshments. This being the first visit of the club to the new home of the Sims, made the affair most entertaining and enjoyable.

Pioneers Meet

The Pioneers held their November meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 21, at the lovely home of Mrs. Ruth Williams, 1346 East 21st Place, during the worst fog of the year.

The meeting was held in the spirit of Thanksgiving. Among the things to be thankful for was the fact that members Daniel Smith, Pearl Johnson, and Cora Buck were much improved, and that John Sellers and Titus Alexander were out again. Florence Green was welcomed as a new member to the group.

Two real crusaders of the Pioneers, Charles Carpenter, 96 years of age, and James Alexander, were lost during November.

A delicious turkey dinner was served during the social hour.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Charles Brooks. It will take the form of a Christmas party for a World's Peace, Christmas. Gifts will be exchanged. Nannie Smith is president of the group; Camilla Leftridge, reporter.

Mrs. Turner Davis is expecting the stork. To her mother in Louisiana she will spend her time.

TIGER JACK NELSON, former boxer and retired heavyweight wrestling champion, who is active in civic and welfare work, is the owner of the newest nitery in Los Angeles. He will open his Bronzeville Club at 3316 San Pedro Street Friday night. Extensive alteration are underway to make the club one of the finest in the city, but the Tiger says he will meet the public while the changes are being made. Now an active trainer and conditioner, Nelson is seen on television several times each week. His new club is situated just a few steps from Jefferson boulevard.

Club Bronzeville Opens Friday With Two Good Shows Nightly

The opening of the Club Bronzeville at 3316 S. San Pedro Friday night will make this the newest of the bistros. Operator of the new club is Tiger Nelson, ex-boxer, retired world's wrestling chaimpion, and now a trainer and conditioner of wrestlers.

Throwing open the doors with some o fthe final renovations to be completed was Tiger's idea. "Let the public see what kind of a club we're making for them," he says.

The approaching holidays and shortage of materials has affected the schedule on which the remodeling of the club was based. The work to be completed will not interfere with the pleasure of the customers, Tiger points out.

The Tiger is a busy man, what with his several times a week appearance on television and his many training and conditioning duties, but he plans to give his attention to his Club Bronzeville. oef

Tiger Nelson is an amazing man. Following fifteen years as a successful boxer, he turned wrestler and went on to win the world's championship in 1928. In 1937, he set a new pace when he became a wrestling referee in Ogden, Utah.

Well Known

A leading civic worker, the Tiger is widely-known for his great charity of heart. He expects his new Club Bronzeville to be a place of recreation and enjoyment for everyone, and he will be on hand for the opening Friday night.

The club will feature dining, dancing and entertainment with Buddy Banks' Sextette playing for the dancing and shows. Baby Davis will be featured with the band and there will be two shows nightly.

Brahms Music On Program At Museum Sunday

A recital of Brahms' music will be presented at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park on Sunday afternoon, December 17, at 3 o'clock.

The program, twelfth in the current Brahms cycle, will present the Sonata in D Minor for Violin and Piano, Op. 108; Trio for French Horn, Violin and Piano in E Flat Major, Op. 40; and Variations and Fugue on Theme of Handel.

The music will be performed by Lillian Steuber, pianist; Alexander Murray, violinist; and Alfred Brain, French horn.

These Sunday concerts are presented weekly in the museum's second floor concert hall and begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Will Rogers Park Holds Dance Festival

On Wednesday, Dec. 13th from 8 to 10 p.m., Will Rogers Park presented "The Dance" in all its forms.

Juanita and Howard, pupils of Martina, danced the native dance "Afro-Cubano." Juanita also danced a modernistic interpretive ballet number. The Latin Idea of Swing was danced by the Melendez Trio (also pupils of Martina). Presented also were Folk Dancing, Tap Dancing, Square Dancing and Acrobatic Dancing. Dance exhibitions featuring the rhythms of the Conga, Rhumba, Samba and Waltz rounded out the presentation. The youthful Spanish dancers of Mr. Refugio Lara were very popular

Twelve New Sorors Initiated Into Delta Sigma Theta Sorority In Impressive Ceremony

Delta Sigma Theta really took the day on Saturday, December 2, when the twelve chosen probates went through formal initiation rites at the home of member Soror Tanis Fortier. The very impressive ceremony was presided over by Upsilon president Shirley Williams, with 25 Sorors taking part. Many were anxious to see that their little sisters crossed the final mile of the "burning sands" with flying colors. The initiation chairmen for the period were Sorors Janie Hansen, Zerlease Campbell, and Elsie Wilder.

The very impressive ceremony was followed by a banquet at Vina's Western Avenue Restaurant. The clever place cards depicting the "Pyramid Duck" directed the guests of honor to their places. Other than the neophytes, guests included the graduate chapter president, Mary Lou Roberson, and undergraduate advisors, Leola Beavers and Joan Pierson. After the very tasty dinner, singing and sheer jovialness was the major enjoyment. New songs were introduced by new Sorors Eva Mae Williams and Robbie Tapscott.

Gift exchange of big sister-little sister is a customary procedure of this period. Each place was marked with a choice gift, and neophyte places were noticeable with a nosegay of violets, the sorority flower.

An after-party followed with the Sorors and their company, and the Omega men were also invited in as guests to meet the newcomers into the great sisterhood of DST.

Congratulations are in order to new Deltas, Robbie Tapscott, Agnes Moreland, Teresa Sims, Jane Miller, Joyce Robinson, Imogene Jones, Joyce Overr, LaRosa Burr, Eva Mae Williams, Janice Fortier, and Gloria Person.

Dorothy Duvall Vacationing In Windy City

Popular model and designer Dorothy Duvall will depart for the Windy City, Chicago, at the end of the week for a three-week stay. Leaving Friday night via TWA Airlines, Miss Duvall is anxiously looking forward to spending a white Christmas in the popular Eastern city.

Recently named as one of the Southland's ten best dressed in the Angel City, she will really get the opportunity to display her fashionable taste by joining Eastern festivities.

A gathering of her favorite friends will wish her a fond adieu at her home on Thursday night. Expected to gather and toast to her enjoyable sojourn will be the following: Sonny Criss, Ruth Hoggett, George Dawson, Hampton Hawes, Gloria Swanson, Harold Machen.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

PEACE OR WAR?

The crisis is here. The hour is late. The danger of World War III is imminent. But WE can prevent that war. President Truman has already received thousands of telegrams, letters and phone calls, urging him to get our troops out of Korea, to negotiate for peace.

The name of Dr. Ralph Bunche, the man who prevented war in Palestine, is high on the list of diplomats who should be asked to mediate in this most difficult affair between the United States and China. We must add our voices to those of the other thousands who are asking President Truman, and Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the UN, to appoint this man of peace to bring peace again to the world.

Members of the Independent Progressive Party, and all other lovers of peace, have united in their demand. We give the statement made by the National Committee of the Progressive Party as that which best expresses our own sentiments. We urge you to read and obey.

STOP WORLD WAR III!

In this hour of decision, the alternatives are clear; peace or atomic devastation; a settlement in Korea by mediation, or the extension of the war to China and a world-wide conflict. Differences among the American people as to the causes of the crisis must not be allowed to keep them from uniting to demand the steps which can solve it.

ALL MANKIND HOPES AND PRAYS FOR PEACE.

The people of the whole world were dismayed when General MacArthur launched his disastrous offensive at the very moment the Chinese delegates arrived at the UN for negotiation. They have recoiled in horror at President Truman's threat of atomic death to hundreds of thousands of innocent Korean and Chinese people whenever he should order the dropping of the A-bomb.

These reckless acts are making our government the object of fear and hatred among the peace-loving people of the world, and especially among the colored people against whom the President's threat of atomic vengeance was directed. These acts are alienating the governments of Britain and France and leaving America in isolation. If world war comes because our government has rejected the only path to peace, we will stand alone, without friends or firm allies anywhere. There is no protection in atom bombs, for American cities, too, can be their targets. The only security for our country is the security that lies in stopping the war before it engulfs us.

The first step must be to stop the fighting in Korea. This is the only way to save the lives of thousands of Americans now in battle and to keep the war from spreading. To that end, we call upon the President to make the following proposal in the United Nations immediately:

(1) A cease-fire order.

(2) The appointment of a special mediation commission, including representatives of the United States, the Soviet Union, India and the Republic of China. The commission to meet with representatives of South and North Korea to bring about a settlement of the conflict, providing for the withdrawal of all foreign troops and the establishment of a united, independent and democratic Korea.

We call for the following additional measures to facilitate peaceful settlements of the main areas of conflict:

(1) The seating of the Republic of China in the United Nations to give their rightful representation to the 475 million people of the nation, opening the way to a general settlement in the Far East.

(2) A four-power conference of the United States, England, France and the Soviet Union on the German question, opening the way to a peaceful settlement in Europe.

We again call for a United Nations agreement outlawing the use of atomic weapons and all other instruments of mass destruction as proposed to the governments of the world by the International Red Cross and supported by hundreds of millions of people of all nations.

The hour is late, but the peace can still be saved.

We urge all Americans, regardless of other differences, to unite in calling on President Truman for peace, not the bomb.

Free Lieutenant Gilbert

The Independent Progressive Party has issued this statement regarding Lt. Gilbert, which we pass on to our readers:

Lt. Leon Gilbert is a veteran, twice wounded in World War II, who to this date carries a metal plate in his head. He is married and is the father of two children, while his wife expects a third soon. Lt. Gilbert is a Negro officer serving with the 24th Infantry in Korea.

And yet, today, he is condemned to serve the next 20 years in a Federal prison.

Why? His story is that of a story of discrimination in our U. S. Army.

On July 31, 1950, despite the fact that he had spent six sleepless days under fire, Lt. Gilbert was ordered by a major "who had not kept his head" under fire to take his men to a certain death without accomplishing any military objective.

Lt. Gilbert refused. For this he was court-martialed, and sentenced to death. President Truman, at the insistence of thousands of friends of Lt. Gilbert, commuted the sentence to 20 years at hard labor.

But this is 20 years of hard labor instead of freedom.

We must help to prevent this. Write President Truman to free Gilbert entirely. Set him free!

National Association House Cleaning

The local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People held its annual election last Sunday afternoon at the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church.

There were present, out of the large membership of some eight hundred, approximately two hundred.

The election was the quietest in the history of the organization.

The nomination committee had done its work in a most effective manner.

Evidently it knew where it was headed from the start, and the Sunday afternoon meeting was not a departure from its plan.

The meeting was opened by the president, Dr. E. I. Robinson.

Since he was a candidate for re-election, Dr. Robinson vacated the chair and summoned Atty. Loren Miller to take the chair.

Mr. Miller, upon assuming this responsibility, called for the nomination of an officer of the day to preside over the election. The effervescent James Anderson was chosen without competition.

The business of giving the reports of the president, secretary, treasurer, and Mr. John Dial's, labor chairman, was over.

The president's report was full of encouragement and hope for the membership to do a good job the coming year.

Mr. Dails pledged the financial support of both the CIO and the AFL to the NAACP.

Dr. Robinson was re-elected without opposition. The new executive committee was a complete turnover from what it was in the past. It is with few exceptions a new slate, and with the strong support of such men in his cabinet as Dr. H. Claude Hudson, Atty. Loren Miller, John Dials and the inimitable James Anderson—Dr. Robinson will no doubt revolutionize the Los Angeles branch of the National Association.

Among the officers elected were: Dr. Robinson, president; Dr. Claude H. Hudson, vice-president; Zella M. Taylor, secretary; and Lorenzo Bowdoin, treasurer.

There were only six candidates for vice-president, with five to be elected; and 20 candidates for the executive committee with 18 to be elected.

Naturally there wasn't much of a contest. And so no disagreement or confusion. But with so much new blood injected into the veins of the organization there cannot help but be a housecleaning in this branch.

Love Is Color Blind

This little girl, now only 14 years of age, was left alone when her parents were captured by the Japanese some years ago. She was cared for by a native Malayan woman in the jungles of Malaya. She learned the ways of the jungle, compared to the forests of America. She met and fell in love with a tall, strong Malay warrior, and her foster mother gave her consent to their marriage.

But they did not live happily ever after. For the parents of the child, released from their Japanese prison, learned of her whereabouts, and instituted proceedings to have her returned to them.

Bertha refused. She did not want to leave her dark-skinned mother. She loved her husband. She wanted to stay in the jungles, and live the free life of the jungles of Malaya.

The case was taken to a British court in Singapore. And the judge decided in favor of the parents.

That decision, says the news reports, aroused the worst anti-European riot in the history of Singapore. Thousands of natives who had heard her story, surged through the streets. They attacked the court house. They threw sticks and stones, overthrew automobiles, they streamed in an angry flood against all Europeans. They demanded that Bertha be returned to her husband, and to her "native mother," Che Aminah.

Bertha herself wants to stay with Che Aminah, and with her young husband. Despite bribes, cajolery and threats, she wants to remain. Attorneys for her parents have so far relented as to promise if Bertha goes to her parents in The Netherlands, and after a visit, decides then she wants to return to her jungle husband and mother, she may do so.

We predict she will return. Love knows no bars. Love is color blind.

The little Dutch girl, Bertha Hertogh, has been ordered by a British court to leave her dark-skinned Moslem husband, and to return to her parents in The Netherlands.

Laughter With Tears

Look who's celebrating Bill of Rights Week!

In a day when falsehood is called truth, filth beauty, and treason patriotism, there's something devilishly "logical" about the unclean and the traitors "celebrating" the American Bill of Rights . . . almost like killers dancing over their victims' graves. . . .

Why not? Don't these same "community leaders" who degrade every concept of brotherhood celebrate Brotherhood Week? Didn't they, the subverters of freedom, initiate the phony Freedom Crusade? (By the way, what happened to it?) Don't they, as self-proclaimed defenders of the faith—on occasional Sundays—violate all religious principles every other day in the year?

We may expect that the next logical development will be the initiation of "Be Kind to Humans Week" by the cannibals.

Speaking of cannibals, the "piece de resistance" is to have them celebrating Bill of Rights Week at the very time that the same Bill of Rights is being gravely undermined in the trial of several Americans before the U. S. Supreme Court for trying to practice those rights.

If the Constitution means anything, it must mean that citizens of the USA are guaranteed freedom of thought, freedom of speech, press and assemblage. These freedoms are guaranteed to all Americans—no matter how displeasing their words and ideas may be to those in political power at the moment. For if these were qualified rights, if the Constitution meant that we could speak freely only when what we said pleased those who controlled our government, that would not be freedom at all!

It would mean that the great men who created our Constitution, the Tom Jeffersons and Ben Franklins, had planned a nation of automatons and slaves. History proves that this was not their plan; quite the contrary. It is therefore reasonable to conclude that those who are now violating our Constitution do want a nation of slaves and automatons.

Trial of Ideas

For centuries it has been the law of all civilized nations that no person can be convicted of any act unless he actually committed that act. No person was to be convicted for only thinking things—he had to do the things before he could be tried for them.

Yet here is the ghoulish spectacle of the leaders of "the bastion of Western civilization," who simply insist on exporting their ideas everywhere, by force if need be, putting Americans on trial for their ideas—under the Smith Act, which provides that no act shall be required for conviction of a crime.

By doing this, the U. S. Attorney General is trying to make it the law of the land that it is unconstitutional for any American citizen to have any idea different from that of the Attorney General and his masters. This is hardly in the spirit of the Bill of Rights which they are celebrating.

An especially significant symptom of the decay of our day is the colossal silence in the ranks of the "defenders of Western civilization" in the face of this gravest threat to American democracy. In the past, whenever challenges were hurled at the mighty Constitution, there were usually eminent individuals who would rush to the defense of America's liberties—especially attorneys like Charles Evans Hughes, Felix Frankfurter, Wendell Willkie—even when they disagreed with the ideas of the accused.

Why are there no prominent celebrants of Bill of Rights Week coming forward to defend the leaders of the Communist Party before the U. S. Supreme Court? There are many who state that the Smith Act is unconstitutional—and admit privately that because of the nation-wide official terrorism "it is not advisable" for them to join in defending America's liberties.

What a commentary on the legal profession here that the defendants in this case had to send to England to obtain the services of an able lawyer (D. N. Pritt) to defend them before an American court.

The lessons of this fact will not be lost on the "backward peoples" of the world—including those in the USA—upon whom the leaders of the "Free World" are seeking to force their ideas of civilization and freedom.

Police Attack 600 Villagers, Kill 13

(The following account of conditions on Witzieshoek reserve, where police attacked a meeting of 600 villagers November 27, killing at least 13 and severely wounding several others, was dispatched by Telepress correspondent before the shooting occurred.)

CAPETOWN.—A tense situation is developing in Witzieshoek, one of the smaller native reserves in South Africa, on the border of Orange Free State and Natal. Here several thousand Africans have their "home," a few hundred square miles of land now deeply eroded, overpopulated and overstocked.

The government has been attetmpting for some time to carry out its notorious "betterment" policy, which consists in restricting the number of cattle allowed to graze in any given area in an attempt to conserve the land. In the abstract the government's praiseworthy, but it completely ignores the fact that cattle means wealth to the African people; it also completely ignores the significance of the land tenure system in the native reserves in the eyes of the African people themselves.

The result is the government's policy has met with bitter opposition from the people. Agricultural officers have been assaulted, fences have been torn down, government equipment destroyed.

Feelings were inflamed by the dismissal of an African teacher at a mission school in the reserve, followed by the cancellation of old-age pensions by a dictatorial official who said he had heard pensioners were contributing to a fund to obtain legal aid. There were demonstrations and expressions of ill-feeling.

The government reacted in typical fashion .The Minister of Justice has announced police reinforcements were being sent to the reserve. "If we are to have peace and quiet in this country," he said, "we must take strong and decisive action." His police were armed and were under orders to shoot whenever necessary, he said. The following day, all meetings of more than five Africans were banned.

Observers have stated the situation is so charged that anything can happen if no attempt is made to meet the people's complaints. The Africans are convinced that under the guise of the "betterment" scheme an attetmpt is being made to take their land from them, and will defend to the end the last vestiges of their independence.

The Supreme Decision Hailed

The people of America who believe in justice were made hopeful for the future this week when the Supreme Court of the United States rendered an opinion, with a vote of 8 to 0, that when a witness is asked his Communist connections he has a right to keep silent on the grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Justice Hugo L. Black delivered the opinion. Justice Tom C. Clark, former Attorney General of the United States, under whose direction the witch hunts were begun, did not participate.

This ruling affects witnesses before grand juries, congressional committees, and administrative agencies.

This ruling affects the Hollywood Ten, who have been imprisoned for refusing to tell whether or not they were affiliated with the Communist Party, and Robert Kenny, attorney for the Ten, has instituted proceedings to have them set free.

It will affect Harry Bridges. It will affect all the hundreds, and even thousands, who have stood in fear of losing their jobs, because they have been smeared by the Un-American Committee, in Washington, and here in California.

These people will NOT need to say whether or not they are members of the Communist Party—the crux of all the witch hunting, the smear campaigns, the jailings, the mouthings of the McCarthys, the loyalty oath tests.

The decision of the U. S. Supreme Court is like a breath of fresh air let in on a fetid atmosphere of fear. It has put new hope into the hearts of those who have been fighting for the rights of American citizens, for the upholding of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

It has set us free to be Americans once more.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

My dear Mrs. Bass:

We wish to commend your inspiring and untiring work in the recent election, as we do the service you have been rendering the community these many years. The election results were a grievous disappointment to us. It is more than regrettable that we were unable to make the people of our district recognize that your victory would have been theirs.

You shall in the future, as in the past, have our full and wholehearted support in the fight for the needs and rights of the people.

Sincerely yours,
Irv and Harriett Rosenfeld
For the Carlson Club Labor Youth League

My Dear Mrs. Bass:

Thanks a million for your unbounding hospitality. Read the results of your impressive run for Congress. Congratulations, no matter how it ended. L. A. is a wonderful city.

Yours,
MONROE MASON.

Civic Unity Federation Election Held

New leadership of the California Federation for Civic Unity was announced today following a poll of the new board of directors chosen at the organization's convention in Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Josephine W. Duveneck of Los Altos was elected to her third successive term as president of the Federation. Other officers are Mrs. Sumner Spaulding, Los Angeles, Southern vice-president; Rev. Andrew Juvinall, San Bruno, Northern vice president; Miss Elizabeth Murray, Santa Barbara, secretary; and Mr. Eugene B. Block, San Francisco, treasurer.

Bill Of Rights Week Program

Bill of Rights Week will be celebrated by the Silver Lake-Echo Park chapter of the Civil Rights Congress Thursday evening, December 14, at 363 N. Occidental Blvd. Herbert Porter will speak on "The McCarran Act and the Bill of Rights."

Reports will be made on the campaign to free Lieutenant Gilbert and the Wesley Wells case. A "Bill of Rights Souvenir Scroll" will be presented to everyone attending. Refreshments will wind up the evening.

Racists Attack Scientist

CHICAGO.—White supremacist hoodlums ignored the traditions of American Thanksgiving Day (November 23) and attacked and tried to burn the home of one of America's leading scientists.

The scientist is Dr. Percy L. Julian, director of chemical research at the Glidden Company here. Dr. Julian, a Negro, lives in an exclusive Chicago district which the racists, by restrictive covenants and forcible attacks, have tried to keep lily-white.

Dr. Julian is noted for a number of important discoveries, including researches into the carbon atom. He is an authority on soya bean chemistry, and he has developed products over so wide a range as a sex hormone and a waterproofing substance for battleships.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Moving Forward

The Los Angeles Urban League, Wesley Brazier, its acting director and his associates responsible for the training program carried out for candidates for special Christmas sales jobs are to be highly commended. Perhaps the percentage of Negro salespeople hired for the holiday rush this year is not much higher than it has been in past years, but there were many more qualified clerks thanks to the Urban League program.

John M. Lee

Much credit is also due the trainees who, recognizing the never-ending handicap they must face in seeking jobs out of the menial category, still spent the time to find out as much as they could about the positions they sought. It is only natural that some of the candidates will feel disappointment over not securing placements, but they should find consolation in the fact that by their sacrifices they have moved the struggles closer to success.

Perhaps next year the Urban League will have the cooperation of some of the shop owners, and the program will be geared more positively on a guarantee of jobs for most of the trainees. The United States Employment Service should take hold from this point and make this reservoir of trained salespeople available to the stores that never seem to get enough help for the holiday rush.

Simple in essence and in fact, the training program launched by the Urban League might well be the next phase in the drive for fair employment. Time and again, the problem of training and experience has plagued members of minority groups who applied for jobs as salespeople in community stores, and in the formidable and forbidding downtown marts.

Despite aptness and fitness for the jobs, most of the candidates had to admit they lacked training and experience. It is impossible to get experience without actually working at a job, but training programs such as the one instituted by the Urban League will provide the training that must eventually open the doors for wider experience. The comparatively short time spent learning the important rudiments of selling will pay off for the individual, and for an entire group.

Business people, who are concerned chiefly with dealing courtesly and efficiently with the public, will do well to consider Negro salespeople. The brusque and indifferent manner of the average salesperson in many of the stores is a liability that takes its toll in dollars and cents.

After all, employing representatives of a group that comprises a large segment of the buying public is just plain good business sense. The spirit of daring and noble altruism with which many employers approach the question of hiring Negro and other minority workers, is an indulgence they may enjoy if it pleases them, but actually it is an investment that pays off soon and well.

Certainly, if for no other reason, the Urban League's training program should be welcomed for its forthrightness and repudiation of the paternalism with which so many so-called broad-minded and liberal employers hire Negro workers. There are so many of these condescending employers, and yet there are so few Negro employes in the higher bracket jobs.

What training will accomplish is a final showdown on the whole fair employment deal. A political and legislative football, it has been used as a gimmick, and it is too frequently employed as the real badge of courage by snorting liberals who basically are just as prejudiced as the employer who won't even talk about hiring a Negro outside of the menial category.

The scarcity of jobs for trained Negro personnel is not licked becaused of a single training program, but the spirit which prompted it, and the spirit in which the trainees entered into preparation is part of the campaign which must be organized for the Negro and other minority workers who are tired of their lesser economic status.

There will be more discouragement, and many more rebuffs, but getting prepared is one of the answers to the American tradition of white supremacy. The big unions have abandoned the welfare of the minority workers, and substituted a program of brazen self-preservation for whites only. Training and preparation are attributes that will make both the unions and the employers overcome their prejudices.

Imprisonment of Non-Citizens Protest

Despite decisions by Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, of New York, and twelve other Federal District Court judges ordering the release of 40 of the 48 non-citizens seized in midnight raids beginning on October 22, the Justice Department still persists in its stubborn denial of bail to eight of its non-citizen McCarran Law victims who have been arbitrarily and illegally imprisoned for more than four weeks in Los Angeles, Seattle, Duluth and Detroit.

Imprisoned without bail in Los Angeles are:

DAVID HYUN; born in Korea in 1917. He is the son and grandson of early fighters against Japanese occupation of his native country.

HARRY CARLISLE, 52 year-old British writer. He was a member of the AFL Film Technicians, Local 683, of the IATSE

FRANK CARLSON, born in Poland and brought to the United States by his parents at the age of 6

MIRIAM STEVENSON, born in England and came to the U. S. in 1924 at the age of 14 with her parents.

A delegation from the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign-Born called at the office of District Director Landon of the Department of Immigration on Monday, December 4, at 11 a.m. to demand the release on bail of Harry Carlisle, Miriam Stevenson, David Hyun and Frank Carlson, now incarcerated on Terminal Isle.

The delegation was informed that Mr. Landon was out, would not be in during the day and therefore would not see them.

Another delegation of representatives from numerous women's organizations returned Friday, December 8, to insist on the immediate release of Miriam Stevenson, one of those held on Terminal Isle with no better results.

Velva Lorette Making Good In Paris, Will Return March 1st

Mrs. Velva Lorette Henderson, wife of Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, minister in Second Baptist Church, Los Angeles, has registered signal success in courses she is pursuing in Advanced Millinery in Paris, France.

She left Los Angeles last August and has been studying at the following schools: "Ecole de Dessin Applique a La Mode," "Ecole Guerre Lavingne," and in private and exclusive shop of "Mme. Denise Chabaud." The first school is for designing, the second, designing and the furrier's art, the third shop is where the "smart women of Paris purchase their hats."

At first Velva Lorette found it a bit difficult to gain entrance to these schools due to difficulty with the French language. She took two courses in French, the Berlitz system, before sailing. She was told, however, to bring in samples of her work, and when she did that, she was immediately admitted.

Within one month, her artistry stood out as so superb that in one school her work was called to the attention of the entire class, and in the second school it was placed in the show window, while in the third, even the teacher asked her permission to "copy" one of her most alluring creations.

Velva Lorette plans to return to Los Angeles around the first of March. When she returns, if you want to be correct, see Velva Lorette.

U.S. Railroad Keeps Jimcrow

NEW YORK.—Despite the Supreme Court decision ordering the Southern Railway to stop the "Jim Crow" practice of separating Negro and white people in the company's diners, the practice is still continued, according to the progressive press here.

The company's instructions to stewards say that Negroes should be seated with Negroes. Elmer W. Henderson, executive secretary of the American Council for Human Relations, threatens to bring a new suit against the company if it continues to flout the court order.

Ol' Satchmo In Gala Show Friday, December 15

Ol 'Satchmo' himself, the great Trumpet King of Swing, Louis Armstrong, opens with his sensational all-star combo at the Club Oasis this Friday, December 15, for a gala holiday show.

One of the greatest musical aggregations of all time has been assembled by Pops for the engagement at the Oasis. Along with vocalist Velma Middletown will be Earl Hines on piano; Big T, Jack Teagarden on trombone; Cozy Cole on drums; Barney Bigard on clarinet, and Arvell Shaw on bass.

Coming direct from a successful engagement at Las Vegas' famed Flamingo hotel, Armstrong will appear on Bing Crosby's radio program on Wednesday, December 27, and has been signed to play an important role in the forthcoming Paramount picture starring Bing Crosby "Here Comes the Groom."

An all time recording favorite Satchmo' has recently come out with some of the nation's biggest hits on the Decca label. His "La Vit En Rose" and "C'est Si Bon" swept the country as has his duet discing with Ella Fitzgerald, "Dream a Little Dream of Me" and "Can Anyone Explain."

The Club Oasis, 3801 S. Western, will present continuous entertainment seven night's weekly during the Armstrong engagement.

It's 'Two To One' at Dolphins

Yes sir! It's Dolphins "two to one" and that's in every sense of the word, for where else can you buy a record and get one absolutely free, yes, that's what we said—with every record that you purchase at Dolphins, that man actually gives one away. How does he do it? Well, that's simple Mr. Dolphin, the proprietor of the Angel City's fast-thriving record business, pulls from his quarter of a million stock and just gives a record to you with the compliments of Dolphin.

There is one thing you can always rely upon at this huge record shop, if there is a record that you want, regardless of the kind, if they don't have it at Dolphins, well, it just can't be found.

With the holidays so close at hand, Mr. Dolphin wants to help you with your gift selections. He says "why not give records?" And remember, those extra records are yours with no extra charge.

William Luke, "Bard Of Prose," Praised For Reading

House-Warven of Hollywood publishers of Books That Live, presented William H. Luke, Bard of Poetic Prose, this past Sunday, December 10, reading from "Whisperings," a book of amorous love, by Alice Welch. Mr. Luke read comfortably from a lounge chair to 150 guests—including dignitaries from seven countries. Only the guests themselves could possibly know the beauty of the occasion. Enchanting musical interludes wove the passion drenched love letters into a dream.

Red Caps Entertain Press

Steve Gipson and his Red Caps entertained the members of the Press along with many of the disc jockeys and other guests at quite a lavish party. The group gave out with several numbers and had their guests either roaring with laughter or patting their feet to the wonderful rhythm. The versatile group composed of leader Steve Gibson, who is also the guitarist, Romaine Loaded with personality Brown on piano and vocals Dave Patillo, swingsational bassist Emmet Matthews on sax James Springs, drums and Earl Plummer also on drums.

The Red Caps just recently signed a nation contract with RCA Victor. On hand to enjoy the fun were disc jockeys Roy Loggins Joe Adams Ray Robinson, Bill Sampson and another D. J. from the Spotlight, Representatives from newspapers, J. Robert Smith of the Star Review; Loney Clark, Pittsburgh Courier; Charles Crawford of the Spotlight, Joe Harris and J. T. Gipson of the Sentinel; Lillian Cumper of the Courier. Other guests included Elledge Penland, Charles Lloyd, Ruth Givens, Mr. and Mrs. Don Otis, Miss Bixie Crawford, Gerald Cumper, Winifred Orr, Irving Smith, Jack Terry of RCA, also a Mr. Douglas of RCA, Dorothy Manning of Downbeat, and many others. Each guest was given a recording of the Red Caps' "The Thing."

Coral Records Sign Timmie Rogers

NEW YORK CITY—with the ink on his new contract with Coral Records hardly dry, Timmie Rogers was rushed into the studio on December 5 where he waxed four sides on that label.

Timmie will end the year with one of the greatest honors ever paid to a performer of the Negro race. He opens the swank Copacabana Club right on Miami Beach as the emcee and the comic of the show which stars Sarah Vaughan. This marks the first time that a Negro emcee comic has been signed to play the hitherto restricted Miami Beach section. It is a great tribute to his talents, his taste and his selection of material.

All American team time has come and gone and with it the following observations.

Johnny Bright, Drake's running and passing ace who established three major college offensive marks this season, was generally overlooked but did manage to make one picker's defensive team.

SC's Pat Cannamela, who made the AP All Coast second string defensive team also made the AP All American second string team on Offense. He only played one offensive game all season. Also it would seem that a second string all-American should at least be a first string all-Coaster.

Bill Gable of Wisconsin, victim of a pre-season injury, did not play in a single game of the 1950 campaign yet after the Wisconsin-Iowa game he drew a vote as the nation's lineman of the week. Later, a poll of the country's experts, based on early season performances, listed him among the outstanding guard candidates for one of the national magazines. All-American team.

Few, if any, of the sports-writers and broadcasters who vote for the teams see all the major teams in action. Their knowledge of a given player is therefore gained by reading of him.

Due to this fact hundreds of good players are overlooked because they do not go to the big schools or do not have good press agents. Some of those players whose agents began booming them for honors as far back as the end of last season did not live up to their ratings yet there they are high up in the baloting.

Selects of the teams are selected before the season is over in order to make publication deadlines which means that those teams are chosen only on a basis of six or seven games.

Let's all seem to see to it that no section of the country or Dame is overlooked in the compilation.

Let's expose these All-American teams for the farce that they are and stick to the all-Conference or all-regional teams which can be more easily selected and are more justifiable indications of ability.

A PRETTY GOOD MOTTO

The current issue of Look Magazine contains a very interesting story on Jackie Robinson entitled "We're Winning the Negro Battle." It refers, of course, to the battle being waged against discrimination in sports.

In the story, Jackie tells of the struggles he has had as the first Negro to break into professional baseball and of the heartbreak and frustration he faced before he was even accepted by the players.

There has been lots of improvement since that day in 1946 when he became the first of his race to take his place on a major league playing field but as Jackie says "none of us should let down now. We should fight all the harder—because our stake in the future is so big."

He also pays tribute to Branch Rickey who helped him over the bumps by instilling the motto: "Slow and easy. Bite your lips. Don't say what's on your mind. Try to understand the other fellow's problem."

That's a pretty good motto for all of us to follow.

EZZARD WILL BE QUITE BUSY

Ezzard Charles' announcement that he will defend his heavyweight crown against Lee Oma on Jan. 12 and that there will be a rematch within 90 days if he should lose leaves us wondering about his proposed February fight in Los Angeles with Willie Bean or Clarence Henry.

He is or was also scheduled to fight Vern Mitchell in Detroit on Jan. 17th. Yes, Charles will be quite a busy champion, but I don't think that he can be that busy.

Three or possibly four fights in three months is quite a schedule for anyone, even Charles. Perhaps he is thinking of the grunt and goan boys who wrestle sometimes three and four times a week.

The proposed L. A. fight was only discussed over the telephone, so perhaps the date can be pushed back. Or was Mr. Mintz, Charles' manager, merely teasing us?

At any rate, Clarence Henry will fight Willie Bean next Tuesday to see who will have the dubious honor of opposing Charles if and when he comes west. Personally I don't think that either is ready for a shot at the champion, but a decisive win by either could easily change my opinion.

SAC To By-Pass NCAA Meeting As Negro Members Not To Be Offered Equal Accommodations

By C. E. CHAPMAN

TYLER, Texas—The Southwestern Athletic Conference in session here voted unanimously not to attend the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and urged its member coaches not to attend the meeting of the American Football Coaches' Association when these two national organizations meet at the Adolphus and Baker Hotels in Dallas next January 11-13.

Information received from the executive offices of both the NCAA and the AFCA made it evident that Negro members of both organizations would not be allowed the same courtesies in the Dallas hotels that they have been accorded in past meetings. The Negro membership has always been welcome guests at the hotel housing the meeting places of the annual confabs, and has always been urged to attend the "Coach of the Year Dinner" sponsored annually by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers. They have been advised that hotel reservations and meals at the above-mentioned hotels will not be available to Negroes.

In light of the embarrassment that Negro representatives to the NCAA and the individual members of the AFCA can expect at the Dallas meetings, the Southwest Conference took the above action. The conference also recommended that other college conferences follow the lead it had made and also urged that any independent colleges who are allied members of the NCAA protest the discriminatory meeting by not attending either of the gatherings.

The Southwestern Athletic Conference, composed of Arkansas A. and M. College, Sam Huston College, Bishop College, Langston University, Prairie View A. and M. College, Southern University, Texas College and Wiley College, is an allied member of the NCAA, while the ARCA has wide membership in the ranks of the football coaches of these schools.

On The Turf

GEO. A. RAMSEY

HOLLYWOOD PARK—It was a great race and big-name horses were in it. But the mighty Noor, tall, dark Irish-bred thoroughbred from the Aga Khan Stable, swept to an easy victory in the world's richest handicap. Trailing his field until the turn for the pot of gold, the mighty Noor came to the outside with Jockey Johnny Longden full of confidence as he applied the pressure and the Big Train moved on, picking up all that was in front of him to score by one length going away.

The hard luck horse in the race was Hill Prince, who was named horse of the year. Jockey Eddie Arcaro made his mistake by trying to go through a small hole at the quarter pole and was blocked and pulled up then again came to the inside to finish third. Palestinian, the surprise horse, hung on stubbornly and was three lengths in front of Hill Prince. The time was 1:59 4-5, a new track record. Noor, the public choice, paid $3.40.

This may be the last time that Noor will race. He will be retired to stud. So with the world's richest race over and won by a mighty horse, Hollywood Park will close its split season this Saturday with the running of the Sunset Handicap for three-year-olds and upwards at one and one-eighths miles. It carries an added value of $50,000. The Starlet Stakes was run Wednesday, December 13. The distance was 1 1-16 miles with an added value of $25,000.

This writer wants to thank Al Westeon, ace director of publicity, Mrs. Cora B. Hubner and Mrs. Frances Ellwood, charming and efficient secretaries of Weston, for all kindness and courtesy extended this writer during the season. I wish you three a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Workmen are busy as bees at the border course making ready for the grand and gala opening of the new and more beautiful Caliente race track which will open on Sunday, December 31.

The new American tote board, one of the biggest improvements for the Caliente course, is nearly completed. The landscaping of the grounds and beautiful flowers of all kinds will add much color to the famous track. The lovers of the sport of kings will be amazed at the improvements.

John Allesio (the Little Giant) and guiding hand of the vast remodeling, want to make the border track second to none. All roads from the border to the track have been widened and paved and the fans will be able to get to the track easier and faster.

Sheltons Tie for the League Lead

The wood chopping timber socking Shelton Bail Bonds of the Atomic Mixed Foursome Bowling League walloped the pins Monday night and blanked Busy Needle three games to none to move up into a tie for top spot at the Harlem Sport Center. Floyd Lawrence rocked the wood to top the league with a 588 high series. Kat (timber tilting) Porter racked up the stuff to top the women with a 193 high game and a 506 high series.

Garcia's Super Services rolled over league leaders, Team 5, two games to one. Ed Mcfall bowled a 207 game and a 558 series. Tommy Brown shot a 456 series.

Frank Garrett of Fleishmen's Clothiers popping off and shelling the lumber for a 243 high game and a 587 series. His team upset Temptation Drive Inn, two games to one. Millie Lightfoot rolling well had a 470 series.

The lumber was tumbling with lots of action in the Friday night Sunset Bowling League as Garretts Sports in a battle royal whaled Roberson Motel two games to one. Every player on the Roberson team shot better than a 500 series and they were heart breakers to lose. Floyd Lawrence topped the league with a 234 high game and a 587 high series. John Millon had a 228 and a 540 series. Alvin Griffin a 549 series. However, Garretts too were rough and ready blasting the maple. Herman Jones shooting a 552 series. Frank Garret had a 516. Edgar Benson a 538 series and with the Handicap the Motel players went down.

Personal Linen shook a lot of timber to down Empire Furniture two games to one Arthur Harold sparked the win rolling a 215 game and a 534 series. Chester Jacobs had a 534 and Bill Calhoun a 531 series. Ernest Kirkwood of Empire made a grand effort with a 233 game and a 582 series.

Bean And Henry To Battle Today For Possible Title Shot With Charles

CLARENCE HENRY, local heavyweight who battles Pacific Coast Champion Willie Bean for the title next Tuesday night at the Olympic Auditorium.

Local Heavies To Meet For 1st Time

Ezzard Charles, the Cincinnati Cobra, verbally has agreed to defend his world heavyweight crown here in Los Angeles some time in February; he will face either Willie Bean or Clarence Henry, two home-grown heavyweights.

Just which one it will be we'll know by midnight, December 19.

Bean, who won the Pacific Coast heavyweights championship by knocking out Frank Buford up in Spokane in five rounds on October 11th, is defending that honor against Clarence Henry next Tuesday at the Olympic Auditorium.

It will be their first meeting, and one long waited by local fight fans.

Both boys have been remarkably successful this year. Bean has knocked out boys like Buford, Joe Santell and Al Spaulding; decisioned Kid Riviera, Rusty Payne (twice), Al Hoosman, and Frank Buford. He turned in a brilliant exhibition against Joe Louis at Hollywood Legion Stadium in January.

Bean's only defeat this year was to Frank Buford, whom he whipped twice subsequently—once via kayo.

Henry's record includes knockouts over Irish Bob Murphy, 6; Rusty Payne, 1; Bob Dunlap, 2; Battling Blackjack, 4; decisions over Turkey Thompson, Doc. Williams, John Holman, Frank Buford and Frankie Daniels. His only defeat was at the hands of Frank Buford.

Bean will have the advantage in weight. His 200 pounds is well distributed over a magnificent physique; physically he's just about the finest specimen in the ring today. Henry will have the edge in speed and boxing skill—so say the experts.

With so much at stake—for their meeting is literally a prevue for a world title match—both boys can be depended upon to give it the good old college try. They'll be in there pitching for all they are worth.

The Olympic announces that there will be no change in prices for this important bout; the usual $3 top, plus tax.

Eyes of the nation will be on Los Angeles December 19th.

Since 1908 the sale of Christmas Seals in this country has been nationwide. Seal funds support tuberculosis control campaigns.

Pennsylvania Moves To Bar Joe Louis

As Joe Louis began making preparations this week for his next fight, with Freddie Beshore scheduled for Jan. 3, 1951 in Detroit, he was faced with the possibility of being barred from boxing in the State of Pennsylvania.

Commissioner John Da Grosa said that the halting of Louis fistic career would be "in the best interests of boxing," and further that his fight scheduled with Beshore should be stopped for the "health, welfare and future" of Louis.

The three man Pennsylvania Athletic Commission is to study the proposal by Da Grosa this week.

Louis' reply to the action was to the effect that he wouldn't mind if any State barred him "for failing to measure up to its rules and regulations and physical requirements. That's what they've all got doctors for—to see if you're all right" he said.

He also said that he was taking on Beshore to see if he could get back to "where I used to be as a fighter."

3 New Offensive Records Snared By Johnny Bright

Johnny Bright of Drake University established three major college football records this season as he became the individual total offense leader of 1950.

His 2400 yards gained running and passing in nine games smashed the old mark of 2187 set by Frankie Sinkwich in eleven games for Georgia in 1942. Bright picked up 1232 yards rushing and 1168 passing.

His total of 30 touchdowns, 18 scored himself and 12 that he passed for, broke the previous record of 23 established in 1948 by Stan Heath of Nevada and Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice of North Carolina.

Bright's third new high was his average of 266.7 yards gained per game this season. Stan Heath established the old mark in 1948 with an average of 221.3 yards.

Second on the list of individual total offensive leaders for 1950 was Billy Cox of Duke with 1995 yards. Don Heinrich of Washington was third with 1807.

Santa Anita Opens For Racing Dec. 30

Santa Anita opens its 14th and biggest season on Saturday, Dec. 30, to usher in the celebration of 100 years of organized racing in California. The world's richest stakes and purses are to be staged five-days-per-week, Tuesdays through Saturdays through March 10, starting at 1 p.m., with the gates opening at 11 a.m.

New innovations and major improvements, including an escalator and the Lanai Room added to the clubhouse with covered bridge passage way to grandstand, will be introduced.

SANTA ANITA PARK
Mrs. Johnson's Jar of Jelly

Mrs. Johnson's jar of jelly was a fairly insignificant item alongside the exhibits of tractors, beef cattle and great-girthed Clydesdale horses at the county fair, but it afforded a treasured moment in the life of this California housewife, for the little jar of jelly won a blue. Mrs. Johnson knows how to use a spoon to test whether boiling fruit and sugar has reached the jelly stage, but she doesn't know a Thoroughbred's fetlock from his forelock, and she has never attended the races at Santa Anita Park.

It was racing at Santa Anita and other California tracks, however, that made Mrs. Johnson's small, bright triumph possible. California racing, which is celebrating its 100th anniversary in 1951, now furnishes vital contributions for State, county and district fairs and expositions. Forty-five and one tenth per cent. of all the State's revenue from racing now is devoted to the 78 fairs, expositions and livestock shows of California. Although racing began at now forgotten California courses as early as 1851, it was not until pari mutuel wagering was legalized in 1933 that the Thoroughbred industry became one of the most important parts of the State's economic structure. Just how important this industry is to fairs is best evidenced by statistics. In 1933 there were only nine fairs in the entire State.

Another portion of racing's dollar goes to the support of the agricultural schools at the University of California and California State Polytechnic College. Twenty and two-tenths per cent. of racing's revenue is devoted to this purpose.

A hundred years ago, when racing in California began, life was simpler and agricultural methods were primitive. Today new cycles of machinery, varieties, sprays, fertilizers and marketing programs are introduced to farmers by the fairs. Thousands of students who have attended the institutions racing supports become practical farmers, vocational agriculture teachers, county agents. They conduct research and experimentation that have helped make California the first agricultural State of the nation.

Other benefits of the fairs and educational institutions which racing supports are acknowledged by state educational officials and agricultural leaders.

Avalon Community Center Has Extensive Christmas Program

Christmas celebrations at Avalon Community Center began Tuesday, December 12, with the hanging of the greens. The Challengers of the Avalon Christian Church and all the kids in the Center helped to make and hang the decorations.

Tonight, (Thursday) the staff and volunteers will have their annual Christmas dinner and exchange gifts.

New to the staff for the dinner will be two full-time staff people, Mrs. Agnes Wilson, Senior Group Worker; and John M. May, Group Worker. Already, the young people have given these two new workers a fine reception. The attendance at activities has increased appreciably.

Santa will be present with his bags filled for the children's party Friday, December 15, 3:00-6:00 p.m. All children ages 12 and under, who have participated in any activities during the year are invited. Beginning at 7:00 to 9:30 p.m., of December 15, all teenagers are asked to be present. There will be gifts on the tree for all present.

On Monday, December 18, at 2:00 p.m., a play will be presented by a group of girls from Washington High School. The same evening at 7:00 p.m. another high school group will present a play for every one.

Parents will be special guests at the December 19 party. Gifts will be presented to all parents whose children attend Avalon Community Center.

There will be tours to see the bright Christmas lights and decorations on Wilshire and Sunset Boulevards on Wednesday, December 20.

Tasty Menue

Thursday morning, December 21 at 10:00 a.m. the Annual Christmas breakfast will be served. All parents, teenagers and children who wish to enjoy the sumptuous repast are asked to sign up not later than Wednesday, 9:00 p.m. Don't miss the fruit juice, hot biscuits, bacon, sausage, scrambled eggs and hot cocoa. Board members and staff will prepare the meal.

Friday, December 22 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. the regular free movie will be shown and the talent show will be in full force. If you can sing, dance, imitate, come one and join the fun.

All who live in the neighborhood are cordially invited to participate.

Parents are urged to attend all activities and to drop in at any time to observe the fine staff at work.

Choir Presents Messiah Sunday With Orchestra

The Cathedral Choir of the People's Independent Church of Christ in cooperation with the Department of Music of the Wilshire Methodist Church will present th Christmas section of Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" on Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Wilshire Church.

This exchange of musical friendship is unprecedented in local music annals. Richard Ellsasser will conduct. The combined choir will be accompanied by an orchestra of fifty players.

On Christmas eve, at 7:15 in the People's Independent Church, 18th and Paloma, the Cathedral Choir of the church under Albert J. McNeil's direction will present a special Candlelight Carol Service featuring the Christmas Section of Handel's "The Messiah." Gwendolyn.. Harriel.. soporano; Jeanne Jackson, alto; Fred Ohenessian, tenor and Thurston Fragier, bass. Fannie Evelyn Benjamin will be at the console of the organ.

Portrait Of Mrs. Laytin Unveiled

The portrait of Mrs. S. W. Laytin, prominent in church and missionary circles, will be unveiled at the annual missionary day to be held by the Missionary Society of Zion Hill Baptist Church featuring a special program at 3 p.m. Sunday, December 17.

The Rev. T. W. Chambers, pastor of the church, will deliver the message, and a series of inspiration numbers will be given by representatives of Mt. Zion, Second Baptist, and Calvary Baptist Churches. The theme for the day will be: "The Need of Christion Service in Today's World." The former presidents of the Society will be presented.

Bishop Brown Speaks At 2nd AME Church

Next Sunday morning, Bishop W. C. Brown will be the guest speaker at Second A.M.E. Church, 43rd St. and San Pedro Pl., at the 11:00 o'clock service. Bishop Brown is an international clergyman and presides over the Fifth Episcopal District of the A.M.E. Zion Church. He has just returned from holding his conferences in the East. Mrs. Brown will accompany him. The public is cordially invited to hear him.

DR. JESSE L. GLOVER, D.D.
Minister.

Native Land At Unitarian Church

"Native Land," one of the greatest documentary films ever made, will be shown at the First Unitarian Church, 2936 West 8th Street, on Friday, December 15, at 8:00 p.m.

Based on findings by the United States Senate in 1938, "Native Land" is the documentary struggle of the American people in recent years to win and hold the civil liberties guaranteed by our Bill of Rights. Dramatic re-enactments show a Michigan farmer beaten because he spoke out at a farm meeting; an Arkansas share-cropper shot down by a vigilante for attempting to organize; the Florida Ku Klux Klan that tarred and feathered voters; and the Memorial Day massacre of pickets outside a Chicago steel plant. Produced and directed by Paul Strand and Leo Hurowitz, it stars Howard da Silva and Art Smith. Music is by Marc Blitzstein, and Paul Robeson is heard as narrator and singer.

Charlie Chaplin's beloved comedy, "The Immigrant," will also be shown, and Waldo Salt, well-known screen play writer, will be intermission commentator.

The public is cordially invited to attend this film program. Admission is 55c, including tax.

De Valentine Sings Messiah 100th Time

William de Valentine is only 22 years old and for such a short time in the life of a singer he will have sung Handel's immortal oratorio "Messiah" in 100 performances when he appears as bass soloist in the oratorio given at the Ward Chapel A.M.E. Church this Sunday night at 8 o'clock under the baton of J. W. Sanford.

Musical Drama At Opportunity Baptist

Brother Smallwood, pastor, presents both choirs of the Opportunity Baptist Church in "The Tragedy of Missing Heaven" at the Opportunity Baptist Church at 1112 E. 23rd Street (cor. of 23rd and Griffith Ave.) Friday, December 22, at 8 p.m. Don't fail to see this play of the seasons. It will hold you spellbound from the beginning to the end, and will cause you to wonder "just who will make it to Heaven!"

Opportunity Baptist is known as the church with the Everlasting Welcome to All. Visit our Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., B.T.U. at 6 p.m., and morning and evening services at 11 a.m. and 7:30-8:30 p.m.

Bro. E. D. Smallwood, Pastor

Men's Day At Neighborhood Church Sunday

Prof. Earl Hines will direct the Neighborhood Church Chorus of Men on Sunday, Dec. 17, and chairman Robert Strawther, assisted by Blaine Venerable and Gameliel M. Collins, co-chairmen, promise a great day—all day, concluding at the evening service with a musical program for Men's Day at the Neighborhood Church. Noted pipe organist, Marshall Miller from New Jersey, will play the organ. The speaker is a lady—an outstanding minister and will be presented as a surprise.

Following the morning service, Blaine Venerable Dinner will be served in Mitchell Hall of the church — the dinner will be cooked and served by men.

Reports from both groups will be made Sunday evening.

Rehearsal for the men's chorus tonight (Thursday) at the church. All singing men of the church are urged to be present.

Rent Director Lashes Out At Illegal Hikes

Max N. Bass, acting area rent director, this week lashed out at some landlords attempting to put into effect unauthorized rent increase or seeking to illegally evict tenants.

"The illegal actions," the acting rent chief declared, "are apparently the result of landlords last month sending out 30-day notices to a large number of tenants when it appeared to them that rent controls would be lifted.

"Since the first of the month a number of tenants have complained to this office that landlords are attempting to unlawfully collect the higher rents based on mimeographed notices they received 30 days ago," Bass reported.

Bass stressed emphatically that rent boosts were illegal unless authorized by a rent office order with both the tenant and landlord receiving official notification.

An adaptation of the Cross of Lorraine, the Double-Barred Cross was adopted in 1902 as the international insignia of the campaign against tuberculosis.

Mrs. Pruitt, Of Oakland, Dies In Los Angeles

Mrs. Eva Pruitt, of Oakland, Calif., who was visiting her mother, Mrs. Anna Smith, 895 East 566th street, passed away Friday, December 8, at the Metropolitan Hospital, after a short illness.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Mr. Albert Pruitt, a devoted mother, two sisters, Mrs. Sally Williams and Mrs. Josephine Foster, two brothers, Mr. Denver Smith, of Los Angeles and Mr. Oliver Smith, of Columbus, Mo.; together with a host of friends.

Mrs. Pruitt was a member of Hiawatha Temple No. 91, who will have charge of the funeral services. Plans for these services were not complete when the EAGLE went to press, due to waiting for the arrival of Mr. Pruitt.

Christmas Seal funds are currently aiding 26 medical research projects on tuberculosis.

Metrolite Choir Presenting Giant Musical Extravaganza

Scores of religious entertainers will appear on program at Metropolitan CME Church Sunday when the Metrolite Choir of that church presents its giant Musical Extravaganza. The program will begin at 3:30 p.m. at the church, located on 29th Street between Maple Avenue and Main Street.

Principal group on program will be the Luther Carpenter A Capella Choir. This choral group has sung at churches throughout the city and is currently scheduled to perform in winter concerts at Pepperdine and Redlands Universities.

Noted Choir

The famed John Howard Choir, which appears daily on a local television show, will also sing at the affair. They have been in programs at the Rose Bowl and the Pasadena Civic Auditorium. The choir traveled over 37,000 miles, singing at various places, during the past year. In 1949 NBC sponsored the group in a radio program in Ohio for a year.

Others scheduled to sing are the 40-voice youth choir of Mc Coy Memorial Church, the Heralds of Harmony, outstanding men's group from Watts, and the interdenominational Nightingale Choral Ensemble.

Featured soloist will be James Wilson, tenor and student at East L. A. J. C. Another tenor will be Joseph Williams of L. A. State College. Baritones for the program will be Clinton Moore of Paradise Baptist Church and Thelton Taylor of St. Mark Baptist Church.

Director of the Metrolite Choir, sponsors of the program, is William Peoples. Peoples is a former member of Wings Over Jordan and is currently a member of the John Howard group. Joan Penn, East L. A. J. C. student, is pianist for the Metrolites.

The Reverend Sears is pastor of the church. There will be no admission charge.

BIG JOE THE ABSTRUCTIONIST

One warm, sunny, Sunday afternoon, the people of the little mountain village of Aerok detected an odor of smouldering fire in the strong, dry west wind. Members of each family dashed to their windows or porches to see if they were correct in the belief that they had smelled smoke. Indeed, they had been correct, for a great cloud of dark smoke was curling up from the cottage of "Little Doc" Mann.

Spontaneously, with an urge to save the cottage and the lives of Little Doc's family—who customarily took long naps on Sunday afternoons—every able-bodied man grabbed a bucket of water and took off in a run, hoping to reach Little Doc's cottage before it burst into flames. One of the villagers, Big Joe Bilder, had been enjoying a walk in his upper field some distance beyond the village, when he detected the smoke, and so, having further to run, was at the rear of the "fire brigade." Just as he was about to catch up with them, with his two huge buckets of much needed water, a guest villager, the self-styled leader, Sam Lie, spied him, stopped abruptly, wheeled around and blocked Big Joe's path, with the command:

"Hold on! We don't need YOUR help, Big Joe. There is a rumor throughout the village that you are a COMMUNIST."

Big Joe, obviously irritated, as he looked over Sam's head toward the increasing smoke clouds above Little Doc's cottage, replied:

"It is not a rumor, it is a fact, but we have no time now to discuss politics.

"We will put out the fire in OUR OWN WAY, and without any of your Communist tricks. You probably have GASOLINE IN THOSE BUCKETS!" Shouting these last words to assure their carrying to all the villagers, had the effect of a command to them from Sam. Instantly they whirled around, set down their buckets, turning their backs on the fire and their faces, menacingly, on Big Joe.

Patiently yet stubbornly, Big Joe set down his own buckets, and attempted to explain that his urge to help was as strong as theirs, attempted to invite them to inspect his buckets of water, to smell it, to throw a match into it, but his voice was drowned out by the crowd's angry cries. "Shut up!" "Communists are liars, we will not listen to you!" "Anything you say is Communist propaganda." "We won't hear you!"

Unable to be heard above the jeers of the crowd, Big Joe tried by pointing and gesticulating to convince them that the fire was catching on, that Little Doc's family was in grave danger, and that his buckets held real water which was desperately needed as was their own. But Sam kept warning them:

"Don't take your eyes off him for a minute, boys, he is just putting on a show—a pantomime—just to trick you! His gestures like his words are phoney—plain applesauce!"

"Yea, Yea!" the crowd echoed, obviously having forgotten the fire, and putting their entire attention on the possible tricks Big Joe might be trying to play.

Finally, unable to be heard, unable to get them to remember and look around at the fire by pointing and gesticulating, Big Joe slowly cupped his big hands, bent over and dipped up a double handful of water from one of his buckets and drank it. As the crowd blinked, Sam quickly shrilled: "Just another trick! He drank from only ONE of the buckets, how do we know what is in the OTHER?"

Whereupon, Big Jeo, silently, cupped his hands again and drank from the second bucket.

At this, some of the more sensible and independent members of the crowd were convinced that not all of Sam's theories were correct, and turned around to face the fire.

Too late! Big Joe's desperate gesticulating had not been a trick. The cottage was burned to the ground! Little Doc could be seen bending over the one member of his family he had been able to save, the others had perished. But did this crowd of villagers feel any remorse, blame themselves at all, or blame Sam for having misled them? They did not! They wailed in unison: "It is all Big Joe's fault! He knew we would not cooperate with nor listen to a Communist, which proves that he deliberately planned to have Little Docs' home destroyed, by insisting on helping save it! He had not business to try and join hands with us by bringing those huge buckets, which might not have held water. (But did!) Yes siree, Big Joe is the obstructionist who is responsible for our not having done our duty."

Freshly dead
William and Leon
Stood at the Pearly Gates
Which Ole Saint Pete
Filing WIDE
And told the boys
GOWAN INSIDE.
But they said NO
And quickly
Went to hell.
And as they baked
Upon the red-hot coals
And danced the New St. Vitus
They sang this sad lament:
How we'd love to be in Heaven
IF MRS. BASS
WOULD JUST INVITE US!

Confucious

There is nothing like a weekend at Murray's Dude Ranch in Victorville, California, out where the desert is a prickly place to sit down upon.

Only thing . . . you have to go somewheres and rest up after your vacation.

Now, take me, for instance. Now, go on, baby, take me. I mean there I was out in the fields of cactus, breathing deeply, and forgetting all about my sinus.

Yessir, desert life is the life. You get up around 11 a.m. and eat a breafast that's laid out for a young army.

Then you go swimming.

Then you go riding.

Now, there is more to this riding than meets the eye. One must first get aboard and after that he must arrange to stay there.

That latter department was where this tenderfoot ran itno serious difficulty. It was my misfortune to mount only steeds of great character, determination, and will-power. They all wanted to go right when I wanted to go left and what's more they all did. Except Mabel.

Mabel is a little thing, bless her heart, but a creature in whose soul the Old West has found a final resting place. She rips and snorts and tears out like the wind. And when you pull the reins, she stops. Yessir, she stops. I thought this was the neatest trick of all.

There is a great peace that descends upon a man out in the wide open spaces. At the end of a hard day's riding, the far off hills turn a delicate purple. Just like your rear end.

And the gentle vapor of Sloan's liniment which hangs about the whole establishment lends a certain piquant charm to the desert night.

And a guy discovers so many more muscles thar he ever knew he had before. Big ones and little ones. All hurting.

Oooh, but it's a great life! The cows and the chickens, the food, the great outdoors, the swimming pool, the food, the tenderfoot guests and the food! I'm tellin' you, the sand of the desert gets under your skin. To say nothing of your toenails.

Oh yeah. The honeymoon cottage had a fire the other night. Hummmmmmm.

Shut mah mouth and call me Buck Kinloch.

Hi-yo Sloan's and AWAY!

TREES

(With apologies to Joyce Kilmer and the Miracle Mile "singing" Christmas trees.)

I think that I shall never see
(or, rather, hear)
A song as lovely as a tree
(this time of year).
A tree whose brassy mike is blast
Against mere man, somewhat aghast.
A tree that looks so real at first
But lifts her voice in tuneful burst.
A tree that may at Christmas wear
A net of tinsel in her hair.
Within whose base a disc is played.
Whose amplifiers are relayed.
Songs are heard by folks like me,
But who can really wire a tree?

HERE'S THE AMAZING LANOLIN-SOFTENING SKIN CREAM

You've Waited Years To Get!

NEW SCIENTIFIC FAMILY-USE CREAM GREAT AS POWDER BASE, NIGHT CREAM

Here is the new, amazing skin cream that's a great new "daily-use" cream for old and young. Its skin-softening lanolin smooths and beautifies, and its gentle medication helps heal little skin troubles. Use as cleansing cream, also to help smooth little dry skin lines as you sleep. Greaseless, disappears into skin, leaves smooth base that holds makeup tightly for hours.

DRY, COARSE, ROUGH SKIN NOW SOFTENED QUICKLY

Nearest-to-nature lanolin sinks in to make ugly, coarse skin soft and smooth. Use Mexsana Skin Cream daily as a guard against roughening action of weather, dust and other external irritants.

New Mexsana Skin Cream corrects as it cares for your skin. Snow-white and greaseless, this one perfect skin cream is the new beauty treatment that works day and night for your loveliness.

GENTLE MEDICATION HELPS SOOTHE, HEAL SIMPLE IRRITATIONS

Externally caused minor skin troubles are greatly helped by this scientific daily care. Cools irritated burning feet, smooths chapped hands. Soothes baby's itchy diaper rash.

*Contains LANOLIN Nearest to nature's own softening action

MEN WANT THEIR OWN JAR SUCH A BIG SHAVING FAVORITE

Great as a brushless shave cream, or as a base if you use lather and brush. Cools. Lanolin softens. Mild medication soothes "nicks." 70c jar contains more than twice as much as 35c size. Buy a jar for every member of your family. You must be satisfied, or you get your money back!

MEXSANA Skin Cream

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

(Jody Clark, Guest Columnist)

Guess what, you kids! The "Les Tres Jolies" are giving a pre-New Year's ball on the 29th of this month at the Parkview Manor, 2200 West 7th Street. The price? Oh, it's only $1.25 a couple and 85c stag, dirt cheap. Real cool, huh, Barbara? Debby Miles informed me that I was not to advertise for any boy friend for her. Hmmm; that could mean only one thing: she has one. Well, congratulations, honey. . . . Jeanette (Mona Lisa) Washington still keeps silent about the man of her heart, but when she looks at Frank it's quite obvious. . . . I hear that dashing prince charming William Reed has returned once more on leave. He must have dashed in and out again, because he lives practically next door to me and everyone has seen him except me. . . . Mary Walton received a long distance call from the man of her heart saying "he's leaving for Korea Friday. You kids be sure to add him to your list when you're praying for the boys every nite. His name, in case you don't know, is Nat Branum. . . . Victor Clark said he doesn't mind going back to Korea, if he's sure a certain little Wilma Bell will be waiting for him when he returns. . . . Ora Williams seems to have done it again. This time his name is Leroy Teddy. Cute name, huh?

Lover Man

Mr. Norman Holmes is this week's lover man, with that masculine height of 6 feet 1 and that lovable weight of 185. He has dark hair, brown eyes, and smooth brown skin. He's a student at Jefferson High School. A little young though, only 18 years old. Well, girls, there's the lover man of the week. Know you all agree.

Lorraine Mouton is really living up to her title, "The Kissing Bandit." Ask Elmer Matt; he can certainly tell you. . . . I wonder if Barbara Anderza has taken the hint yet. "Besame Mucho." Has she Reynold?

Personal

Dan Hamilton, you know that dance that is going to be at the Parkview Manor; well, I'd like to see you there with a certain Roberta H. . . . Ronald Clark, if you'd take your snooty nose out of the clouds, you'd find there's a certain Barbara Grozier on earth.

Lover Girl

Sweet little Laura Robinson is this week's lover girl. She weighs 120 pounds; 5 feet 2, and has brown eyes. That age is 16. O.K., boys, take it from there.

David Bonner, have you noticed that Leah Jane has eyes for you? . . . Beverly Woodman is doing all right with the male of the species. But, please, Bev, let the other gals have a chance.

Listen, kids; because I'm being rushed, I'll continue next week.

All for now.

JODY.

Goal In Sight

With 1,653 boys and adults added to the membership rolls of the Los Angeles Area Council during the first two months of the annual Boy Scouts of America fall round-up, over 75 percent of the Council's goal of a 2,000 man-and-boy increase in membership has been achieved, James Pingree, Council organization and extension chairman, announced.

CHRISTMAS CARD

(To a Los Angeles public official.)

Pray, sir, forget about the smog.
Relax before the old Yule log.
Crackling flames from this same log
Will add, in turn, to that old smog.
Next year the public you'll not fool
If, eliminate the smog, you'll.

To raise funds for tuberculosis work, Miss Emily P. Bissell put on the first Christmas Seal Sale in the United States in Wilmington, Del., in 1907.

SOCIALITING WITH....

Vivian D. Johnson

"Time and the ball have buried the day,
The black cloud carries the sun away." —T. S. Eliot.

The year of 1950 is rapidly ebbing away—only 19 more days—and just 10 more shopping days until Christmas!

And as the Yule Season draws closer by the day, our thoughts begin to turn toward holiday fashions, the giving of gifts, and general good will toward our fellow man.

To many of us, this Christmas season symbolizes a time of joy and beauty. To others it's a time of merriment and wonderful surprises.

Viewing Beauty

YOU'LL REALLY miss a treat if you don't see Hollywood's beautiful Christmas tree lane! Shopkeeper's dream of a white Christmas come true is the gay lane of singing Christmas trees on Wilshire Blvd.'s Miracle Mile! Cleverly decorated store windows in the city's downtown shopping areas always kindle a spark of the season's spirit!

Holiday Vacationers

ABANDONING THE warm and sunny surroundings of our city, Dorothy Duvall departs for a three-week stay in the Windy City, Chicago, on Friday night, via TWA Airlines. Friends and well wishers will gather tonight at her "abode" to help give her a real send-off. Will probably run into Gloria Swanson, Garold Machen, Roberta Bright, Connie Wainwright, Edith McLynn, Sonny Criss, to name a small portion. Also, congrats are in order to Miss D.D. on recently being chosen as one of the Southlands' ten best dressed by another local newspaper.

THE BAY AREA will attract popular USC co-ed Signora Howard for a pre-holiday week end beginning today.

BERNICE BANKS is homeward bound for Portland, Oregon, to return to our city the first of January. . . . LIKEWISE is USC Delta Pledge Imogene Fatheree, off to the same destination. . . . Missing out on some of the local holiday festivities, they plan to make up for them "at home." Included in the realm of activity, Portland Deltas will present their Christmas formal.

NEW ORLEANS bound was Zelida LeBlanc last Saturday morning as she bid adieu to family and friends for a three-week stay. . . . EVA MAE WILLIAMS, Uclan co-ed, will visit relatives in Texas. . . . WHAT a lonesome holiday it will be for Ernie and Ronnie Powell with their "girls" many miles away during such a festive time of the year! . . . GENEVA BATISTE will be motoring to Lafayette and New Orleans, Louisiana, leaving on Friday. She will also breeze through Houston, Texas, en route.

Cupid's Holiday

NOT ONLY DOES this season mean social activity, but it also becomes a very special time of the year for bringing loved ones together.

DELTA PYRAMID Pledge Club prexy Yvonne Taylor passed the traditional box of chocolates as she coyly announced her recent engagement to local boy Richard Rinehart, ex-LACC track star. The wedding date will be announced later.

GERALDINE MANN and Mr. Charles E. Todd of Tucson, Arizona, have chosen Christmas Eve as their special date to remember. They will be joined in matrimony at Mount Zion Baptist Church on December 24th.

MARTHA AND GEORGE Ellis will greet their many friends at their wedding reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Hilyard on Sunday, the 17th.

Just Thinking of You

OH, DOES Joyce Overr get a big thrill when she reads these lines written by her best "beau" who is serving time with Uncle Sam's Army, stationed in Ft. Bliss, Texas. A letter every other day suits her fancy. . . . HAROLD JORDON, stationed somewhere in Denver, Colorado, sends the same greetings to Harriet Flowers. Many times phone calls and periodic gifts are quick follow-ups. . . . GLORIA TAYLOR received her first written "hello" from her favorite, Buddy Maxwell, temporarily stationed at Fort Ord, Calif.

December Birthday

HONOREE of the evening was Miss Tanis Fortier on Saturday night past. Lending to the celebration ran into Bob Irving, Delo Overstreet Gray, Joan and Earl Pierson. Later in the evening noticed Charles Smith and Ethlene, Marion and Claude Young, Thomas Newsome, Peggi Anderson and Gab Randolph, Murney Hardon and Carl Peterson enjoying the tasty Spanish style repast. While EDITH WHITE entertained the group, featuring her voice and the zither, yours truly and Harold Hale, Bernice Banks and Dr. Brownie Allen, Janis Fortier and Winston Wright, Tass Knight and Evelyn Strickland, Connie and Hubert Duke and Louis Cozy listened intently, and enjoyed. Must say that the gay gathering was just enough to really begin a festive holiday season!

Just Glancin'

LOS ANGELES PRESS Club prexy Robert Smith and members are really entertaining in grand style on Sunday afternoon. The occasion — a gay afternoon at Jack's Basket Room—PRE-HOLIDAY PRESS JAMBOREE—Imagine, stage, screen and radio entertainment, and dancing to the tunes of Jack McVey will round out a special fun afternoon. Be there!

SAW MANY OF THE young married couples on the scene of the very successful TURN-ABOUTS semi-formal dance. Greeted Regina and Hank Melton, Nancy and James Johnson, Estelle and Prosper Bullen, Faye and Carl Haley, the Ike Blockers, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Houston, Jr., Ivan and Phillipa Houston. Enjoyed saying hello to an old friend, Vance Jones, who is now back on the local scenes after a prolonged illness. Said "Hi" to Julius Boyd, Signora Howard and Howard Morehead, the Fortune Kelleys, Abelyne Winge, Janez Lawson and Whitney Arceneaux, Pauline James and Ralph Kaufman, Ralph Wright with a new cutie, Harold Machen and his same usual date of late, Betty Wallace; Jack Thompson and Hortense Hudson. And, of course, these are only to name a few.

THE ORCHIDS, INC., really had a nice affair on Sunday, cleverly labeled "Christmas Wassail."

First AME Church Reception For Pastor

The official family, members and friends of the First AME Church left nothing undone when on Monday, December 11, they welcomed the newly appointed pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Alvia Shaw at a reception in their honor.

Rev. Shaw was appointed by Bishop D. Ormonde Walker last September in San Diego. Friends came from far and near to be present at the reception. After a well-planned program guests were ushered from the auditorium to the Youth Center where they were served. The entire place was decorated with the Christmas colors, and the Christmas spirit pervaded everywhere.

This scene was really crowded! FOR THE COMING WEEK END don't forget the Kappa "Holiday Hop" at the Parkview Manor on Saturday night, and the PHI BETA SIGMA'S "Guys and Dolls" soiree at the Beverly Chateau on Friday. . . . With these reminders this is VDJ signing off until. . . .

Robeson In New Demand For Passport

NEW YORK — Paul Robeson, [illegible] artist and one of the most outspoken and determined enemies of white supremacy in the world, has appealed a State Department ruling denying him the right to use his passport and leave the country.

Because of the prejudice here, Robeson must go to Europe to sing, and he has the support of friends throughout the world in his demand that he be allowed to leave this country and go abroad where his dignity as a man and his talent are appreciated and respected.

The government has been persecuting Robeson for years because the great singer and leader has demanded freedom for all oppressed Americans.

Charter Violation Charged To City Council In Raise Refusal

Rebuffed on the City Council, all of [illegible] members of which [illegible] admit they are in violation on the city charter by refusing to grant pay raises to city employees whose wages are below [illegible] rate of [illegible] UPW will take a strike vote at a meeting tonight.

According to Sidney Moore, business agent of the union a strike is "imminent." Moore announced the union's plans at a press conference held in the Clark Hotel on Hill St. Monday afternoon. Moore met the press with L. J. Simms, president of the street maintenance and heavy duty equipment affiliate of the local.

Both Moore and Simms pointed out that the plan to strike was [illegible] reluctantly after [illegible] years of fruitless appeals to the [illegible] Urging public spirited leaders and organizations to demand that the Council obey the law and grant prevailing wage scales to the city employees Moore said "A strike against the third largest city in the nation is a serious matter."

Strike Date

Full support of the strike proposal is expected at tomorrow's meeting. Following union policy, the men will then be polled on the job, after which the date for the strike will be set. Should a strike be voted, Councilmen Austin, Henry and Cronk who have flatly opposed to admit a charter violation, will feel its effects first. With the men refusing to remove their garbage or sweep the streets in front of their homes.

Picket lines will be thrown around all city yards and the City Hall when the strike reaches full force. However, Moore pointed out that their will be no strike if the Council will pass the Bureau of Budget and Efficiency recommendations of last April, which would give the men a 10 per cent raise.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

"It was a sort of registration of the American youth's thinking at this period when the whole world is involved in war and strife," said Charles Mosley and Harriet Jaffe as they returned from the Young Progressives' Peace Conference held in Chicago, December 9-10.

Present at this meeting were approximately 100 teenagers, and a rough estimate of as many young adults, mostly from the Eastern states.

Conspicuous and outstanding among the group was Dave McCannas, recently returned from a European trip that took him to China, Poland, France, and the Soviet Union. This trip was made with 42 other United States delegates, said McCannas.

Also in the delegation was Letitia Summers, of New York and California, and Lydia D'Fonseca, national treasurer of the organization.

When asked what was the theme of the convention, both Mosley and Miss Jaffe answered, "Peace." It was, they said, a singing conventin. Many voices not only sang but declared that in a democratic nation, such as we say we are, there is no place for Jimcro and it must be destroyed, not only in the United States Army and Navy, but in the shools, colleges, universities, churches, industry, and everywhere it lifts its ugly head.

McCannas said in every European country he visited the people spoke for peace, and lamented the fact that our country had deprived them of the opportunity of hearing the world's greatest baritone, Paul Robeson, sing for peace

The American youth and the youth of the world see no future for the development of their musical, literary, and scientific talents on the bloody battlefields of Europe and Asia.

They want freedom and peace for youth everywhere, and this Chicago conference in spirit and letter was a pattern of the Second World Youth Congress held at Prague last August, where wars and aggression were discussed, and the blame for aggression and war in Korea was placed at the door of our own government, and there was a clarion call for peace.

This war in Korea and the threat of a third world war, said the American youth, is a blot on our government and one that must be erased by us, the future citizens, statesmen, and diplomats.

We are determined to make our country a leader in the movement for peace and a friend to all the nations of the world.

We don't want history to record us as war-mongers, but as sincere advocates of peace.

That was the conclusion of the youth of America who met in Chicago. Shall we older citizens of America accept their challenge? Shall we not also declare that we are determined to make the United States of America the leader in a movement for peace, and the friend of all the nations of the world?

It held that proud position all during the dark days of World War II. All the world was turning hopeful eyes to America. But we have failed those who placed confidence in us. Yet in that sickening admission, there is still a faint hope burning. And under the leadership of our youth, we—you and I and all of us—must turn our country right-about face, towards the light of peace and freedom again. And we shall win then that peace and freedom for which we have craved, for all the world.

N. Y. Police Murder Negro One Day After Army Discharge

NEW YORK—Another innocent Negro victim has been added to the long list of those murdered by New York police. He is John Derrick, 24 year old Negro veteran honorably discharged on December 6th. The very next day he was murdered by the police.

Derrick, a wounded veteran of six years service was returning home after celebrating his discharge with two friends when police ordered the trio to put their hands up, simultaneously opening fire on them and killing Derrick instantly. A large sum of money the dead man had received in back pay on his discharge from the army was missing after the body was searched.

In a joint statement issued by William L. Patterson, national executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, Nat Ross, New York state CRC executive secretary, and Russel Meek, CRC executive secretary for Harlem, the people were called on to arouse Harlem and the nation.

"Today every policeman on the Harlem beat represents an armed threat to the Negro people. To a Negro, walking the streets of Harlem is like walking through territory occupied by the enemy. While Negro soldiers die in a

Christmas Toys Made By Women In City Jail

More than 1,000 rag dolls, cloth animals and articles of clothing will be delivered to deserving Southland children this Christmas—because women prisoners at the Los Angeles City Jail want to help bring joy into some youngster's heart.

The articles are made by the women in sewing classes conducted as a year-round project of the rehabilitation and educational program of the institution with the cooperation of the Adult Division of the Board of Education.

Police Drop Kidnap Charge; Now Hold Youth for Assault

Edward Stanley, 19 year old messenger boy who, according to one witness testimony was beaten by a motorcycle officer last Monday afternoon, then lodged in the University jail on a kidnapping charge, was released on $250 bail last Wednesday after attorney Rayfield Lundy forced [illegible] to produce him in Superior Court on a writ of habeas corpus.

The police reduced the kidnapping charge to one of assault and disturbing the police. Lundy, who is serving the youth without fee, provided the bail, and announced that attorneys Herbert Simmons, Richard Tetherbridge and Buelow Warmsley had volunteered to serve with him as defense counsel.

A hearing on the new charge, lodged after an investigation by the California Eagle caused the kidnapping charge to be dropped, will be held on January 17 in

Home Builders Extend Jim Crow To Invited Guests; End Lease

NEW YORK—Preparation was made this week by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to carry before the Appellate Division of Supreme Court an appeal of Judge Percy Stoddart's refusal to enjoin the builders of the community of Levittown from evicting two families who had entertained Negro guests.

The NAACP had asked a temporary injunction barring the eviction of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Novick and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Ross, who last July had invited Negro children from nearby Hempstead to play with their children on the lawns adjoining their homes. In August, these two families were notified by Levitt and Sons, builders, that at the expiration of their leases on Nov. 30, they would be required to move.

Although the Federal Housing Administration last year forced Levitt and Sons to remove written restrictive covenants from their deeds and leases after considerable pressure by the NAACP and other groups, Levitttown continues to exclude Negro families.

Mother Loses Children Because She Taught Them Race Equality

A mother who believed in democracy as opposed to fascism, and equality and opposed to racial discrimination, lost the custody of her two children by court order last week because she taught those principles to her children. The mother, Mrs. Jean B. Field, had raised the children for 10 years after her husband deserted her.

The children, Jay, age 13 and Mary Kaye, age 10, were awarded in the custody of their father on the basis of an Oklahoma court order in Judge Harold Schweitzer's court.

Mrs. Field, despite the fact that her husband had deserted her when Mary Kaye was three weeks old, sent the children to visit their father in Oklahoma. The father, Vernon C. Field, refused to send them back, and sued in an Oklahoma court to keep their custody, basing his claim on letters their mother wrote them in which she condemned foreign and domestic fascism and imperialism.

Future Artists Concert Held Last Sunday

Sterling Herschel Spivey, 13, guest pianist and fifteen representatives, 12 years and under, from six music studios appearing on the Fifth Annual Future Artists Concert last Sunday evening at Bowen Memorial Methodist Church thrilled a large audience.

In the atmosphere of a large glittering Christmas tree the concert resembled a musical Christmas party as the children from six to 12 furnished an interesting program.

Linda Vaughn and Gregory Moran were pupils of Mrs. Ethel Thompson; Debbie Mosley Merwin Hollis and Tonia Bell were Mrs. Eunice Blackwell's. Eugenia Clarke's studio was represented by Leon and Belva Ragger.

Mrs. Dovie Steward's school presented three boy pianists. Douglass Sides, Leslie Gail Bellamy and Jermone Leomons and two younger boys, Gregory Sides and Andrew Lewis who sang a novelty song, "When I Ride My Little Bucking Broncho."

Mr William T Wilkins was represented by Henriena Wilson and Kathyrn Meyer and Mrs. Ethel Brooks' studio presented Shirley Ann Herring and Michael Crenfuegos. Sterling Spivey is a pupil of Mrs Maymee Lowe Payne.

SANTA CLAUS landed his reindeer-decorated-plane in White Plains, N.Y. with a load of toys for Catholic children. On Santa's knees while he rested from his journey, sat Jacky and Patty, who with three other children from the Cardinal McCluskey School and Home here, helped him to unload toys for its 244 children. Santa flew the toys from Santa's Workshop, North Pole, N. Y., which is in the Whiteface Mountain. Tourists' coin contributions dropped into a wishing-well there, finance many toys for children. Santa's flying trips to child-caring institutions are managed by Julian J. Reis, Lake Placid, who hold a commercial pilot's license. Dr. Reiss is one of the five original members of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination.

Civil Rights Congress Honors Political Prisoners At Party

The honored guests at this year's annual Civil Rights Congress Christmas Party will not be there. They will be in prison.

The honored guests are Frank Carlson, Harry Carlisle, David Hyun, and Miriam Steevnson, whose address is Terminal Island, because they happened to be born in other countries, and fought for the peoples' rights in America;

Wesley Wells, whose address is Death Row in San Quentin, because he bucked Jim Crow in the prison system.

Joe Brooks, whose address is the Kilby, Alabama, prison, where he worries about the welfare of the folks in CRC, and how we're getting along;

Eugene Dennis, whose address is a Federal prison because he stood up to defend himself, and other accused Communist leaders against an unconstitutional Smith Act;

Determined

Albert Maltz, Alvah Bessie, John Howard Lawson, Lester Cole, Samuel Ornitz, Adrian Scott, Ring Lardner Jr., and Dalton Trumbo, whose addresses are the various Federal prisons because they refused to be blackmailed into being stoolpigeons and giving up their constitutional rights.

Negroes Threatened by Neighbors

forcement officers should see that the law is obeyed. If they do not, we the citizens of Los Angeles, intend to see that they do, declare both Negro and white Americans.

But a Mr. Beatty real estate man, has circulated a leaflet giving an altogether different interpretation of this law on restricted property. He lives at 6217 Converse avenue, three blocks from Compton, and by some circumlocution of the facts, he claims that this Negro family can be ousted and calls upon his fellow reactionaries to do so.

A delegation of seven persons, four Negroes and three white men visited Mr. Beatty the other evening and were received with [illegible] other things he called the sheriff and complained that a "mob of n——s was outside his office" and he demanded protection.

The sheriff's assistants paid no attention to his call, it was said.

These people who listened to Beatty's tirade over the phone said they couldn't help but think of the Negro troops in Korea, of the court-martials, of the other discriminations reported wherever a Negro soldier fought or a Negro family tried to live in peace.

Such things as occurred at the 116th and 117th street homes, and other nearby areas, are being repeated as well in virtually every part of this free America.

GIRLS WANTED

All girls over 18 years of age that would be interested in going to Camp Roberts are asked to meet Friday, December 24, at the YWCA at 10 a.m. Capt. Esvan Mosby, in charge of the planning, states that food and transportation will be provided free of charge. A big dance is being planned and as many girls that can go are asked to be on hand Friday morning. Entertainers are also asked to go and help to entertain the thousands of soldiers. Futher information may be received by calling Esvan Mosby at RE. 24592.

Birth Of Bill Of Rights Portrayed

The dangerous atmosphere in which we are living today was compared with the past of more than 150 years ago in a skit produced at a meeting celebrating Bill of Rights Week at the Embassy auditorium last Sunday evening. The meeting was sponsored by the California Legislative Conference, Los Angeles Branch.

[illegible] Laws during John Adams administration as second president of the United States [illegible] court's freedom was endangered even as it is today by the infamous McCarran Act. Then the bogey of war with France was held over the heads of the people to force their obedience to those laws. Today it is war with Russia, and laws as infamous as those of the earlier days have been enacted in this present hysteria.

The play depicted graphically the concern of the people of those early days, finally culminated by Thomas Jefferson and other patriots in declaring those laws were unconstitutional, and in the adoption of the Bill of Rights by Congress—the first ten amendments to the Constitution.

It was a delightful skit, cleverly written and clevers played.

Hyun Deportation Proceedings Are Transferred to Honolulu

The deportation hearing of David Hyun, one of the four McCarran Act victims held without bail at Terminal Island during the past seven weeks has been transferred to Honolulu by Immigration Hearing Officer John B. Bartos, overriding the objections of Hyun's attorney, Milton S. Tyre, who protested the manoeuvre as [illegible] to his client.

D. W. Brewster, Deputy Director of the Immigration Department, Honolulu, T. H. [illegible] taking depositions [illegible] 18 and 19 from the following persons: Richard C. Kiggins, Easter Doyle, Dorothy Ewing and Ichiro Fujita.

David Hyun's counsel has strenuously objected to such transfer of the hearing on the grounds that the defendant or the attorney will not have the opportunity to confront the witnesses and cross examine them.

Furthermore, the counsel pointed out that it is physically impossible to finance the trip to Honolulu at the distance of about 3,000 miles away.

The government claims that it cannot afford to pay for transportation of David Hyun to Honolulu, and asserts that if he wishes to be present he should pay his own fare, ignoring the fact that for the past seven weeks Mr. Hyun has been a prisoner of the Immigration Service, denied the means of even earning a living for himself and his wife and two children.

The four stool pigeons scheduled to make depositions are notorious in the Hawaiian Island, where earlier this year they testified before the visiting House Un-American Activities Committee, resulting in contempt citations against 39 leading trade unionists and progressives.

Wright Aims Barbs at Movie Making

CHICAGO, Ill.—Richard Wright, author of the best seller and powerful "Native Son," and who has turned movie producer and actor and used resources of three continents in order to transform the story onto the movie screen without any compromises, aims a few barbs at modern movie making in a recent issue of EBONY, Negro picture magazine.

"The minority does not exist for the world of movies," says Wright. "Movies are made for the vast majorities, a fact which represents both the strength and weakness of the modern movie. One emerges from a modern movie palace with the feeling that one has been beaten over the head with a rubber hose. It is only with difficulty that one can remember what one saw, for the movie was powerful but empty. Maybe one day movies will be full of meaning. One can hope."

ASP Executive Board Meeting January 8th

The executive board of the Art, Sciences and Professions Council will hold its meeting on January 8, 1951.

An administrative committee elected at the last meeting to serve until the new board is elected comprises: Epstein, chairman, Si Lan Chen, Dr. P. Price Cobbs, Jerry Fielding, Paul Jarrico and Martin Hall.

This committee met Monday to consider the selection of a chairman, secretary and treasurer and the mailing of nomination ballots. The budget for the ensuing year was also prepared for submission to the new board.

It was voted to send a letter to the National Chapter commending Joe Joseph for his work with the local chapter.

Thrifty Drug Opens 100th Store in Calif.

Thrifty Drug stores reached a milestone Thursday, December 7, when their 100th store in California was officially opened at Ventura Boulevard and Laurel Canyon Road in Studio City.

In a commemorative opening of this modern, beautiful drug store, Studio City official joined with the executives of Thrifty Drug Stores in a formal ribbon-cutting ceremony. With Thrifty Bangles fixing the ribbon was cast by Lieutenant Governor Goodwin Knight, assisted by the Honorary Mayor of Studio City, Jim Hawthorne, Cleo Moore, movie actress, vice president of Thrifty Drug Stores Manny Boruin, who said enthusiastically heralded the advent of Thrifty as a "great civic event."

Thrifty has attained this remarkable growth in the short span of 21 years. It was in 1923 when the organization opened its first drug store in downtown Los Angeles. Thrifty Drug Stores now extend from Santa Rosa to San Diego and El Centro.

Natives Fight Segregation in South Africa

PRETORIA, South Africa—The South African native leaders have decided on a "non-cooperation policy" with the white man, and in recent months has been enhanced by various Negro leaders as a basic policy.

The main reason is "racial segregation" which native intellectuals and leaders declare is a policy that is administered unilaterally, and therefore, will never satisfy the African people. This segregation policy has been the product of the South African tradition, just as "jim crow" has been the tradition of the policy in the southern part of the United States.

But unlike the South, the situation in Africa can become many times more serious, in a world where the darker races outnumber the whites, and particularly in South Africa, where there are only 2,500,000 whites struggling against 10,000,000 natives.

New Office on Central

With construction work virtually completed, the Department of Water and Power's new branch commercial office which serves the Central Avenue area is scheduled to open its doors for business at 4521 South Central Avenue at 8 a.m. on January 2, according to Samuel B. Morris, general manager and chief engineer of the municipal utility.

Chanukah Ceremony Honors Heroes of Today

In a delightful ceremony in which the courage of the Maccabees was retold and the meaning of the lighting of the candles for Chanukah in celebration of the victory of the Maccabees, men and women of Los Angeles who have manifested that same courage during the past few years, were honored at a Chanukah meeting held at the YMHA Vocational Building, 5180 West Adams Boulevard, Sunday evening.

[illegible] sponsored by Marion L. Levison, eight men and women were given scrolls crediting them for the courage of the Maccabees in the fight for freedom today. As the candles of Chanukah were lighted, each candle represented some hero or heroine, a Maccabee of today.

Don Levine, representing the boy in the family where the Chanukah was supposed to be held, lit the first candle for the Hollywood Ten—Herbert Biberman, Lester Cole, Dalton Trumbo, Edward Dymytrick, Ring Lardner, Jr. Adrian Scott, John Howard Lawson, Albert Maltz, Alvah Bessie, and Samuel Ornitz.

Mrs. Sadie Ornitz, representing the wives of the ten, was presented with the scroll crediting her and the other wives for their courage in carrying on after their husbands had been sent to jail.

Averill Berman, noted radio commentator, Liz Doran, of the Los Angeles [illegible] Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle; Minnie Pallet, executive secretary of the Jewish Children's Schools; Leo Waxman, a loyalty oath victim; Al Caplan, president of Local 26, ILWU; and Ben Margolis, attorney and fighter for the civil rights of all minority groups and victims of loyalty tests, were the other seven who were pronounced Maccabees of today.

Little Monica Klein played the part of the little girl in the skit in which the Chanukah was celebrated by lighting the candles for heroes and heroines of today, as courageous as the heroes of some 2100 years ago.

Frisco Peace Delegates To Report Friday

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco delegates, who have just returned from the Second World Peace Congress recently held in Warsaw, Poland, presented for the first time eyewitness accounts of their experiences in Europe, at a public meeting recently at 150 Golden Gate avenue. The World Peace Congress represents 81 countries, including the United States.

Mrs. Edith Jenkins, who represented the Independent Progressive Party at Warsaw, said: "One of the outstanding features of the Congress was the overwhelming sentiment for peace on the part of these delegates from Europe and Asia, and the millions of people they represent. Especially heartening to those of us from the United States was the unanimous feeling among everyone at the Congress that peace can be achieved, because the will for peace among all humanity is so strong."

Mrs. Bateman Offers Property For Cooperative Community Use

Mrs. Idell A. Bateman, who pioneered in the grocery store business in Central Ave. Gardens, having operated successfully there for ten years, retiring in 1942, sees the need for Negroes to establish themselves in the industrial lie of the city to such an extent that she is offering the community the only available store in the neighborhood.

Free Offer

For ten years Mrs. Bateman has dreamed of the great possibilities of a COMMUNITY COOPERATIVE. Wednesday night, December 13, she called a meeting of the citizens of the community and offered them the free use of the corner at 84th and Zamora, if they will get together in sufficient numbers to ensure the success of the venture.

Eight influential women of the community volunteered their services to interest the neighbors. An intensive campaign will begin after the holidays.

Walt Whitman JPFO Lodge Cultural Fete

An unusual cultural event was presented by the Walt Whitman Lodge 760 of the Jewish People's Fraternal Order at its Annual Music Festival and Dance recently.

Earl Robinson and his Chorus headed a brilliant roster of entertainers which has been secured for the evening. Robinson is well known as the composer who first brought music based on authentic American Folk sources into wide popularity. His best known works are "Ballad for Americans", "Lonesome Train," and "The House I Live In."

Also on the program were Averill Berman, popular radio news commentator, and Beulah Richardson, stage and screen actress who presented her famous monologues.

Composer

Lon Levister brilliant young Negro composer, was publicly introduced to this community for the first time playing several of his original compositions. Levister who received most of his musical training in the East, has been attracting considerable attention among musical circles in Los Angeles.

● Youth Held

Division 7 of the Municipal court, Stanley has requested a jury

Beaten

According to Stanley's story, substantiated by witnesses at the scene, he was beaten about the head and body by a motorcycle officer at Pico and Hill after being handcuffed and taken to the curb. A California Eagle reporter and Attorney Lundy visited the youth in jail and saw evidence of the beating. A doctor, sent to see him by attorney Lundy reported that Stanley had a lump about 3 inches in diameter on the right side of the head, a cut and bruise over the right eye.

Young Stanley, who lives at home with his mother and father and five other children was delivering messages Monday for the Western Union. He was riding a bicycle on Pico when a car in which three women were riding came up behind him. The driver of the car blew the horn to get by and Stanley pulled over to the curb.

At the traffic signal, the car crowded him to the curb and the women swore at him and called him names. He was going over to the car to see what they were angry about when the motorcycle officer rode up and struck him.

● Negro Fired

the insubordination charge is a statement signed by Dawson, dated November 30, 1950 on standard form No. 11268, stating Mrs. Sebrie's efficiency rating as good or better than good and her service and conduct requirements as excellent. Mrs. Sibrie has never been accused of failure or refusal to obey authorized orders, and she has been complimented by her superiors for fitness, courtesy, ability and her willingness at all times to comply with all duly authorized orders.

No Publicity

Egan, hoping for a hush-hush atmosphere around the dismissal of Mrs. Sibrie, which her attorney George Shibley and community leaders charge, was prompted by rank racial discrimination, wrote a letter to Mrs. Sibrie in which he complained of the publicity given the case by the California Eagle. It is believed that her dismissal was ordered in part because of the reports of the case carried in the California Eagle.

In a letter of reply to Egan, a copy of which was sent to President Truman, Shibley charges him (Egan) with acting "from express malice not only against Mrs. Sibrie, but against the Negro people generally."

". . . It sounds like a letter which might have ben written by an arrogant slave holder outraged that his Negro slave had dared to speak out in protest against the bullwhip and the slave pen," Shibley wrote.

"Copies of this letter will be forwarded by me personally not only to the California Eagle, but to the NAACP, the B'nai B'rith, the Civil Rights Department of the Negro Elks, and to all other organizations which I feel may be interested in this vicious attack upon the civil and political liberty of the Negro people," Shibley said.

● Police Murder

socalled police action in Korea, Negro veterans are killed by police action in New York.

"Heretofore it has been said that New York does not compare to Georgia or Mississippi in anti-Negro terror. Now we see that New York leads the nation in a police terror against Negroes which is national in scope, even surpassing the Ku Klux Klan in violence."

"The list of victims grows daily," the statement revealed. "It includes the Fergusson brothers, killed on Long Island in 1946; George and Charles Westray and Charles Pfeifer killed in the Bronx, Willie Milton killed in Brooklyn; Thurman Towns killed in Harlem; Monte Norris, killed in Harlem; and Mrs. Azalee Cox, brutally beaten."

"Nationally," the statement concluded, "Emmet Garner, a Negro worker, was executed because the judge believed it would have a wholesome effect on the community. Later, another judge termed the execution "all a mistake."

Meanwhile, nearly 30 Negro men and women face death or life imprisonment in America today. Among them are Willie McGee, Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram, the Trenton Six, the Martinsville Seven, and many others. All have been framed on trumped-up charges by legal lynch-courts.

Trainees Get Jobs As Clerks For Christmas

At press time, Mr. Lee Merriwether, of the Urban League, announced that twenty-three sales clerk jobs were offered thirty-five people who completed the special course in salesmanship at Jefferson High School, co-sponsored by the Central Avenue Chamber of Commerce, The Los Angeles Board of Education and the Urban League. Merriwether expressed himself as being pleased with the results and is hopeful that every member of the class will receive employment.

Mr. Moe Salzman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, urged all businesses to cooperate by employing.. those.. persons.. who prepared themselves to efficiently serve the Christmas shoppers. In commenting on the program further, Salzman said, "The Urban League is to be congratulated for taking the leadership in this matter which is so vital to all elements of our community, the shopper, the clerks, the businesses all gain by this endeavor."

Mr. Wesley Brazier, acting executive director of the League, said that the Urban League plans to extend the program of Distributive Education offered by the Board of Education in order to present a balanced program geared to meet the demands of our economy.

● Loses Children

Schweitzer the maternal grandmother of the children set forth in a statement that when Mrs. Field and the two children moved to Santa Monica, their mother told Jay he could bring some boys to the home to view the television programs. Jay asked if it would be all right for him to bring a Negro boy. His mother said he might. The grandmother, Mrs. Laura B. Field, charged that Jay had an inferiority complex because of this incident, and because the boy spent considerable time in the company of Negro boys.

Young Jay was also accused of having an inferiority complex by his grandfather because he would not accept the Jimcrow laws of Oklahoma. The grandfather objected to the youngsters' belief that color is the only reason "the two races do not mingle." Young Jay often told his grandfather "Negroes are as good as whites and are entitled to the same privileges." The grandfather also objected because Jay admired athletes like Jackie Robinson, Luke Easter and Larry Dobie.

Urge Appeal

Atty. William Murrish, associated with the firm of Margolis and McTernan, is counsel for Mrs. Field. He is being urged by Negro and white citizens opposed to the master race theory to appeal the decision which awarded the children to their father.

of his demise with great sadness.

Because of his pleasing personality and friendly attitude towards people, Rev. Hill was a great favorite wherever he pastored.

He was also as popular as a singer as he was a pastor. While in Los Angeles, he organzied a choral group that toured the United States and Europe.

While in the West, Rev. Hill met and married Miss Blackwell, a member of one of Chicago's oldest and wealthiest families. Mrs. Hill preceded the great preacher but a few years in death in California.

California, Canada, Kansas, and Virginia mourn the passing of Rev. Hill.

Our World Mag Top-Notchers Scanning L. A.

Dave Hepburn, executive editor of Our World magazine, and Wilbert Blanche, chief photographer of the pictorial monthly, arrive here recently for a series of stories. While in the city the duo will gather material and shoot pictures on a number of personages and places to be used in a future issue of the magazine.

A graduate of Columbia University's School of Journalism, Hepburn is regarded as one of the best magazine journalists in the country. Many of OW's top stories that have won world-wide comment carried his by-line, among them the Armed Forces story that appeared last June and which is credited as one of the forces that hastened many segments of the country's defense units to let down their barriers of segregation.

Experienced

Blanche has worked on many dailies and weeklies, among them the Amsterdam News in New York and PM, now defunct. Most of the cover pictures are his work. He has also won numerous photographic awards for his camera work.

While in the city Hepburn and Blanche will be the house guests of Ricci Byrd, former Our World lensman.

Thrifty Drug Stores Climax Year of Record Progress

Climaxing a year of progress, Thrifty Cut Rate Drug Stores this week announced a record weekend of new store openings.

In addition to the opening of a new store at 6th and Main streets in downtown Los Angeles on Sunday, a new store was opened in Stockton on Saturday and a third store was opened in Arcadia on Monday. Three stores in three days is believed to be a new record for store openings in a short period of time.

Including these three new stores, Thrifty Drug Stores have opened a total of seven during 1950. Other units opened this year are Bellflower, East Los Angeles, East Bakersfield and the opening one week ago of their 100th store in California in Studio City.

In releasing the expansion news today, Vice-President Manny Borun stated, "The growth of California. Within the last 10 years California has enjoyed a population increase of approximately 50%. Durnig this same period Thrifty has kept abreast of the population flow with an amazing 51% increase in stores. By continually locating in areas that have had a tremendous influx, we have served millions of Californians with the best possible values along with the most up-to-date shopping methods."

No More Curtain

WASHINGTON — Segregation of white and Negro travelers on interstate dining cars has been ordered abolished in a directive issue by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The commission acted in response to a Supreme Court mandate of June, 1950. The directive was addressed specifically to the Southern Railway, but under ICC action it becomes a policy for all railroads.

Free Christmas Party Planned At Slauson Recreation Hall

The whole south side and southeast community was invited to a free Christmas party and entertainment at the Slauson Playground Recreation Hall, 61st and Hooper, Wednesday, December 20, 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. according to an invitation issued by Mrs. Bernice Watkins, chairman of the Women's Committee of the Florence Avenue Club of the Independent Progressive Party.

The Women's Committee sponsored the affair for both children and adults and featured ture a program of professional entertainment. Lloyd Gaugh, motion picture character actor and prominent player at the Actors Laboratory Theatre, emceed a show that presented top flight musicians, dancers, magicians, and a mixed chorus. Both Negro and white entertainment stars agreed to perform.

The climax of the evening was the presentation of a free gift of Christmas sweets to every child present. A complete Christmas dinner from turkey to the cranberry sauce along with other prizes were awarded among the adults present.

In issuing the invitation Mrs. Watkins stated, "This is the first annual Christmas party and we are dedicating it to the ideal of "peace on earth, good will to all" and we mean both at home and throughout the world. Everyone is welcome, there will be no charge of any kind.

New Fare Zone Boundaries Was Put Into Effect Sunday, Dec. 10

New fare zone boundaries went into effect Sunday, December 10, on Los Angeles Transit Lines and Pacific Electric local lines in accordance with a recent decision of the California State Public Utilities Commission.

The basic 10-cent fare for a ride in any one zone is retained and the charge of five cents more for each additional zone traversed remains the same. The universal transfer privilege which permits patrons of one system to transfer freely to lines of the other remains in effect.

Fare zones are reduced in size and the weekly pass is eliminated.

The inner zone is reduced from a diameter of 12 to a diameter of eight miles.

Entrance Exams Now Required

All high school graduates and others interested in enrolling for the first time at East Los Angeles Junior College will be required to take the college entrance examination before registration, it was announced this week by Logan Hart, dean of admissions and records.

Prospective students may take the test at any of the four times it is offered. It will be given at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. on January 9 and 11.

Applications for admission may be made at the office of admissions before January 12.

Panel Discussion

To demonstrate that school pupils are interested in community problems, six A9 pupils from Foshay Junior High School participated in a panel discussion with six A12 students from Belmont High School before the 19th Annual conference of the Federation of Community Coordinating Councils of Los Angeles County.

The conference was held at the First Baptist Church and attended by representatives from the coordinating councils of greater Los Angeles.

Dental Survey

In line with keeping good health, the Board of Education is providing dental inspection of all children. This week the dental survey is in progress at Foshay Junior High School. All pupils will be examined. In cases where pupils are found to need the services of a dentist, parents will be notified so that proper action may be taken. If the teeth are perfect and a trip to the dentist is not necessary, the pupil will receive a Dental Certificate.

Kentucky State College

As a member of the Methodist Church Sponsored United Nations Assembly, Mrs. Anita Fields, Recorder at Kentucky State College, one of three Negroes in the group, visited the United Nations Assembly recently. The Seminar Sessions were held at Methodist Headquarters, 150 Fifth Avenue at Lake Success and at Flushing Meadows.

Mrs. Fields reports that tours were made of many U.N. branches and U. S. services connected to the U.N.

The members of the Seminar attended many U.N. committee meetings and heard debates and discussions on a variety of problems and subjects. Mrs. Field was most interested in the Committee on Human Rights, of which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is chairman. Miss Edith Sampson, the only U. S. Negro delegate, is stand-in for Mrs. Roosevelt on this committee and furnishes legal counsel to the committee.

Recalled by popular acclaim to address students and faculty of Kentucky State College at the eighth annual celebration of English Emphasis Week, Dr. Thomas E. Poag, of Tennessee A. & I. State College, challenged his audience to work for "Better Human Relations Through the Medium of the Dramatic Arts." Recent movies, among them "No Way Out," he claimed are portraying the Negro not as an inferior character with defeatist psychology, but as a real human being—just an ordinary human being. Over the radio, on the stage, in the movies—through all the "Dramatic Arts," both audience and actors, he pointed out, are now making definite contributions to better human relations.

South Koreans Welcome Chinese Volunteers

By a Special Correspondent

KOREAN FRONT—We were advancing south in dim moonlight. In a reverse direction groups of South Koreans were trudging some of them women, with children strapped to their backs. Their homes had been devastated and they were seeking security in the north. When they learned who we were, they stopped and sighed with relief, turning round to look back.

Most of us sleep in the chilly open. With a pen we can talk to the people or sometimes the Koreans in our unit translate for us. We soon got to know what was meant when the people shouted "komabsymnida" which is Korean for "thanks."

Day and night American aircraft fly north bombing and machineguning. Well, what of that? Immediately the raid is over—sometimes even when the airplanes and bombs still shake the air—the dead highways are humming with life again. Seizing everything they can—axes, pikes, scythes, shovels, knives—the people come from all sides to repair the roads, to fill gullies on either side, so that more supplies can stream to the front.

Everything is for the front. They work for it until their hands and feet swell, blister and bleed. The peasants send their best foodstuffs there by oxen or sleds. Farm work is being carried out with more care and greater speed. Young, vigorous women organise themselves into groups, playing a prominent part in repair.

SOUTHWEST BLUES KING Gatemouth Brown of Houston, Tex., sensation of the guitar and blues vocals, who in a series of battles against local talent throughout Texas and Louisiana, has won the coveted but unofficial title of "King of the Blues" in the great Southwest. A youngster of 25, Gatemouth is a whole show by himself and is causing the SRO sign to be put wherever he plays.

Husband, Wife and Friends Charged With Armed Robbery

A comely young wife, Mrs. Lena Marguerite Armstrong, her young husband, Fred Douglas Armstrong, and two men, were held to answer in preliminary hearing on a charge of armed robbery Monday, before Municipal Judge Louis Kauffman, in Division 4. Represented by Attorney Curtis G. Taylor, Fred Armstrong, specifically named as the leader, denied a confession he was reported to have made to arresting officers.

The two other men arrested were Lawrence Scott Jones and Jupiter Davis, and all were held under $5000 bail each, for formal trial on January 3. Their trial will also disclose, say officers, whether or not they are the same gang that has been spreading a reign of terror among markets, oil stations and other westside business places during the past several weeks.

They are suspected of having held up and robbed a filling station at Wilshire and Crenshaw the night of December 5.

According to that night attendants at the filling station, Armstrong and his two companions entered the station, and ordered him to lie down on the floor. Displeased with his slowness in obeying, one of the men is said to have fired two shots into the ceiling.

Mrs. Armstrong is said to have remained at the wheel of their car. Having obtained a considerable sum of money, the men ran to the auto, and speeded away, but patrol car officers having heard the shots, forced them to the curb at 29th and Crenshaw. There they declare they found two guns hidden in the bosom of Mrs. Armstrong's dress. Under intensive cross-questioning by Taylor at the preliminary, the victims were unable to identify any one but Armstrong. Of him, their counsel is investigating what means other than voluntary, may have been used by officers in obtaining a "confession."

DEAR TO MY HEART
By VERA SIMON

The place where I live
Isn't roomy and bright.
All that I have . . .
Is one room by my side

But when I sleep.
Many stars are wih me
My window is wide open
And they look in at me

Sometimes they wake me;
They are pulling me high—
As if something would be there
For me in the sky.

But with the earth
I would not want to part
There is everything here
That is dear to my heart
The struggle! The friends!
That are fighting to live;
For the right they must win.
For the strength they can give.

SOCIAL TIDBITS

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brisco of New York City will make their home in L. A. They expect to motor back to the big city to finish unfinished business.

Mr. Julius Hannon returned from Chicago, where he visited friends and relatives in the Windy City. Mr. Hannon is formerly of Detroit, Mich.

Miss Shirley Johnson, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson, celebrated her 16th birthday Saturday with a luncheon at the Wilfandel. Handmade cards marked places for 30 young misses.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Hurd entertained their Mr. and Mrs. Club recently with a bridge dinner.

Mesdames Isadore Brown and Emily Porturg were co-hostesses to the League of the Allied Arts recently at Mrs. Brown's residence. Dr. T. Roy Peyton and Mrs. Eula Long were guest speakers.

Mrs. Gladys Owens Smith showed her original Xmas creations recently. About 100 friends called between the hours of three and eight.

Mrs. Daisy Barrett entertained the While Away Club Friday at her home in Pasadena with a bridge luncheon. Her home was turned into a fairyland. Thirty-two ladies enjoyed the afternoon.

Muriel Arnaud is tickled over her new job as stock girl in downtown Los Angeles Bullock's store. Muriel expects to visit New Orleans, Louisiana, for carnival come 1951.

Mr. Jack Tillman, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, is doing O.K. in Los Angeles. Since the snow is king back in the Buckeye State, Jack says Southern California will do.

Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman of Elsinore are in L. A. The Colemans are doing their Xmas shopping while in L. A.

Christmas Seals Help

The county-wide Chest X-Ray Survey, through which some two million free chest x-rays will have been made by the end of this year, is a prime example of the way Christmas Seal funds are used for tuberculosis control.

Appegios and Glissandos

As the Christmas season nears crowds rush to and fro, jolly groups of youth carol and some are planning parties. This is the time of year when all cares should be forgotten and all evil obliterated from the minds of everyone. However, at this time a feeling of sadness comes over this writer as the black cloud of conflict hangs over the world.

Christmas should not only be the outward show of giving gifts to each other, and having hilarious parties, but should be an inward feeling of peace, serenity, and thankfulness. In such times as these we should not only think of our families but of others less fortunate than we, of those all over the world. Think, people, of the populations of Asia who for twenty years have not celebrated Christmas in peace. How then can we say without a guilty conscience, "Peace on earth; good will to men"?

At the present time there is not much we here can do about the present conflict in other countries, but as Christmas draws closer we should try to think, well of our fellowmen regardless of race, color, or religion. We must, in order to survive, knit ourselves closer together. Religions should no longer lead in the procession of prejudice and moral strife, but should take a definite stand for the tranquility of the races of the world. Christianity is the only power that will pull this world out of its misery and mortal strife.

Christ was born on Christmas not to see suffering and war, but to bring peace to the world so long wearied by the paganistic rule of man. Would we see the Christ Child again in this world? This world so full of poverty, sin, and idols? Would there be any room in the inn?

Music plays a great part in the spirit of this great festival called Christmas. For example: George F. Handel, composer of the great "Messiah," had a personal experience, a vision of the coming of the Messiah. Fasting and going without sleep until this great work was finished went Handel. So great was the spirit of Christ and Christmas in his soul. Today our modern world experiences of rendering this great work in our churches. On Sunday, Dec. 17, at 7:30 p.m. rich and poor alike will present this great masterpiece in the Wilshire Methodist Church. The independent church choir, along with 200 others, will participate in this rendition under the direction of Mr. Elisasser of the church. The location is Wilshire and Plymouth Blvd.

Carols have been given to us by Great Britain Europe, the Americas and other countries covering the world globe. Is there anyone who does not know some carols? I would say offhand no!

The spirit of Christmas is the singing of carols and oratorios, the act of giving and receiving, of going into the sanctuary of our God, decorating the house and halls with holly, mistletoe, and Christmas trees. All these things along with good will and peace will make our world one. May the spirit of Christmas live in the heart of everyone at this holiday season.

JEANNE JACKSON.

Les Uniques Club

Club Les Uniques of Santa Monica held a gala pre-Christmas formal at the Elks auditorium in Los Angeles on Saturday evening, December 2. As a prelude to this affair, the club members and their escorts were invited to the home of the president, Mrs. Mary J. Halloway, for cocktails.

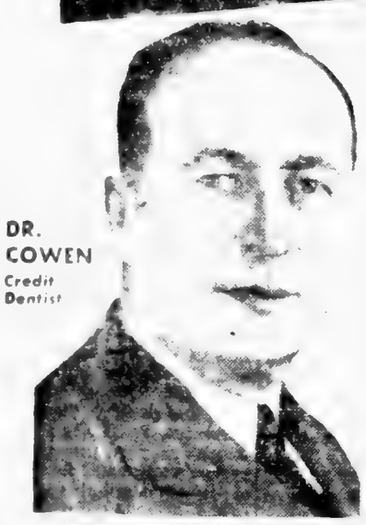
The stage of the auditorium was decorated with the Club colors—green and white, with the Club flower, gardenia. The members wore gowns of white or green, each gown designed especially for the wearer. Mr. Harold Mitchell introduced the members.

As a climax to this enjoyable affair Mrs. Amie Buckman, vice-president, treated the members and a few special guests to a breakfast at her home in Santa Monica. Other guests helping to make this unique breakfast an enjoyable affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Chertis Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Towne, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coleman, and Mr. Hugh Gibson, of Riverside.

The members of Club Les Uniques are:

Mrs. Mary J. Holloway, President; Mrs. Amie Buckman, Vice President; Mrs. Faye Sims, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Mary McNeal, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Daisy L. Payne, Financial Secretary; Mrs. Christian Moore, Treasurer; Mrs. Hazel Tippins, Business Manager; Mrs. Elnora Williams, Sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Aileen Lewis, Historian; Mrs. Lela Brown, Reporter. Mrs. Mary Fields and Mrs. Thelma Morgan with two associate members, Mrs. Wilberta Worthy of Los Angeles and Mrs. Ida Gordon of Riverside.

SINGAPORE — The United States Export Import Bank has approved credits for Indonesia totalling 17 million dollars. In keeping with America war plans, these funds are to be used to improve transport facilities in Indonesia.



The safest month last year in Los Angeles was found to be August with 14 deaths. April was second with 15 deaths occuring in that month. The most dangerous period was October to December in which 76 persons lost their lives. (L.A.P.D.)

A study of traffic injuries in Los Angeles over the last ten years indicates that the most dangerous month of the year is December. An average of 1289 persons are injured in traffic accidents every December.

Xmas Celebration For Wadsworth PTA

The Wadsworth PTA enjoyed a most entertaining Christmas program at the Wadsworth Street school on Wednesday, December 13. Many of the mothers and relatives of the children were out to see their children in action as they sang praises to the joy of the Christmas season.

Groups from all departments of the school were featured in sing and verse. The Junior and Senior Glee clubs and the Primary groups were all very exceptional in their performances.

The theme for the mammoth presentation was Christmas in Many Lands in which such countries as England, France, Spain, Germany and the United States were featured.

Quite a number are planning to attend the William-Moore wedding Sunday the 24th at Saint Mary's Catholic church in Phoenix, Arizona. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams (nee Emily Crump).

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
'Tis the season to be jolly,
Fa la la la la la la la la."
—Old Welsh Tune

This Christmas season now upon us will be one of the gayest that Angelenos have seen in many a moon for the week-end preceding the age old holiday is crammed full of activity. So, ave fun!

People at a Glance

AFTER HAVING mentioned extensively those that choose other places to spend their holiday, let's take a quick glance at those remaining in our fair city! First off understand that popular Tommy Ayres will entertain a few of her close friends come Christmas Eve. . . . Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Louise Anderson on the recent loss of one of her beloved sons, Leo Gordon. Connie and Louise will not be having their annual Christmas morning Egg Nog. We're sure that their many friends will wish them well during this Yuletide Season. . . . Lovely Pat Adams visited friends and relatives over the past week end, and enjoyed many Pre Holiday affairs. . . . News has reached us that ex-Angeleno Co-Ed. Kathleen Mason is now Mrs. Calvin Hayes, and is making her home in the Windy City, Chicago. . . . Know that Ted Schaffer will really sing "Merry Christmas" loudly, for he has just recently passed the Los Angeles Bar Association Examination, and will be taking up the duties of "Attorney" in the very near future. . . . And another farewell was in order when the lovely Lena Torrence bidded L.A. friends adieu on Saturday. Destination—New York, via El Capitan . . . And did we have fun bidding Dorothy Duvall a pleasant trip as we watched the Constellation, TWA airlines, depart for a non-stop flight to the Windy city. In the party, Roberta Bright and Edith McLynn. . . . Odessa Jones was feted with a farewell party on Saturday night past. She has, by this time, arrived at her destination, Kansas City. . . From San Francisco, John "Mingo" Turner writes that the Bay Area holiday season has really started with a "Bang." . . . Signora Howard, who has recently returned from the area reports the same, and a good time was had by all. . . . Kappa and Alpha Brats and AKA Sorority will join forces during this Christmas season by feting each other during their National Conventions being held in St. Louis. L. A. will lose quite a few of the activities in these organizations during the festive period. All we can say is, after business, just have a "ball."

Coming Events

OMEGAS ARE to take over two of the important dates of the season with their Third Annual Omega Nog, December 23, and their gala New Year's Eve celebration, December 31. The affair should be tops in entertainment and merriment. And where else should they be held other than the Omega House? . . . Everyone is really looking forward to the Phi-Delphians Christmas festivity. This year at the Golden State Auditorium, and Semi-Formal too. . . . The Deltas "White Christmas" Ball is drawing nearer, and nearer. . . . "Les Beau Dames Social Club," quotes Clora Lee Wright, "will really do it up in grand style when they present their Invitational New Year's Eve Party for their very special friends." . . . We're sure that the local Kappas will give another of their "fun gatherings" at some point during this period.

Places and Faces

THE LES DAMES' "March of Cans" held on Sunday past was really loads of fun. Ran across such old friends as Lillian Lomax escorted by D. Overstreet Gray, [illegible]olph and Helen (Juniel) Lomax, Gordon Turner, Betty Scott and Lloyd Thomas, Wini Orr, and these are to name a small portion. The selected families to receive the food offerings will really be pleased to have such good food choices. . . . Congratulations are in order to Gertrude Gipson, chairman, and other club members for such a fine affair. . . . And on the same evening, the Q'Ettes, Omega Wives, entertained their husbands in grand style after their Installation ceremony at the Omega house. Whatta a gay scene, and husbands are really enjoyable says Mrs. Fortune Kelley, Mrs. Grady Organe, Mrs. Charles Thrash, and many of the other wives that were present. . . . On the way home, stopped by the cozy Waikiki on Western Avenue. Really enjoyed the melodious offerings of the "Sepianaires," a trio and a girl, namely Hilton Orange, piano, Bob Lewis, bass, Jimmie Edwards, guitarist and vocalist, and Jerrie Lee, female vocalist. While table hopping, ran across Bettty (Manley) Ware and party—Bernice Jones, Mamie Bryson and Dovie Hopkins, having a real gay time. Celebrity, Maggie Hathaway, was also out enjoying the trio's musical offerings. And the trio, really sensational! . . . A real treat for those who like his style, and we do, Louis Armstrong is packing them in at the Western Avenue night spot, the Oasis. His engagement lasts throughout the holidays. . . . Opening of the fabulous "Les Ballets de Paris" on Christmas Day at the Biltmore is really a good way to enjoy the evening.

Just Briefin'

WE WONDER if the news of Ruby McClennon's coming engagement is really true! If so, oh well! . . . Janis Forier tells us that her bridal month will probably be February, the lucky guy, Winston Wright. . . . Many of us remember that great girl, Dolores "Dodie Bell," who now resides in Hartford, Conn. Greetings from her revealed the info that she is well and happy and still single. . . . Congratulations to Delores and Raymont Johnson, recent USC Pharmacy graduates, who have officially opened their new-

EDITORIALS AND COMMENTS

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

"Get Out Of Korea," Says The Times

The Los Angeles Times Sunday editorial on "Counsel from Moscow" no doubt will attract nationwide attention.

The editorial starts off by saying, "Not often does Soviet Russia favor the United States with good advice."

In this beautifully displayed Times editorial, the points in the Moscow advice emphasized and approved by the Times are these: "We ought to get out of Korea, where we are fighting the immense Communist Far Eastern alliance with only token aid from our nominal allies.

"The Korean campaign is not a war that we can win, even though we have committed almost our entire regular army and marine corps into battle, and General MacArthur has evidently averted an American debacle for the third time by unsurpassed skill."

This paragraph from the Times editorial sounds like one of the jokes by the Quiz Kids.

This newspaper has been saying from the very advent of our troops in Korea that we had no business interfering in the little brown republic, that whatever difficulties in Korea the Koreans could settle among themselves.

The 38th parallel or imaginary line that separates Northern and Southern Korea is a figment of the imagination, designed and drawn to suit the purpose of certain people who want what Korea has

And as for the debacle that General MacArthur averted, we suggest that the term "averted" be changed to "committed."

General MacArthur on the scene as he is, should have, at the beginning of our invasion of Korea, recommended this evacuation of Korea that the Times calls for now, and complains that we were inveigled into the war virtually alone, because of our irrational association in the United Nations. The Times also says that the United Nations imposes all the obligations upon us and that we are the chief financial contributors to the United Nations.

On this hypothesis the Times editorial, in these words, says: "Let us not only get out of Korea. Let us get out of the United Nations."

To say the least the Times editorial is a revelation to us. All the time we have been thinking that the United States was leading the United Nations around by the nose.

"Let us realize that the United Nations is united only in one thing: In seeing how much it can get out of America without giving anything in return," complains the Times.

"We should appreciate the advice that we are receiving," opines the Times

The California Eagle echoes to the Times. "Good advice, if taken late." late."

Murder Will Out

The arrogance with which school authorities treat such operations in the school system as that revealed this week charging cheating on civil service examinations, is a stench in the nostrils of decent citizens who pay taxes for education

This is one among many charges in the past of juggling school funds or school privileges by those in authority, to suit their prejudicial attitude toward certain minorities or individuals.

The dismissal of certain supervisors responsible for the cheating was called for But the same old run-around was put into practice.

After several weeks' wait for action the Commission laid the matter in the lap of the Grand Jury.

Over a long period this newspaper on numerous occasions has been advised by persons taking civil service examinations that they had been cheated and denied the opportunity to fill the positions for which they had spent years in preparation.

When such individuals, believing that they were amply suited and prepared to fill the positions they sought, tried to investigate their rating they were given a run-around.

This time it seems that someone has been caught red-handed and the Board of Education is asked to do something about it.

Now the citizens, parents, teachers, and all who believe in democracy and above all who believe in honesty in our educational system, are asking President J. Paul Elliott and the other members of the Board what they are going to do about a situation such as this?

It is stated that one of the accused supervisors, instead of being punished for her act, is punishing, in her own way, those who testified before the personnel commission against her.

It seems that the murdering of the true principals of a democratic order of operation in our school system; is coming out in the open.

Perhaps these cheating supervisors should be subjected to an honest test for loyalty by the State Interim Committee. This might help.

A Call For Jim Crow In High Places

Franklin Fosdick, in an article in this month's issue of Negro Digest, criticizes the Negro schools of the country as being "too far behind the times," to compete successfully with white schools and colleges.

"Survival of Negro colleges is possible only if these institutions wake up to the facts of modern education," he warns, and concludes his article with the remark that since segregation in higher education is nearing an end, Negro collleges face a most severe test.

"We have the physical assets necessary to compete against the best white universities," he maintains. "Our best teachers, students and administrators are on a level with the best white schools. With this prideful thought in mind, we can make today's Negro schools the best schools America can boast tomorrow."

But why Negro schools? we ask. Why, after fighting and struggling all these years to eliminate segregation, should we ourselves stubbornly persist in maintaining the very thing we have fought to destroy?

If we really intend to create that spirit of harmony we preach, that new world peace for which we are struggling, why in the name of all that makes sense would we sell out our principles to promote more Jimcrow in our institutions than we already have?

This suggestion is at variance with every principle in our democracy advanced to end Jimcrow. "Compete against the white universities!" And keep the fight to end segregation in our educational institutions at an all-time high.

For years this newspaper has fought with both Negro and white leaders to end Jimcrow everywhere, especially in our schools and colleges, where ideas from a Negro mind are as strong and effective as any from a white man's brain. This puny Jimcrow idea would kill this effort.

The Negro Digest may not be responsible for all that is in the articles it prints in its pages. But the fact that this particular article has been publicized by the Negro Digest News would lead one surely to believe it approves of these sentiments.

If that be the case, it makes one feel that what we have heard about the Negro Digest—that it is being subsidized by some big reactionary newspaper—may be true.

U. S. Supreme Court Decision Must Work

On December 11, 1950, the United States Supreme Court rendered the decision that to demand disclosure of political affiliation is illegal.

This automatically should release ALL political prisoners that to the shame of this free country were put behind bars for what they believed. But it is only wishful day-dreaming to imagine the U. S. government will do this unless urged, and urged strongly, to do so.

An immediate case in point is that of the Hollywood Ten. Two have already served their term, and have been released. But there are still eight of this martyr group who are in Federal prison —Bessie, Cole, Lawson, Lardner, Maltz, Ornitz, Scott and Trumbo. They still have five months to serve. They should not have one more minute to live behind those prison bars!

We demand their release. Write to Dr. George G. Killinger, United States Parole Board, Washington, D. C., and ask that they be set free in the name of justice.

Way To Humanity's Heart

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

NOW WHO'S UNPATRIOTIC?

A few days ago the U. S. Supreme Court announced a decision of the utmost importance to all Americans. The Court declared that it is unconstitutional to require any American to tell whether he is or has been a member of the Communist Party. Said Justice Black: ". . . the Constitution gives the witness the privilege of remaining silent. The attempt by the court to compel (anyone) to testify runs counter to the Fifth Amendment . . ." No one can be forced to incriminate himself.

After all these dark and heart-breaking months of struggle against the undemocratic forces in our country, this decision is a ray of light and hope that perhaps some sanity is returning to our national councils. At last the people have gotten a break. . . .

For what the high Court is saying is that we who have been fighting our native fascists and quislings, the un-American committees and their hordes, have been right all along. And it is they who are wrong. We are the true patriots; they the subversive forces.

Justice demands that we recall again who are the fighters for freedom, and who its betrayers. On freedom's side are such good people as the Hollywood Ten, the Carl Marzanis, the members of the Progressive Party, the Joint Anti Fascist Refugee Committee, the Paul Robesons and the Howard Fasts.

On the other side are the giant corporations, the McArthurs, the Trumans, the Nixons, the American Legions, Chambers of Commerce, and practically all the press, radio and movies.

But it was always thus. The economic royalists and their kept agents undermine democracy; the people safeguard and advance it.

Slowly, very painfully, the truth catches up with the facts, and the public learns the truth. The progressive forces have said all along that the loyalty oaths and witchhunts are un-American—and now the Supreme Court has had to say so. It remains to be seen whether those who control our government, who demand that everyone else obey the law, will now obey a law they won't like. . . .

WHAT ABOUT KOREA?

Since the progressive forces of the U. S. have been proved right in a matter of such profound importance to all Americans as our constitutional liberties, isn't it possible that we are just as right with respect to other vital issues—for example, that U. S. intervention in Korea is wrong, that our whole foreign policy is wrong?

Is it not significant that those who initiated the loyalty oaths, the assaults on our liberties, also directed the assault on the liberties of the people of Korea and Asia? Isn't it likely that they are just as wrong in the Korean gamble as the Supreme Court says they are in their witchhunting? Whose opinions shall we have more confidence in now?

How long before events will give the decisive answer? What price will the American people yet have to pay in shame and suffering before the Progressives' position regarding our foreign policy is proved correct? Perhaps not too long—for there is evidence of growing uneasiness throughout the land, even in the ranks of the mighty corporations.

Wall Street isn't happy at the way things are going in the Far East. Its "white supremacy soul" has been badly damaged by the resistance of the Korean and Chinese people. And maybe its adding machines are telling the financial dictators that their attempts to subjugate the Asian people are costing more than they can hope to get back in profits?

Satisfaction with the Supreme Court decision, however, m ust not blind us to the Supreme Courts' limitations in the present period. This is the same Court which re fused to review the case of the Hollywood Ten. It's the same tribunal before which as this very moment a trial of ideas is being waged against certain American citizens, leaders of a political party.

We must reserve a full evaluation of the significance of the present decision until the Court acts in the latter case.

Now Who's Unpatriotic?

Dear Mr. President:

Am indeed reluctant at this time, when many weighty problems regarding the security of our country are pressing for solution, to bring another urgent proble mto your attention. Rest assured, it would not do so, except that the proper consideration of this problem may offer much toward improving the national security of our America.

If there is one phase of National Security in which we seem weakest, it is in getting accurate information; unless we are to believe that Pearl Harbor, the data which lead to the exclusive entrance into Berlin by the Russians; their occupation of Manchuria and Korea; as well as the present massacre in oKrea, was deliberately foreseen and permitted by our top administrators. It leads one to think that the fault lies in misinformation given by "yes" men in our government who fear to disagree with their superiors.

Further, if it were known that nearly one tenth of America's fighting strength and home support were to be lost, it would certainly be considered a catastrophe; yet, we sit serenely by and permit this condition to acually happen, unheeding the signs that are clearly visible, and ignoring or ridiculing those who call our attention to its actuality—indeed we do more, we attempt to ignore the signs and brand those who see them and point them out to us as Communists or Visionaries.

Several months ago, Paul Robeson, American Negro attorney and world renowned traveler, as well as artist, with W. E. B. Dubois, Ph.D., of Harvard, author, and one of the founders of the NAACP, at his side, stated, "American Negroes will not fight for America against Communists." The American press handled him as a Communist, never inquiring in to the truth or real motive behind the statement. In order to rationalize the accusation, many Negro servants were called in, as well as, dependent petty Negro politicians, who were questioned, culminating in Jackie Robinson being called to Washington to deny the statement of Robeso. He said that Negroes would fight for America and that Robeson did not represent the Negroes. As a result, White America got the answer it wanted, the result of its wishful thinking and power.

Today, we have the "proof of the pudding"—America has sent her American Negroes to fight against Communists in Korea—the sketchy reports that we get of their performance leads one to wonder. All during the two World Wars one never heard of a command "to hold the line or die"—not even at Dunkirk. Such drastic orders imply that the White Command in Korea must have thought the Negro G.I.'s were not exerting their fullest efforts. Rumors of "acidental" bombing of retreating Negro troops by white American flyers —a court martial and life sentence for a Negro officer who refused to take his men into battle — mass court martials, with long sentences, for Negro G.I.'s—these are some of the things that look suspicious, outward appearances would present the Negro soldiers as cowards. On the other hand, we read letters from these Negro soldeirs telling of discrimination, requesting aid, and an investigation by the NAACP. To further confuse the public, we not the white press displaying pictures of white and Negro soldiers together and a Negro being decorated for bravery—again, it looks suspicious. Is the white man still persisting in his "wishful thinking," and whitewashing the facts? As a Negro, who has been thoughtfully observing for 35 years various conditions, some of which are described above, it seems to me that America will be foolish indeed to entrust its defense to Negroes. The reason is clear, as Paul Robeson well knew—that deep in the breast of every American Negro is confidence in himself and the diginity of his race, love of liberty and an innate feeling that he is the equal of any man "God ever created," further, that he has been and is being unjustly taken advantage of in America by Americans.

Negroes have accepted second-class citizenship in Ameria only because they had no other alternative than to be exterminated like the American Indian. Perhaps ,the only reason that black men could attempt to fight for America in former wars, was their hope that the good Christian white man could accord them equality and first-class citizenship when the war was over. But the wars have come too regularly—the Negro has become more disillusioned with each succeeding conflict, so today he knows he is being "kidded" and he can no longer muster any incentive worth fighting for—so he fights only for self-protection, in order to get out of bad situations he is forced into from day to day. He is expected to fight beside free white men for freedom, yet he is neither free nor equal, and has no hope of attaining it.

Logically, second-class citizens should not be expected to make the effort or sacrifices of first-class citizens. The quality of an artlcle, which one buys, determines the price one pays for it. Negro G.I.'s returning home will receive jobs paying less than the white G.I.'s, with little chance of advancement, they will be re-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

December 13, 1950

The Editor,
California Eagle
1055 East 41st Street
Los Angeles 11, Calif.
U.S.A.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed pleased find copies (translated) of letters sent to the "Martinsville Seven" by young boys and girls in France. The originals have been forwarded to the "Seven" via the Civil Rights Congress in New York.

We trust you will find yourself able to give publicity to these letters as a manifestation of the friendship French youth feel for their oppressed brothers and sisters in the United States.

Please accept our warmest greetings.

Fraternally yours,
Paul Gillet
Issy-les- Moulineaux
November 30th, 1950

Dear Friends,

At school we learned America was a country of great technical achievements supporting all the people in well-being and unlimited happiness. We learned that America was the great country of Abraham Lincoln and of late Franklin Roosevelt.

We know also that America is the country where today the ideal of humanity exists no more.

It is with deep indignation that we learned through the French democratic press about the crime of your being sentenced to death.

Dear Friends, you are innocent, but the colour of your skin makes hatred rush to the faces of the bloody brutes of Ku Klux Klan, of the American judges and policemen.

Dear Friends, you are innocent, but a class jury imbued with dishonor and racial superiority accuses you of having raped a white woman.

What a monstrous shame! What a villainy!

Black-skinned youth of America, you who are so much part of the very warmth and rhythm of your large country, you are accused of a dreadful crime! But in our European countries, in France, and throughout the world, we speak proudly about the real American civilization which is striving for just and lasting peace and for welfare for all oppressed peoples.

But every day the youth of France understands a little better. America is not a country of freedom and of happiness, because Paul Robeson and all the defenders of peace are also condemned.

America is the country of terrible lynches and a monstruous accusations. America is the country of gangsters and of sanguinary profits. America is a large country, terribly sick, because terribly exploited.

Dear Friends, the young defenders of peace of our locality express their fully solidarity with you. They share with you the feeling of revolt, of unjustice and of shame, which spread throughout the world when the news of your sentence to death was learned.

In greeting you as our brothers we demand that this shameful sentence be annulled. We demand an end be put to the attacks on the Negro people. And we loudly shout our desire for unity, against the mongers of hatred and of division, in order to save you and with you peace and happiness.

Dear Friends,

As you probably know, in France, numerous people are revolted by the methods employed against you. Who is the decent person who can accept racial discrimination.

Our government is fighting also in Indo-China, but the majority of us disapprove. Every people has a right to its freedom. Every individual must be respected. The vile slander and procedure employed with a view to try to discredit decent people only reveal the weaknesses of a regime, which has but these methods to defend itself with.

We know that victory will be ours, because we are fighting for a just cause. May these messages be messages of confidence and hope for you. Rest assured of all our sympathy and never forget that you have friends all over the world who fight at your side.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I want to thank you for the visit, and too, for so many other wonderful things that you have done for me and for my fellowmen as well. I was so very happy to see you, my dear friend. I do hope you are feeling well. Whenever you are visiting Northern California, please do come over

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Peace on Earth . . .

The turbulence and the fury of the march to war does not subside as the season of Christmas approaches. Families gather together to study advices on how to survive an atomic bomb attack instead of to read together, "The Night Before Christmas" or to hear recited the moving story of the birth of "The Prince of Peace."

John M. Lee

We are living in a state of emergency, and it appears that much of the joyous spirit of the season has been suspended for the duration. Suspended, too, are many of the checks and balances by which labor and other minority forces have been able to contend for the fulfillment of the promise of democracy for them.

But there is little peace on earth this Christmas. The terrible horror of war is in full play in part of the world, and all preparation is being made to unleash the awful finality of atomic destruction at a moment's notice.

The leaders of the big labor unions, cowed by their own misdeeds in retrospect, and bankrupt of any decent and sensible proposals for the future, have surrendered to the warmongers who would sell their twisted notions of peace through war to the whole nation. It is their task to weld a unity out of the confused and relutant loyalty of the men and women who find their burdens increasing while the profits of their employers swell and show promise of expanding beyond the richest imaginings.

Men in the leadership of the government speak hollowly of peace while in their hearts they are debating whether to commence the destruction of the world tomorrow or the day following. How much of the absence of peace is due to man's vanity, and how much of it is due to simple hypocrasy must be determined by time and history.

The will to live at peace is inherent in the souls of all human creatures. It takes years of indoctrination and inculcation of theories based on racial superiority, to make one man hate another because of the difference of his language, or his religion, or in the color of his skin.

The president of the United States is irked at the suggestion of a day of prayer for peace, and the church, seemingly bewildered by the temporal majesty of the politicans, cannot make its voice heard above the clamor for blood. Prayer is offered for victory in war—not for victory over war.

To wage war, men must hate and hate deeply. The spirit of love has no place in the conflict of nations. Brotherhood is a subject to be taught children of tender years in Sunday school classes as a sort of temporary philosophy to fill the gap until the myth of racial superiority can be introduced.

It is difficult to believe that the hope of peace has been shattered in order to liberate and bring full freedom to certain sections of countries inhabited by Asiatic people. The Asiatic people are non-whites, and the record does not bear out that the rulers of the United States are prone to accept non-whites as their equals.

Power corrupts no less in the face of war than it does in war's absence. The politicians, out of power damn and villify the politicians in power, professing all the while, a higher skill at waging war, and in making scrapegoats out of citizens who think of peace, freedom and democracy. It is not possible to determine where real concern for the welfare of America and its people ends and the cheap, self-seeking politics begin.

But there is peace on earth for some of us. Ironically enough, those of us who have been deprived of our full rights and treated like hated enemies within our own country, know a peace that is denied our oppressors. We have come through generations of lynchings, assaults and insults to stand at the advent of this Christmas season with a fervent hope for peace in our hearts, and a determination to have peace in our spirit.

We extend that peace to those who are courageous enough to receive it, and we urge its influence upon our friends so that 16 million Negro Americans, and hundreds of millions of nonwhite people in other parts of the world can relieve the white man of his long and troublesome burden by returning the balance to a more equitable level, thus guaranteeing that there will be peace on earth, including the oil fields and rich properties in the lands inhabited by the nonwhite and backward peoples.

Manifesto for Peace

By a Special Correspondent

A manifesto that rings with the militant determination for peace was adopted at the Second World Peace Congress held in Warsaw last month. It is given herewith for the readers of The California Eagle.

The most terrible of all wars is threatening every man, woman and child. The United Nations has failed to justify the hopes of the peoples who long for peace. Civilization is in peril.

Nevertheless, the peoples still cherish the principles that inspired the Charter of the organization founded after World War II to ensure, in freedom, respect for international law.

Nevertheless, every thinking person knows that to say "war is inevitable" is to slander mankind.

You who read this message proclaimed by the Second World Peace Congress, speaking from Warsaw in the name of the people of 80 nations in all parts of the world, never forget that the fight of the Defenders of Peace is your fight. Know that hundreds of millions of peoples have come together. Their hands are stretched out to you. They call on you to share in the finest battle ever engaged by a humanity confident of its future.

Peace does wait on us, it must be won.

Raise your voice with ours to demand that the war in Korea—a war that may yet set the world ablaze—cease now, forthwith.

Stand with us against the attempts being made to light once more the hearths of war in Germany and Japan.

Together with the 500 million thinking human beings who signed the Stockholm Appeal, call for the abolition of atomic weapons and for general disarmament. The rigorous control of general disarmament and the destruction of atomic weapons are technically possible. All that is needed is the will.

Demand the outlawing of all propaganda in favour of war

See that the representatives in our Parliaments and our Governments are made aware of the peace proposals put forward by this Second World Peace Congress.

The power of the peace-loving peoples throughout the world is great enough, the voices of free men are strong enough, for us together speedily to secure a meeting of the Five Great Powers.

The Second World Peace Congress provides the proof that men and women of all opinions, gathered from the five Continents of the globe, can agree in order to dispel the scourge of war.

Let the governments follow their example and the peace of the world will be saved.

Resolution for World Peace

Delegates to the Second World Peace Conference, held in Warsaw, Poland, adopted a resolution for peace which embraces the following nine points:

(1) The withdrawal from Korea of all foreign armies.

(2) Forbid the rearmament of Germany and Japan.

(3) Right of colonial peoples to independence.

(4) No armed intervention by any other state in the affairs of a country.

(5) Condemn propaganda for war.

(6) International court appointed to examine the crimes in Korea.

(7) Unconditional prohibition of all atomic weapons, reduction of armed forces, with the goal of general and complete disarmament.

(8) Restoration of normal trade relations between countries, even if they have different economic systems.

(9) Strengthening of world cultural relations among nations.

Christmas Star Shown

Re-opened after being closed for more than three weeks for repairs and refurbishing, Griffith Park Observatory is now (beginning Wednesday, December 20) presenting its annual Yule planetarium feature, "The Christmas Star," the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department reported this week.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the ninth installment of of series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

I VISITED GEORGIA

It is to say the least passing strange that such diversified reports come from one and the same place, by different individuals representing different political views however.

It seems to me that in all fairness to the persons or nations involved when one visits a country to attend a convention, or even as an individual with an eye to reporting what he sees and hears, he should give an honest report.

Like the vast majority of persons, until a few months ago the information I got from Russia was by the way of the newspaper and radio.

Last September I went to Russia. My first stop was in the Ukraine, and then to Moscow.

I had read how many parts of the Soviet Union had been destroyed by German gunfire during World War II, how there was great poverty in the country, and that slave labor abounded.

Imagine my surprise when I got to Moscow. I never saw a more healthy-looking people. There was an abundance of food in the hotel where I stopped, as well as everywhere I went. So different from our country. The Russian people seemed to feel they were in duty bound to offer a cup of tea and a little cake or sandwich to every guest. Such practice even prevails in the factories and on the farms.

Also in Moscow in September, 1950 when I was there, the buying power seemed to be at an all high. I tried to visit and inspect the shops and markets, but found them so crowded with shoppers that my movements were restricted. However, I got far enough to observe that prices on wearing apparel and food stuffs are much more reasonable than they are in this country.

Not Watched

I have heard much talk about strangers being watched in Russia. This was certainly not true in my case, and I have learned from others who have visited the Soviet Union since I have, that it was also not true in their cases.

I mention an experience I had in the Moscow opera house one evening. I was seated near the front of the opera house, chatting with a Russian school teacher when I observed a couple seated directly in front of us. They looked American, and I guess I sounded quite American to them.

So after some side-glances by each of us, the gentleman turned and asked me, "Are you an American?"

Proudly I answered, "Yes."

He introduced himself then and his wife, as Mr. and Mrs. Crow, and said that he was at the Canadian embassy, and that Mrs. Crow would be glad to drive me about Moscow at my convenience.

Unforunately I was leaving Moscow for Georgia the next day, and so I was not able to accept Mrs. Crow's invitation.

The next morning as per schedule, in company with the charming little Russian school teacher who was my interpreter we boarded a plane for Georgia in the Soviet Union.

When I reached Moscow I thought that would certainly be the apex of my Russian trip. But when I landed at Belisi, the capital and chief city of Georgia, I knew here was the Garden Spot of the Soviet Union.

A delegation, including the governor of the State, met us at the airport, and escorted us to the city's largest and best hotel where we were to remain until the end of our visit in Georgia.

(To Be Continued)

SIGNS LIKE the one displayed above are never seen in the U.S.S.R. Restrictions in buying homes are only one of the signs of second-class citizenship for Negroes and other minority groups in America. From Mrs. Bass' own observation behind the "Iron Curtain," she knows that all races, creeds and religions have equality there.

News from Europe and Other Countries

KUOMINTANG TROOPS IN KOREA

WASHINGTON—The extensive use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops in Korea was discussed among other matters at the talks between United States President Harry S. Truman and British Prime Minister Clement Attlee which ended December 8.

The call for the use of these troops was made by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in a report to Truman proposing ways and means of stabilizing the front."

NO WAR WITH CHINA

LONDON—Labor members of parliament at a special meeting re-emphasized their determination to oppose any policy which would lead Britain into war with China. Speaker after speaker declared that their constituents had made it clear to them that they would not fight against New China.

EGYPT'S RULERS BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Two days after Egyptian Prime Minister Nahas Pasha demanded before a wildly cheering parliament that Britain immediately evacuate the Suez Canal Zone and the Sudan, his government clamped a ban on all popular demonstrations in Cairo, Alexandria and Port Said where students and workers had poured into the streets to express their support for his demands for Egyptian independence.

This in itself gives some indication of political alignments in Egypt. As on previous occasions, the nationalist government quailed before the rising tide of the popular liberation movement which it had itself called forth, and found itself obliged to take measures to stem and control it.

Among thousands of slogans displayed by demonstrators demanding evacuation appeared: "Long live the World Peace Camp headed by Stalin." "Stalin—defender of national rights." Government party newspapers wrote: "Tendentious elements have infiltrated who are attempting to poison the atmosphere of Egypt." A state of emergency was proclaimed and the police and army were ordered to surround universities and secondary schools and the militant working-class district of Shubra el Heima in Cairo.

BRITISH DEMAND A-BOMB BAN

LONDON — Over 1,000 British men and women went to the House of Commons to see their members of parliament and present the Stockholm petition for the banning of the atom bomb, signed by 1,600,000 Britons.

The delegates came from trade union branches, cooperatives factories, local peace committees, students and housewives' groups. Among them were two building workers who had come in their work clothes straight from their job outside London.

They carried with them a petition signed by 120 out of their 300 fellow workers, which they had collected in a single morning.

CHANGES NAMES

PEKING—The People's Government of Yuehsi county, Eastern Sikong province, have changed the names of many tablets and localities which were a great insult to the Yi people.

Yuehsi county is the home of the Yi people, who were massacred time and again by the reactionary rulers through many generations. Around the countryside stood many tablets erected by the reactionary rulers to honor the services of the executioners of the Yi people, carrying such inscriptions as "suppress the Yi people by force."

On the gates of county towns there appeared such notices as "No Yi is permitted to ride into town" and "No Yi is permitted to lodge in town," put up during the Ching dynasty. Some towns and villages bore the names "Fortress of Yi Suppression" and "Conquer the Yis Castle." The great bridge over Yuehsi river had the name of "Yi Suppression Bridge."

After liberation, the People's Government of Yuehsi county convened a people's representative congress of the various nationalities and circles, which unanimously decided to eliminate all reactionary tablets and place names. With axes and picks, the Yi people smashed up all the humiliating tablets, and renamed the Yi Bridge "Liberation Bridge," and the castle, "Security Castle."

JAPANESE C. P.'s PROGRAM

PEKING — A four-point program for the Japenese people during the Korean war was put forward by the Japanese Communist Party at a press conference November 21. The party called upon the Japanese people to have the will and confidence to fight against war and for their own independence.

The four points of the Communist Party program are: (1) exposure of the government's policy of helping the intervention in Korea; (2) refusal to support the imperialists; (3) no unilateral peace treaty; and (4) active struggle against the fascist "purge" measures and persecution of progressive and democratic elements.

S. A. CLOSES UNIVERSITIES

CAPE TOWN—The Malan Government has decided to refuse permission for African students from other African territories to attend universities in South Africa. The ban extends also to mission schools and other educational institutions.

Hundreds of Africans from the British protectorates of Basutoland, Swaziland and Bechuanaland will be affected by the ban, and it is considered possible the Malan Government has taken this step as part of its campaign to compel the British Government to agree to the inorporation of these territories in the Union.

BRITISH PRESS LIES

LONDON — A Soviet poster bearing the words in Russian, "Peace Will Conquer War" was reproduced in the English magazine Everybody's, but the translation given by the magazine for consumption by British people was "We Will Conquer the World."

An American correspondent in Moscow was seriously upset because his agency has ordered him not to send stories on reconstruction as these were "not interesting," but to send reports on anti-American jokes at music halls and circuses.

U. S. TO BUILD WAR PLANTS IN ARGENTINA

WASHINGTON — The Peron Government of Argentina has recently granted considerable concessions to the United States, it is reported from authoritative sources here.

These are said to include not only the surrender of privileged positions to American oil and air corporations, but also permission to build on Argentine territory a number of American armament plants and military installations.

BULGARIA PROTESTS AGAINST TITO

SOFIA—Bulgaria has protested against the "increasingly frequent, systematic violations of the Bulgarian frontier by Yugoslav airplanes for obvious reconnaissance purposes." In a note handed to the Yugoslav embassy here, the foreign ministry detailed seven violations in one case of which the escaping Yugoslav plane flew towards Greece.

15TH ANNIV. OF CHINESE STUDENTS' STAND

PEKING — The Chinese students' heroic struggle against Chiang Kai-shek's policy of appeasement and collaboration toward imperialist Japan 15 years ago on December 9 was widely observed here.

Leading dailies carried special articles reviewing those tragic days. The students and professors who survived the Dec. 9, 1935, demonstration, in which hundreds of students were killed or and injured and many others hustled off to concentration camps, have also written special articles to commemorate their eventful fight in those grim and fateful days.

AMERICAN AGGRESSION IN SOUTHEAST ASIA

PEKING—After a lengthy article analyzing American economic, political, military and cultural aggression in Southeast Asia, Peking People's Daily on December 9 sums up with the following question:

"What has been the result of all this aggression? Half of Burma is under the control of the people's armed forces, guerrilla war is raging in Indonesia. In Malaya, the liberated areas are growing. In the Philippines the people's forces have grown to 200,000. Ninety percent of Viet Nam is free and the Viet Nam People's Army is marching on Hanoi. The Americans are sitting on a volcano."

TRIAL OF BRITISH SPIES OPENS

WARSAW—The trial on espionage charges of three British citizens, Col. Claude Turner, Gordon Nelmes and Henry Upperton, opened here recently. They were arrested last May as they were illegally attempting to smuggle a Polish woman citizen named Bobrowska to London.

The British Foreign Office had assured Bobrowska of the right of political asylum and all the aid required as soon as she appeared in Britain, it was disclosed. Bobrowska was to pose in Britain as a victim of political persecution.

UN RECOMMENDS HANDS OFF S. W. AFRICA

UN RECOMMENDS HANDS OFF

LONDON—The decision Dec. 5 of the United Nations Trusteeship Committee to "recommend" South Africa to place Southwest Africa under United Nations trusteeship, represents a further step in the appeasement of South Africa. No penalties are hinted at in the event of the continued refusal of the Malan government to carry out the will of U.N.

Southwest Africa, a German colony until World War One, was placed by the League of Nations under South African administration as a mandated territory. Its fate was promptly ignored until after the Second World War, when the scandal of racist exploitation and suppression exercised by its "administrators" shocked the world.

The U.N. was then forced last August to test before the Hague International Court, Malan's claim—reinforced by his phony "election mandate" from the territory's 25,000 white inhabitants—to incorporate Southwest Africa into the Union.

The position of the British in this affair is one which reflects a great deal of embarrassment. Britain, fearful of the effect of South Africa's racist policies on the Africans she holds in subjection in her colonial territories, merely counsels caution and the avoidance of haste. She does not want to offend South Africa in view of the heightened nationalistic sentiment now prevailing there. She therefore takes the course of seeking refuge in abstention during the voting on issues affecting South Africa.

REPROACH U. S. FOR ANTI-GHETTO VOTE

CAPE TOWN — Die Burger, principal South African "Malanationalist" newspaper, strongly criticized the U. S. for voting in favor of the U. N. General Assembly resolution Dec. 2, calling for suspension of South Africa's Ghetto ("Group Areas") Act. The U. S. evidently feared the reaction of its own 16,000,000 Negro population and the colored colonial populations of its Marshall satellites, if it openly supported Malan's Ghetto Act or refrained from voting as did Britain and 20 other nations. "Is this the United States conception of western cooperation and the brotherhood in arms of Americans and South Africans in Korea?" Die Burger asks.

PROTEST "BLITZKREIG DEPORTATION TRIALS"

NEW YORK — Three hundred and fifty-six delegates have concluded a two-day national conference here to defend the Bill of Rights after adopting a fighting nationwide program to halt the Justice Department deportation drive aimed at wholesale jailing and expulsion from the United States of 3,400 foreign-born Communists and other progressive workers.

While the conference was in session, the Justice Department was mapping plans for a series of 32 "blitzkrieg deportation trials" to be held during the Christmas holiday season.

"These hearings," declared Abner Green, executive secretary of the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, who made the main report to the conference, "are degrading in their police-state treatment of human beings."

The conference designated the month of March as the "Fight Deportation Month." The plans call for mass conferences in the first week of March in local communities acros sthe nation in the defense of the foreign born. Delegations, composed of the families of the victims of the deportation drive under the McCarran (police state) law are scheduled to proceed from cities throughout the nation to Washington on the week beginning March 19 to place petitions before President Truman, the Justice Department and Congressmen.

The mass deportation trials beginning December 11 and running through the Christmas season include the cases of Alexander Bittelman, leading Marxist writer; Claudia Jones, Negro woman leader and secretary of the National Women's Commission of the Communist Party; Betty Gannet, national educational director of the Communist Party; George Siskind, Marxist educator; Rose Nelson Lightcan, vice president of the Women's Division of the Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order, Jack Schneider, leader of the furriers union and Anthony Cattona founder of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union of America.

MORE FUNDS TO HORSES THAN SICK CHILDREN

HELSINKI—In Helsinki it is better to be a horse than an inmate at a poor house or a tubercular child.

Helsinki's new municipal budget allows 26 million marks to horseclubs owning about 40 thoroughbred horses. Thus about 660,000 marks is granted to each horse. On the other hand the budget grants 155,000 marks to each inmate of a poor house and 84,000 marks for every tubercular child under treatment on city funds.

FINNISH PEACE MOVEMENT

HELSINKI—At the annual conference of the Finnish peace partisans attended by 200 delegates from all parts of the country, it was announced that the Finnish peace movement now has about one million members. Over 900,733 signatures were collected to the Stockholm Appeal in Finland.

PREMIERS URGED TO SUPPORT PEACE

COPENHAGEN — At the first public meeting arranged jointly by the Danish peace partisans and peace organizations a resolution was passed urging Danish Premier Eriksen together with all the Scandinavian countries to find a solution to the Korean question through an immediate truce, the withdrawal of all foreign troops and internationally controlled free elections. The resolution also called for a four power meeting and urged the United Nations to ban the manufacture and use of atom weapons of mass destruction and limit armaments.

The meeting which was attended by 2,000 people, passed the resolution with two votes against and ten abstaining.

ORANGE FREE STATE MASSACRE BY POLICE

CAPE TOWN—Further details available concerning the police shootings on the Witzieshoek reserve in Orange Free State November 27 indicate that at least 13 Africans were killed when the police attacked a meeting of 600 villagers on the reserve. The actual number of casualties is certain to be much higher.

The European police surrounded the villagers, who were meeting to protest at the killing without compensation of supposedly "inferior" cattle belonging to them, and opened fire with submachine guns. Subsequently 12 bodies were found with bullets in the abdomen or neck, and one of the seven seriously injured later died.

According to Orange Free State Deputy Police Commissioner Col. J. Du Toit, the number of casualties is much higher than is known officially. "We have observed many blood trails leading to the mountains," he said.

In the meantime, while few Africans are to be seen outside their miserable huts, 150 armed police are patroling the reserve, aided by "commandos" of armed European civilians.

South African Air Force planes are also patrolling, and are searching the mountains for "fugitives." A large number of Africans have been arrested.

The African National Congress has called for the immediate withdrawal of police and armed civilians from the reserve.

3RD WORLD YOUTH FESTIVAL IN BERLIN

VIENNA — The Third World Youth Festival is to be held in Berlin, the capital of German Democratic Republic, in 1951. This was proposed by the vice-chairman of the World Federation of Democratic Youth, Mme. Frances Damon, at the WEDY Council in Vienna. The proposal met with general acclamation by the delegates.

Mme. Damon also proposed that the German youth organization "Free German Youth" be entrusted with the organization of the festival.

WOMEN MINERS IN HUNGARY

BUDAPEST—The employment of female labor in coal production has only been introduced in Hungary in recent years. It met with a certain amount of resistance on the part of the miners and even of technicians. However, female labor in the Komlo mines has produced very good results. One of the miners, Maria Papp, was made a mine inspectress because of her good work.

Women are employed widely in this mine in various occupations. The director of Komlo mines has declared that they perform considerable work and that the employment of women in mines will be greatly facilitated by the mechanization of the mining industry. The local organization of Hungarian Democratic Women is taking particular interest in these new mine workers and frequently visit pits giving encouragement to the women workers.

TANKS TO ITALY

ROME—A consignment of 18 ton American tanks was delivered to Italian military authorities at Naples early this week. United States Ambassador James Dunn spoke at a "symbolic ceremony" where the tanks were handed over to Italian Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi.

The tanks are of a very light make suitable only for police work and street fighting.

The ceremony in the port of Naples was heavily guarded by contingents of police and troops to prevent disturbances.

CHILDREN'S NURSERIES

PRAGUE—Czechoslovakia—New [illegible] nurseries are being [illegible] in Czechoslovakia with [illegible] of existing ones every month. Those who wishes to work have a safe place to leave her child. Many mothers work irregular hours or do evening work and others do work that entails traveling out of Prague.

It is the aim of the nurseries that all women, no matter what kind of work they do, shall have the right to continue with that work AND have a family. So a number of nurseries board children between the ages of one and three years from Monday morning until Saturday afternoon.

Two words govern this work. The first is health, the second is education. Each Monday morning when the babies are admitted, the supervisor talks to the mothers on the health of their children. Once a month there is a medical examination, every baby is tested for tuberclosis every three months, and are x-rayed at frequent intervals.

There is a staff meeting once a month, and common problems are discussed. Once a month there is a parents' meeting, when their problems are discussed. The education of the children consists in teaching them to play with their toys, to do without cudding and petting, to be independent little men and women.

LIVING STANDARD IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Everyone is familiar with the comparison of standards of living between those countries where socialism is the form of economic system, with those of the "Western Democracies" as given in the capitalistic press. How an American worker earns as much bread in five minutes as a Czech worker does in an hour. How an American worker can earn enough in an hour to buy a fine roast of pork or beef, while it takes a Czech worker a whole day.

"This is a lying game," asserts The Prague News Letter, "calling for considerable ingenuity and requiring deliberate dishonesty to play."

"When Bourgeois economists deal with ecenomic developments in Czechoslovakia," the Letter contiues, "they do not usually deny that an improvement in the living standards of the workers has taken place, for this is obvious to everybody and cannot be hidden. They claim, however, that this improvement affects mainly the former lowest income brackets ,and divert attention to the high prices of consumer goods which they allege are not within reach of the ordinary wage-earner.

"The worker in the capitalist countries is faced with a continued increase in the prices of consumer goods, which the small wage increases are in no way able to compensate. In Great Britain, according to government figures, retail prices in clothing have risen by an average of 20.7 per cent. Food prices have also gone up."

In Czechoslovakia wages are rising and prices are falling. Czechoslovakia economy is directed toward securing a continual and uninterrupted rise in the peoples' standard of living and any real examination of wages and prices in the five years since nationalization cannot but prove that the Czechs have been successful in achieving this aim.

On the other hand official statistics confirm that the trend in the capitalist countries is everywhere downwards. Every housewife can confirm the truth of high prices and low wages—the direct opposite of what is true in socialist countries.

In Czechoslovakia today's average daily income buys two to three times as much as the 1937 income. The Czech worker can buy six times as much bread, three times as much flour, four times as much entertainment. Rents are fixed at extremely low levels, and the proportion of wages to the amount of good one can purchase is much higher than in the pre-war years.

RETURNS TO CZECHOSLOVAKIA

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia—After living more than forty years in the United States, Karel Loitner, former editor of Newyorske Listy, largest Czech-language newspaper in the United States, returned to Czechoslovakia last month. In a statement made to the press he announced that he had renounced his American citizenship to remain in Czechoslovakia.

"The events of the recent period," he said, "proved to me that the United States has taken the road to aggression directed against the interests of the people of the whole world to profit a handful of financial magnates longing for world domination."

DOMINANT POWER—U. S. AIM

NEW YORK—A leading United States business executive in a frank description of America's world aims told an audience of businessmen in Norfolk, Virginia, that "Within the next 10 years I believe the American empire will rise through economic dominance backed by military dominance." The speaker was Gene Sitterley, editor and publisher of the magazine, "World's Business."

Sitterley's dream of an American Empire imposing "Pax Americana" on the world, was first launched after the war by Virgil Jordon, economist of United States big business. It has since become the real goal of the foreign policy of the American monopolies operating through the State Department and the Pentagon.

U. S. NEGRO T.B. RATE RISES

NEW YORK—The city's tuberculosis rate for Negroes has risen 44 per cent and for Puerion Ricans 181 per cent in the past five years, reports the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association. Over the same period there has been a "slight decrease" of the disease among the white population.

The reasons given for the sharp increase among the colored peoples was "overcrowding sub-standard living conditions and extreme poverty." At the same time the "shortage of hospital beds and isolation facilities" in the city areas with the highest incidence of tuberculosis "must be considered a disaster in the lives of those stricken in these areas," the report states.

TRIBUTE TO KOREAN PEOPLE

WARSAW, Poland—When the Peace Congress met on Monday a moving and inspiring tribute was paid to the Korean people in their struggle for freedom. A 20-minute long ovation followed the speech of Mrs. Pak Denai and her dignified, poignant account of the way her people's achievements had been snatched away from them which deeply stirred the delegates.

Mrs. Pak, a slim tall figure clad in a white silk gown spoke in Russian. "We know there are two Americas," she said, "the America of Wall Street which drives the American youngsters into war with our people, and the America of honest simple folk who want peace."

"To the last drop of their blood, the Korean people will defend their country against the hated foreign invaders and their lackeys." These concluding words of the Korean delegate's speech evoked tremendous response from the 3,500 delegates and visitors crowding the hall.

Members of the presidium ran from their seats to greet Mrs. Pak. The delegates leaped on the tables and waved little silk flags which had been presented to them by the Chinese delegation. The Korean delegate was lifted on to the desk in front of the President's seat. And for long after this the hall resounded with cheers and applause as the peace lovers' sympathy and admiration went out to the Korean people.

BEIRUT—The U. S. ambassador to Iran has been recalled to Washington for "consultation." This follows the improvement in relations between Iran and the Soviet Union, on the conclusion of the Iran-Soviet commercial agreement on November 4.

Under the trade pact Iran will exchange cotton, tobacco, rice, dried fruits, hides and other commodities for Soviet textiles, cement, sugar, glass, machinery, and other manufactured goods.

WORKERS TRAIN AS OFFICERS

BOHEMIA—The first year of a school in Bohemia which trains young workers and farmers as Army officers has been successfully completed, and 25% of the pupils passed the course with excellent grading.

"In accordance with the noble aims of socialism," said the Defense Minister, "we endeavor during military training to foster the will to live in peace, to live in brotherhood with the people of the whole world. This is the peace mission of our Army which is so alien and remote to all armies of the capitalist world.

"The fight for the maintenance of peace will be continued to a victorious end," he concluded.

PRAGUE—The Slav Committee of Czechoslovakia has written a letter to U. S. Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath protesting the imprisonment of the general secretary of the American Slav Committee, Jiri Pirinski, and the threats of the U. S. authorities to deport him. The letter notes that the measures taken against Mr. Pirinski followed very soon after the Slav Peace Conference was held in New York, when the Slavs in America took an uncompromising stand for peace and against warmongers.

NO WAR WITH CHINA—BRITISH PEOPLE DEMAND

LONDON—Well over one million British people have joined in the demand that Prime Minister Attlee keep out of war with China. In many streets of London and of provincial towns, housewives are collecting door-to-door signatures to telegrams to Attlee demanding that he make no war commitments. The mayor of the London boroughs of Brentford and Chiswick has been asked by a local Trades Council deputation to call a town meeting on the crisis.

Twelve lecturers on the staff of Coventry Technical College, the entire staff of 27 teachers of a Birmingham school, nightshift workers at Standard Telephones in Woolwich, are among those who have telegraphed Attlee urging him to make every effort to prevent the use of the atom bomb. Their example was followed by workers in 10 other Woolwich industries, including a ship repair yard.

ARMS FOR WEST GERMANY

BERLIN—The first large arms consignment for the West German mobile police force" will arrive next month West German Minister Dr. Robert Lehr announced yesterday at a meeting of the Christian Democratic Union Party at Oberhausen.

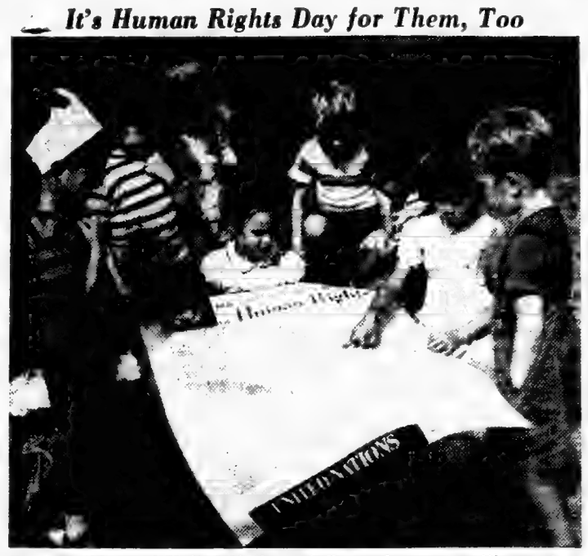
Lehr regretted that "there was so much talk" about remilitarisation in Germany. The Bonn Government he said was concerned only with the "security" of the country.

PENGPU, China—More than 280,000 peasants have started the first stage of the gigantic Huai river project in North Anhwei province. They are throwing up millions of tons of earth on dykes of the river, which will safeguard some 200,000 hectares of land from floods. The work is expected to be finished by January.

BERLIN—The number of unemployed in West Germany increased by 86,000 during November, and now stands at a total of 1,316,000.

BUCHAREST, Rumania — A housing settlement for apprentices has been built near a factory which consists of 12 blocks of flats, and provides facilities for workshop training for 1500 apprentices.

AFRICAN RR TO SERVE U. S.



CAPE TOWN, S. Africa. — Uganda's main railway line is to be extended immediately westward in order to provide better access to the extensive copper deposits in the foothills of the Ruwenzori monutains. At a conference of all African colonial powers under American supervision, it was agreed to give first priority in its plans to railway extension, in order to open supplies of raw materials needed for U. S. war preparations.

It's Human Rights Day for Them, Too

These children of United Nations staff members are getting a close look at the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which is two years old on 10 December. All nations in the world have been invited to set aside 10 December of every year as Human Rights Day and through programs in schools and community centers to pay "homage to the principles of freedom and of the dignity of man."

NEWS FROM EUROPE AND OTHER COUNTRIES

(WFDY) held in Vienna in the last days of November, the youth in many countries have enthusiastically undertaken the popularization and application of the decisions of this meeting.

In the United States, a delegation of American youth went to the United Nations headquarters on November 30. Its 200 members led by Paul Robeson, Jr., demanded.

First: Guarantees that the atomic bomb will not be used.

Second: An agreement between the five big powers to put an end to the Korean conflict.

Third: An order to cease fire in oKrea, and the withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea.

During the National Conference of the Labor Youth League (LYL), a meeting was held in New York of 5,000 young American workers and students, and heard Paul Robeson declare: "We are not the America of Dulles and MacArthur and other forces of evil. We are the America which stands for the liberty and equality of peoples. They want to send us as soldiers to kill young Koreans, Chinese and others. They want to silence us while Eisenhower and Stassen transform the American universities into barracks. You say books instead of bullets, bread instead of guns, peace and friendship with the youth of the Soviet Union and People's China, Europe and Africa. You say peace and not words."

The meeting ended with the singing of the WFDY song led by Robeson's powerful voice.

USSR CELEBRATES COUNTER OFFENSIVE

MOSCOW — Soviet people are memorating the ninth anniversary of Stalin's order to start the counter-offensive against the Nazis near Moscow. At that time Nazi propaganda was already describing the parades that would take place in the conquered Soviet capital and 51 Nazi divisions were massed for the assault on the city.

Hitler had announced the date that his troops would enter Moscow and "experts" in the Western countries—among them the present American Defense Secretary George Marshall, at that time the Chief-of-Staff — were jubilantly predicting the collapse of the Soviet state.

On December 6, 1941 Stalin ordered the Red Army to start the counter-offensive. Thousands of Moscow citizens volunteered to join the battle on the approaches to the city. Over 10,000 partisans went into action in the enemy's rear in the Moscow region.

For 10 subsequent days, the Red Army kept pounding the penetrating the Indochina econenemy. Some 35 Nazi divisions were destroyed, the Nazi offensive collapsed, some 1,500 enemy tanksand quantities of guns and other weapons weer destroyed.

ITALIANS DEMAND WITHDRAWAL FROM ATLANTIC PACT

ROME—Following the example of the City Council of Milan, the Municipal Governments of Florence and Venice have taken a resolute stand for peace and against the use of the atom bomb threatened by Truman.

The withdrawal of Italy from the Atlantic Pact was demanded at many popular assemblies and meetings in Bologna and other cities such as Treviso, Udine, Padova, Pescara and Teramo.

The sharp cleavage beginning to manfiest itself within government circles over Foreign Minister Sforza's incredible approval of Truman's declaration found concrete expression in an article by Christian Democrat Senator Quinto Tosatti who, writing in the Christian Democrat paper La Liberta stated: "If Sforza truly wishes to interpret the unanimous sentiment of the Italian people instead of electing himself interpreter of the thoughts of Truman, he should proclaim that the Italian people want only one thing, peace, and stands with those countries of the free world who want to put an end as soon as possible to the conflict in Korea."

FRENCH FORCED TO EVACUATE NORTH VIET NAM

BANGKOK, Viet Nam—The rapidly deteriorating military situation of the French imperialists in Viet Nam is indicated by the order to evacuate all the French civilians from the Red River Delta, the only region of North Viet Nam still held by the French. The evacuation order includes the northern capital and the French stronghold Hanoi. Mon Cay, the other principal northern French fortress, was evacuated by the French civilians several weeks ago.

The immediate creation of a large national Viet Nam army under Bao Dai, has been urged and replacing the French direction of military operations with American direction possibly under the United Nations flag.

The French for their part have been anxious to receive material and armaments from their imperialists allies but have been reluctant to surrender military control to the Americans since French colonialists fear American economic rivalry in Indochina.

The Americans are already using dollar aid as a wedge to open markets which were formerly a French monopoly.

However, the worsening military situation is forcing the French to consider seeking military forces from her allies. In preparation for this the French have been carrying out provocations on the Chinese border to prepare the way for the charges of Chinese "aggression."

CHINESE SCIENTISTS WIN FREEDOM

PEKING—As a result of indignant protests by the Chinese people, the Chinese scientists—Professor Chao Chung-jao, nuclear physicist, and Lo Shih-chun and Sheng-chiung, two students—detained by MacArthur's headquarters in Japan on their way back to China, have regained their freedom. They arrived at Canton on November 28th.

Professor Chao Chung-jao told of his persecution by the United States authorities. When they boarded the steamer "President Wilson at Los Angeles on August 29th, leaving for China, they were searched by the Americans and all their books, especially those concerning physics, were taken from them.

When the steamer reached Yokohama on September 12th, MacArthur's Headquarters in Japan again ordered the "Information Department" at Yokohama to send personnel to search their luggage. Here the U. S. "information" personnel took away everything considered as important.

The U.S. authorities forced Professor Chao and the others to land at Yokohama, however, here they first imprisoned them in the U.S. Army "information department."

After their illegal imprisonment for two weeks, The U. S. occupation army in Japan searched their luggage and found no pretext for imprisoning them. They were then moved under custody to the puppet Kuomintang "Chinese delegation to Japan."

Ceaseless strong protests by the Chinese people finally forced the Americans to liberate them on November 15th, but they refused to return the personal belongings which had been illegally taken away.

The National Conference to Defend the Bill of Rights was held in New York City on December 2 and 3. The Conference, sponsored by more than 125 prominent Americans, concerned itself with the Justice Department's resumption of illegal raids against the foreign-born in October and November of 1950, undertaken under the McCarran Law.

Honorary chairmen of the Conference are Dr. Thomas Mann, novelist and Nobel Prize winner; the Rt. Rev. Arthur W. Moulton, retired Episcopal Bishop of Utah, and the Rev. John W. Darr, Jr., chairman, board of directors, American Committee for Protection of Foreign-Born.

fused homes in thousands of government-financed housing developments, and thus will be forced to live in rental houses, where the rents are higher than the payments are on purchase of new homes for white G.I.'s. Even the so-called 'Christian' churches in one half of this country, will exclude him for worship, and, worst of all, he will be tolerated, only, as a second-class citizen, for the rest of his natural life. Obviously, then, the Negro has no vested rights or interests to protect, no dignity to maintain, no country to call his own—or to fight for.

Karl Von Weigan, a columnist writing for the Los Angeles Examiner, speaking of the German and Japanese, said they will fight with the United States, provided, "They are given the means, and the rights, and the freedom of other peoples, but not as inferiors, mercenaries, or as slaves." The American Negro stands identically in the same position, except that he knows he is certainly more entitled to consideration, than either the Germans or Japanese.

Now, Mr. President, the truth is that perhaps this matter is already out of our hands. The Negro can no longer muster the will to fight for the United States, even if he wants to—and the chaplains and officers are helpless to direct or force them. Officers may continue mass court martials, that will only fill up jails or burial grounds. Already many of the white officers who sat in the court martial of helpless Negro G.I's are being liquidated by the hordes of Chinese whom "God must have loved to have made so many of them," as well as the Negro G.I.'s along with them, and their records.

Perhaps, we may never know what really happened in Korea, but this sacrifice will not have been in vain, if, to the people here, is brought home the knowledge that they cannot exist nine-tenths free and one-tenth enslaved. As an emergency measure, you can insist that one-tenth of all war constractors, and employees, are Negroes, that one-tenth of all G.I. loans for houses go to Negroes, that all discrimination in every Department of the Federal Government cease, and that Negroes be integrated into all types of employment, that all Negro G.I.'s court martialled for any type of insubordination be immediately unconditionally pardoned. Then you will find, I feel confident, Negroes will be proud to fight for America, and what happened in Korea may never happen here.

Very truly yours,
JAMES M. JONES

LETTERS to the EDITOR

to see me. I am always happy to see you at all times.

I am sure you will be hearing from Bob Pate soon. I wrote to him last week and if I know Bob he will write to you and try very hard to find some excuse as to why he did not write, well you know Bob.

If and when you see Mrs. Roberson please tell her I said I am looking forward to seeing her when she comes to San Francisco again. I told her when she was here last that I would like to see her within the next two months or so, and that's been over a month ago. Well I see you are still working hard as ever, I should say you are slaving Jack, smile. I think it would be much nicer if we had a lot more like you, dear. I see you are still as young as ever and you get around like a teen-ager and too you are much more effective in every respect too, see what I mean? smile.

How is lady Gipson? Tell her I said I'm still watching her column. I guess I have said just about all there is to say for now but I will write to you again very soon. Please give my regards to all of my dear old friends, and I hope to be out there with them soon. Many thanks to you for everything my dear friend, and do take good care of yourself and let me hear from you soon. I remain as ever your friend.

Mrs. Charlotta Bass
Editor Los Angeles Eagle
Los Angeles, Calif.
Dear Mrs. Bass:

I am sure you will be interested in the following information, concerning racial prejudice in Anchorage Alaska.

I have lived in Anchorage, Alaska, for ten years, and left there a week ago, as I could not stand the violent racial prejudice against the Negroes in that city. Alaska at one time was quite liberal towards any race. I noticed the change during World War II and it has become increasingly so the past three or four years. As far back as eight years ago there was prejudice among the real estate dealers. I purchased property at that time and it took four weeks of constant running around before I found a real estate dealer who would sell to me.

Mr. Alvin Campbell, a young colored man, who works very hard to support his wife and three-year-old son, was involved in a racial covenant suit a few months ago. The man who filed the suit is Austin Gatlin, president of the Alaska Board of Trade. He filed the suit against Mr. Campbell, also Altin Lee Booth (white), who sold the lot to Mr. Campbell for a restraining order to stop Mr. Campbell from building, as his excuse was Mr. Campbell's building was not up to the specification of the building code in that area. Mr. Campbell did have some used lumber, but no scrap lumber as Mr. Gatlin claimed. After Judge Anthony Diamond handed down his decision in favor of Mr. Campbell and told Mr. Gatlin of the U. S. Supreme Court law concerning racial covenants, something Anchorage real estate dealers completely ignore. Mr. Gatlin drove out to Mr. Campbell's property repeatedly and propositioned him to sell. Sunday evening, Oct. 15, Mr. Campbell's home was burned to the ground. The house was almost completed. Nothing was in it, no rags or papers, no furniture, not even a stove. He was planning to move his furniture and stove into the house in another day or two, yet the Fire Department claimed the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion. Mr. Campbell told me he saw tire marks at the place. He reported this to the U. S. Marshall's office and he was questioned briefly and that was the end of the matter.

I sold two lots to a colored couple several months ago where there is a racial covenant written in the deed and if nothing is done about Mr. Campbell's case there will be no protection for them if there is trouble when they start to build. For two years I had this property in my attorney's name to protect me. The man who owns most of the land in this section, Woodland Park, Harry Suggitt, is the one who has the racial covenants written in the deeds. A real estate dealer, Miss Margery McCormick, whom I asked to sell the lots for me, refused to take an army couple to see the lots on account of the racial covenant. The racial covenant was more important to her than a commission.

The discrimination and racial prejudice against the Negroes in Anchorage has become so alarming, we notified two of our members in Congress, this past summer, also the National N.A.A.C.P. at New York. I called our N.A.A.C.P. members together to try to organize a drive to collect funds to rebuild Mr. Campbell's house but since the Negro in Anchorage has such little protection, he was afraid. He lost all he had as he put all his money into this building.

The enclosed circular is an example of conditions for Negroes in Anchorage. The newspapers, The Anchorage Daily Times, and the Anchorage Daily News, refused to publish the letters I am enclosing.

These are some of the people asking for Statehood. If these conditions are allowed to exist we are going to have another state comparable to any below the Mason-Dixon Line.

Yours ver ytruly,
MRS. MADELINE HOLMES.

POTPOURRI

DETROIT—The Detroit News, in a public opinion poll found nine out of ten people looked upon the use of the atomic bomb with horror.

Typical of the comments receved were those of a carpenter, who said: "I cannot see where we would have the right to drop the atom bomb over there. We went over there. They did not attack us. It would be an inhuman act to kill so many people with one of those bombs."

The grand total of money spent by our government up to 1940, according to "Economic Highlights," was $179,620,000,000. That total covers more than 150 years of our history.

And still we're spending. And still the debt continues to grow. To what end?

PRISONERS RELEASED

Hopes were expressed in the Civil Rights Congress office today that the four prisoners now being held on Terminal Island by the Immigration Department, will be released in time for the third annual C.R.C. Christmas Party.

The Yule party which has become a traditional C.R.C. affair will be held at the Park View Manor, 2200 E. 7th St. on Christmas night.

NO ATOM BOMB

A clear and concise statement to President Truman, telling him of the horrors of the atom bomb (if he doesn't already know) was sent to the White House by Ed Williams, 1853 Arlington Ave., last week.

The statement, asking to "withhold the committal of the one act that would irrevocably sever us from our few remaining contacts with mass humanity," bore the signatures of 46 American citizens who also believed the atom bomb would alienate all other nations of the world from us.

CASE DISMISSED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The case against four members of the Progressive Party in Indiapolis was dismissed last week, an admission, said the chairman of the Progressive Party, that it was intended as a frame-up to prevent Progressive Party candidates from being on the ballot.

The four men were indicted October 24 for alleged "false acknowledgement" in notarizing the Progressive Party nominating petition. Because of this Negro citizens of Marion County were deprived of the right of voting for another Negro candidate for the state legislature.

VIET NAM MILITARY CONFERENCE

PEKING—A military and administrative conference was held in Viet Nam's Red River basin to review activities of 1950 and plan the 1951 program of action. The conference noted that the French imperialists had failed to "pacify" the Red River delta region despite strenuous efforts.

The local branch of the National United Front of Viet Nam had strengthened the unity between all people and had thwarted the French imperialists' attempts to play off the Catholics against their fellow countrymen.

French attempts to destroy or carry away crops and cattle had also failed because of the stubborn struggle of the population and the Army.

Philosophy of Peace

"The Philosophy of Peace," by John Somerville, has been praised unreservedly by Albert Einstein and Thomas Mann, prominent in the world fight for peace.

Said Albert Einstein: "I am in agreement with everything you have explained in a masterful way."

Thomas Mann: "Your book is something like a miracle. . . . The critic who said it should be a best seller is only too right."

Other critics also high in the literary world, have praised "The Philosophy of Peace" extravagantly. To secure this valuable contribution to American literature, you can order it from Philosophy Books, Box 77, Gracie Station, New York 28, N. Y. Price $3.00 per copy.

Candid Comments

GERTRUDE GIPSON

Dear Mrs. G. Well, here we are again, your good and faithful sec. Beulah, to make many maaaad and many glaaaad, but whadda we care, that's life, ya know. Betcha it's surprising to many, knowing that attractive and pretty Juliette (your gal pal, Mrs. G.) Ball has filed for her divorce and from what we understand 'twill soon be final. . . . Cuties Juanita Williams and Jackie Dickerson add that touch of glamor to the swank offices of Ben Waller.

Ya know, Mrs. G., of course we consider you real great, in other words, dearie, we love ya, but what we're still trying to figger out is why (your colleague and I'm sure everybody knows now) could be soooo small and not even speak. Ha, ha! Betcha your five-year-old Reve would use more discretion than that. But then maybe Reve is a smarter Miss.

We can see ya now, Mrs. G., still oh'n and ah'n when you found out the news of Steve Gibson of the Red Caps and Lillian Randolph being sister and brother. . . . We just know you'd like us to thank cute Elois Davis for the lovely little gift. . . . Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong really bringing them in at the Oasis with his "C'est C'est Bon," and gee! we just couldn't get enough of Velma Middleton and her wonderful personality.

Dr. Delo Gray will be saying his good-byes Saturday before leaving for K. C. . . Ya know, Mrs. G., we heard all about that "class" of drummer J. C. Heard, but really that guy is "just crowded" with it. He's got a swelluva combo with Dudley Brooks on piano and Johnny Miller on bass. Trio is now appearing out at the Haig nitery and were really wonderful at your March of Cans . . . as was Vivian Dandridge, Lillian Randolph and her sis, Amanda, and many many more whose names we couldn't dig outa your file.

Hear that the American Negro Theater gave quite a gala "bon voyage" party for ANT members who are leaving for Europe as members of the "Anna Lucasta" cast. Honors were given to Earl Hyman, Paul Meyers, Anita Turner, Al Harris and Duke Williams. And say, Mrs. G., that Anita Turner and Duke Williams, that's Mr. and Mrs. Duke Williams, isn't it?

Joyce Bryant, who has just completed serenading patrons of Hollywood's swanky Ciro's, will now journey east . . . and ya know we think her "Stormy Weather" is oooch la' la' . . . Sure hate hearing that Eagle social scribe Viv Johnson won't be with us for awhile.

Mrs. G. I just thought I would scream t'other day when I spent practically the entire day telling your Reve about her great-grandparents how wonderful they were . . . how they stood up and always spoke out for their rights . . . the many hardships they undoubtedly had to suffer, when up she pops and asks with sooo what about it? . . . Ya know, we love dearly Jimmy Witherspoon but his recording of "Once There Lived a Fool" stinks. Ya know why? 'Cause we think, Mrs. G., that Spoon is one of the greatest blues chirpers of the day that's what WE want him to do . . . sliiing the blues and NOTHIN' else (O K . sooo maybe we are prejudiced!)

You gal pal Libby Clark has some awful clever Xmas cards, doncha think? Which reminds us that maybe this time you can get yours out on time this year. . . . We think that smile of Millie Bruce is oh! sooo pretty . . . and "she's as cute as a speckled pup under a little red wagon."

Gee whiz but that was a lousy fight Tuesday night with Bean and Henry, Mrs. G. . . . We find that no matter what happens we can always relax when we go over to Wakiki and listen to the wonderful musical artistry of the Sepianeers. . . . Gene Norman comes through again with his annual Xmas concert. This year it's the 29th, the place, of course, the Shrine, with Frankie Lane, King Cole Trio, Treniers and Martha Davis sharing the spotlight. Evelyn Royal, always an ear pleaser, is back again at the Dovil Club (we hope we got the name right).

Gee whiz, just when we wanted to say something reeel nice about that pal of yours, Bob somethingorother,, we can't remember his last name. Bob will soon receive his degree from S.C. in the field of psychology (that is if he's left alone, ahem!) . . . Lester Johnson planning another trip to the Bay City with his cute Eleanor Ford. Now there's a girl with more than just beauty, she's talented, too

Your fave of the crooners, Billy Eckstine, headlining the Xmas show at the Orpheum. And, oh yes, we got a quick glimpse of Johnny Otis with his two ace vocalists, Little Esther and Mel Walker. Hear they will be headlining the holiday show at the Lincoln Theater. . . . We just got a sudden thawt (one of those things you usually get ya know, "stubbornness does have its helpful features you always know what you are going to be thinking tomorrow.

Isn't it wonderful, Mrs. G., ya know when "Mr. B" appears at San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel he will get $2,500 a week, in addition to half of all the cover charge fees, and for our money he's worth even more money (well, we said our money, didn't we, G.G.? And incidentally, after his run at the Fairmont the spot will no longer feature nightly floor shows.

Sure will be glad, Miss G., when you do that story on Phil Moore. We like that fella a lot. . . . One thing about your girl Nellie Lutcher, no matter how far away from home she gets, she always arranges it so she's home for Xmas with her family. Nellie returns from Europe this month. Will be in the city for the holidays and then off to Las Vegas at the El Rancho, where pert and pretty Dottie Dandridge will soon complete a wonderful and successful engagement.

Ya know, getting back to Nellie, that chick smashed all British theater records and only Danny Kaye has equaled her in popularity. . . . Well comes that time, as you put it, Mrs. G., when I can't think of another thing except this gag for a closing thought. Robert Lewis asked Burl Ives: "Exactly what is a folk song?" "I don't know," Ives admitted. "It's like a woman. You can recognize one, but you can't explain it."

★ Art Lewis

SPORTS EDITOR

A question—Why hasn't Dave Williams been invited to participate in the coming East-West game in San Francisco on January 1?

The big hard-charging fullback from UCLA is a senior and is therefore eligible to play in the big game, but no bid has been forthcoming thus far. His 1950 record with the Bruins shows that he is a man of ability so they cannot use the excuse that he is not a good player to keep him off the Western squad.

Could it be, therefore, that the sponsors of this worthy game are racially prejudiced?

The Shrine East-West game has been played annually in San Francisco since 1926.

In all of these 24 years there has been only ONE Negro to play in the game. That was Gene Derricotte of Michigan who played for the East in January, 1949.

But it was only after a bitter struggle by the San Francisco branch of the NAACP that he was invited to participate.

Through the years there have been several men of color in the east and in the west who have had outstanding ability, more so in many cases than some of the stniors actually selected, but they were still not invited to play.

Perhaps there are other factors to be contended with but it would seem that a game such as this, played for charity each year, would have a better sense of fair play and would invite eligible men of ability no matter what color they are.

I STAND CORRECTED

A few weeks ago I stated that there were four tan gridders making the trip to Pasadena with the Rose Bowling Michigan team.

I have since received a letter from one James R. Terrell of Ann Arbor, Mich., stating that in addition to Lowell Perry, Tom Johnson, Dave Hill and Frank Howell, there are two other Negro members of the squad, Don Oldham and Wes Bradford. All are sophomores except Johnson, who is a junior.

Mr. Terrell goes on to say that "Wes Bradford should be mentioned as a key factor in Michigan's sudden recovery from what seemed to be a dismal season. Right from the beginning, Michigan suffered heavily from injuries; only in the final Ohio State game did we begin to have anywhere near our real strength. Our morale was at its lowest during the Minnesota and Illinois games.

When the day for the Indiana game arrived, many of us glumly felt we would lose another game since Koceski, Howell and Oldham, all of whom played at the same key spot in our offense, were injured. But the dazzling performance of Bradford, previously an unlisted substitute, provided the boost in morale that carried right through to the Ohio State game, which was won in a blizzard even though we had lost to Illinois in a snowstorm.

It was also pointed out that Michigan has been the Big Ten champion for four straight years and that their "championship" marching band also contains quite a few Negroes.

Note to Mr. Terrell: We will concede victory for your marching band but seriously doubt that your football team can stop the potent California backfield for long.

Speaking of bands, when are the Coast schools going to stop being humiliated each year by the Big Ten bands? The last two football games have been fairly close but the band honors have gone by a wide margin to the visitors.

Their precision marching and intricate routines are truly marvelous. Of course, it's so cold back there that I suppose they have to step lively.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

And for the following an appropriate gift, we hope, from St. Nick:

Pappy Waldorf—His first Rose Bowl victory.

California Band—Some new marches and formations and a little pep.

Bruin Band—Ditto for next season.

Red Sanders—A few good J. C. transfers.

Ed Tucker—A good basketball season as Stanford's first Negro athlete.

Woodley Lewis—A chance to show his offensive greatness as well as his defensive ability with the Rams.

Fizzard Charles—True recognition by all of his good fighting ability.

Joe Louis—A shiny nail to hang his gloves up on—for good, that is.

Clarence Henry—More time for Charles.

Sean Hack—Some new good L. A. Angel baseball players and a lot of good luck as the new Angel manager.

Bravan Dyer—Better Trojan teams.

L. A. Rams—The first world's championship of football for Los Angeles and a nice Eagle trap for next year.

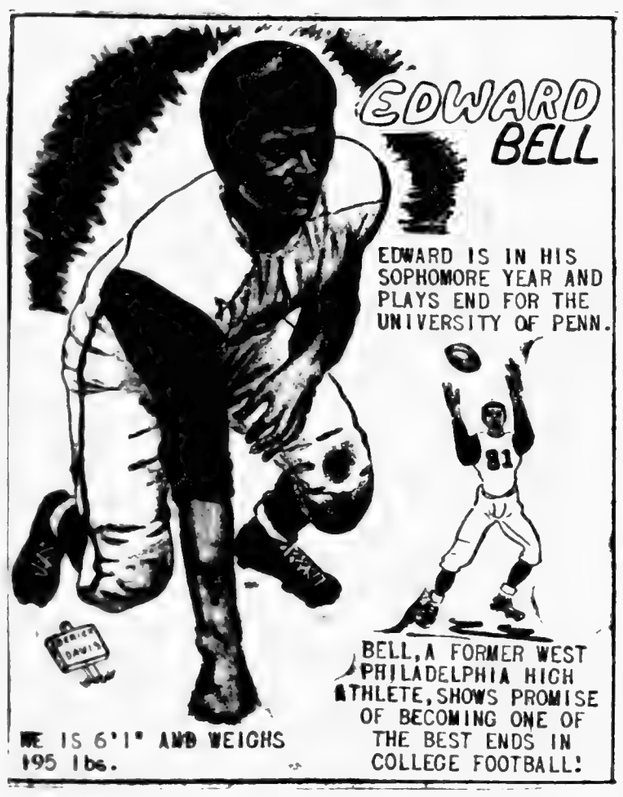
Hill Prince—For the $360,470 that he has earned for his owner, give him an extra bale of hay. He can't eat the money anyway.

For all my readers (both of you) "A Devilish Good Drink."

Ollie Matson Sets New U. S. F. Records

Fullback Ollie Matson's scoring and the passing of Quarterback Ed Brown established new school records to feature the statistical achievements of the 1950 University of San Francisco football squad.

Matson's 13 touchdowns and three conversions netted him 81 points in 11 games to surpass the old mark of 78 set by Forrest (Shorter) Hall in 1946. The fleet Don fu back also led the squad in rushing with 747 yards gained in 146 carries for a 5.1 average although he was shackled by injuries during the final six games of the campaign.



A junior, Matson has compiled 1600 yards rushing in two years and tallied 123 points.

No Olympic Bouts Next Two Weeks

The Olympic Auditorium will have no boxing bouts over the Christmas holidays but will open the New Year with a bang on Jan. 9th when they present those two crowd pleasers Mario Trigo and Freddie Herman in a ten rounder.

Herman is the fighter who gave John L. Davis an early round going over last month only to tire in the stretch and lose by a decision.

Trigo's last fight was a draw with Art Aragon.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

HOLLYWOOD PARK — Hill Prince, the husky son of imported Prince Quillo, hit the jackpot in the closing feature at Hollywood Park in the Sunset Handicap and picked up $35,300 for his owner, C. T. Chenery. Hill Prince was bred in old Virginia and was just named the horse of the year. In the Hollywood Gold Cup the Prince had all the hard luck that any horse could have in a race.

But not in the Sunset. Jockey Eddie Arcaro kept his mount on the outside all the way and then swung very wide coming into the home stretch but the Prince fairly churned down the stretch to overhaul the pace-making Next Move from the Vanderbilt Stable to gain the victory by one length.

At one time of the journey the Prince was nearly a dozen lengths off the pace, but when Arcaro called on him the race was over. His superiority was just too much for his field. He was one of the shortest-price winners of this event in its history and the shortest-price winner of the meeting, paying in the mutuels $2.90. The time was 1:48 3-5, three-fifths of a second slower than Noor's track record set earlier in the month.

Calumet Farms' Coaltown with the lightning heels made a great comeback in the co-feature named the Aloha at six furlongs. He was the national sensation last year when he won 12 victories out of 15 starts. His last start was at Keenland April 13 and finished seventh.

But Trainer Jimmie Jones had him fit for this race. Jockey Steve Brooks broke him on top and he withstood the challenge of Mangohick and Star Fiddle and also the closing rush of the favored Bolero, who holds the world's record for the six furlongs.

His time was 1:09 1-5, equaling the track record set by Special Touch. Coupled with All Blue as the Calumet Farm entry, he paid the good price of $6.70. The fans wagered on the day's program $2,229,418 and for the 30-day meeting a grand total of $39,220,321. The total attendance was 621,066. It was a great meeting.

the stables, owing to the crowded conditions at Santa Anita which opens its winter meeting on Friday, December 29.

Owners have shipped to the border course and the stables are full. John Alessio, the guiding genius of Caliente, is well pleased with the progress being made and said we will open on time.

The lovers of the sport of kings will see a new and more beautiful Caliente. The popular American tote board will be a treat for the fans. Any race can be seen from all parts of the grounds. The turf club, clubhouse and grandstand have all been changed to a scene of beauty. The new paddock is also an added attraction.

Your writer will give you the best information on Santa Anita in the next issue of the California Eagle. For live horses watch for the column "Right From the Feed Box." My clockers are on the job daily and will keep me posted on all fit horses. Get your Eagle now and keep it. In conclusion may I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a real Happy New Year.

L. A. Tennis Championships

The 33rd annual Los Angeles Metropolitan Tennis Championships will get underway on the Griffith Playground Courts, Riverside Drive at Los Feliz Boulevard, on Saturday, January 6, it was announced by the City Recreation and Park Department, Municipal Tennis Association.

Entry blanks are now available for netters planning to have a try at winning the 1951 Met-Net's men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles titles, according to Ralph Reed, sponsor of the event which will be conducted by the Los Angeles Cheviot Hills Municipal Tennis Club, who will manage the net-fest.

Singles entries must be filed with the tournament committee by 5:30 p.m. Monday, January 1. Deadline for filing doubles entries will be 5:30 p.m. Monday, January 8. Entry fees are $3 per person for singles and $4 per team in doubles, Reed reported.

BELMONT SPORTS

By Tip Bailey

CROSS COUNTY

Belmont's Allen "Koby" Bailey took a second place in the all-city meet last Thursday at UCLA. Bailey had to start last while Mesa and some of the other boys had places right on the starting line. Bailey had to pass 119 men to take second place behind Manual Mesa in a new record of 9:30.1, while Bailey 9:32.3s. If Bailey had had the same chance as Mesa the situation probably could have been entirely different, and the record broken by a farther margin. On top of all this Bailey had to run on a chipped bone, making one of the hardest bids of his young career.

The race everyone will be looking forward to, willl be the mile race between Allen Bailey and Manual Mesa this coming track season. Bailey, who is just a tenth grader, will be in there fighting for all his worth.

Garfield's strong squad swept away the team champion by shaving Huntington Park by one point. Bert Barba of the Bulldogs sparked his team's cause by taking third place. Jefferson took third, Canoga Park fourth, and North Hollywood fifth. Garfield, coached by Ed Huntz, also ran away with the Junior Varsity Title in a meet that saw another record fall. Narbannes's John Mitchell upset Morris Bennet's record of 10:24.7s with a 10:24.5s clocking.

Almost 40,000 fish have been planted in three Los Angeles City park lakes recently to provide sport for the youngsters participating in the Saturday morning fishing sessions sponsored by the City Recreation and Park Department.

Trojans Face Oklahoma A&M Tonight At Pan

Oklahoma's fabled Aggies and SC's red hot Trojans tie up in the first game of a two-night stand of big league doubleheader basketball tonight and tomorrow in the Pan Pacific auditorium.

Last season's Northern Division PCC champions, the Washington Cougars, warm up against Loyola's Lions in the second game tonight. The two local teams trade opponents and playing times tomorrow, with Loyola meeting the Aggies at 7:30 and Troy taking on Washington State at 9.

Coach Forrest Twogood's two-platoons of basketballers dashed off their fifth and sixth straight victories over San Diego State and Santa Barbara College over the past weekend.

Oklahoma A & M, year-in-and-year-out the scourge of the Missouri valley under Coach Hank Iba, swings through Los Angeles on its first western tour. The Aggie itinerary also calls for two games with Californi ain the Bay Region.

Iba's ace is all-around star Gale McArthur, advertised as the greatest one-hand shot in the land.

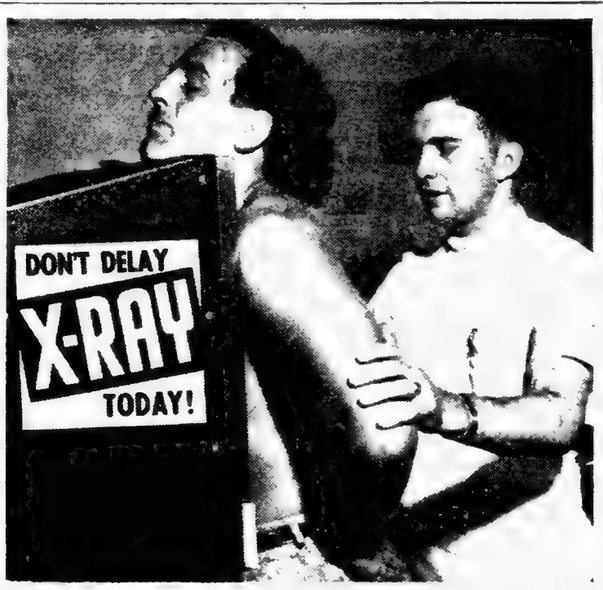
The Harlem Globetrotters Are Basketball's Greatest Road Show

Basketball's greatest road-show, the Harlem Globetrotters, in last season's 275-game tour of the United States, Canada, Europe and North Africa attracted phenomenal receipts of $3,250,000, reports the current issue of Sport Magazine.

Bouncing basketballs from opponents' heads into the hoop, shooting sitting down, riding piggy-back and on their heads, drop kicking the full length of an 80-foot court for a perfect basket, the Globetrotters razzle-dazzle has netted them 3,421 victories in 3,667 games for an almost unbelievable victory percentage of .9331

The specialty of Goose Tatum, the Trotter's ace box office attraction and the highest paid professional basketball player in history at $25,000 a year, is to dribble around his guard, using only his elbows to bounce the ball, and sink a surefire basket without once glancing at the hoop.



Now and then somebody makes the error of accusing the Trotters of overdoing the comedy. The charge is that they make a travesty of the game because its the only sure way they can win. This gets an automatic answer. Irked by a Canadian all-star team's wisecracks one night, the dusky dervishes cut out the nonesense and played it straight — for a final score of 122-20. Another time in Iowa, they turned loose Al "Runt" Pullins for 3 baskets and seven free throws. Nobody else bothered to score. Pullins' 75 points alone acounted for an easy victory.

As Trotters' manager Abe Saperstein recalls in Sport, it wasn't always ice cream and cake for his boys.

"Plenty of times, back in the old days, we staggered through three games in two days on one meal consisting of hamburgers," he says. "Poor? Why, five men had to play virtually a complete game each day. We had one sub—me, the owner."

YESTERDAY'S MEN OF IRON—Not all of gridiron immortals but a few got together to kick off the new Football Hall of Fame on NBC-TV's "We, the People" telecast recently. Joe Louis Was Ezzard Charles' Idol Says Sport Magazine

When Ezzard Charles, heavyweight champion of the world beat Joe Louis, believed by many fight fans the greatest fighter of them all, he defeated more than one of the most touted of all ring heroes, he beat a man he idolized and loved, reports the current issue of Sport Magazine.

To Charles, Joe Louis represented the gallant, beloved All-American qualities of a truly great fighting champion. The kind of a nationally famed figure Charles always daydreamed of becoming back in Lawrenceville, Georgia, where he lived as a young boy. His victory over Louis was the realization of all these dreams of becoming a champion in his own right. But, in having to bypass his boyhood hero, Charles fought a silent fight with his past ideals, as well as with Louis in the ring, for his future and the culminating triumph that brought crowning significance to his main ambition in life—heavyweight champion of the world.

In his long, arduous battle to the top, Charles met and defeated such outstanding fighters as Anto Christofordis, former light-heavyweight champion, Ken Overlin, ex-middlewight champion, Pittsburgh's Charley Burley, Joey Maxim, presently the light-heavy weight champion of the world, Jimmy Bivins, Jersey Joe Wolcott and Gus Lesnevich. Charles was only knocked out once in his career, by Lloyd Marshall, but the champion, in a return bout, returned the compliment in the sixth round of a sensational match.

When his victory over Louis was a reality, recalls Sport, when he ... had done what they said he couldn't do, Charles being a man he is, asked to tell people how it felt to be the new champion, humbly stated, "I only hope and pray that I will some day be as much a credit to boxing as the man who is now leaving the ring."

California's state and local governments had an all-time high income of just under $2 billion during fiscal 1949, California Taxpayers' association said this week.

Alma Banks and Helen Bowman from the Central area were honored this week by being named on the director's scholarship list at East Los Angeles College.

REV. L. B. BROWN, PRESIDENT of Providence Theological Seminary, extends the following Christmas message to the readers of the California Eagle and his many Christian friends and well-wishers.

"A XMAS MESSAGE"

For unto us a child is born,
Unto us a son is given
And the Government shall be upon His shoulder
And His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting
Father, The Prince of Peace.
Isa. 9:6

For unto us a child is born
unto us a son is given
In Verse 6 we see the incarnation and Government of Jesus.

Let us consider His five names. In these is all this world needs.

Note the consideration of titles.
(1) Wonderful. From any angle you look he's wonderful.
(2) In Office. Prophet Priest-King
(3)
Counselor. Legal, judicial and executive.
(4)
Mighty God.
(1) His Works
(2) His Words
(5)
Everlasting Father.
(1) This Child Born
(2) This Son Given is now Father
Prince of Peace.
(1) He was so ordained. He came.
(2) Lifting Empires from hinges

And causing the streams of [illegible]

Little did Augustus Caesar think that a child born in an obscure hamlet and whose infant wailings no doubt blended with the bleating of sheep and the lowing of kine was one day to set up a rival kingdom.

But so he did. Notice the sword of the Caesars and the Golden Rule of Jesus.

He was crucified under Tiberius Caesar and from Olivet's Summit where graviation lost its force as he ascended. Isiah the prophet saw him coming from Edom and Bozrah traveling in the greatness of his strength. David saw him as he reached the Portals and said "Lift up your head oh ye gates and be ye lifted up ye everlasting doors and let the King of Glory come in." The angels cherubic, Seraphic and archangelic made all heaven voice with all have the powers of Jesus name let angels prostrate fall.

'Christ Jesus' Topic Christmas Wk. Lesson

"Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder." This statement from Isaiah will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Bible Lesson on "Christ Jesus" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

A Scriptural selection from Luke reads: "And, behold, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon; . . . And it was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before he had seen the Lord's Christ. And he came by the Spirit into the temple: and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him after the custom of the law, then took he him up in his arms, and blessed God, and said, Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word: For mine eyes have seen thy salvation, Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people."

Mary Baker Eddy says in the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Jesus represented Christ, the true idea of God." "Christ, as the true spiritual idea, is the ideal of God now and forever, here and everywhere."

Xmas Services At Wesley

All services at Wesley Methodist Church, 52nd and Main Streets, on Sunday will emphasize Christmas. At 9 a.m. the Church School will present its annual Christmas program with Christmas tree. At the morning worship, 10:50 a.m., Dr. E. W. Rakestraw will preach from the subjet "The Message of the Manger." Appropriate Christmas music by the Chancel Cohir.

At 5 p.m. Jules Haywood, minister of music, will present the Chancel Choir in a "Christmas Fantasy." This is Mr. Haywood's first presentation of the Chancel Choir in a special musical service. The public is cordially invited to share with us the beauty and richness of this special musical hour.

At 11 p.m. Wesley will join with Phillip's Temple C. M. E. Church, 43rd and Wadsworth Street in a midnight service. Dr. E. W. Rakestraw will deliver the Christmas sermon and music will be by choirs of both churches. The service will be at Phillip's Temple.

Messiah, 1st Methodist

Dr. Norman Soreng Wright, organist-director, soloists, and the choir will give the "Messiah" December 24, at 10:45 p.m. in the church auditorium ,6817 Franklin Ave., Hollywood. Dr. Amos Addison Thornburg, minister.

Independent Cathedral Choir To Present Handel's Messiah

Christmas eve in the People's Independent Church of Christ will mark the seventh annual performance of George Frederick Handel's immortal oratorio "The Messiah."

The Cathedral Choir under the direction of Albert J. McNeil pioneered the work in this community seven years ago with the first complete performance to be presented by a choral organization in this vicinity.

Since this initial performance, the work has become so popular throughout the area that no church Christmas service is complete without an inclusion of its excerpts.

A special candlelight carol service will preceed the performance which will feature Gwendolyn Harriel, soprano; Jeanne Jackson, contralto; William Howell, tenor; and George Rigg, baritone. Fannie Evelyn Benjamin will be at the console. The presentation will be gin at 6:45 in the main sanctuary.

Radio Choir Services

Bishop L. C. Page and his famous radio choir and congregation, will conduct a special series of community meetings during the Christmas week at the true United Christian Church, 10123 South Beach Street, on the corner of 102nd Street, starting with a special Christmas service at 11 o'clock—Monday through Saturday.

Bishop Page is pastor of Evangelistic Temple Church of God in Christ, in downtown Los Angeles, and is widely known through his numerous radio programs broadcast over one of the local radio stations. Bishop Page is nationally known as one of America's outstanding evangelists, and many refer to him as the Billy Sunday of the Race. The public is invited to attend these services. Bishop C. F. Kyle is the minister in charge of the true United Christian Church.

Xmas Musical At St. Maryland Baptist Church

The civilized world is illuminated with Christmas Celebration. Preparations having been made to add to the joy of themselves and others. But in our haste of preparations and celebrations, let us stop—submerge ourselves and give thought to him and to the significance of the occasion of our commemoration. We praise God for this golden opportunity in joining with the millions throughout the world in paying homage to our Lord and Master on this Christmas Day. It is our earnest hope that these services will deepen the faith of the believers in calvary and will mean the leading of the unsaved to our Savior. On Sunday morning our Pastor, Dr. E. C. Hicks, will bring to us a special Christmas message, Subject: "God's Earth Borne Christmas Gift to the World."

The Sunday School and the Senior Choir have planned a wonderful program for you Sunday evening at 7:00. After which our pastor will bring to us another sermon, subject: "No Room for Jesus."

You are invited to attend our services at all times.

Mrs. Carrie Patterson, Reporter.

Three scholarships of $100 each for student nurses are now available, according to Dr. Ruth Memmler of East Los Angeles Junior College.

Greatest Event Is Subject Of Baha'i Lecture

"The Greatest Event in History" is the subject on which Mrs. Shirley Warde will deliver her lecture at the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles Headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, December 24th at 3:30 p.m.

Baha'i believe that Baha'u'llah is that Spirit of Truth foretold by Jesus when he said (John 16:12) "I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit, when He, the Spirit of truth is come, He will guide you into all truth."

Mrs. Grant Venerable Passes Following A Brief Illness

Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock for Mrs. Thelma Lorraine Venerable, popular and highly regarded young matron of the West side who died last Friday afternoon at the Queen of Angeles Hospital.

Her sudden death came as a shock to her family, friends and neighbors, from whom she kept the seriousness of her complaint by her pleasant smiles and never-complaining devotion to her family, which included three young children and a devoted husband. The funeral services were held in her childhood church, Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, 3046 East First Street.

Mrs. Venerable's illness became acute on the day before Thanksgiving and on the following Friday, she entered Queen of Angeles Hospital.

After six days she returned home for three days. She again went to the hospital, where she died last Friday afternoon at 2.

Mrs. Venerable was brought to Los Angeles from her native Topeka, Kansas, when she was a small child, by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Scott. She finished the public schools and completed a commercial course at Los Angeles Junior College after which she was employed in the home office of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company.

During the five years of this employment she met and married Grant D. Venerable, now in the manufacturing business.

Three children were born to the union, Delbert 8, Linda 6, and Lloyd 5. She devoted her entire life to her family, all loyal members of the Bethel AME church.

Her only other community activities were with the Alpha Phi Alpha Wives Auxiliary, Vermont school P.T.A. and the Child study Guild, of which she was a charter member.

Mrs. Venerable is survived by her immediate family, mother and father, brothers Luther, James, in Arizona and Raymond in Tulare, California. Her sister, Mrs. Erma Moore, niece Mildred and Nephew Thomas Moore and Raymond Scott live in this city. There are other relatives in California, Chicago and Detroit and many friends throughout California.

Westview Drive Costs Held To Lowest Minimum

Operating expenses in the current fund-raising campaign for the St. Augustine-Westview inter-racial hospital are being held to a Minimum, John A. Minehan, hospital board treasurer, said today.

Approved as a recognized charitable drive by the Los Angeles City Social Service department, the St. Augustine-Westview fund spends only eight per cent of its contributions for overhead, Minehan said.

"This means," he explained, "that 92 cents out of every dollar collected goes directly to the hospital building fund. Many other campaigns spend much more for promotion."

Minehan, who is vice president of the Bank of America, said there are only three paid employees in the camapign, and all funds are deposited in the Bank of America and regularly audited by a Certified Public Accountant.

St. Augustine-Westview Hospital will be built at 5334 South Main Street and will be the city's first non-profit, non- sectarian, inter-racial hospital. Postmaster Michael D. Fanning is president of the board of directors.

$32,000 Cash For Westview

With more than $32,000 pledged to date, Los Angeles Post Office employees are in the final stages of their subscription drive for the St. Augustine-Westview hospital fund.

Jesse L. Robinson, general chairman of the postal campaign, said the $40,000 goal set by employees should be reached by Christmas.

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning, chairman of the hospital's board of directors, said a similar campaign is being organized among county employees. A doctor's committee has been formed and its goal has been set at $100,000.

St. Augustine-Westview Hospital will be the city's first non-profit, non-sectarian, inter-racial hospital. It will be built at 5334 S. Main St.

Baha'i Faith Subject Is On Peace

"The Bahai Covenant" is the subject on which Mrs. Virginia Foster will deliver her lecture at the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue on Sunday afternoon, December 10, at 3:30 o'clock.

"Abdul-Baha declared that 'The continent of America is, in the eyes of the one true God, the land wherein the splendors of His light shall be revealed.'

The world is in greatest need of international peace. Until it is established mankind will not attain composure and tranquility. I pray God that these various peoples may become the means of establishing international peace and spreading the oneness of the world of humanity," said Abdul-Baha.

RAI Honors Mrs. Bass

The Russian-American Institute entertained at a novel affair last Saturday afternoon at 3335 Country Club Drive, honoring Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, who has recently returned from a trip to Europe, including the USSR.

Mrs. Bass told informally of her experiences in Europe, and especially in Russia. She told of visiting the cooperative farms, the great factories, the schools, the nurseries provided for working women, where they may leave their children while engaged in their tasks in the factories and all the other marvels in that land behind the "Iron Curtain."

She also displayed some of the gifts that had been showered upon her while in the USSR, notably a number of dolls dressed in native costume, and representing the sixteen republics in the Soviet Union.

Rheba Mucha, president of the RAI, presided at the affair.

Xmas Clearing Bureau

The Christmas Clearing Bureau conducted by Department of Social Service opened November 15, 1950. This service has been conducted for many years for organizations and individuals that provide Christmas gifts for families and may otherwise be overlooked.

The primary purpose of the Christmas Clearing Bureau is to avoid duplication in giving Christmas remembrances of whatever kind. There are few disappointments more keenly felt than that of having been overlooked at Christmastime. By the widespread use of the clearing service a more equitable distribution of gifts is assured by preventing some persons from receiving more than their share and by reaching many who otherwise would be neglected.

"THE MESSIAH"

Handel's appreciation of the pathos and grandeur of a struggling people found a most natural echo in the British political philosophy of freedom. He was an eyewitness to the historical events which established British world power, and one of the strongest of all "affections," the politico - historic-religious, reacted on him with tremendous intensity. The musician was not artistically satisfied with the sufferings and joys of private life, nor was the mystical side of religion close to his active-positive nature. His personality rests on a combination of the heroic in music, the energy of an active religion, a rational consciousness of a theism built on the harmony of the universe, and the pomp, solemnity, grandeur, and pathos of the era of absolutism.

He could not compose Masses, for he could not be mystical and humbly impersonal. His was a mighty God, whose immense power is the great motive passing through all Handel's works. This solid, strong, victorious attitude, bursting with power, confident of the security of the faithful and their advantageous relations to the Lord, grew from English Protestantism—from the unshakeable conviction that this powerful God will stand behind the faithful who are fighting for him, and will help them to realize the Kingdom of God in the model of the British Empire.

Handel took his models from the battles of Israel, but his great religious-dramatic works announcing moral virtue and fortitude, glorified England — the England fired by religious self-confidence, the bold spirit of conquest, and a firm sense of collective solidarity—a country looking back on an ancient and wide-spread culture and political mission.

And the public which spurned his operas turned avidly to his edifying colorful and massive oratorios seeing in their monumental, Biblical choruses its own triumphs, progress and recognizing in them its own religion, which is not veiled in metaphysics but can be said to occur in a visible, broad, and historic drama.

This feeling of the power and triumph of the righteous calls for an entirely different religious tone from that of the mystic who composed "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison," but must not be dismissed as it often is by deprecating remarks about its secular nature.

Indeed, the Hallelujah Chorus might be a coronation march, and the bulk of Handel's Biblical oratorios are neither liturgical nor ecclesiastic in tone. But these works are no longer oratorios in the old sense; they are no longer church compositions belonging in the nave of a cathedral—they are stageless folk dramas expressed in music. The chorus is virtually an acting personality, the hero and protagonist of the action. Everything evolves around it, for it embodies the masses of the people, the people which battles, suffers, triumphs, perishes, and is redeemed.

"The Messiah" has become the epitome of the modern oratorio. This is understandable, for it unites choruses, arias and recitatives into a great hymn and conjures up a Christianity without denominational coloring.

Sunday afternoon last in the Wilshire Methodist Church, this great oratorio "The Messiah" received a most unusual reading from first an unusual chorus, and secondly, a refreshingly youthful conductor. More than half of the chorus represented in last Sunday's performance were representatives of the Phillip's Temple CME Church, the People's Independent Church of Christ and members from the Wesley Methodist Church.

Musically this marked a precedent. The quality of choral renditions were about average. We felt, however, that the reading was a marked departure from traditional performances. The romantic nuances created in the music by the conductor and the ad libitums enjoyed by the soloists were certainly in opposition to classical tastes.

Despite these, the performance struck a new high in reciprocity of cross-town groups. We sincerely hope for more similar occasions for we feel that undoubtedly they have great value for all concerned. Richard Ellsasser was the eminent conductor. The ensemble was accompanied by an orchestra of 20 players.

EIGHTH NOTES

The New Hope Baptist Church presented the Christmas section of "The Messiah" last Sunday evening; it is gratifying to see such community consciousness of this great music.

YMCA Boys Celebrate At Big 44th Annual Pal Night Affair

The boys of the YMCA and their gals gathered in the cafeteria of Jefferson High School last Friday evening, Dec. 1, to celebrate the 44th Annual "Pal Night."

Until recently the event was called "Father and Son Banquet" but the event was changed to "Pal Night" to enable those boys without fathers to come with mothers or other relatives.

Credit is due the Y's Men Club and the Dining Car Employees, Local No. 582, for sponsoring this valuable community project.

The menu was turkey a la plenty with all the trimmings served by the faculty of John Adams Junior High School, friends of the YMCA and mothers of YMCA boys.

The program was the highlight of the evening with Atty. David William as Master of Ceremonies, assisted by Joe Harris.

Brown Pleads "Not Guilty" In County "Registration" Case

"Not guilty" was the plea of Gus Brown, an official of Furniture Workers Union, Local 576, at Judge Eldred E. Wolfard's El Monte Court last week. Brown was arraigned after Folfard, a strong supporter of Senator Nixon, overruled the demurrer filed by Brown in which he took the position that the law under which he was arrested was unconstitutional. Judge Wolfard declared the county registration law to be constitutional.

Two judges previously had declared the county registration law unconstitutional. Brown, after pleading not guilty said, "Trade unionists predicted that the law was designed for use against leaders of fighting unions. An avowed leader of the Communist Party is released, and properly so, and I am forced to stand trial. I will not retreat from my Progressive ideals under threat of a possible ninety years in jail and a ninety thousand dollar fine.

"The progressive policies I have advocated for Local 576 have secured the highest wages and best conditions for furniture workers in the entire United States. I fought against the police brutality directed against Negro and Mexican workers. Of course the bosses and their agents in and out of the labor movement are sore and would like to get rid of me a union representative.

"These hysterical times are unparalled since the days of Jefferson when the alien and sedition laws were used to try to stop the march of the American people for democracy.

"Some people have to stand up and fight today for progressive trade unionism, for civil liberties and the United States constitution. It is to the everlasting credit of those who do not bend and break under the terrific employer and government pressure. Whether they are Communists or are just called Communists they are champions of the basic rights and desires of the American people."

Quick Trial And Sentence Bring Protest

Pasadena Patrolman Nick T. Dally, who was the object of protest action over his brutal beating of Clarence Lacy recently, figured in another case Sunday night when with Officers Ernest E. Hovard and John B. Monroe, he got into a free-for-all with spectators who resented the way police were handling Bobby Mims, 20, of 510 South Monterey St., and Maurice Simpson, 19, of 893 Lincoln Ave., both in Pasadena.

In the melee, started by rough police tactics, Dally and his fellow officers were injured and later received treatment at the Emergency hospital. Dally is known as a tough cop who has short patience with Negroes.

Mims and Simpson were charged with disturbing the peace, battery and resisting arrest in Municipal court Monday and sentenced to 60 days in the city jail. Because of the nature of the case, and because of Dally's known dislike of Negroes, community leaders plan to investigate the case to determine whether or not the two youths had the benefit of legal advice before they were tried and sentenced. I is pointed out that the hasty manner in which they were tried and sentenced suggests the contrary.

Young Father Suspected Of Hold-Up Job

Unless his counsel, Atty. Curtis C. Taylor, can prove what is said to have been mistaken identity, young Stacy Seppini, 25, father of two lovely children, may be convicted for the hold-up and robbery of Pepperdine College, here, on Nov. 29.

Arraigned last Monday, Dec. 11, the accused, who was held to answer, was not permitted to take the stand by Taylor, who entered a plea of "Not Guilty."

A large sum of money was said to have been taken, but only one of three men, said to have taken part in the crime has been arrested.

Seppini was held because an official of the college, who was one of the victims, claims to have identified him. The license number of Seppini's car was thought to have corresponded with the getaway vehicle's number.

The Seppinis, Stacy and Wilma, have been living happily in their cozy home at 1322O Dern street, with their two small children. Mrs. Seppini, one of Hollywood's most talented, fascinating dansuese, was filling an important engagement in Mexico City at the time of the incident that brought accusations to her husband, so will hurry to him as soon as she can complete it.

Olympia Council PTA

Unique centerpieces, gaily wrapped gift boxes ,and a various assortment of miniature Christmas trees were on display, to members of Olympia Council PTA at the recent meeting held in the auditorium of John Muir Jr. High School.

Mrs. Curtiss Sidell, PTA president of the hostess school, extended a sincere welcome to the asembly representing twenty secondary schools of Tenth District PTA.

An overture "The Bleighride" by Anderson, was played by the school orchestra with Mrs. J. Bowlus, directing. Pledge of Allegiance was led by Ronald Shand, student body president.

Mrs. H. F. Kinnear, Legislation and Citizenship chairman for the council read the American Bill of Rights. The Girl's Glee Club sang a group of Christmas carols by Bach, with Miss S. Sheffield, directing. A reading entitled "A Christmas Story" was given by Darlene Valtz. Mrs. F. B Walker is program chairman and arranged for presentations.

Mrs C. C. Vahquist presided at the business meeting.

Council membership has reached 17,061 according to Mrs. R. Fenton Taylor, membership chairman.

Members appointed by Mrs. Wahlquist to serve on the Founders Day committee include Mrs. George Eckfeldt, Mmes. Faye Brewer, Wm Tivnen, Fred Shuey, C. S. LeCain, F. B. Walker and E. D. Gordon.

Council members voted to award one honorary life membership in February. Mrs. Fred Shuey is life membership chairman and her committee will be Mrs. Chas. Langfield, Mrs. E. J. Stphens, and Mrs. J. B. Harbuck.

Mrs. Eckfeldt announced a workshop for all local Founders Day chairmen to be held at Lafayette Jr. High school Jan. 8 at 9:30 a.m.

Olympic Council will staff the Christmas Seal booth in the Spring Arcade on Dec. 9th and 16th from 10-1 p.m. Volunteers may call Mrs. E. M. Harries, PL. 3-0856.

Mrs. F. B. Wood, Ways and Means chairman for the council and manager of Child Welfare Bureau for Tenth District PTA announced that $527 was realized by council members from the sale of tickets for the Milk Bowl Carnival held in the Coliseum Thanksgiving Day. Olympia Council was among the first six of the 27 councils within Tenth District, selling the largest number of tickets.

The topic for the day was "Youth Spiritual Guidance" with Music, Art and High School service committees featured.

Mrs. Faye Brewer, council art chairman was assisted by Mrs. Vincent Close, Home Service chairman, in the making of the Christmas decorations on display.

Luncheon was served after the meeting.

Festival Booklet

Premium List booklets for the 1951 Riverside County Fair & National Date Festival, to be held here at the colorful Indio Fairgrounds on Feb. 16-22, inclusive, are now off the presses and being distributed this week to prospective exhibitors throughout Southern California and other parts of the country.

Ed Withers Makes Look All-America

Ed Withers, 21 year old half back of the University of Wisconsin, has been selected for the 1950 LOOK All-America Football Team. The team, chosen by Grantland Rice and the Football Writers Association of America, appears in the issue of LOOK released Tuesday, Dec. 5. Because it represents the combined voting of 489 of the nation's top football writers, it is regarded as the official All America.

Convinced that "two platoon football is here perhaps to say," Look names twenty-two players, the first time that an All America has cited both a defense team and an offense team. Rice points out. It was illogical to continue to choose one team of eleven men. It made much more sense to pick an Offensive Platoon and a Defensive Platoon.

Withers, the only player to represent Wisconsin and the only Negro on the team, was named to the Defensive squad.

The two complete teams include:

Offense

End, J. Dan Eo berg, Army; Tackle, Robert Gain, Kentucky; Guard, Lewis McFadin, Texas; Center, Redmond Finney, Princeton; Guard, Robert Ward, Maryland; Tackle, James Weatherall, Oklahoma; End, Ernest Curtis, Vanderbilt; Quarterback, Robert Williams, Notre Dame; Halfback, Victor Janowicz, Ohio State; Halfback, Robert Reynolds, Nebraska; Fullback, Kyle Rote, Southern eMthodist.

Defense

End, Dorne Dibble, Michigan State; Tackle, Albert Tate, Illinois; Guard, Theodore Daffer, Tennessee; Guard, Robert Momsen, Ohio State; Tackle, Holland Donan, Princeton; End, William McColl, Stanford; Backer up, Elmer Stout, Army; Backer up, Les Richter, California; Halfback, Richard Sprague, Washington; Halfback, Edward Withers, Wisconsin; Safety, Buddy Jones, Oklahoma.

Sees Race War

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The war in Asia is not merely a fight between dictatorship and democracy. It is also a desperate struggle between those who have been robbed and scorned because of color and place of birth and those who have done the robbing, NAACP executive secretary Walter White told delegates attending the second annual convention of the International Union of Electrical Workers CIO.

The joy of the Yuletide season is being spread to the indisposed citizens of Jefferson City through Christmas greetings sent by Xi Beta chapter, Zeta Phi Beta sorority. The campus chapter of the American Red Cross made 50 bassinet sheets for the nearby reactivated Fort Leonard Wood.

Socially, the season was ushered in by the annual Christmas Semi formal dance sponsored jointly by the Ivy Leaf club of Alpha Iota Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, and the Sibinx club pledge group of Alpha Psi chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Val Verde News

Mrs. Alice Gafford entertained her art class with a Spanish dinner at her home Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Gafford teaches ceremics Monday and Wednesday and art painting Tuesday and Thursday.

The ladies were attired in their evening gowns and looked very charming. Those present were: Mrs. Blanche Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. James Barksdale, Mr. and Mrs. Rawls, Mr and Mrs. Harry Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Perdue, Mr. Roy Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Bruce.

Home Canned Goods

Housewives were told in a recent magazine article that they could earn $30 to $40 each month by canning foodstuffs and selling them to their friends or local grocers, according to Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

But Dr. Uhl said such private canneries would violate state and municipal codes, which require permits, special facilities, and numerous protective practices and devices to prevent food poisoning. He reminded grocers, and "friends," that deaths have been reported in Los Angeles from botulism victims who were given someone's extra canning.

CMF Officers Elected

The following officers were elected at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Community Medical Foundation; president, Dr. Stephen Fritchman; vice-president, Alexander M. Riskin, M.D.; treasurer, Matthew Richman; secretary, Ken Hartford; members to the Committee on Centers, Betty Gardner, Ben Leeds, Herbert Kronish, Floyd Jones, and Earl Van Sant.

It was decided that the Medical Center should care only for members of the Foundation in the future.

Temperamental Quail Actors

HOLLYWOOD—Quail and pheasants were flushed from under Faith Domergue's feet to enhance the realism of a scene in Howard Hughes' RKO Radio drama, "Vendetta." But the feathered actors got temperamental. After being flushed they flew to the sound stage rafters, and couldn't be coaxed down to their cages for more than an hour.

BUSINESS LEADERS HEAD NAACP XMAS SEAL DRIVE

As the 1950 Christmas Seal Campaign of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People gets under way, key chairmanships in the drive have been undertaken by these three of the nation's business leaders: (l. to r.) Norman O. Houston of Los Angeles, president of the National Negro Insurance Association and of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, who heads the NAACP seal campaign in the insurance industry; W. D. Morison, Jr., of Detroit, president of the National Association of Real Estate Brokers, chairman of the seal drive in the real estate field; and Horace Sudduth of Cincinnati, president of the National Negro Business League, who is directing sale of the seals in the general business field. The attractive red-and-white seals, which sell for $1.00 per hundred, may also be purchased from local NAACP branches or from the Association's national office, 20 West 40th Street, N. Y. C.

Bicycles Need New Licenses After Dec. 31

Bicycle owners were today reminded by the Los Angeles Police Department that current bicycle licenses expire December 31st. New licenses, valid until December 31, 1953, are now available at all police stations from 8:00 a.m. to midnight daily.

Los Angeles Municipal Code Section 26.01 requires that all bicycles with wheel diameter twenty inches or larger be registered and licensed. The cost for a three-year license is fifty cents.

The Police Department reports that through information received at time of registration, eighty-three percent of all licensed bicycles which are stolen are recovered and returned to their owners.

Each year hundreds of bicycles are sold at public auction by the Police Department because they are not licensed and ownership cannot be determined.

Wire to Pres. Truman

Calling for an immediate cease-fire in Korea in wires to President Truman, Trygve Lie and the President of the U.N. Security Council, Dr. Harry F. Ward, one of the initiators of the Emergency Conference on China and World Peace, warned that Gen. MacArthur's communique to the U.N. threatens full-scale war with China.

"It is unthinkable," Dr. Ward said, "that our country should go to war with 470 million people whose friendship we have so long enjoyed. This is plainly the time for an immediate cease-fire in Korea, an order which would get our boys out of the foxholes by Christmas."

"Let the U.N. now call a conference between both Korean parliaments to seek agreement concerning a united government and an independent Korea, with the U.N. acting as mediator, if needed," states the wire.

"Since there can be no just and enduring settlement of the Korean war without the participation of its neighbor, the Chinese People's Republic, we urge that this government be fully involved in the Korean settlement and seated in the UN, as provided in the Charter of the U.N."

The Emergency Conference on China and World Peace, which was held in New York in November, also adopted a resolution calling for an Armistice in Korea, the creation of conditions which will insure a settlement fair to the Korean people, the admission of the Chinese People's Republic to the UN Security Council, and the withdrawal of foreign force from Formosa.

Friends of World Peace are urged to write or wire Pres. Truman and UN General Secretary Trygve Lie embodying these demands in their requests.

"Whatever thories one favors on how the crisis came about," says the resolution, "humanity hopes and prays for a peaceful solution. Act before it is too late.

Kresge's, Washington, D. C., Serves 'Whites' Only

In Washington, D. C., the capitol of our nation, Kresge's store at 7th and E Streets, serves white customers only at its sit-down lunch counter. All other dime stores on 7th Street, so says a poster, now serve everyone seated.

The progressive forces in Washington have united to break this policy. They have issued a poster urging everyone, "Don't Buy Where You Can't Eat!" They are also asking everyone to sign a pledge card, "I pledge that I will not buy in Kresge's, 434 7th Street until all customers are served at the sit-down lunch counter." Then mail the card to Kresge's.

Washington, D. C. is the city Dr. Ralph Bunche refused to live in. Rather than do so he turned down a most lucrative job offered him by the U. S. government.

Owens, Correspondent

Rev. John H. Owens, of 1478 West 37th street has been commisioned western correspondent for the magazine "Irrigation-Engineering and Maintenance," a national magazine covering every phase of surface and groundwater irrigation, published at Port Lavaca, Texas.

Rev. Owens is a member of the Southwest Community Committee and in connection with the 35th Street Calvary Mennonite Church, donated his services in surveying and constructing a camp for underprivileged children in a beautiful canyon just above Val Verde County Park.

Rev. Owens studied civil engineering at Los Angeles City College and the University of California at Los Angeles, and was employed for a time in the Indian Irrigation Service, Dept. of the Interior, U. S. Government on irrigation work in the Coolidge and Roosevelt Dam area of Arizona. He also had ten years' practical irrigation experience in the Colorado River Irrigation area of Palo Verde Valley, California. Rev. Owens recently took some advanced studies at the Coastal Engineering Institute held at Long Beach, sponsored by the University of California and related engineering agencies.

Promoted To New Job With Golden State

Lonzie Jones has been named supervisor to head Golden State Mutual Life's field activity in the entire Southern California area, Agency officials of the firm announced this week. Mr. Jones' appointment to his new post was effective December 1 when the company's new Agency program, regionalizing its field services went into effect.

The new appointee has an excellent record in insurance management. He has been with the film since 1934 when he joined the staff as an agent. He was promoted to district manager in 1943, to assistant supervisor in 1944, and supervisor of the Los Angeles District 112 in 1946. He is also active in community work, particularly in the Boy Scouts' organization and in the YMCA where he serves on the Board of Management.

Mr. Jones' position as supervisor of the Los Angeles District 112 was taken over by Calvin Saunders, who had been assistant supervisor in the district for several months. Mr. Saunders began his work with Golden State Mutual in Fresno, California, in 1937, as a part-time agent. He quickly became a full-time representative and soon established Fresno and the nearby Bakersfield as a full-fledged district. His excellent record in the management of this combination Fresno-Bakersfield office earned him transfer and promotion to the assistantship in the Los Angeles district.

Recruits for Israel

One thousand new members to help safeguard the future of Israel's refugee mothers, youth and children is the March 1 goal of the Los Angeles Council of Pioneer Women.

Headed by Mrs. Albert E. Marks, vice president and membership chairman, the organization is now seeking the new recuits on behalf of the women and youngsters who are among the 20,000 refugees pouring into Israel each month from 60 different countries.

Council president is Mrs. Joseph Kuschner and the organization now numbers 35,000 members nationally.

PROF. HERMAN

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING THIS THE BEST CHRISTMAS YOU HAVE EVER KNOWN

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

It is well over 1900 years now since that first Christmas morn in the little town of Bethlehem, when God gave us that most wonderful gift of all, His Son, to be our Saviour.

It was then the angel chorus gave the beautiful message that we sing even to this day at Christmas time, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

As we exchange our gifts that we have for our loved ones, let us not forget the sentiment behind this day of days, for he came to bring PEACE into our hearts and GOOD WILL TO ALL MEN.

Mrs. D.D. Dear Prof. Herman: I recently sold a piece of property, but I don't feel that I got a square deal. What should I do about it?

Answer: Your lawyer should have investigated the matter thoroughly before letting you go into such a transaction. If you doubt his judgment, then I suggest your contacting someone else at once.

C.L.G. Is he telling me the truth?

Answer: It seems to me that oyu doubt his honesty quite often. You must try to overcome this habit. If you wish to be happy and enjoy your married life.

F.P. What should I do?

Answer: Probing into the matter I find that you have been under the impression that you will lose your job right after Christmas. But I feel that since you have done such a nice job, they will try to find something else for you to do, so that you can continue working there.

* * *

L.L. Dear Prof. Herman: Thank you for suggesting the book "With God All Things Are Possible" to me for a gift. I am sure the person will be as pleased with their copy as I am with mine. You are doing a nice job. Keep up the good work.

SERVICE

Service is a familiar term in all walks of life. It ranges from the menial tasks of the servant to the complicated responsibilities of the executive.

No one can escape their obligation to render good service. No matter what the line of duty may be, we all have tasks that require our courteous attention. When we fall short on small jobs and obligations, we fail to show the ability to hold or obtain large important ones. Thereby remaining in a rut indefinitely.

Try to give your best service and good-will when and where ever you are called upon to do so, and you will reap benefits a hundred fold.

E. L. Is my wife true to me?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question I find that your wife loves you dearly and if you have received the impression that she is untrue by some of her actions, dismiss these thoughts from your mind.

* * *

M. B. D. Will I be successful? Is there anything in store for me? Will I get what I expect?

ANSWER. Only one question is answered in the column due to the limited amount of space, if you will write in for a private reply, I shall be more than glad to advise you.

R. R. What is a hybrid?

ANSWER. Hybrid, is the result of a fertile cross between individuals of different species, as distinguished from the mongrel, which is the result of the crossing of distinct varieties.

M. L. Will this person be home soon?

ANSWER. It seems that the young man you have in mind is in the service but, intends to come home in the very near future. When he does, you will get a chance to talk over many things that you both are a little vague about.

B. L. P. Should I make a change?

ANSWER. According to your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet, a change would really prove beneficial to you. Because of your recent bereavement, you need to get away from those surroundings and meet new people and try and put the past experience as much out of your thoughts as you can.

Mrs. L. L. WHAT can I do to help my condition?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you have been ill for quite sometime and are wondering if there might be something else you could do to aid your condition. My suggestion to you would be to consult a specialist at your earliest convenience.

Drunk Driving

Last year, National Safety Council figures show that one out of every six drivers involved in fatal accidents had been drinking. That means at least 5000 acidents in which at least one person was killed.

This year the Los Angeles Police Department, the State Highway Patrol and the Sheriff's Office will be out in force to prevent a repetition of the 1945 Yuletide debacle when 11 persons were killed and 88 tickets given for drunk driving in Los Angeles alone and commensurate percentage throughout the country.

THE EAGLE'S NEST

TO ENCOURAGE YOUNG WRITERS

Dedicated to JOHN KINLOCH who gave his life fighting for democracy.

WE BELIEVE THAT NOW MORE THAN EVER ALL YOUNG WRITERS MUST BE ENCOURAGED—AND HELP BUILD OUR PEOPLE'S CULTURE TO ENCOURAGE THEM, WE WILL DEVOTE A FULL PAGE IN EACH ISSUE OF THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE FOR PUBLISHING THEIR WORKS.

COME YE WRITERS! SEND US YOUR ESSAYS, ARTICLES, POEMS, STORIES, SKETCHES—WHATEVER YOU FEEL YOU MUST SAY. KEEP THEM UNDER 1000 WORDS. SEND THEM TO THE EAGLE'S NEST, c/o CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 1065 EAST 41ST STREET, LOS ANGELES.

The elder statesman of our community are tortured with the thought of bad manners on Central Avenue.

And with characteristic multitude they have decided to do something about it. Just what they don't know at the current writing. But one things is clear: it is going to be psychological like hell.

There is some shuffling of feet, some curious hesitating about bringing forth the program for teaching the residents of Little Tokyo how to say "Thank you," and "Would you be so kind as to pass the caviar?" S'il vous plait.

In the first place there is the matter of method.

What are we reformers of the Great Migration to say, and where shall we say it?

Shall we stand on the corner of First and San Pedro offering the motley throng free copies of Emily Post? Shall we hoist ourselves aboard a soap box at Vermont and Central and expound upon the horrors of profanity and red shoes?

Oh, shall we contribute scintillating articles to the Los Angeles Times depicting the pristine delights of a well modulated speaking voice?

These are some questions to try men's souls.

Another thing. We reformers are so easily misunderstood.

It is irreverently intimated among the rabble that the campaign for nice manners in Little Tokyo is a reactionary device aimed at preventing mobilization of the people for a struggle to obtain adequate housing. It is even whispered that a battle against the fascist race-baiters of the property restriction racket ought to merit priority over the dissemination of propaganda for sticking out one's pinkey while dunking.

[illegible] is head [illegible] Los Angeles Railway [illegible]

Negro hiring policy at the same time.

To demand that the railway company cease its sabotage of Los Angeles' war-time transportation through the immediate upgrading of Negro workers, their employment as conductors and motormen, requires a couple of things:

1. One must tell the railway company off.

2. One must rouse the fighting spirit of our people. And here's where the whole deal gets difficult.

How can we REALLY demand upgrading and employment of Negro workers on L. A. Ry. lines when we are in substatnial agreement that our folks are a pretty unsavory lot urgently in need of a course in graceful living?

On the other hand, how can we mold a militant rank and file Negro community to fight for its right to full employment and upgrading on the transportation lines of this great city and at the same time lecture it on the pitfalls of draped pants? What sort of speech could we make?

"Brothers, let us unite to smash the Hitlerite policy of the Los Angeles Railway Company, a boulder in the path of our country's unity and a defy to the executive order of our President! Let us join in the struggle for democracy and first class citizenship! Let us march forward to victory and freedom . . . and brothers, let us clean our teeth twice before retiring."

It is like pointing in two directions at once. We cannot talk to a person as a man in one breath and as a child in the next. The changes are [illegible] bet us in our bridgework for the nerve of it.

One of the big men has got [illegible]. We're not [illegible] for the native fascists [illegible] cannot ward off the attacks of the Fifth Column against our civil rights as American citizens and at the same time spend our energies in lectures on clean living.

Our souls are tossed in agony because the new residents from down yonder walk hard and talk loud, and have chips on their shoulders. But what did Pearl Buck tell us?

She said: "Whenever I find a man with a chip on his shoulder, I think he should first be fed, then a decent place must be found for him to live, and a fine school for his children. Then I will worry about the chip on his shoulder. And I think perhaps it will be gone.

Now HERE is an idea!

Suppose we first join forces with every democratic element in our city to destroy the system of race property restrictions. Then let us secure exposure and imprisonment of all fascist spokesmen in the city drumming up race hate. AFTER THIS, let us be quite sure that absolute equality of opportunity exists in all industries; that Negroes are upgraded along with all citizens, on the basis of qualification.

If we fine unstanding, well-mannered, pure and unadulterated college-educated solid citizens learn how to fight for the rights of the people day after day with no deviation and no compromise with no flirtation in the direction of ole James Crow with vigor and courage and all our energies devoted to the struggle for freedom, I think maybe we can let the people discover for themselves the horror of chewing gum in public.

Can't we?

THE THINGS WE FIGHT FOR (A Dramatic Poem)

By Mary Wilkerson Cleaves

Narrator: Music beginning and building up to climax:

What does a man fight for—
What does he hope to gain
When he drops his peaceful habits
To tread thru mud and rain
To face the whine of bullets
And see above his head
The darting, diving monsters,
And at his feet—the dead?

(Music with violins)

Well, peace is what he hopes for—
Deep in his heart he prays
The dove will light his travel,
Prosperity, his ways.

(Music quicker and confused)

But now the war is over,
And he is home again!
Once more he walks down city streets.
And talks with other men.

(Music fades and voices in background rising and falling)

1st voice:
Well, Sam, old boy, how goes it?

2nd voice:
Not so bad. I've got a job, so I guess I can't complain. Of course, we're still living with Ma's folks because nobody wants to rent to a couple with kids. I don't suppose it will be long before those houses for vets will be available. (Starts to fade) Guess we can wait that long.

Narrator:
New houses, wages, jobs and schools—
The things he battled for—
He now demands of congressmen
Who shape and wield the law.

But now the war is over,
And promises forgot

VOICE: Pompous:
Why men, you surely can't believe
We really meant that rot!

Narrator:
And money spent for battle ships
Cannot be spent for food
For children who must suffer
If they would attend a school.

2nd voice: Pleading:
Please, Mummy, do I have to go?

Woman's voice:
Yes, but Mummy will try to get [illegible] enough to have [illegible] hot and ready [illegible]

But Mummy, I got so homesick [illegible] When can I have [illegible] as I used to before Dad went to war? Music beginning softly and swelling:
Didn't you say he was fighting so we wouldn't be hungry like the little children in Europe?

VOICE: 60 million jobs in our objective, 60 million chances that American men and women may build strong foundations for the dream of Democracy.

Pompous Voice:
Good jobs? What, my simple friend.
You surely can't believe
That Government should bear your load
And that you should receive

Largess from out the People's store
In truth, plain charity—

Voice breaking in:
Ah, so you say the tune is changed
Now that the world is free?

Pompous Voice:
Well, surely you can reason—
In Wartime one must say
Those idealistic phrases
To get things on the way

Tapering:
Why don't you see that in the War
We had to get the goods
Or else my boys quite likely
Would lie in some Belleau Woods?

And even if it meant we had
To have F.E.P.C.
Well, we could stand a Jew or Kike
Long enough to be free.

Voice:
Sorry, no vacancies

Man's voice (desperately). But sign says—

Voice: (breaking in). I told you no vacancies! After all, the War is over and we don't have to hire people we don't want. This is a Democracy!

Narrator:

Of course now that it's over
The things we fight for .. Gal 2
And the ghost of Hitler lain,
It's easy to forget the boys
Who faced the mud and rain.

(Music angry)

It's easy to forget the price
These black boys, white boys,
Jew
Laid down upon the altar
Of peace for me and you.

So easy to forget the hours
They spent in fear and dread,
So easy to forget our pain
When reading of our dead

On Leyte, Saipan, Tarawa
And Normandy's beaches red;
So easy now that Peace is come
To forget the tears we shed—

(With emphasis)
The hypocritical, walrus tears,
Defaming those who fought
For Freedom and Democracy.
And thus, our Freedom bought.

Awake, America, Awake—
Before it is too late
To make use of Thy heritage
To fight mean fear and hate!
(Music swells, ending with last words of Narrator). (Then Music soft again, building half high to end).

What does a man fight for?
I only know of these—
A home, a job, some pleasure,
The children at his knees.
A chance to do his duty,
To be an honest man:
These are the things he fights for:
These are the most he can!

The Third Side

By Harris M. Ring

A Ticklish Question

(United Press reports poll which reveals 94% of Ohio State University coeds sleep nude; 16% Teddy Bears.)

What sweet maid are your hairs nocturnal?
In slumber what are you likely to wear?
Are you quite bare of vesments diurnal?
Are you protected by only a Bear?

A chemist has announced that he has detected 73 different chemicals in an analysis of Los Angeles' smog. When one goes outdoors these days he really has to face the elements.

When Will the Pall Peter Out?
If it isn't the smog
Then it's the fog

The National Planning Administration has banned the construction of bars under amusement and recreational facilities. This is not as hopeless as it looks at first. Perhaps beer can be listed under therapeutic and medicinal establishments.

Atmosphere

[illegible] for magic:
One part smoke, one part fog
Cough, cough, cough! L.A.'s smog!
One part mock, one part shrug:
Boo hoo, hoo! L.A.'s smug?

A girl I know, name of Donna, is starry-eyed with theatrical ambitions. The other night at a Chinese restaurant she was served three rice tea cakes. She broke them open, took out the three slips and read her fortune:

"No one shall mar your happy future."

"Your future is in the theater."

"You will make a profit soon."

She's set.

Tother day I was reading Gus Arriola's amusing (?) "Gordo" in the Daily News. Is it really the accepted practice among primary grade school teachers (female) in Mexican hamlets to wear their blouses open down to the waist, revealing a goodly portion of the superstructure? Or is this a figment of the imagination like everything else in that amusing (?) comic (?) strip?

Lincoln U. Choir in 'Childhood of Christ'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Prior to and in anticipation of a twelve-day vacation beginning at 5 p.m. Wednesday, December 20 students and faculty of Lincoln University (Missouri) engaged in various activities representative of the season.

Highlighting the activities was the presentation of "The Childhood of Christ" by the 92-voice choir directed by Dr. O. Anderson Fuller.

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

Jody Clark, Guest Columnist

Hi, everybody. I'm back again. Barbara rushed me so last week I couldn't even finish. Reynold really has her excited. I guess everybody knows that "You are cordially invited to attend the pre-New Year's Ball given by the Les Tres Jollies social club at the Parkview Manor, 2200 W. Seventh. If you get your bids at the dor, the price is $1.25 per couple, 85 cents stag. But if you buy them from members the price is $1 couple and 65 cents stag. In case you're interested in buying yours from a member, call AD. 1-9658. Huh, boys, that's Alice Estes' phone number. . . . I hear that Earl Anderza will be in town next week to celebrate Christmas with his family. Hope that's true . . . I finally had the honor of seeing Cpl. William Reed. He sure looked nice in his uniform. He thought so, too. . . . Gilford Dumas has gone back to his ole flame, Audrey Butler. Now that sounds great!

Lover Man

I think I have a sweet one this week. His name is Leroy Teddy and he weighs about 165 lbs. (much man huh?) a perfect height of 5'10. (two more inches would do it) olive complexion, brown penetrating eyes (that's the way his girl friend describes them). Oh, didn't I tell you he's the one who belongs to Miss Ora Williams?

Norma Jones had a [illegible] together last week and a few of the Mr. Fines were Winnie Wade Cummings, Leroy Jones, Billy can't think of the other name now for the life of me and Bubbles. Leemetah Scouts Officers for the fall term of the Leemetah Girl Scouts were elected recently. They are: Faith C. Baldwin, president; Barbara Wace, vice-president; Theresa Brady, secretary; and Verlene Arnold, treasurer.

A party for sub-debs was held the second week in November, with a Spanish supper prepared by the girls, closing the evening. The Leemetahs were the guests of the Delphines at the Seascout Regional Rendezvous and Regatta at the Marine Stadium in Long Beach.

Adults Request Classes

Due to earnest and enthusiastic requests for health, nutrition and diet, and psychology classes, the Supervisor of Adult Education for the Los Angeles City Schools Mr. E. Manfred Evans, consented to grant two extra weeks of classes in the schools which desired a shorter holiday vacation period.

The schools conducting classes until December 15 were Los Angeles, Van Nuys, San Pedro, North Hollywood, Venice, Fairfax, South Gate, Franklin and University.

All fifteen schools plan to offer the remaining twenty weeks revolving program January 8.

Dr. Ainley In Lecture At Roosevelt Hi

A series of five meetings on the subject of Health Problems is being planned at the Roosevelt Evening High School, 450 South Pickett Street, with the nationally known Dr. George W. Ainley as the discussion leader.

Dr. Ainley is very popular as a speaker and is a nationally known lecturer on gerontology. He has served as Colonel, U. S. Medical Corps Reserves and is a member of the Los Angeles County Medical Association. Dr. Ainley is author of scientific articles for medical and popular magazines and is a member of the Policy Committee of American Geriatrics Society.

SCSMH Meets

Three controversial subjects before parents and the medical profession were presented by the Southern California Society for Mental Hygiene on Wednesday night, December 13 at the Virgil Junior High School.

Under the title "Mental Health in Pregnancy and Childbirth," Dr. Earle M. Marsh, prominent San Francisco obstetrician, discussed prenatal education, natural childbirth, and rooming-in.

Budget Helper Recipes

By BETTY BARCLAY

Those who have experienced a World War or two, know only too well what a "Budget Helper Recipe" is.

For the younger woman who for the first time hears war drums in the distance, may I say that such a recipe shows the housewife how to make excellent dishes from cheaper cuts of meat, or by using smaller quantities of expensive foods. It's a recipe that helps relieve an over-taxed budget.

Be prepared for an emergency even though one never comes. Start a file of "thrifty" recipes. Most of us find it necessary to economize occasionally, even during a period of plenty — and such recipes are excellent assistants.

Here are a couple to start your file. Note how Lea & Perrins Sauce is used to give a zestful flavor. This sauce, by the way, should be on hand at all times, for meats, fish, soups and vegetables.

Chipped Beef in Savory Sauce
(They'll ask for this again)

1 tablespoon butter
½ lb. chipped beef, shredded
½ teaspoon mustard
2 tablespoons flour
¾ cup milk
¼ cup cream
2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce

Put butter in frying pan and when hot, add beef. Stir until it frizzles crisp. Add mustard and flour. When mixed, add the milk, stirring until smooth and thick. Add cream and Worcestershire Sauce. When well blended, pour into patty shells or croustades. Garnish with parsley. Serves 4. Chopped tongue may be used in place of beef.

Fish Fritters
(Welcome Friday or any day)

2 cups cooked fish
2 eggs
3 tablespoons flour
Salt
1 tablespoon onion juice
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce

Free the fish from skin and bone and mash to a paste. Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon colored and add to them the flour, salt, onion and parsley. Stir in the fish and the Worcestershire Sauce and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Fry spoonfuls of this mixture in hot fat, (360-400° F.).

Gems of Thought

RELIGION

If your eye is on the eternal, you intellect will grow, and your opinions and actions will have a beauty which no learning or combined advantages of other men can rival.—Emerson.

We must make men realize that there is a God, that they are in His presence and His power. The more we make men feel that God is in the world ,the more justice and righteousness there will be.—George A. Gordon.

The truth is the centre of all religion. It commands sure entrance into the real of Love.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Every sincere wish and prayer for goodness, every earnest attempt to fulfill difficult duty, is sure to help on our spiritual progress.

—James Freeman Clarke.

The rest of Christ is not that o ftorpor, but of harmony. It is not refusing the struggle, but conquering in it; not resting from duty, but finding rest in duty.—F. W. Robertson.

TO FIGHT ALIEN LAND LAW

One of the most far reaching decisions involving post World War II, looms here at the beginning of the New Year, when arguments attacking the validity and constitutionality of the outmoded "Alien Land Exclusion law" begin in the local courts. The case has attracted nationwide interest.

California's 37-year-old forbidding ownership of land by alien Japanese will come under another of the attacks that have marked their long history when the state supreme court on January 2, hears arguments in the famed Masaoka case.

One of the attorneys who will urge that the court overthrow the legislation will be Loren Miller, West Coast attorney for the NAACP.

Five World War II veteran sons of Mrs. Haruye Masaoka bought a lot in Pasadena and put title in their mother's name, who was born in Japan but has lived in the United States for the past 45 years. Since she is defined as an "alien ineligible to citizenship" the state claims that title to the property must be forfeited to it under terms of the Alien Land Law, as amended in 1923. In order to prevent that the sons filed a suit in the local superior courts to forestall the state's action.

Testimony admitted by Judge Thurmond Clarke at the trial last March 13, showed that Mrs. Masaoka had no income except a $60.00 per month pension accruing to her by reason of the death of her other son, Ben, in combat in World War II.

In a precedent making decision, Judge Clarke held that "the Alien Land Law is directed against persons of Japanese ancestry solely because of race. Racial discrimination has been uniformly condemned by the Supreme Court. . . . It is clear that state legislation which seeks to impair the constitutionally protected civil right to acquire, own and enjoy real property violates the Fourteenth Amendment."

Basing his position on a construction given the Fourteenth Amendment in the Race Restriction cases, the judge held that "the Alien Land Law of California is unconstitutional" and held that Mrs. Masaoka's title was good.

At almost the same time that Judge Clarke was handing down his decision, the District Court of Appeals held in a similar case that the Alien Land Law was invalid because it violated treaty provisions of the United Nations Charter and that case too will be argued on January 2.

Vigorous opposition to the views entertained by Judge Clarke and the District Court of Appeals is voiced in briefs filed by Attorney General Fred Howser and Assistant Attorney General Everett Matoon who claim that the law has been validated by 1923 decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

Mr. Matoon is expected to argue the case for the state.

In their briefs, attorneys for the Masaokas argue that the history of the Alien Land Law shows that it was aimed at Orientals for purely racial reasons and

Interlocutory Decree Granted In Mabel Prince Divorce Case

With a faint smile of relief lighting up her long saddened but pretty features, Mrs. Mabel Prince received from the hands of her counsel Atty. Curtis C. Taylor Dec. 23, legal papers that were to her a cherished Christmas present.

The papers were the interlocutory decree of divorce for Mrs. Prince, from her nationally famous musician husband, Peppy Prince.

This has been one of the most closely observed divorce cases of the year because of the prominence, and popularity of both the band man, and his shapely, attractive young wife.

Twice since she first filed a year ago, action had been held up at his request, the last time in July, when a process server caught him during an engagement at Oklahoma City.

But in this last episode, Mrs. Prince was determined to accept no further delays, declaring that possibility of future happiness between them would be impossible.

Holding to the original complaints she had listed with Taylor, she had charged mental cruelty, neglect through long absences, sometimes to foreign lands, lack of proper consideration for her happiness or her feelings, and general incompatability.

So eager was she to obtain her complete freedom, that she made no demands that in any manner would delay the action that came the Friday before Christmas.

"Well, I tried to make it a go," she told reporters.

Resume Of 1950 Events

The following is a resume of some of the leading events of 1950 as gleaned from the headlines of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE. It is given with the wish that the New Year, 1951, will be a happy year in the very sense of the word.

Jan. 12—Dr. E. I. Robinson installed as the new president of the L. A. Branch of NAACP.

Jan. 12—Anderson M. Lark, 1350 E. 115th St. attacked by police on way home.

Feb. 6—Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor Second Baptist Church, leaves for Africa as head of a commission to study conditions there.

Feb. 7—Veteran Actor Billy McLain burned to death in trailer home.

Feb. 12—National History Week. Officers NAACP Youth Council broadcast.

Feb. 13—Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, elected as a delegate to the Peace Conference sponsored by the Women of Asia, was refused a visa.

Feb. 11—Paul Robeson presented with a plaque by group of N. Y. citizens as "outstanding fighter for civil rights."

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

If the Negro has not established his loyalty to the satisfaction of President Truman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, General Eisenhower, General MacArthur, and the other rulers of the people's destiny, I for one would like someone, for instance Mrs. Roosevelt or that master mind, Drew Pearson, or even that one President Truman described as "guttersniper" Westbrook Pegler, to suggest something that would convince our white world and some of our Negro leaders that we, the Negro people, established our loyalty in the Boston Massacre when Crispus Attucks led the fight for freedom in this nation.

And later we signed that declaration of loyalty in blood, at the battle of Bunker Hill when Peter Salem pierced the British general with a bayonet and turned the tide of battle.

From that day when Attucks at the head of what today, no doubt, would be described as a mob of subversives, gave his life on Boston Commons in the fight against British tyranny, the American Negro has given outstanding leadership in every national crisis.

Even in the fight to rid the nation of disgraceful human slavery, when the courageous abolitionists John Brown, Lovejoy, Sumner, and others, failed to find a means for the abolition of slavery which they considered not only a sin but also a bad economic investment—out of the abyss of slavery itself rode a bronze knight, Frederick Douglass.

He rallied the forces in the fight against slavery, and they took on new life. With his newspaper, The North Star, Douglass wrote editorials that provoked the anger of those who were determined to hold the African slaves in bondage.

But Douglass's trenchant pen reached deeper into the hearts and minds of others who believed that freedom was every man's right.

Not only did Douglass use his newspaper against the viscious practice of slavery, he easily became the leading orator of his time. He was not afraid of even those who tried to take his life. In churches, in halls, on street corners, he bitterly attacked the slave evil.

At one time his friends smuggled him to England for safety. But his every blow against the evil practice of slavery was felt, and it surely died.

The fight for freedom at this time is more widespread than it was in Douglass's day. Today the battle front for freedom is found in the person of Paul Robeson, lone black man among some sixteen or seventeen million others, who has sacrificed a career that netted him thousands of dollars weekly to lead the struggle for freedom for his —the Negro people.

In neither word nor deed has Paul Robeson been disloyal to his government. Like Douglass, who believed Berman Back On Air Daily, KWKW at 5 P.M.

L.A. Radio Committee Restores Progressive Radio Commentator

Averill Berman, only pro-labor radio commentator heard daily in the nation, is back on the air.

Through efforts of union rank and filers and officials, which were coordinated by the Los Angeles Radio Committee, Berman can be heard Monday through Friday at 5 p.m. over Station KWKW (1300 on the dial).

Berman's air time had been cancelled by Thelma Kirschner, manager of Station KGFJ where the commentator had been heard for three and a half years, without giving a reason.

A city-wide protest from the estimated quarter of a million listeners flooded the radio station with phone calls and letters. Copies of protests were sent to the Federal Communication Commission in Washington, and are being acknowledged.

Through its attorney, Dick Rycoff, the Los Angeles Radio Committee has asked the FCC to revoke KGFJ's license to broadcast in the basis that cancellation of the widely-heard program was not in the public interest.

It is thought possible that the FCC will schedule a hearing in Los Angeles to determine whether or not KGFJ's license should be revoked.

Jackie Clack Reports On Peace Meeting

Mrs. Jackie Clack, delegate from Los Angeles to the Peace Congress held in Warsaw, Poland gave a report of the Congress and of her trip at a meeting held in the interests of peace in the Embassy auditorium last Friday evening.

Mrs. Clack, with a delicious sense of humor, described the transfer from Sheffield, England, where the Congress was scheduled to have been held, to Warsaw.

"They didn't seem to want too much peace in England, so the dove of peace flew to Poland," she remarked.

The people of England, however, she pointed out, as the people everywhere, want peace. It is only the governments which want war.

Mrs. Clack also had the wonderful opportunity of visiting the USSR, together with other delegates to the conference, where they were treated royally, and where they visited many of the big industrial plants, the cooperative farms, the schools ,etc.

"When we speak so glowingly of Russia," she said, "it is not that we do not love America. It is just because we want to arouse the people of America to a realization of what we can have here, too, if we are willing to work for it. We want to make America better."

Cafe Settles Jim Crow Damage Suit Out of Court

Stamping himself as a true American, and giving an object lesson to other business places against the folly of racial prejudice, the owner of a cafe last week waived formal hearing of a damage suit and settled liberally with a colored complaintant.

Isaac Walker, 1213 E. 88th St., had on Nov. 3, been refused service at the Cozy Corner Bar, 10897 Venice Blvd., and had engaged Atty. Curtis C. Taylor to file a suit for damages under the state law. When he and a friend inquired the reason, they were told, said the complaint, "It's our business why we don't serve Negroes." Suit was immediately filed, and arrangements made to press the charges.

But meanwhile, Andrew Grabiski, then half owner of the place and who had not been present at the time of the incident, took drastic action.

He bought out his partner, then as sole owner informed both the plaintiff and counsel, that he would gladly settle, without waiting for a date to be set in court. A sizeable amount was agreed upon, much above the legal minimum of $100 and paid to Walker.

Mr. Grabinski also made liberal settlement of the counsel's fees, and all attendant costs.

He now declares: "There will be no more discrimination at my bar. I want all to know that everyone is welcome. If we are to preach democracy, we must practice it, and everyone is welcome here, regardless of nationality," he concluded.

SF Co. AMA Refuses to Censor Physician

SAN FRANCISCO—Dr. Allen T. Hinman, secretary-treasurer of the San Francisco County Medical Society, informed the regional office of the NAACP last week that there was no violation of medical ethics in the act of a San Francisco doctor refusing to treat a Negro child solely because of the child's race.

The Society had been requested by the staff of the Regional NAACP office to advise what action would be taken upon submission of such a discrimination practice by one of the Society's members.

In his reply to the NAACP request Dr. Hinman stated, "This Society could no more attempt to dictate to a member as to which patients he should or should not treat than it could instruct him as to which medical specialty he should confine his practice."

In commenting upon this reply, Mr. Williams said, "Such a statement is ridiculous. Nobody has asked the Society to dictate to its members. However, a doctor's refusal to treat a patient solely because of his race is a clear violation of the Hypocratic Oath. For such a violation the Medical Society should severely censor the doctor involved."

Harisiades' Case, Jan 4

The appeal in the case of Peter Harisiades will be argued before the United States Court of Appeals on January 4. Originally scheduled for December 15,

Famed Singer, Speaker Asks Return of Passport

Paul Robeson, internationally known singer and spokesman for the Negro people of the United States and the world, has brought civil action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, against Dean G. Acheson as an individual and as Secretary of State for his "arbitrary, unreasonable, illegal and unconstitutional" action in cancelling Robeson's passport and refusing to allow him to leave the country.

Robeson asks the court to render a declaratory judgement that Acheson has no right or authority to cancel his passport, to demand it's surrender or to prevent the singer from traveling abroad.

The court is also asked to order Acheson to revoke the cancellation of Robeson's passport and to cease and desist from any acts having the object of preventing him from leaving the U.S.

The complaint filed by Robeson's attorneys points out that he has been granted passports since 1922, and that his present passport, which he has refused to surrender, is valid until Jan. 5, 1951.

"Plaintiff, in addition to his profession as an artist, for many years has been active as a speaker, organizer and participant in political and other activities looking toward the advancement of the welfare of the American people particularly of the 15,000,000 Negro Americans, and other minorities of working men and women; the welfare and in-

Los Angeles WAC On Assignment In Germany

KITZINGEN, Germany — Pfc. Delma C. City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. London City, 1332 Crusado Lane, Los Angeles, Calif., arrived in Germany last week and was assigned duty at the Kitzingen Training Center. She joined the 7871st Training and Education Group Group WAC Detachment.

City, a former student of Fresno State College, Fresno, Calif., began her service with the WAC in April, 1949. Prior to her overseas assignment she completed the clerk-typist course in the Adjutant General's School at Fort Lee, Va.

CRC Atty. Patterson Goes On Trial for Freedom, Jan. 10

NEW YORK—William L. Patterson, veteran of scores of courtroom battles on behalf of Negro frame-up victims of white supremacy, is slated to go on trial for his own freedom Jan. 10.

The prominent Negro attorney, who is national executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, faces a "contempt of Congress" charge in Federal District Court in Washington, D. C., on that date. The indictment, to which the defendant pleaded "not guilty" on Dec. 1, grew out of the now infamous hearing before the House Committee on Lobbying Activities last August, at which a Georgia Dixiecrat profanely insulted U. S. Negro citizens.

It was at this stormy session that Patterson was threatened with physical violence and called a "G—— d—— black son of a b——!" by Phi Beta Kappa, Harvard educated, Rep. Henderson Lovelace Lanham (D., Ga.). The vile racial epithet was hurled at the witness when the Dixiecrat blew up at Patterson's refusal to "uncle Tom."

Immediately after guards restrained the congressman from slugging the civil rights lawyer who calmly kept his seat throughout the flurry, the hearing was adjourned. Two Dixiecrats and one Republican sat in on the hearing, during which

World Peace Still Possible-Bunche

NEW YORK, N. Y. — We can have peace in our time, declares Ralph Bunche, 1950 Nobel Peace Prize winner, in an article released in Look magazine this week.

We can have peace when the peoples of the world are willing to work and pay and sacrifice for it, Bunche continues. "All the nations must mobilize their peoples for peace, as they would for war, by welding into an irrestible force the will that there shall be peace."

"Indeed, if the peace is lost through our complacency, our lack of awareness and determined effort," warns the Look article, "the blame would be shared by all of us—peoples and governments whose intentions were sincerely peaceful as well as by those whose aggressive actions provoked war."

Discrimination Against Negro GI's in Kitzingen, Germany, Says NAACP

SAN FRANCISCO — Dishonorable discharges are being issued to Negro servicemen for minor offenses in Kitzingen, Germany, was charged last week by Franklin H. Williams, regional director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The NAACP officer stated that when a Negro Major and his wife first arrived at the army post in Germany they were instructed by Colonel Bigelow's office in command at Kitzinger, to move into the home they now occupy. As they were in the process of doing so, all of the furniture, and curtains were removed from the house and replaced by inferior things. On the following day, the Negro major was called to Bigelow's office, ordered to stand at attention and for one hour was abused, humiliated and threatened by the white Colonel Bigelow. The colonel told the Negro major that if he had

Oakland CC Tables Housing Controls

There are 14,168 "substandard" (meaning slum dwellings) in Oakland (West Oakland mainly, where the majority of the Negro population of the East Bay live).

Private, indoor flush-toilets are unknown in 10,938 Oakland dwellings.

10,938 homes in Oakland do not have their own private shower or tub.

Of the 14,168 slum houses 2,876 lack hot and cold running water.

These shocking housing conditions which every West Oakland Negro has known about for years, many by actually being compelled to live under these conditions because of the housing shortage, were given in statistical form by a press release issued by the Public Housing administrator on November 3, 1950, on the basis of information obtained by 1950 Census takers.

Despite this vile situation the all-white Oakland City Council refused to allow Negro and white representatives of West Oakland and Alameda County organizations and unions to speak out against the Oakland slums and for continued rent control at the meeting of the Oakland City Council on December 14, 1950.

Despite the fact that the Oakland City Council had scheduled a public hearing on rent control on the 14th, despite the fact that the speakers had been notified by mail that they would be heard, and despite the fact that the speakers had come to the Council chambers in a driving rain, the Council tabled local action on control ont he grounds that Congress had adequately taken care of the matter by extending the present law to March 31, 1950.

City elections will be held in Oakland on April 17, 1951. City Councilmen will be selected in the First, Third, Fifth, and Seventh Districts plus one councilman at large.

The Independent Progressive Party of Alameda County will participate in the city elections with every resource it can muster and will campaign, among other things, for Negro representation on the City Council, continued rent control, low-cost housing, and for a local Fair Employment Practices ordinance.

● Robeson Sues

dependence of colonial people, no matter what their race, creed or color; and the advancement and preservation of peace in the world," the complaint reads.

"Plaintiff has a national and international reputation as a spokesman for large sections of the Negro people, for other minorities, and for the working men and women of the United States; and is particularly recognized as an opponent of all forms of discrimination based on race, creed or color."

Acheson's action in cancelling Robeson's passport prevented the artist from fulfilling singing engagements in Scandinavia, Italy and the British Isles; as well as several speaking engagements in other European countries.

Robeson's right to travel freely and his rights of freedom of speech, thought, assembly, petition and association are guaranteed to him, as to any other American citizen, under the First and Fifth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

Action of cancellation of the passport and of steps taken to prevent Robeson from going abroad without a passport are violations of Articles I and III of the Constitution and of the Ninth and Tenth Amendments.

The complaint charges that Acheson's action was motivated because he "does not approve or agree with the plaintiff's political thoughts, views and opinions" and that Acheson was influenced because Robeson "is a Negro and is a generally acknowledged spokesman for large sections of the Negro people, both in the United States and elsewhere . . ."

The reason given by the State Department at the time of cancellation was that "The action was taken because the Department considers that Paul Robeson's travels abroad at this time would be contrary to the best interests of the United States."

Acheson also violated Article 13, paragraph 2 of the Charter of the United Nations, which provides:

"Everyone has the right to leave any country, including his own, and to return to his country."

The complaint was filed Dec. 19. Acheson has 20 days in which to reply after which the case will be set for trial.

● Patterson Trial

acting committee chairman demanded that Patterson turn over the records of the CRC. Patterson's flat refusal to do so angered the Georgian.

REFUSES TO BE PARTY TO LYNCHING

The formal charge against Patterson in the contempt indictment is that he refused to hand over the names of the contributors to the Civil Rights Congress. Mr. Patterson refused, he told reports later, because he himself would not be a party to lynching.

Commenting on the "contempt" indictment, Patterson stated this week, "Lanham stands in contempt of 17 million Negro Americans. The committee's real chairman graciously stepped aside to let Lanham, an expert on lynching, conduct his terrorisitic attack on a Negro witness."

As the trial date approached, support from all sections of the country rallied behind Patterson and the crack team of Negro and white lawyers who will defend him.

The "disturbing" similarity between Patterson's indictment and the mounting number of courts martial of Negro GIs in Korea was noted by many who pledged their backing. They labeled it part of the "nation-wide conspiracy" against militant Negroes.

● Discrimination In Germany

intended for him to move into that particular home, he would not have fixed it up so nicely as he was only a Negro, etc.

Further charges against Colonel Bigelow made by the NAACP official included one that a Negro sergeant of Company A, 371st Infantry Battalion, was accused by Colonel Bigelow of collusion in the commission of a burglary by a German civilian after findings by a surveying officer that the property was lost through no fault of anyone in military service. The existence of segregated enlisted men's club was also charged. "This club, the Sun Down Club, is maintained under Col. Bigelow's command," Mr. Williams of the NAACP stated, "though only a handful of white soldiers are in the area. The Negro M.P.'s are forbidden to enter the club when incidents occur and the hundreds of colored GIs are banned from its premises."

The NAACP also charged that Col. Bigelow has issued an order that all Negro soldiers who show any cause whatsoever for punishment will be tried by courts-martial, regardless of the offense. Coupled with that order Col. Bigelow also ordered that every Negro tried by courts-martial will be dishonorably discharged from the army. "In this way," Mr. Wiliams charged, "Many fine young Negro soldiers are discharged from the army with the stigma of dishonor upon them for something no more serious than missing bed-check twice or being absent without leave twice."

An immediate investigation of the manner in which Col. Bigelow was conducting his assignment was requested of the Department of Defense. An investigation of the "subtle campaign" instigated by Col. Bigelow to prevent association between Negro troops and German girls was also asked. Reports have been made that German girls found accompanying Negro soldiers are arrested and lodged in jail overnight while no such treatment is given to girls in company of white troops.

$4200 Boost To TB Research

Local medical research in the field of tuberculosis received a $4200 boost recently from the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The research, under the direction of Dr. Jane Skillen, chief surgeon at Olive View Sanatorium, will be a study of the survival and rehabilitation of tubercular patients after surgical collapse of the lung.

"This is but one of the research projects we are supporting," explained Kenneth Wilson, treasurer of the Association, as he presented the check to Dr. Howard F. West, medical director of the Department of Charities.

"We feel that it is an important program, and well deserving of the use of Christmas Seal Funds," he added.

Wilson also reported that the 1950 Chrstmas Seal Sale, which officially ended Monday, had reached $379,000 of the $500,000 goal.

"However," he said, "we know that there are thousands of Los Angeles County families who received their Christmas seals but who have not yet sent in their checks. We hope that they will not forget us, since we must have sufficient funds if we are to operate at peak efficiency during the coming year. Checks or money orders should be sent to the combined Christmas Seal Fund, Box 5735, Metropolitan Station, Los Angeles 55."

Wilson also explained that the local returns from the supplemental sales in communities throughout the county would be reported as soon as figures are tabulated. This will include returns from both sales of Christmas Seals, and from the self-service dispensers seen throughout the area.

Judge Clarke Rules State's Land Law Is Discriminatory contend that it is discriminatory.

In addition, they charge that the Masaoka sons who are all citizens are discriminated against because they are denied the privilege, given to other Americans, of providing for their mother through placing property in her name.

Alien Land Laws originally forbade land ownership by Chinese and other Orientals as well as Japanese but changes have been made as the privilege of citizenship has been extended to virtually all groups except Japanese and Koreans. The law does not specify particular racial groups but denies land ownership to all "aliens ineligible to citizenship."

Pvt. Jerry Lovejoy Completes Training

Pvt. Jerry Lovejoy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lovejoy, 4525 Central St., Los Angeles, Calif., has recently completed his 14-week training cycle with Co. "A" 28th Infantry Regiment, of the famed 8th Division, Fort Jackson, S. C.

Pvt. Lovejoy enlisted in the Regular Army on August 30, 1950 at Gasden, Ala., for a period of three years.

Prior to entering the services he attended North High School, Detroit, Mich., and later was employed by the Chrysler Motor Co. in Detroit .

He is among the first 650 men to complete the six weeks basic and eight weeks infantry branch training at Fort Jackson. The soldiers will be transferred to Fort Benning and Camp Gordon, Ga., Fort Campbell, Ky., Fort Bragg, N. C., Camp Rucker, Ala., Fort Lewis, Wash., and Camp Stoneman, Calif., for assignment as combat and service type unit replacements.

New W & P Office

Department of Water and Power customers in the Central Avenue district will be served from a new branch commercial office at 4521 South Central Avenue commencing at 8 p.m. on January 2.

Formal dedication ceremonies will be held at 2 o'clock, after which cookies and coffee will be served to the public, according to Samuel B. Morris, general manager and chief engineer of the municipal utility.

Of unique design, the one-story, concrete block structure will add to the appearance of the Central Avenue business district. Added floor space and improved office arrangement will enable the office staff to more efficiently handle the water and power customers. Added parking facilities also are provided.

The new office, which will be in charge of Ted Zakarian, serves about 40,000 Department customers in the area bounded by Slauson Avenue, Washington Boulevard, Broadway and the city limits.

The SIDEWALK

that the Negro would have to strike the blow for his own freedom, Robeson too believes that the Negro at this period of history, cannot continue docile under the yoke of Jimcrow. He must serve his government as he always has. But while serving in the military ranks, he must demand the full enjoyment of his civil rights at home and abroad, in the army, the navy, and the air service.

Because he has served his people in leading the fight for their freedom, Paul Robeson has become the target for persecution by Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, and even the Department of Justice, smeared by the McCarrans, the McCarthys, the Tenneys, and the Parnell Thomases.

He has been deprived of his passport and must appeal to the courts for its restoration in order to fill engagements in this country and in Europe, and earn a decent, honest living, in keeping with his profession.

The Negro people should resent this treatment of Paul Robeson by his and their enemies.

It must be understood that the attacks against Robeson are not because he is disloyal, but because certain people disagree with his political views and opinions. Such an attitude is a blot on our American freedom.

NNBL Expands Its Program

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Mr. Horace Sudduth, president of the National Negro Business League, met on last Saturday, at the 12th Street Y.M.C.A., with the Washington Citizens' Committee for the National Negro Business League to discuss the League's expanded Service and Education Program and the role of the Washington group in the present fund raising campaign to underwrite this program.

Mr. Sudduth reported that the National Budget Committee appointed in Atlantic City in August, 1948, and headed by Dr. J. E. Walker, president of the Tri-State Bank of Memphis; Mr. C. C. Spaulding, president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance oCmpany, and Mr. Sudduth, had raised a total of $32,000 in cash and $21,000 in pledges. The campaign is scheduled to terminate within the next few months.

Among those present at the meeting were: Mr. Jesse O. Thomas, of the American Red Cross; Mr. Emmer M. Lancaster, of the United States Department of Commerce; and Mr. Lemuel Foster, of the Savings Bond Division, U. S. Treasury Department. Mr. Foster, formerly of Macy's Department Store in New York City, has recently come to Washington as successor to Dean William Pickens.

LOS ANGELES CITY-OWNED DEPARTMENT
WATER AND POWER

WATER enables a mighty city to live!

FROM PUEBLO DAYS TO NOW, Los Angeles has been able to grow because imaginative leadership, long-range planning, and wholehearted community support have joined hands to obtain and maintain adequate supplies of water far in advance of needs.

Los Angeles today has ample water for its needs. It is ready to meet the demands of great population and industrial growth through its rights in Colorado River water—water which is here now and ready for use. These rights are so vital to the city's future that it is the business of every Los Angeles citizen as well as your Department of Water and Power to be ever vigilant in maintaining them.

Your Department's operational group constantly improves all existing facilities for storing, conserving and distributing the water to meet all requirements. Your Department's planning group conceives the important new projects which will keep low-cost water flowing to the Los Angeles of the future.

With your cooperation and support, your city can continue to plan its future, maintain its water rights, and thus fulfill its great destiny.

Seek Bids on Health Bldg.

Bids for the building of the new $3,000,000 city health center and receiving hospital directly opposite the City Hall will be received by the Board of Public Works on Jan. 31, it was announced by the board yesterday.

The structure will be the first of two new buildings in the expanding civic center.

It will occupy a site facing First street, between Main and Los Angeles.

Next to be erected will be the new police administration building north of First street, between Los Angeles and San Pedro streets.

Old buildings are now being torn down to make way for the improvements.

Banks Close to Observe Holiday

All banks will be closed again on Monday, according to officials. Merchants are urged to supply themselves with necessary change for the weekend on Friday.

The office of the California Eagle will also be closed on Monday. Copy for next week should be in by Saturday noon.

Order Board to Rehire 3 Agency Staff Employees

An arbitration board has ordered the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations to rehire three office workers fired last July 17, officials of the Social Service Employees Union, Local 95, Distributive, Processing and Office Workers of America, announced this week. The announcement said the welfare group was ordered also to pay the three from the date of their discharge.

The three discharged were Cecile Halpern, Joseph Brown and Leon Levitt, professional counselors, employed by an agency of the federation. The arbitration board was composed of Dr. Paul Dodd, acting provost of UCLA; Sidney Young, for the union, and Mrs. Mirial Suter, for the federation.

INA MARSHALL ESTATE PROBATED

LOS ANGELES, (NPB)—Atty. Walter L. Gordon was appointed administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Ina Marshall who died here 13 years ago. Requests for the probate matter was made by Leona Marshall, Mrs. Della Bell, sisters and William Marshall, brother of the deceased. Atty H. Leonard Richardson appeared for the kin of the deceased.

Warn Restaurants Over Use of Oleo

Restaurant operators in Los Angeles were warned again by the City Health Department to stop using colored oleomargarine.

The State Agricultural Act, according to Dr. George M. Uhl, City Health Officer, prohibits restaurants from using oleo unless it is uncolored and unless the restaurant posts a conspicuous sign declaring it is using the product.

Dr. Uhl explained his department simply was enforcing a State law. "As far as oleo itself is concerned," he hastened to make plain, "our nutritionists recommend it to private families equally as they do butter, letting the individual choose for himself according to cost and taste."

WARY CHRISTMAS

Holiday motorists are cautioned by the Los Angeles Police Department that Los Angeles has the largest per capita number of automobiles of any city in the world—2.6 persons per vehicle. A larger percentage than usual will be on the streets during this 1950 holiday season. While motoring remember to have a Happy New Year.

Hooray For Your Side!

When the signals have all been called and the game won, invite your crowd home for cups of hot, hot coffee and this mouth-watering Coconut Devil's Food Cake. Whatever the scoreboard shows, there will be cheers for your side when you serve this perfect combination of food after the game, as a climax to the excitement and fun.

COCONUT DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1½ cups Beet or Cane Sugar
1 egg and 2 egg yolks
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
*Milk (see below for amount)
1 teaspoon vanilla

*With butter, margarine, or lard, use 1 cup milk. With vegetable or any other shortening, use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each; add chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Turn into two deep 9-inch layer pans which have been lined on bottoms with paper then greased. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes, or until done. Spread frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake, sprinkling generously with shredded coconut while frosting is still soft.

Peaceful Alternatives To War, Offered

The New York Committee for Peaceful Alternatives, of which Dr. Mark A. Dawber is honorary chairman, and Mrs. Frederick B. Fisher is chairman pro-tem, has widely issued it Declaration of Peaceful Alternatives emphasizing the following principles as the basis for establishment of peace instead of war:

1. Settlement of international differences by United Nations' negotiation and mediation.
2. A five-power meeting as proposed by the UN.
3. Outlawing of atomic and other weapons of mass destruction.
4. General disarmament of conventional military establishments and weapons.
5. Admission of the new government of China to the UN.
6. Immediate truce in the UN-Korea-China crisis.

Soprano at Cp. Roberts

Sunday, December 17, Geraldine Farmer, the celebrated lyric soprano, sang at the East Garrison Service Club, Camp Roberts, California.

Her opening number was "The Lord's Prayer," followed by "The 23rd Psalm." Here repertoire was varied and well chosen, with several traditional spirituals. Miss Farmar then led the audience in the singing of Christmas carols.

The two requests that she rendered were Shubert's "Ave Maria" and "O, Holy Night." Miss Farmar concluded the program with the "Star Spangled Banner." She was well received by the large number of soldiers that attended.

Car 'Stripping' On the Increase

The California State Automobile Association this week warned automobile owners that car "stripping" has increased since the outbreak of the Korean war.

The association advised car owners to list serial numbers, trade names and other identification marks on tires and radios, the thieves' principal targets.

The identification lists, the association said, help police to return recovered tires and radios to the rightful owners and aid authorities in prosecuting the thieves.

Third St. Tunnel Will Be Cleaned

The dirty and gloomy Third Street tunnel soon will be bright and shiny.

Led by Councilman Edward R. Roybal, the City Council voted 8 to 2 to have the tunnel sand-blasted and painted. $9,000 was appropriated from the traffic safety fund for this job.

The only vocal objection was from Councilman J. Win Austin, who doubted the advisability of spending the money for a temporary project.

However, Councilman Don A. Allen said: "I use that tunnel every day and it is a disgrace."

How to Dodge Taxes —For the Rich Only

Have you any unnecessary tax leaks" today?

Oh, you just work for a living? Well, then, forget about it. You'll just have to pay your taxes. This other stuff is just for corporations, coupon-clippers and big-money executives.

Thoes taxes you'll have to pay will, of course, go higher and higher.

But for the big-money boys a lot of the sting will be taken out by careful writing of the tax laws to provide them with loopholes, and through the aid of financial advisory services which remind them of the loop holes and show them how to use them.

We've just been looking at a 1950 tax manual issued by one of the leading business advisory services.

It uses the quoted phrases at the beginning of this article about "tax leaks" and "tax waste." The language is very polite. The process is legal and "legitimate." But what it amounts to is swindling the government out of tax money. That swindled money has to be made up by the small taxpayers who have no "legal" ways of evading taxes.

It's Nobler to Give

For example, people with large personal fortunes or large holdings in family corporations, etc., are given the glad news this year that a change in the tax law enables them to dodge inheritance taxes by giving to their prospective heirs, as "gifts," what would otherwise be heavily taxed as part of their estate.

It used to be that the government could move in and collect inheritance taxes on these phoney gifts if it could show that they were made "in contemplation of death." But this year the 81st Congress, which has just raised the taxes of the lowest wage earners, fixed that up.

The tax advisory services are happily calling this gizmo to the attention of the wealthy these days. They're telling that they can "give" insurance policies on their own lives to their families. When they die, the insurance payoff isn't part of the estate, and only a small portion of it is taxable.

They advise businessmen to pass their businesses on to their families by this "gift" device. It will involve gift taxes, which are lower, rather than estate taxes, which are higher.

Sweet "Charity"

It goes on and on like that. Seekers after tax dodges are reassured that the new law, which was supposed to have tightened the loophole on private "charitable foundations" didn't tighten it very much.

The big taxpayer taking this advice saves in several ways. He makes heavy income tax savings now by using these "gifts" as "charitable" deductions. He saves heavy inheritance taxes later on, etc.

Workers who will bequeath to their heirs only the right to go on working and paying withholding taxes themselves may well be envious.

For peaple who have carried on a big, short term speculation or business operation that produced heavy income there have been ways of classifying this as "long term capital gains" and thus saving the heavy, one-time income taxes.

The overwhelming share of the tax revenues this year and next will go for the military program. About 200,000 young men have been drafted this year, without "lopholes."

Most of the users of these lopholes will be benefitting heavily as the war budget funds are spread about in the various industries.

But the "respectable" game of dodging taxes goes on with its accustomed vigor.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the tenth installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

It was in the latter part of September, 1950, when I went to Georgia, and I mean Georgia, Russia.

In company with the little Moscow English teacher who had volunteered to accompany me, we went by plane, flying over great stretches of rich black farm lands.

It is a day's journey by plane from Moscow to Bilissi, the capital and chief city of Georgia.

We ran into some heavy black clouds, and for a time were flying very high above the clouds.

Finally the sun's rays pierced through and we were again flying at what, I presume, normal flight. About mid-afternoon the plane seemed to be steadily dropping. I was not afraid, but curious. So I looked through the window to see what was happening. The plane seemed to be settling down on the brink of a vast dark blue body of water, very different from anything I had ever seen before.

I looked over at my companion. She was fast asleep.

I held on to my seat, and my thoughts, and waited for what would happen next.

The unexpected did happen, so far as I was concerned.

With the wings of the plane flapping gently, it settled for a second on the sea, the Black Sea, I learned later; made a quick swish and turned. In another second we were on terra firma, taxing into a little town, where after a brief inspection of our luggage, we lunched and were off again.

A young friend said to me, "I have been reading your articles on your visit to Europe. I can't understand why you found everything to your liking."

Now, for the benefit of this friend and perhaps others also, I found the bread in the Ukraine and in some parts of Georgia too heavy, or, as we say, "soggy."

But before I go on I must say something more about the Black Sea. This body of water was the most beautiful, I thought, I had ever seen. There was not a ripple or a wave. It just seemed to be stretched across that part of the world so powerful in its expanse and depth that it defied description.

My little traveling friend at take-off time was wide awake, and supplied me with the information I wanted. All along the coast bordering on the Black Sea were pretty little seashore resorts where, she explained, the workers and their families from Moscow, Georgia, and all the other Soviet Republics, spent their summer vacations.

GEORGIA

Just before nightfall our plane sat down in Belessi. For a second I thought I was back in California. Georgia's climate is very similar to ours.

After about a half hour's auto ride from the airport to the center of the city, we were housed in the city's best hotel where we were welcomed by the owner-manager himself.

After dinner we were escorted to the headquarters of the Defenders of the Peace, where we enjoyed an evening with moving pictures.

The pictures dealt with the development of state and collective farms, waterways, the home and factory building program developed sinced the world wars.

The next two days were spent in the city of Bilissi, visiting schools, academies of fine arts, sciences, etc., and state and collective farms.

Bilissi is a beautiful city nestling between mountains on all four sides.

Unlike Stalingrad, Leningrad, and even Moscow, Bilissi's historic shrines and monuments were not destroyed by the Germans. A visit to her historic spots is almost like dropping down on some wonderland in another world.

However, all Georgia, like Moscow and the other Soviet Republics, is in the midst of a great building program. Few of the slave shacks left from the Tsarist Russian period remain, and the Georgian people take great pride in showing visitors the new modern homes in the process of construction for the workers.

The Georgians are a proud people, but not pompous. They know their history for more than a thousand years. In Georgia there are churches, synagogs, academies, castles and palaces three and four hundred years old.

The Georgians speak the Georgian language, not Russian, but they are loyal to the letter to the constitution of the USSR.

I did not hesitate to ask questions, particularly in Georgia. I had a peculiar psychological interest in the Republic of Georgia. I guess because I had heard many things about this part of Russia.

One fact I wanted established was this: Was Georgia, Russia, named after Georgia in the United States, or vice versa?

Just one day's stay in the Georgian Republic convinced me that life in Georgia, Russia, is very different from life in the United States, at least for an American of my color and kind.

SOME PLACES I VISITED

The Georgian University where I met and had a pleasant interview with President Muskhelishvili was my first realization that there is not even a semblance of racial exclusiveness in Russia.

This great man of science took as much pains and care explaining the workings of his institution to me as he would or could have to the president of Harvard University.

The University of Georgia has twelve different faculties, with 550 professors and teachers, and over five thousand students.

Georgia has over four thousand secondary schools for general education, and 126 special ones attended by more than 600 thousand boys and girls.

From the University I next visited School No. 135. In this school there are one thousand and five hundred pupils. It operates in two shifts. The first shift is from 8:30 to 12, and the second from 2 to 4 p.m. Forty-five minutes are allowed for each period.

In addition to the routine studies in a secondary school, the French, English, and German languages, as well as the Russian, are taught.

The average age of the teachers in this school is 25 years.

All teachers after serving 25 years are pensioned. I saw one teacher who appeared beyond the 45-year limit, the age I was told they are entitled to a pension. I asked why this exception. The explanation was that even after a teacher is put on pension, if she insists upon continuing to teach, she may. In such cases she draws both salary and pension.

Leaving one classroom in this school to go to another, I observed what appeared to be some confusion in one end of the corridor, and waited a few seconds to see what was happening.

A pleasingly plump little teacher came close to me and whispered that Victor Sukhodrev, a Russian boy who had gone to school in England, was contending with his classmates that he could carry on a conversation with me if given the opportunity. I prevailed upon the teacher to let me speak with the lad, and she did.

Victor was a bright, healthy young fellow of about 16 years. In the few minutes we had together I found this Georgian boy well versed on social and political issues in his own country, England, and America. He said he liked going to school better in Georgia than in England.

I asked him if there was any word of greeting he would like to have me take back to the boys in America.

"Yes," he said, "Tell them we are friendly, and want to live together in a world of peace."

By the way, about the name of Georgia. The Georgians of Russia, having a slight inkling of the sort of Georgia we have in the USA, resented even the question as to whether their country could have been named after the Georgia in America. Georgia, Russia, was named many years before Georgia in the United States was even settled. So the two have nothing whatever in common, neither in fact nor in the origin of their names.

News from Europe and Other Countries

BRUSSELS—Over 6,000 workers in Belgium lost their jobs within one week ending December 2nd. The unemployment in Belgium thus amounts to 160,000 totally unemployed and 40,000 partly unemployed.

GERMAN PASTOR "DISCIPLINED"

BERLIN—On orders from the American occupation authorities and high ecclesiastical circles, the Bremen (American zone) church authorities have opened disciplinary proceedings against Pastor Johannes Oberhof for his participation in the Warsaw Peace Congress. Oberhaf is to be deprived of his post as head of the Martini Church Community in Bremen.

WASHINGTON—Bao Dai's puppet government will get a United States loan of 400 million dollars, Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs Rusk announced. The American loan is to enable the puppet government and the French colonial troops to carry on the fight against the Vietminh Liberation Army.

TURKISH PEOPLE AND KOREA

ALEXANDRIA—Questions as to the fate of the Turkish brigade in Korea, and to whether further Turkish troops would be sent there, were refused an answer by Turkey's Prime Minister Menderes in the debate in the Turkish Assembly, according to reports reaching here.

The fury of the Turkish people at the sacrifice of Turks in Korea has been brought to a head by reports that the Americans used the Turks to cover their own retreat. Accordingly a strict censorship has been omposed on all informations regarding the Turkish troops in Korea.

GREENLAND AIRCRAFT CARRIER

COPENHAGEN—Large quantities of American armaments of all kinds, as well as harbour equipment, small assault vessels, building material for airfields and ammunition dumps, and machinery for armament repair shops are now arriving in Greenland in a steady flow.

Under the plan of building up United States military bases in Europe, recently approved by the Senate, the United States plans to transform Greenland into a gigantic aircraft-carrier.

1,500 CANADIANS DESERT

OTTAWA—Fifteen hundred men have deserted from the special Canadian brigade which is being trained for Korea by American officers at Fort Lewis in the state of Washington on the Pacific coast of the United States, United States Defense Secretary George Marshall revealed in a memorandum sent recently to Canadian military authorities.

The memorandum expressed the disquiet felt by the United States military authorities at the mass desertions and stated that that was the case with all Canadian units stationed for training in the United States.

JAPANESE OFFICERS IN U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO—Three hundred and twenty former Japanese officers passed through here recently on their way to American tank officers school at Fort Knox, Kentucky, an artillery school at Fort Sill, Oklahoma and an infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia.

They were selected by General Douglas MacArthur's staff in Tokyo to receive special training in the United States. After their return to Japan they will be appointed to high posts in the future Japanese army.

INDIAN YOUTH VOLUNTEER

BOMBAY—More than 300 Indian youth have volunteered to go to Korea to fight in the People's Army against the American aggressors. Santosh Chatterjee, Secretary of the Indian Federation of Democratic Youth, said that his organization has approached the Indian government to demand proper facilities to enable volunteers to go to Korea.

WEST GERMAN YOUTH WANT PEACE

BERLIN—The Free German Youth organization (FDJ) of West Germany sent an open letter to all deputies of the Bonn parliament warning them that German youth is not prepared to follow the government in any schemes which would lead inevitably to a third world war.

"The socalled equality in the 'Atlantic army' does not mean equality in life but equality in death," the letter emphasizes.

The letter demands, furthermore, that all youth organizations serving remilitarization purposes, or whose programmes are at variance with the interests and wishes of the whole German nation, should be dissolved.

APPEAL TO STOP ATROCITIES

NEW YORK—Five American missionaries in Korea have appealed to the United Nations Commission to stop the mass executions by Syngman Rhee's thugs of men, women and children suspected of sympathizing with the People's Army, reports the New York Herald Tribune from Seoul.

Three Methodist ministers and two Catholic priests met with James Plimsoll, the Australian head of the Commission, after Syngman Rhee's Home Minister, Chough Pyung Ok, refused to see them. One of the priests, Rev. Patrick O'Connor, said that in one five-day period 578 persons were executed and that on Saturday morning alone (December 16th) 37 persons were shot. The Korean officials confirmed the executions and the British troops saw them take place "one mile north of Seoul," he stated.

MARSHAL "AID" TO TURKEY

SOFIA—The increase of unemployment and lockouts in Turkey since the introduction of the Marshall Plan is emphasised by current Turkish papers.

The Istanbul newspaper Gerchek states that since the beginning of Marshall "aid" 30 rubber factories have had to close.

Gerchek gives as evidence of the worsening situation the case of the city of Broussa in Anatolia. In this city last year ten factories closed down, and some thousands of workers were thrown into the street. This year has seen an additional 30 factories close down in the town, and another 10,000 workers sacked.

Turkey has one and one half million unemployed, states Gerchek, adding that "factory bosses can throw into the street whoever they wish."

The paper asks why the lockouts are not forbidden, and why the right to strike is not recognised, but adds that such questions are useless with the present government in office.

NEW GERMAN LAW

BERLIN—The new law of the German Democratic Republic "For the Protection of Peace," came into effect on December 16. Among its provisions are: Abuse of other nations or races, propaganda for acts of aggression, inciting Germans to join the French Foreign Legion, spreading propaganda for the reestablishment of German militarism, propapadanda for the use of atomic weapons, slanders against any peace movement—are all punishable by jail or penitentiary sentences.

MOSCOW—December 24, 1950, was celebrated in the USSR as the 50th anniversary of the first number of "Iskra" (the Spark), a newspaper founded by Lenin, which was for three years the principal channel by which he sent his messagés to the Russian people.

AID TO KOREAN PEOPLE

SOFIA—The Bulgarian people are continuing to demonstrate in a positive way their solidarity with the fighting Korean people. Reports from all parts of the country tell of the enthusiastic response to the collection for the "International Fund for Peace," to aid the mothers and children of Korea.

WFTU FIGHTS FOR PEACE

WARSAW—The action of seamen and dock workers all over the world in refusing to handle war materials was described as a "continuation of their fine traditions in the fight against imperialism and war" at a session here of the executive committee of the International Trade Union of Dockers and Martime Workers which is a trade department of the World Federation of Trade Unions.

The speakers made it clear that the dockers' and seamen's contribution to the fight for peace was a very positive one ,and the delegates spoke with pride of the anti-war actions of the maritime workers in Finland, Italy, France, Argentina, Belgium, Australia and other countries.

The chairman of the Canadian Seamens Union, Harry Davis, and the chairman of the United States Union of Mercantile Cooks and Stewards Hugh Bryson, who were prevented from attending the meeting, sent messages of greetings.

The delegate from the German Democratic Republic Herbert Littke pointed that that following the anti-war agreement between the dockers of France and the German Democratic Republic, the peace committees of seamen and dockers of both countries had already begun to function. This agreement is of particular importance in view of the remilitarization of West Germany. Thruogh unceasing educational work, he stated, "we shall convince every person of good will that the frontier is and will remain the frontier of peace."

The executive committee, on which democratic seamen's and longshoremen's organizations of 24 countries are represented, decided to accept the affiliation of a number of maritime unions from the countries of Australia, New Zealand, Brazil, Cuba, Columbia, and the San Francisco union of ships' cooks.

WEST GERMANS FAVOR PEACE PROPOSAL

BERLIN—A call against remilitarization and for the acceptance of German Democratic Republic Premier Grothewhol's proposal for a meeting with West German Chancellor Adenauer to discuss the unification of Germany and the holding of all-German elections, is becoming more clamorous every day in West Germany.

Franz Heitgers, chairman of the Union of Victims of Nazism in the British zone, stated that Premier Grothewohl's letter expressed the desire of every decent German. "No one can remain aside now, we must all rally our forces to win the common goal," Heitgers declared.

CEASE FIRE—IMPERIALISTS

PEKING—The so-called "cease fire" proposal passed by the United Nations obviously serves the aggressive policy of the American imperialists," the People's Daily in Peking commented editorially last week. American aggressive forces stampeding before the Korean People's army and the Chinese people's volunteers are seeking a breathing space to hold their positions, the paper says.

BOMBAY—Thailand (Siamese) forces may be used against the liberation movement in Indo-China, and if necessary even against People's China, according to an agreement reached between an American military mission and the Siam army chiefs.

TOKYO—The speed-up and a resulting increase in accidents to workers is the direct result of the mass diamissal of progressive workers in Japan.

NIGERIAN STRIKE HALTS SHIPPING

LONDON—The British colonial authorities have made a concerted drive reinforced by special units of armed police, against the more than 20,000 Nigerian workers who began a strike December 14th for a 12½ percent cost-of-living bonus, retroactive to April 1, 1950. Despite the increased police intimidation, assaults and arrests, the strike continues solid and has brought shipping and trading in the port of Lagos to a standstill.

The executive of the Nigerian Labour Congress, which decided to call the strike after all demands for wage increases and price control were flatly refused, has issued an ultimatum to the British colonial government demanding the appointment of a Commission of Enquiry within 14 days to revise the salaries of all workers in Nigeria. This ultimatum expired on December 26. There is a possibility of a countrywide strike of all workers, both government and non-government, in Nigeria.

S. AFRICAN POLICE SHOT ON SIGHT

JOHANNESBURG — Police are still trying to round up all the Africans who participated in the meeting November 27th of 600 villagers on the Witzieshoek reserve. (The meeting was attacked by police and at least 13 Africans were killed, as well as two policemen). A large number of the victims are still lying in hospital or in their huts suffering from bullet and club wounds. The authorities admit there are at last 80 Africans with bullet wounds, and that by December 1st they had arrested 31 on charges of "public violence."

As an example of the lynch spirit which has been worked up, one speaker at a European meeting on the borders of Witzieshoek Reserve urged that the police should be given general powers to shoot any African who approached too close to them. Strong action against "agitators" is also demanded.

The tribe's attorney has emphasised that the Africans were not to blame for the clash, as the police had come to them, and not they to the police. They regarded the heavy police reinforcements as "an invasion by a foreign army." The majority of the Witzieshoek Reserve's 8,000 inhabitants are still in hiding in the hills and their kraals (villages) are deserted. They are terrorized by swooping aircraft and police patrols, while neighboring European farmers and politicians are demanding arms to "finish the job."

BEST SELLER

PRAGUE—The peace-prize winning book "Notes from the Gallows" by Julius Fucik, the Czechoslovak journalist tortured to death by the Gestapo, has become the world's most famous book of the European resistance movement against the Nazi occupation, figures just released show. Over 480,000 copies have been issued in Czechoslovakia, one of the highest circulations ever reached by a single book here.

The book has been translated into 38 languages and has had 67 reprints with a total world distribution of two million copies to date.

YOUTH FOR PEACE

BERLIN.—At the annual meeting of the Council of the World Federation of Democratic Youth in Vienna, representatives of the French and German youth have issued a joint resolution to the German and French youth. The resolution appeals to the youth of both countries to expose and fight the warmongers who are trying to turn the youth into mercenaries for their so-called European Army, in the interests of the American bankers and against the heroes of Stalingrad.

The fight of peace-loving youth in Germany for the unity of their country against the warmongers and the fight of the French younger generaiton for France's independence is a fight in the cause of peace, the resolution concluded.

U. S. MONOPOLISTS' DEFIANCE

NEW YORK CITY, New York—Defience by General Motors and Ford, two of the biggest United States automobile companies, of the government request to rescind the price increases announced for next year shows that the American monopolists are not taking seriously the government's threatened interference with the super-profits they are piling up. The prices which have gone up ever since the end of the war have risen at an accelerated pace since the beginning of the Korean intervention.

U. S. "BIG STICK" POLICY

NEW YORK.—"Some of the Asian governments, normally supporting the United States," reveals the current issue of the Newsweek magazine, "have made it known to the American representatives that a United States-China war, whatever the issues, would be regarded as a racial conflict throughout the entire Far East."

A State Department poll "conducted in Lake Success and abroad," the magazine says, "disclosed the startling news that, with one or two exceptions, neither the Latin-American, nor the Arab, nor the Western European countries would support the United States should official hostilities break out with China."

The magazine observes with apparent regret that the United States "big stick" policy has tended to deepen the differences between America and her "allies."

U. S. FARM IMPLEMENT MONOPOLY

NEW YORK.—The International Harvester Co., the United States farm implement monopoly, is being assisted to spread its monopoly control to other countries through the operation of the Marshall Plan, the farm equipment section of the United Electrical Workers Union charges. Not only is this destroying the domestic farm equipment industry in the Marshallized countries, but it is being used to undercut the wages of the United States Harvester employees.

89 PERCENT OF W. GERMANS AGAINST REMILITARIZATION.

BERLIN.—Eighty-nine per cent of those asked expressed themselves as being against remilitarization in a poll conducted by the West German bourgeois paper Frankenpost. The poll was conducted among the representatives of all sections of the population and it is significant that none of the leaders of the Christian Socialist and the Social Democratic Parties dared to reveal their minds on the subject, although all had been asked.

On the other hand, the paper was able to publish the reply from the Deputy Premier of the German Democratic Republic, Walter Ulbricht, who said plainly: "The popular election of October 15 proved that the broad masses desire peace. Who is, then, preventing the people of Eastern and Western Germany from joining in the struggle for peace in their German fatherland and against remilitarization? Is it not high time to prevent the activities of a handful of persons who are interested in war and who are greedy for money?"

BRITISH CONCENTRATION CAMPS

PEKING.—The British colonial government in Malaya has forced many Chinese residents to live in "settlements," reports the Singapore press. One of these ghetto-settlements has been surrounded by barbed wire entanglements and looks like a concentration camp. More than 7,000 Chinese from many parts of Malaya will be forced to move into it, where they will be under rigorous police supervision.

The British government contemplates forcibly moving 300,000 to 400,000 Chinese in various parts of Malaya to an area which can be easily controlled by the police. This will deprive a large number of Chinese of their homes, shops and rubber estates.

SOVIET EQUIPMENT FOR POLAND

WARSAW.—Complete equipment for many factories and plants now under construction, including a giant iron and steel works and a cement works which will be the biggest in Europe, is being supplied to Poland by the Soviet Union under an economic agreement.

Soviet excavators, bulldozers and cranes are speeding up the construction of Marszalkowska Housing Estate in Warsaw, and the coal mines are being systetmatically mechanized with deliveries of the most modern Soviet equipment.

Sheriff Shakes Up County Vice Squad

A "shocked" sheriff yesterday announced a shake-up in the anti-vice detail of his department. Three sergeants were transferred from the vice unit to uniform jobs and replaced with new officers.

Two of the sergeants had appeared before the County Grand Jury in its investigation of reported "pay-offs" to sheriff's deputies by the Guarantee Finance Corp., multi-million bookmaking operation.

Sheriff Biscailuz told the County Grand Jury last week that he was "shocked" by disclosures of the vice squad's free and easy attitude in some law enforcement matters.

(Last week this newspaper pointed out that Sheriff Biscailuz was made aware of these "shocking disclosures" by the 1949 County Grand Jury and by Gov. Earl Warren's Crime Commission report.)

Since December 10, the day on which Samuel Rummel, attorney for the underworld, was slain by an unidentified killer, public opinion has been boiling around the sheriff's office.

Among those transferred from the vice unit were Sgt. Michael W. Kapic, who testified before the Grand Jury last week in its inquiry into relationship between the vice squad and the Guarantee Finance Co. Another sergeant to feel the axe was Sgt. Lawrence C. Schaffer, who had neglected to inform Los Angeles police officers that he was one of the two men sought as "the last to see Rummel alive." Capt. Carl Pearson, who remained with Rummel after Schaffer left and then neglected to inform the Los Angeles police department that he was one of the two men sought, was fired from his office last week by Sheriff Biscailuz.

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz last week, after the Rummel killing, gave up his direct control of the vice squad.

Since last week's editorial in this newspaper demanding that Sheriff Biscailuz turn in his badge there have been many rumors that the sheriff will resign before long.

Hold Man for Stabbing Two

A 14-year-old boy is dead and a girl of 16 is suffering from stab wounds as a result of a pre-Christmas local party. An older guest, who had been ejected from the frivolity, returned and ran amok with a butcher knife.

Dead is Sebastian Avila, of 1138 E. Pico street. In General Hospital with a stab wound in the back is Esperanza Sierra, of 1328 E. Pico. The stabbing occurred outside the girl's apartment building.

Held in Newton Street Jail on suspicion of murder is Conrado A. Marquez, 27, a butcher, of 119½ N. Arizona street, East Los Angeles.

"I went back for revenge—I was red hot," Marquez allegedly told officers who arrested him at his home.

Party-goers said Marquez started a disturbance at the party and was taken outside and "worked over" by a group of boys. He fled and returned with the knife and challenged the group. In the fight, Avila was fatally stabbed. The girl was cut when she leaned over to pick up a pair of crutches dropped by a crippled boy, she told police.

No Tax Increase Needed for Hike For City Workers

No new taxes will be needed to finance the pay boosts in store for 5,500 city employes in the refuse and street maintenance departments following the action of the City Council yesterday when it unanimously ordered the city attorney to draw up an ordinance which would put into effect an 11 per cent raise recommended by the city's Bureau of Budget and Efficiency last spring.

The threatened strike of these city employes, who this week are taking a strike vote to enforce demands for wage increases, will be called off if the City Council passes the proposed ordinance.

The average increase will be about $20 a month.

County employes were granted a similar increase earlier in the week, when the Board of Supervisors voted increase of from $2 to $5 a month for some 17,000 county workers. The wage increases will go into effect Feb. 1.

Below is another example of leaflets promoting restrictive covenants that are being circulated by a bigoted real estate broker.

COLORED PEOPLE TAKE NOTICE!

THIS IS TO ADVISE YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS THAT IF YOU HAVE BOUGHT PROPERTY RESTRICTED AGAINST ANY OTHER THAN THE WHITE OR CAUCASIAN RACE, YOU DID NOT OBTAIN CLEAR TITLE TO THE PROPERTY.

RECENT COURT DECISIONS AND OPINIONS HANDED DOWN BY EMINENT ATTORNEYS REPORT THAT THE RACE RESTRICTIONS WERE NOT DECLARED ILLEGAL OR UNCONSTITUTIONAL. IF YOU DID NOT GET CLEAR TITLE, THE TRANSACTION WAS FRAUDULENT AND YOU MAY SUE THE SELLER AND THE BROKER FOR DAMAGES AND RETURN OF YOUR MONEY.

FURTHERMORE, WHEN YOU RESELL OR RENT THE PROPERTY, YOU MUST SELL OR RENT TO A MEMBER OF THE CAUCASIAN OR WHITE RACE OR YOURSELF BE HELD IN DAMAGES FOR VIOLATING THE RACE RESTRICTIONS.

George Washington Carver Day

The President of the United States has proclaimed a national George Washington Carver Day, to be observed on January 5, the anniversary of the death of the famed scientist-educator.

The governors of various states have also fallen in line, and have asked that this day be observed in honor of this great American. His native state, Missouri; Alabama, the home of Tuskegee Institute, where he worked so diligently to make his scientific knowledge available to the world; Pennsylvania, Delaware, California, Indiana, Minnesota, Ohio, are some of the others that have joined in doing honor to Dr. Carver.

There will be programs on various radio stations. There will be meetings held in churches and halls and large auditoriums. At every gathering and on every radio program, this great Negro scientist will be lauded the world over, for the magnificent work he accomplished.

The life of Dr. Carver means more than the scientific knowledge he gave to the people of the South, and of the North as well. How to extract the most from the soil, how to use the humble peanut in a hundred different ways, how to make paint from clay. His life was an example to all, of what one can get out of life itself by the diligent use of the opportunities given us. By going straight ahead with the ultimate goal in view, and not paying too much attention to the slights one must endure along the way.

When a young man he had hoped to enter a college some miles from his home. It was the height of his ambition. His heart was set upon it. All arrangements were made. But when he got to the college, the president, evidently really sorry for the fearful wound he was about to inflict, told him reluctantly, "I'm sorry. We don't take Negroes here."

It took young George Washington Carver years to get over that hurt. But he did conquer. And he was privileged later to attend Iowa University, where a little fellow by the name of Henry Wallace used to tag along with him on his botanical expeditions. These two were always friends. Upon his death, Henry Wallace, then vice-president of the United States, spoke feelingly of the loss of a friend, as well as the loss to America of a great scientist.

It is altogether appropriate that all here in America bow our heads a few moments to do honor January 5 to a truly great American, a great scientist who dedicated his life to humanity.

The Price We Pay

The toll of traffic accidents over the Christmas holiday mounted to more than 500 killed.

That seems a terrible price to pay for a few days' vacation, for a few days to do as we please. One man was heard to remark, "Well, this may be the last Christmas I'll spend here for a long, long time. So I'm going to make it worth while. I'm going to do just as I please, and believe me, I'm going in for a real good time."

Drinking, carousing, driving furiously, we surmise, were part of the "good times" too many gave themselves for Christmas.

So different from what the Prince of Peace would birthday we celebrated if He had us do!

Is it the price we are paying for the war fever in the air? For the hysteria, the fear of an atom bomb? Do we make life cheap in every way as well as on the battle field?

There surely is some explanation for the awful toll of lives that were taken on Christmas Day—a higher toll than was ever taken in America.

Lower Prices

Prices are coming down. So we've been told. But from what we can see in the grocery stores, they haven't fallen very far to date.

Prices have been prevented from going higher, however, so we have also been told, because the people refused to pay more and the merchants and manufacturers were therefore afraid to raise them for fear they would have a lot of items on their shelves.

Tears is not the best way and the only way to bring prices down, and to keep them at the right level—to refuse to purchase those goods that have soared beyond the reach of the ordinary man's or woman's pocketbook.

If we American housewives would band together we could do almost anything in regard to prices. Yes, it would mean a little sacrifice, perhaps. Doing without things we want, and make ourselves believe we need, until we forced prices to come down within the reach of everyone.

Some day perhaps we'll do those things we know we should. Let us hope we never be in the position the people of Europe are — forced to do without things because there just isn't anything to buy and no money at all to buy things with.

Loose Talk

The matter of loose usage of the English language has reached a point where it is disgusting and repulsive to the average citizen.

It has come to this: in case of disagreement with the other man's political views we immediately hurl the epithet "Red."

Everyone who expresses the opinion that the United States instead of the North Koreans or so-called "Red China" invaded Korea, immediately becomes a subversive and an enemy of the government.

There will inevitably come a reckoning day for this sort of reasoning. So why don't we stop—as it is often said—in our tracks, and face the real issues in this Korean war?

We, the American people, are separated from Korea by about seven thousand miles. Our living standards, our culture, our religion are different from theirs.

Isn't it reasonable to conclude that for the Koreans to invade Korea would be a simple matter of turning the guns on themselves? But what about us? We journey clear across the ocean into Korea and tell the natives to vacate. Ye gods! Such reasoning goes far beyond the imagination.

And in the face of this, those who consider themselves the defenders of the nation say, "We must continue to butcher the Koreans and Chinese and leave our own men dead and dying on the bloody battle field in a foreign land among strangers—in order to save our face!"

We say, face or no face saved, "Come out of Korea! Let those little brown people settle their own affairs."

Happy New Year

There are many ways to start making the New Year happy.

First, let's pull our troops out of Korea. Let's stop hurling "Red subversive" at even the little fox, Reynard, that broke away from his chains in search of freedom in the great open spaces.

Let's stop screaming, "The atom bomb is going to burst on us soon. So we must prepare shelters."

Let's end our man hunt for Communists, and look for peace.

The greetings which Mary Phillips, of Lamont, Ill., sent to The California Eagle, expresses our sentiments exactly. We give it here to you.

"The American people yearning for peace and freedom while being bled white for war and saddled with a McCarran police state law, need no presidential proclamation of a 'national emergency' to make them aware that the A W O L (American Way of Life) is indeed A W O L!"

Let's begin life anew this new year of 1951, with the resolve that we'll drop all the nasty things we've been saying to and about each other, and that we'll work for the real A W O L—American Way of Life.

POTPOURRI

CRC APPEALS FOR $60,000

A national emergency fund campaign for $60,000 "to help finance the legal and mass campaign against the twin evils, the McCarran Act and the Smith [illegible] was announced last week by the National Civil Rights Congress.

Funds will be used for CRC's general program for the defense of constitutional rights, William L. Patterson, the national executive secretary, declared. The drive calls for raising the full $60,000 by December 31.

Contributions should be sent to local CRC chapters or mailed to National Civil Rights Congress, 23 W. 26th St., New York 10, N.Y.

UNION DISCRIMINATION

In commenting on the speech made by President Truman Friday night, December 15, Lester Granger, executive director of the National Urban League, said, "In a challenge to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, President Truman put his finger squarely on a fatal weakness in our national armor. The same reckless irresponsibility of these union members which has prompted them for 50 years and more to bar Negroes from jobs in the railway industry because of their race, prompts them now to disregard their country's safety in the interest of temporary financial gain.

"Our racial minorities in this country," concluded Granger, "must be relieved of any doubt regarding the sincerity of our democratic professions. This will be accomplished only when all Americans of all races, faiths, and places of birth are made full partners in our effort to defend the freedom of the world."

WARREN TO GIVE NEGRO JOB

SAN FRANCISCO — Negroes will be given consideration for appointment to the State Industrial Accident Commission, Gov. Earl Warren pledged in a communication to Franklin H. Williams, regional director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week.

INDIAN FINDS URANIUM FOR U. S.

GRANTS, N. M.—A Navajo Indian, 59-year-old Paddy Martinez, has found a uranium field which may turn out to be the world's largest.

The announcement, made by the Santa Fe Railroad, stated that the site of the discovery is between Grants and Gallup, New Mexico, only 100 miles from the Los Alamos atom bomb laboratory and 175 miles from Alamagordo, where the first bomb was exploded in tests in 1945.

Test pits already have been opened along the six-mile stretch of track and drilling operators are to start soon to determine the extent of the tract.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

NATIONAL CONTAINMENT

From the moment the White House-Wall Street Axis decreed that this nation's primary mission was to "contain world Communism" progressive forces have warned that the real objective was the destruction of American democracy. The announcement by the Axis that a state of national emergency exists is tragic confirmation of that warning.

For even a child can see that in clamping an emergency status on the country, it is the American people who are being contained, it is the promises of democracy that are being contained, not Communism. It is our living standards, our liberties, and lives, that are being further restricted. The emergency proclamation provides the Axis with the pseudo-legal framework for riveting the police state shackles on us more firmly. It could be the next-to-the-last step before the fascists take over in all their evil power.

It is true that when the Republicans and Democrats revealed their program for the "containment of international Communism" they did have (and still do) as an important objective the domination of the economic and political resources of other nations. But in this they have been foredoomed to failure—by the achievements of the democratic peoples of China, Korea, Indo-China, East Europe.

The bipartisans did make limited (and temporary) gains in certain areas—but they were after much bigger game. Having failed in these global projects, they are compelled by the inner necessity of their depravity and their goal to turn on the people of their own country. That is the basic reason for the emergency.

Its proclamation at this time is evidence that the period of national containment has arrived—for it is the period of national desperation for the Axis. The enemies of American democracy are terror-stricken. They fear the wrath of a people betrayed. They are afraid that their treachery will be completely exposed and the people will demand an accounting.

And well might they be afraid—for from every cross-section of the people protests are arising. A West Virginia paper damns the continued invasion of Korea in an editorial entitled "This Is Murder." An Ohio manufacturer demands the impeachment of Truman. And a Herbert Hoover (for his own purposes) urges a stop to this program of disaster. While mothers everywhere are demanding the return of their sons from Korea.

Opiate for the People

Gen. Marshall asserts that the purpose of the national emergency is to give Americans a "psychological" shot-in-the-arm, to make them aware of their responsibilities. It would be far more correct to describe the purpose as being to inject a drug to deaden the awareness of what is going on, to terrify the people into silence by threatening them with economic and political reprisals, and to blind them to the truth.

As regards the Negro people, it is doubtful that this national emergency will change their life radically. They have been living under emergency conditions for generations. Economically, socially, politically, their lives and security have been in a precarious state at all times. The blight of second-class citizenship, to which they have been and are subjected in this "bastion of Western civilization," is the status to which all other American citizens will be subjected—if they do not resist.

In a real sense one of the major reasons why all Americans who don't see eye to eye with the bipartisans are faced with second-class citizenship is because they permitted the exploiters of this great land to fasten it upon Negro-Americans. Had this been prevented, America would not now be in the condition it is: America would be a truly great nation in the forefront of the epochal struggle for peace and democracy—not in the leadership of the world's reactionary forces.

This is, indeed, a period of grave national emergency. No one in his right mind dare minimize the danger. But it is at the same time a period of unparalleled opportunity to put a stop to the betrayals by the rulers, to set America back on the path of brotherhood and peace.

This is the time to speak out and act! Write to the President. Write to your congressmen. Get all your friends to do so. Demand the reversal of the catastrophic domestic and foreign programs in which the bipartisans are engaged.

An ounce of courage now, while we can still speak out, can be decisive for our families, for our nation, for world peace!

Mothers Wait for Children in British and American Zones

Five years after the end of the war which caused an accumulation of crimes and ruins, the women and mothers remember their suffering and their mourning, they revolt at the thought that other peoples are in their turn under-going the horrors of war; they think of Korea and Viet Nam, of the bombing of civil populations, of towns reduced to ashes, of "tons of corpses"—because it is in such terms that the American General Staffs calculate the results of their terrorist bombardments. The women and mothers cannot efface from their minds the picture which appeared in the newspapers of that little Korean child trying to reach the breast of his mother who lay on the ground, dead.

These crimes against mankind revolt the conscience of all honest people of the world day and night; they arouse in them a fierce and incessantly growing determination to fight for the end of all unjust wars, to fight for peace.

If there are other more obscure crimes, which are also an insult to the memory of those who died fighting fascism, an insult to the bravery of the Soviet peoples, who sacrificed themselves for the freedom and independence of their motherland, and for all the other oppressed nations; and these crimes are all the more hateful because their victims are children.

Five years after the war there are still in the Soviet Union mothers and fathers who have not yet got back their children, whom they know are alive, a few miles away from them, prisoners of the frontiers maintained by the British and American authorities, who intentionally prevent their repatriation. These are parents who are waiting, who are determined not to give up, who have ben a prey for years to what might be called the torture of hoping.

There is that Soviet mother, a worker in Kiev, whose little girls was deported by the Nazis, who tells of her sufferings:

"At last came the unforgettable day of May 9th, 1945 . . . but a new misfortune awaited me. My daughter Valentine had not been found in the Soviet occupation zone; it was learned that she was in the American Zone. Five long years have gone by, the Soviet organizations working all the time for the repatriation of my daughter, who is in a children's home at Prine, where she had been taken over the sea by the American authorities."

Before the grief which these letters express, one wonders by what sadistic machinations can the American and British authorities oppose this simple human act of returning the children to their families? From 1946 to 1950, the Soviet officers who were working in the repatriation mission multiplied the steps taken and the efforts made to stop the crime against thousands of Soviet children who were deported to Germany during the war. It is known that the Nazis deported the children, separated from their families by force, and even seized the tiny children who were in creches and kindergartens.

In addition, every effort is being made to bring pressure on the older children to make them forget their families and their country. In a circular addressed to the orphanages where the Soviet children are to be found, it is stated: "the children must learn the German language and their adoption by Germans through the intermediary of the German Red Cross, must be encouraged."

The anguish of the parents confronted by these facts is understandable; they know that their children are living, they shall never agree to give up the search for them, but are constantly blocked by the criminal manoeuvres of the British and American authorities.

It is impossible to remain indifferent to such simple and moving appeals as that made by the father of little Youry: "Help me to get back my son, Youry Nikolayev. The war took my wife and two small children from me. My only hope and joy is my son. Force the British and American military authorities to give me back my son!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Colonia San Rafael, Mexico

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I so enjoy reading your wonderful paper, above all your interesting articles on Europe.

As soon as I finish my work here in Mexico, I'll be on my way to Italy and Prague. I'll be here for another month yet. I'd like to stop at Haiti on my to Europe.

I think so much of what you're doing, our talks, your fine paper.

I am working on a campaign here in Mexico to collect signatures and letters to send Mr. Truman on behalf of the remaining Hollywood Ten. We have already sent several hundred letters to the Parole Board and have collected over 400 signatures on the Petitions. In today's "El Popular" (the leading progressive Mexican daily) was published an article of mine about the "Ten."

Let me know if there is ever anything that I can do for you or your paper. Is there anything to be done here, such as collecting signatures or letters for Lt. Gilbert or the Martinville Seven(or anything at all? (Ed. Yes. Collect all the signatures you can. Write all the letters and get others to write, to Pres. Truman, and the Governor of Virginia.)

I certainly wish you and all my good firends on the EAGLE a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year—for a "Peaceful" 1951.

Sincerely,
IVAN KRANKIN.

A second and a third letter to the "Martinsville Seven" written by the young people of France, are given here. The letters speak for themselves. Others will follow in the next issue of the EAGLE.

TO JOHN C. TAYLOR

Dear Friend: I have learned from the newspapers, and numerous reported accounts, of the unjust accusations, which has just been directed against you and your comrades. I can assure you, that we were all revolted by it, and that the people of France range themselves along side of those of many other countries, who fight to secure your release from unjust imprisonment.

In France, too, the regime is stiffening and the goverment is employing worse methods than ever, because it realizes its wrongs in attacking valiant fighters for peace, including the best heroes of the people. We are all with you in the struggle for your early release.

Much courage! There are thousands of us who share your suffering and who demand your release and I believe that our efforts will not be in vain. We know your execution has been postponed and this indicates their fear.

Courage dear John. Be of good morale and have this one thought: we shall secure your release, we shall wrench you from the hands of the American racists, of this be sure.

Long live the friendship between the American and French people!

Long live your early release!
Long live Peace!
A friend

Dear Friend Francis Grayson

We have just learned of the unjust sentence passed against you.

It is with a burst of anger that we accuse your tyrants. In France, and America, crime and poverty is starting to rule, and more than ever the fascists are lording it as masters of the situation and ordering new assassinations.

In Korea and Indo-China, the youth are also fighting for the happiness of their families, of their people and for peace.

The rights of the worker are reduced, but his will - power grows firm and his anger is daily increasing. We want peace and equality . . . and all united, hand in hand, we shall win.

Dear Francis, it is a French friend who sends you her fraternal greetings.

Long live Ppeace and the friendship of all peoples!

An Open Letter to San Pedro Police Department

Dear Captain Evans:

There's a saying that until a pedestrian gets killed at a dangerous crossing, no stop signs are erected at that crossing.

Is it the same with the Los Angeles police department? Does there have to be a murder before police brutality is stopped?

Well, there has been a murder, the murder of Sam Jones. And we all know there has been police brutality, the most recent cases being those of Nathaniel Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Walker, and Albert McPherson. All these brutal beatings were administered by your officers, "cops," they're called by the citi-

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By the Staff

Many labor organizations have joined in a demand that the transfer of Carl Marzani to the Atlanta, Ga., penitentiary be denied.

A special committee of 20 people sponsored by the New York Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions visited officials in Washington, D. C., late in November on Marzani's behalf. The delegation included representatives from the United Electrical Workers, Fur Workers, American Labor Party, and the Labor Youth League as well as from the arts, sciences and professions. They had an interview with Dr. George A. Killinger, chairman of the Federal Board of Parole, Warden Johnson, another member of the board, and with James V. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons. The man matter discussed was Marzani.

At present Marzani is a temporary prisoner in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

Carl Marzani is a resident of the state of Connecticut, and when he first became a victim of Nazi terror he was imprisoned near his home.

The decision to shift a Connecticut citizen to a Georgia prison with a reputation for brutal treatment such as this Atlanta prison, is but another attempt to frighten and intimidate American citizens and deny them freedom of speech and expression either by word of mouth or in writing.

The charge against Marzani was that he attempted to remove from prison without passing it through the censor, a manuscript of an authobiography only mildly political in content, which he had written in jail.

Every labor organization and other organizations and individuals who believe in freedom should write to James V. Bennett, director Bureau of Prison, Justice Department, Washington, D. C., urging the return of "Carl's Good Time," and changing his status to a permanent prisoner in Lewisburg rather than transfer him to Atlanta.

TRUMAN'S PROGRAM

SAN FRANCISCO—A national referendum on President Truman's new emergency control program was proposed in a statement issued over the weekend by President Harry Bridges of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

"The President's speech sounded like a declaration of war against most of the world, a war which the USA would apparently have to fight and finance virtually alone. It certainly constituted a declaration of war against the living standards and basic rights of the working people who will be impoverished if the program is given full force and effect.

"It was noticeable that the most drastic controls and restrictions are aimed at labor and the people of small income, with restraints upon profits and prices so full of holes as to make them practically meaningless.

"We listened in vain for anything resembling what FDR proposed during World War II when we were actually in war, namely, that all incomes including his own be limited to $25,000 a year after taxes.

"Also significantly lacking in his speech was any mention of a fair employment practices program—something that was a cornerstone of the Roosevelt-Wilkie cooperation for national unity to win World War II.

"If the situation is so critical that the drastic controls ordered by President Truman are needed, why not put the decision directly up to the American people through a referendum vote, including especially the boys now fighting in Korea. Such a referendum would cost less than one-tenth of one per cent of the vast sums which are being so glibly talked about. If the new program is a program for peace during peace, and such requires and deserves the full support and complete unity of the people behind it, why should anyone be afraid to let the American people and armed forces vote upon it?"

Letter from Wesley Wells

A letter from Wesley Robert Wells, condemned to die because he struck a prison guard with a cuspidor; although the guard was only injured slightly and did not die, was received from Mr. Wells' lawyer, Charles R. Garry, of San Francisco, who wishes to share it with the readers of The California Eagle. The letter is "self-explanatory," as Mr. Garry stated.

Wesley Robt. Wells
Box No. 24155, San Quentin

Charles R. Garry
Attorney-at-Law
San Francisco 4, Calif

Dear Mr. Garry:

I haven't as yet had an opportunity to look up the cases and authorities cited by the Atty. Gen. in his appeal brief; therefore, I am unable to form an opinion as to the weight of his argument. I did, however, notice that he had upped the number of "law and prison" infractions I'm alleged to have committed; it is now eighty, and I think it is safe to assume that he will, in his closing brief, mention that I was charged with "inciting a riot" here, October 31, 1950.

You have asked . . . why I am being segrated and discriminated against. You should know, but just in case you don't, I will tell you. "It is for the same reason that I was kept locked in my cell for eighteen months, when I first came up here—the same reason that that report was given and circulated that: "I was fighting and refused to quit when told to do so, and defied the guard to shoot"—the same reason as for the many lies that have been told about me and my case; all a part of a common scheme and plan, designed by the prison officials here, and others in high offices, calculated to create the impression that: I am "dangerously incorrigible, an unfit and unsafe subject to be permitted to live with condemned murderers and other felons, and should be put to death." And again I say: now is the time to thwart and expose the plan; and I do hope that you will duly consider my suggestions in regards to accomplishing that end.

I've written the warden requesting to be allowed to interview the men on condemned row, in connection with the matter that I discussed with you; but as of today I haven't received any answer from him. I feel that I should have the affidavits of the men before making out the petition. I will wait a few more days and if by then I haven't received the necessary permission, I will then petition the court to be allowed to do so. What do you think of it? . . .

I do hope that Mr. Curtright will be able to make the trip to Frisco next week and start on the papers for sertiorari, as our time limit again. I am sure that But then again, I am sure that you two know what you are doing; so I will try not to think about it. There will be plenty time to worry if and when certiorari is denied. Right? (Smile).

Last week I submitted a list of names and addresses to the warden of friends with whom I had been corresponding, some for over a period of years, and requested to be allowed to continue corresponding with them. Among the names submitted to the warden were such prominent men and women as: Rev. Boswell, of San Francisco; Marian nglewood, 1055 East 41st Street, Los Angeles; Rev. Harold A. L. Clement, 1669 Geary Street, San Francisco; Mrs. Frances Williams, of the Negro Elks of Civil Liberties Committee, Los Angeles; Rev. William Turner, 2126 Sutter Street, San Francisco; Rev. F. D. Haynes, 1299 Hyde Street, San Francisco; Mr. J. C. Williams, Editor of "The Sun Reporter," San Francisco, and other respectable citizens. The list was returned to me, with a note from the warden which read as follows: "not approved as correspondents or visitors."

Does it not seem odd to you, that the warden could consider the above mentioned ladies and gentlemen as: unfit correspondents or visitors? especially so in the face of the fact that they were "approved" correspondents and visitors, some over a period of more than two years, and were "approved" correspondents up until the evening of October 31st—the evening I was cruelly and brutally choked unconscious because I would not give the guards the excuse they so obviously wanted to beat my head in, the evening that I suffered the treatment equivalent of the Southern "sweat-box"—the evening I will remember as the "most horrible night" of my prison experience.

I wonder what has happened since the evening of October 31st that caused the warden to consider Rev. Turner, Mr. J. C. Williams, Rev. F. D. Hynes, and the others as "unapproved" correspondents and visitors? It is interesting to note that: the warden has no objections to me receiving letters from my friends, as he allowed me to "receive" them, even while I was in the hole; but they are not "approved" correspondents for: ME TO WRITE TO. Such inconsistency in reasoning is, I'm afraid, above and beyond my comprehension. I wonder if such reasoning could be caused from fear

Alpha Bowling Social Club Holds Annual Pre-Christmas Party

The Alpha Bowling Social Club house at 2914 Western avenue was the beautiful setting for the Club's annual social event last Saturday evening, December 23.

Alpha Bowling is one of the most progressive men's clubs in the city. It was organized twenty years ago as a cultural venture to develop social relationships among the working class men.

The club during its twenty years' organization has advanced not only socially but likewise economically. It has purchased a valuable club house on Western avenue where it holds its meetings and social affairs.

Last Saturday night's pre-Christmas party was a gala event in keeping with Alpha Bowling's previous affairs.

The Club members' annual parties are always supported by their wives who are present in evening gowns that compare favorably with Hollywood affairs of a like nature.

Among the nearly two hundred guests present were the founder, John Lanier with Mrs. Lanier; the Club's president, Norman Mitchell; and the Club Mother, Editor Charlotta Bass.

After socializing in the Club's lobby for more than an hour, the guests were ushered into a well lighted and beautifully decorated dining hall where the chairman of entertainment, George Crawford, had spread a feast fit for kings. It was turkey with all the trimmings.

There was also, according to custom, a program.

Atty. E. N. Porter, as toastmaster, was a jolly good fellow and in fine form for such an occasion. He opened the program with some spicy bits of blank verse he had learned a few years ago when he was a teenager.

John Lanier, founder, briefed the Club's early history. President Norman Mitchell thanked Alpha Bowling members for the confidence and trust they had placed in him as their leader, and pledged to do all within his power to place the organization at the top among others of its kind.

Other members and friends spoke words of encouragement.

Among the Club members and guests present were: Mrs. Nelson Hughes, Mr. Fred D. Enour, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. Wilson, W. Hiner, Wm. H. Lincolnfelter, Betty M. Abney, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Young, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. Smiley King, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel H. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McCain, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett M. Porter, Mr. Norman Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bland, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones, Mr. John Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Laneer, Al Collins, Mr. Royal, Mr. Moore, Mr. Neunez, Mr. Robinson, Wilson Hynes, Mrs. Holiday, Wilson Reed, Tiney Moore, Taylor Lawrey, Claybourne Brown, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Margaret Edwards and Bentley Burk.

Officers of Eastern Star Chapters Installed

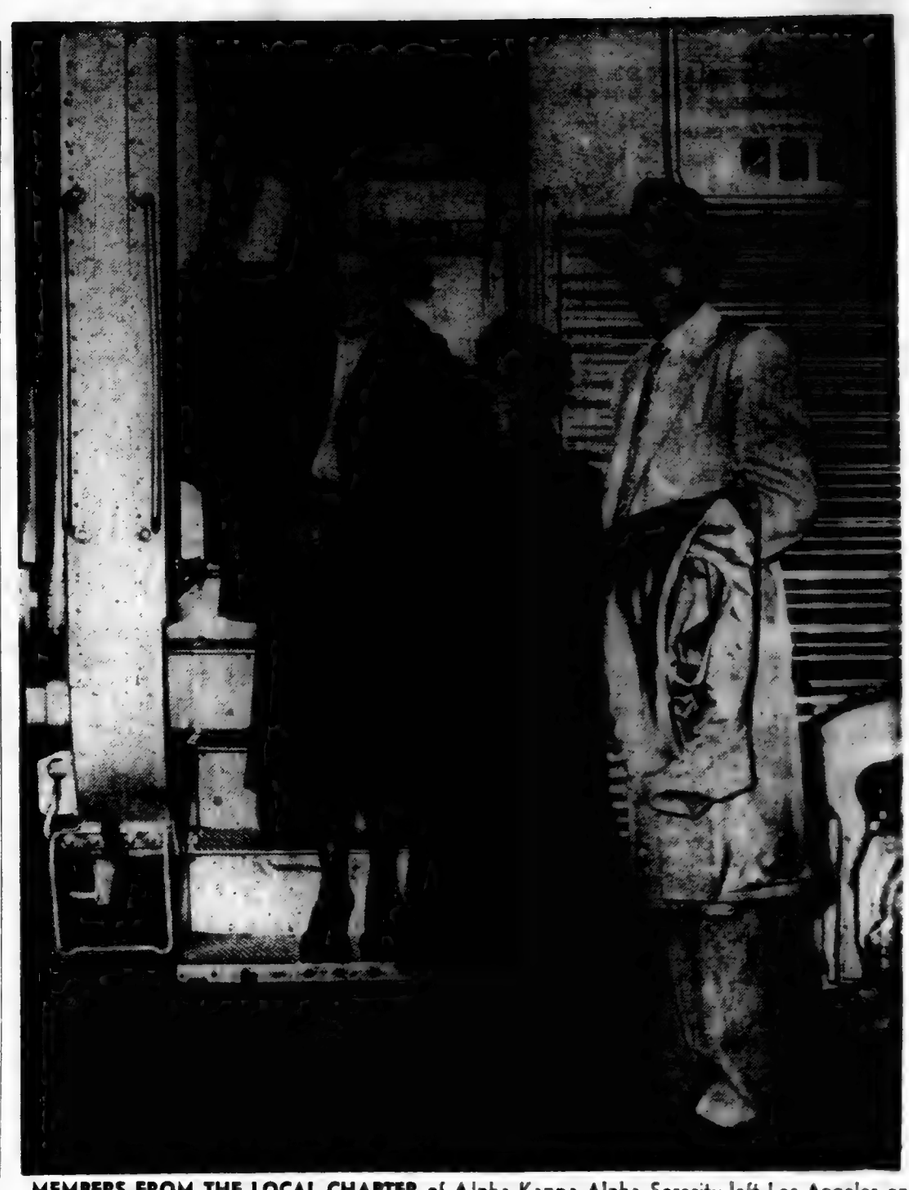
On December 21, 1950, the Prince Hall Lodges of Los Angeles, and the Golden State Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star of the state of California and jurisdiction, opened their Masonic Hall to the public that the people of Los Angeles might witness a veritable Arabian Night's tale of beauty.

This pageant of beauty, directed by Rev. Geraldine O'Conner, Grand Associate Matron of the Golden State Grand Chapter, was typical of this remarkable leader's many abilities. The committee assisting her were: Mrs. Zora Thompson, general chairman; Mrs .Mary I. Firmes, general secretary; Mrs. Hazel McGee, Mrs. Willa Mae Cowans, Mrs. Clarabelle Ashcraft, Mrs. Fannie V. Dean, Mrs. Arie Lee Clark, Mrs. Ellen Weber, Mr. Albert Record, Mr. George City, and others.

The duties of mistress of ceremonies were ably carried out by Mrs. Zora Thompson, Past Grand Esther, and at the present time, one of a number of district deputies. The installation itself was conducted by Mr. Arthur Lewis Crosby, Grand Worthy Patron of the Grand Chapter.

The hall itself was made beautiful with winter flowers banked against the rostrum. As the retiring matrons, garbed in white, entered the hall, they were followed by the new matrons for 1951 and their various officers for installation.

The retiring matrons for 1950 were as follows: Gertrude Allen, Electa Chapter; June Harvey, Deborah Chapter; Hattie J. Duncan, Queen Vashti Chapter; Frances Boswell, Princess Ozeil Chapter; Margurite Norman, Victory Chapter; Mildred McKinney, Rose of Sharon Chapter; Marjorie Herbert, Guiding Star Chapter; Ella Dostey, Stairlight Chapter; and Alberta Parker, Acacia Chapter.



The Grand Marshalls presenting the officers for installation were Mr. John L. Thompson and Mrs. Ann Powell.

As each new matron for 1951 took her office, she was presented with a sheaf of American Beauty Roses. The new matrons installed were as follows: Hattie Johnson, Electa Chapter; Mattie Jackson, Deborah Chapter; Grace Reynolds, Queen Vashti Chapter; Marilyn Cooksey, Princess Obeil Chapter; Lillian Campbell, Victory Chapter; Rose Laskey, Symphony Chapter; Marjorie Bruce, Rose of Sharon Chapter; Sylvia Nunez, Guilding Star Chapter; Lessie Postell, Starlight Chapter; and Dorothy McCormick.

The prayer which is always a part of these solemn ceremonies, was offored by Rev. Gertrude Devers, retiring Matron of Affectionate Chapter.

A Christmas medley was sung by Mrs. Margaret Pett. All of the music so beautifully hailing the Yuletide season was played by Mrs. Elizabeth Spratley.

The beauty of the installation ceremony was climaxed by the lighting of over 200 candles and the audience participating in singing "The Star of the East."

MEMBERS FROM THE LOCAL CHAPTER of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority left Los Angeles on the afternoon of December 25, 1950 to attend the Boule in Kansas City, Missouri from December 27th through 30. Persons attending are Zenobia Allen, Bernice Catherine Wright, Odessa James Jones, Essie Tucker, Frances Drye, Benzell Graham, Shirley Spencer. Mrs. Audrey B. Jones, Far Western Regional Director, left via TWA Friday, December 22nd, to participate in the AKA Directorate pre-convention meeting. Social Notes

by
WINI ORR

With just a few hours left in the old year, your new social reporter wishes to take this opportunity to wish all of the Eagle readers a Happy, Prosperous New Year. May our association in the coming year be a pleasant one.

First of all we wish Vivian Johnson, your former scribe, all the good things her heart desires in the coming months, and we hope that we can do as well in the future as she has in the past.

Nineteen hundred fifty-one promises to be quite a year. With all the war rumors the urge to live will be great. Families will be closer in the thought that there may be changes next year. Starting with the Christmas holidays, many families spent their time together.

Althea Taylor Polk came down from San Francisco to spend the holidays with her family, the William Pages, and her daughter, Julie. When we dropped by to give our greetings the gifts were piled high around the silver tree and friends were wishing the not-so-well Mrs. Page good health in the coming year.

We gabbed awhile with U.C.L.A. students Edwin Stanton and Joe Childs; and had the pleasure of meeting Al Hawkins from San Francisco on his first visit to the Southland. Incidentally, Althea will be home for about 10 days.

Christmas in the country is usually a picture-card theme. Not so with us when our family got together at the Sun Village Ranch of our favorite cousins, the Melvin Grubbs, for turkey and all the fixin's. With the weather strictly on the dreamy side both in the sun-bathed afternoon and the full moonlit night, the drive was wonderful. Naturally one felt that going to a ranch, things were going to be a bit on the rustic side, but never were we so wrong in assuming such. The G[illegible] are modernly and comfortably situated with all the city comforts. Spacious house, and what a picture the gayly-lit Christmas tree in the big bay window as you approached the house through the winding drive.

Since Melvin has gone in for chicken raising in the same thorough manner that he conducts his notary and real estate business, needless to say that every facility for making the job easier has been provided. Cleo is, of course, still with the Golden State Life Insurance Company. Other guests enjoying the wonderful hospitality were Teretha and Henry Mobley, and the caretakers (who really do a wonderful job) Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Yancy, Robert Moore, Kathryn Ragland, Hattie Worthy Williams and Mahala Ragsdale. Certainly was a wonderful time.

Another of our favorite hostesses, Evelyn Joliet, held open house on Christmas Day for her family and many, many friends. Never known to entertain on a small scale, this was no exception. Just to name a few of Evelyn's well-wishers and samplers of her excellent eggnog and dinner there were: the Billy Ecksteins, Maud and Otto Martin, Herman and Lillian Giles (he has the garage on W. Jefferson, and she is a talented hair stylist), Mr. and Mrs. Augustus, Helen Taylor, Viola and Leonard Ross, George Washington, the Rich brothers from Houston, Texas; John Harris, Neil Shubert, Charlotte Griggs, Harry Young, and of course Evelyn's sister, Georgia Crane (that's Crane's Celebrity Club) and her Dallas. If we had stayed a little longer we would have said "hello" to a lot more.

This was our first year to see Ruth Hart's Christmas display in her home. The talented Ruth gets her biggest enjoyment out of taking as little as possible in the way of material, and using an abundance of imagination. This year Mrs. Hart has the interior of a church, complete with robed minister, crystal chandeliers, choir, congregation, pianist, and even to the money on the collection table.

Next door to the church is a beautiful little house furnished in the French Period manner, with lace curtains, drapes and dresdens. The manger scene dominates the whole and the Noah's Ark is a close second. All in all it is really something to see and Mrs. Hart is good enough to share her Christmas display with the public.

Gerald Price, that gay bachelor about town, had friends in on Christmas to share his hospitality. He received cards enough from all over the United States to paper the wall.

We certainly are sorry we did not get to say good-bye to Fannie Gordon before she left for New York to spend

Slauson Playground Christmas Party

More than 300 adults and children filled the Slauson Playground recreation hall to capacity last Wednesday evening to make the first annual Christmas party and entertainment sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Florence Avenue Club of the Independent Progressive Party a tremendous success.

More than 20 prizes for children were given away with the co-operation of Florence Avenue merchants. The grand prize of the evening, a 15-pound turkey together with all the fixings for a complete family Christmas dinner, was won by John Thompson of 1915 East 78th Street. The turkey was donated by Hiram's Market.

Harry Siegel, master magician, held both children and adults enthralled by sleight-of-hand tricks. J. D. Nicholson's Jive Five was greeted by enthusiastic cheers from the entire audience. Ted Watkins played the role of Santa Claus, presenting everyone present with a bag of Christmas sweets.

Mrs. Bernice Watkins of 1138 E. 88th Place, who is chairman of the IPP Women's Committee, expressed thanks to the many women who worked to make the party a success and to the merchants who generously contributed prizes. "We underestimated the tournout for our community party and want to express our regrets to those who attended that sound equipment was not available so that the performers could be heard throughout the hall. Everyone was so marvelously patient with the great number of children that a good time was had in spite of the noise," Mrs. Watkins stated.

ALEXANDERS ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander entertained at dinner on Christmas Day the Capeltons, at least two generations of them. It was a jolly occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Reeves on E. 23rd St. had as their dinner guests Christmas Mr. Sellers and C. A. Bass, the editor of the California Eagle.

Alcohol taken into the body has its effect in many ways, some of which are: (1) Longer reaction time in response of eyes, hands and feet; (2) Impaired coordination of muscles, arms and legs; (3) Dulling of attention of outside stimuli; and (4) Impaired vision and hearing.

Prince Hall Masons Install New Officers

Wednesday evening, December 20 1950, the various local lodges of the Prince Hall Family of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of California held their annual joint installation of officers at the Masonic Temple, 1050 E. 50th St. The event, one of the most colorful and impressive of its kind, marked the beginning of the 95th year of activity in the state of California on the part of this nationally prominent and historically consequent body.

The services were opened in prayer by Rev. David McNickels. Starling J. Hopkins, Grand Master of Masons, personally supervised the ritualistic proceedings. James H. Finis, Grand Lecturer, brilliant in oratory and expression, installed the new officers. Andrew Powell, Past Master and active officer in the Grand Chapter, served as Marshall, while William Henry, Past Master of Garrison Lodge No. 45, F. &A.M., was master of ceremonies.

Randolph Williams, Sr., re-elected Master of St. John Lodge No. 3, F. & A.M., addressed the assembly on behalf of the new Masters of 1951. The new Masters who were installed were James Watts, Angel City Lodge No. 18; Lawrence Cosey Jr., Delta Lodge No. 21; Michael Curtis, Douglass Lodge No. 33; Charles A. Hunter, Garrison Lodge No. 45; Charles T. Pryme, Thomas Waller Lodge No. 49; Chauncey J. Clark, Guardian Lodge No. 50; Samuel Derricks, Civic Center Lodge No. 52; Louis Anderson, William Nickerson Jr. Lodge No. 55; and Earl Bohannon Jr., Highland Heights Lodge No. 59.

The Masters retiring were: Frank A. Jones, Angel City No. 18; Alfred E. Thompson, Delta No. 21; Lloyd Chaney, Douglass No. 33; John Alex Johnson, Garrison No. 45; Arthur Evans, Thomas Waller No. 49; Walter J. Armstead, Guardian No. 50; Sollie Metoyer, Civic Center No. 52; Marston O. Washington, William Nickerson Jr. No. 55; and Victor Norman, Highland Heights No. 59.

YPA Dance, Saturday

"Start your New Year early," was the advice of the Young Progressives of America as it announced its pre-New Year's dance, Saturday evening, Dec. 30, at the Parkview Manor.

The youth group is starting early with 1951 activities by running this affair. Aside from getting together for fun, they hope to raise money for a sports program of basketball and Judo.

An all-tar youth band will provide music for dancing on the smooth ballroom at 2200 West 7th Street. There will be a special art exhibit of the work of young Negro and white artists at the dance, and some of the work will be for sale.

Tickets are only 65c, and are available at 2206 S. Vermont Ave., RE 2-8152, or 4155 S. Central Ave., AD 8308. Come early and stay late, as the YPA starts a year of working and playing together for peace, for freedom, for lots of fun.

the holidays with her family. Fannie has been in our parts for the last two year in federal employ. We hear that she just might stay in the East this time. Too far from the family.

Took particular delight in wishing Bob Hopkins a happy birthday on Christmas Eve. We have always felt that Christmas children get gipped what with gift giving right on their birthdays. One gift generally has to do it.

Bernice Wright called to let us know that as the publicity chairman for Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, she will keep us posted on the doings at the National Boule in Kansas City. Leaving soon to attend are Zenobia Allen, Odessa James Jones, Essie Tucker, Frances Drye, Benzelle Graham, Shirley Spencer and Audrey B. Jones, the far western regional director.

Madonna Martin in town to spend the holidays with her brother and sister, the D. C. Montgomerys. (Lily Montgomery is the girl who has waved the magic wand over the local chapter of the NAACP with her Special Activities Group.) Zenith's planning their annual Christmas party for the members and their company. Tentatively set for New Year's Eve.

Christmas card from Betty and Mickey Jones who are in their new home for this wonderful season.

Missed the Alpha dance for reasons beyond our control but hear it really was a wonderful affair. Don't plan to miss the Delta dance at all this Thursday at the Avodon.

U.S.O. work will more than likely be getting back into the swing of things before long. Just last week Lieut. Larry Pickens helped to arrange a dance for the boys at Camp Roberts and took up a bunch of lovelies from our town. Emily Brinson and Libby Clark went along to help chaperone the group. Everyone said they had a wonderful time and as Lib told us: "The mess was a MESS."

As we wind up we want to ask our readers to help us select a name for the column, something that we will be able to use as Joe Harris uses his "Smoke Rings"; Libby Clark her "Adlibbying"; and Lillian Cumber the "Scratch Pad." Write us in care of the office and any title we choose we will show our appreciation in some manner.

For now, a very Happy New Year to you all.

Murder Suspect To Be Tried on 7-Year Charges

"The Man in Room 2" is to be returned from Tijuana, Mexico, to Los Angeles to face a seven-year-old murder charge.

He is Aniceto Martinez Hinojosa, alias Tony Vasquez, now 30, accused of cutting the throat and stabbing to death Charles A. Durland, 69, March 25, 1943, in a hotel Durland operated at 3544 E. First street.

Detectives heard Durland's dying words:

"The Man In Room 2."

Through a defense worker's badge the suspect was trailed to Mexico.

Gov. Earl Warren Oct. 1, 1943, issued papers requesting extradition of Hinojosa.

Hinojosa fought extradition for seven years, but the Department of Foreign Relations of Mexico this week ordered him deported to Los Angeles for trial.

As far as is known, he will be the first Mexican citizen turned over to the United States since the ratification of a United States-Mexico treaty in 1900.

zens, who are fast losing respect for your department and your handling of Negroes. It is rumored that you are from Georgia. Perhaps that explains, though certainly does not excuse, your attitude and that of your department toward colored people.

Perhaps, too, in the past, your men felt that no matter how brutally they dealt with Negroes, you'd exonerate them. But this Sam Jones deal is another thing. A shocked but aroused populace is fighting mad about this murder—even people who like Negroes "in their places" won't stand for murder from those who are paid to be our protectors!

We demand that you not only punish those policemen who have been responsible for the many brutal beatings in the harbor area, but also that you recommend their immediate discharge.

We are sending copies of this letter to President Truman, our congressmen, to the district attorney, to Mayor Bowron, to Chief Parker, and to our daily newspapers.

Yours truly,
MR. AND MRS.
B. SHAMPANIER.

. . . ? I wonder if it could be that, the warden feels that if I am allowed to correspond freely with my friends and receive visits from them I may be able to interest them to the extent of investigating the facts of the cause . . . of my present treatment. Maybe the warden feels that if I am allowed to receive visits and to correspond freely, I will be able to refute the lies told to and in the newspapers relating to that affair here October 31st—afraid that I will make known to my friends the fact that I am still suffering from the brutal choking I received and am unable to receive any medical attention for my throat- Hu-u-u?

Please contact Aubrey, and make known to him all the facts, and ask him, for me, to please try to help me, as I am afraid I will lose my voice, as my throat is getting worse.

Also, please contact Rev. Haynes, and Mr. J. C. Williams and ask them to please do their best to see me, or arrange for someone to do so. I would like to see Ida, badly.

Yours sincerely,
BOB.

Paroled Captain Of Police Held

Earle E. Kynette former Los Angeles police captain who served seven years in San Quentin for the dynamite bombing of Vice Investigator Harry Raymond was arrested in Oakland this week.

The 50 year-old parolee was arrested as a common drunk by two officers who noticed him staggering on a downtown street. Police inspectors placed a hold on him to permit additional questioning.

At the time of his arrest Kynette attempted to discard a bottle which he later admitted to officers contained pills and capsules of nitroglycerin. Kynette said the nitro preparations were for his heart. Contents of the bottle are being analyzed.

Kynette was convicted of attempted murder in 1938, six months after Raymond was critically injured by the explosion of a homemade dynamite bomb placed under the hood of his car.

The concert was presented under the direction of a program committee headed by Walker H. Quarles, a member of Phi Lambda Chapter.

Urge Registration Of County "Reds" Under a State Law

A state law requiring the registration of communists was urged yesterday by the Board of Supervisors.

County Manager Wayne R. Allen, Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, District Attorney William Simpson, and County Counsel Harold W. Kennedy have agreed the state should pass legislation under which those failing to register as communists would be arrested and prosecuted.

The present county ordinance requiring the registration of communists applies only to unincorporated territory, Allen told the board. He said that subversives residing in such sections have been moving to other cities where no Red registration law is in effect.

Auto Registration At Branch Banks

As a convenience to motorists, 23 Southland branch banks will handle automobile registration renewals during the Jan. 2-Feb. 5 renewal period, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced today. Registration will be on potential registration cards only, it was emphasized.

The banks will not service potential registration cards of commercial vehicles or motorcycles, nor will they handle such transactions as ownership transfers or engine changes.

Reject "Key" Law in City

Too many "innocent" citizens would be tagged as criminals, city councilmen decided yesterday in rejecting a proposed ordinance making it a misdemeanor to leave ignition keys in a parked car.

"This is the wrong approach to the juvenile delinquency problem," commented Councilman George P. Cronk. "A man who unwittingly left his keys in the car would be liable to arrest under this law. It would be another step in regimenting people."

Councilman Don A. Allen argued that such a law would give police another weapon in their fight to prevent automobile thefts, and would also serve to remove temptation from potential car thieves.

The kids who want to steal a car would not be thwarted by the lack of keys, as they are ingenious enough to find some other way of hauling away the auto, said Councilman Lee S. Warburton.

The vote was 8 to 3 against the proposed ordinance which the Police commission already had frowned upon as unenforceable.

CENTRAL LABOR GROUP REJECTS CHANGE IN LAW

The AFL Los Angeles Central Labor Council has rejected a proposed change in its constitution to provide for expulsion from the council of members who make any other political endorsement than that made by the United AFL Voters' League. Instead, the council provided that such a person shall not use the name of the council in making his endorsement.

WIFE DIVORCES DELAWARE MAN

LOS ANGELES. (NPB)—Mrs. Martha Morris, 137 No. Benton Way, fas handed an Xmas present last Thursday in the form of an interlocutory divorce decree when she appeared in Department 10 of the Superior Court.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson was the legal advisor for Mrs. Morris and represented her at the trial. His argument was based on the husband's extreme cruelty to his client.

The Morris' were married in Delaware in 1936 and separated here in 1946. They own property in Maryland which the court has indicated it will make proper disposition of subejct to the divorce.

"Copper, Nickel Use by Civilians to Be Curtailed," reads a headline. If they're talking about the increased taxes, they might as well add silver and paper (folding kind, that is).

CLUB OASIS STARTS NEW YEAR OFF RIGHT WITH THOSE TERRIFIC TRENIER TWINS

The sensational Trenier Twins and the Gene Gilbeaux Quartet open an engagement at the famed Club Oasis, 3801 S. Western Ave., on New Year's Day. Claude and Cliff are one of the new acts to hit the "big time" without the aid of records. With their clown-like antics and distinctive duo vocalizations, these boys have made a startling successful pull up the road of recognition. Their hit recordings include "Sure Had a Wonderful Time," "Ain't She Pretty" and "A Man's Blues."

SPIKE JONES

Next year theatrical horizons in the Southland will be shaken with mirth and music with the advent of musical funster Spike Jones and his City Slickers. The troupe moves into the Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles for two performances on January 16 and 17. The inimitable Spike will present his new "1951 Musical Depreciation Revue" which is rated as the funniest presentation on the American stage today.

The list of talent in the "Musical Depreciation Revue" includes Doodles Weaver, Dr. Horatio Q. Birdbath, George Rock, Sir Frederic Gas, Dick Gardner, Dick Morgan and a host of others, including a miniature zoo and sideshow of four pigs, five pigeons, a seven-foot giant, and a three-foot midget.

The revue starts out on the stage with some 40 people, each trying to be funnier than the other, and bit by bit new instruments appear on which the Slickers and Spike create bedlamatic music.

Prior to the Los Angeles engagement, Spike Jones and his gang will stop over at Pasadena Civic Auditorium for a single performance on January 15. The local showings of this hilarious show are sponsored by Moss, Hayman and Wilson.

ADAM'S TV SHOW THIS FRIDAY

"Mayor of Melody" Joe Adams' Chest X-Ray all-star television show was preesnted on KFI-TV Friday, Dec. 22. The half-hour program featured the music of Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong and his all-star aggregation including Jack Teagarden, Earl Hines, Barney Bigard, Cozy Cole, Arvell Shaw and Velma Middletown. Steve Gipson and the Red Caps also appeared on the program.

The theater chapter of the Committee for the Negro in the Arts is presenting Christmas shows at the Harlem and Sydenham Hospitals during the holidays. Mrs. Alice Childress, actress, director and playwright; and Joseph McFadden, actor, are in charge of the shows which were given at Sydenham on Wednesday, December 27 at 2:30 p.m. for children and on Friday, December 29 at 3 p.m. for adults. The program for Harlem Hospital children will be given Thursday, December 28.

Sidney Poitier, recently returned from South Africa where he starred in the filming of "Cry the Beloved Country" and Hilda Haynes (Streetcar Named Desire) head the list of entertainers along with dancers and stars from the CNA production, "Just a Little Simple."

"Just a Little Simple," the dramatic-musical based on incidents from Langstone Hughes' "Simple Speaks His Mind," adapted by Alice Childress, is taking a holiday vacation until January 3. Those play-goers who saw the show last Wednesday evening had the privilege of seeing Mrs. Childress play the role of "Mama" in her one-act play "Florence." Mrs. Childress went on for Clarice Taylor, who had to fill in at her other job.

"Just a Little Simple" will resume its playing schedule at the Club Baron, 437 Lenox avenue, Wednesday, January 3. Performances are scheduled for Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays through January 18. A special performance will be given on Tuesday, December 16, for the Library Committee of Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

The Committee for the Negro in the Arts is moving its headquarters to 261 W. 125th street after January 1. It will share offices with the Negro Drama Group of which Powell Lindsay is director.

The well-known singer recently returned from a successful European concert tour.

JERRY GRAY ORCHESTRA TO PLAY HOLIDAY WEEKEND AT AVODON

Jerry Gray, who scored a smashing hit with the dancers at the Avodon Ballroom last weekend, has been selected to do a repeat and to also do the musical honors for the New Year's Eve dance.

The Gray ork will play this Saturday and Sunday night, December 30 and 31st.

The management of the popular ballroom said that they will make this weekend a gala one, and special surprises will be in the offing for the New Year's Eve dance.

FREDDIE RUBIO ORCHESTRA TO SHARE SPOTLIGHT

Freddie Rubio and his Mambo-Rumba orchestra is being held over along with the Jerry Gray orchestra.

Freddie shares the spotlight with Jerry Gray and offering the popular mambos and rumbas which are the rage today.

It was also announced that there will be no matinee dance this Sunday, but that dancing will start promptly at 8 p.m.

A capacity crowd is expected to dance at the Avodon this weekend and bid farewell to the downtown ballroom which has been the dancing center for the latins during the past few years. The ballroom is scheduled to close its doors forever, after the New Year's Eve dance.

Solid Senders Send 'Em In Oakland

Roy Milton and his Solid Senders proved to be just that in Oakland Christmas night when they attracted nearly 8,000 paid admissions at Civic Auditorium.

In fine fettle, Roy and his great crew of entertainers including Camille Howard, Freddie Clark, new vocal ace and Princess of the blues Lillie Greenwood rocked the huge auditorium to its very foundations.

The dance was easily the biggest and best event of its kind of the year.

Milton's caravan moved over to Fresno after the Oakland date, where they played the following night.

Since his return to the West Coast, Milton has appeared in several benefit shows, the most notable being the annual Newton Police Division's Christmas party for the Junior DAPS at the Elks, and with disc jockey Joe Adams on KFI's Channel 4 Community Chest program.

Upon the band's return from the Northwest, they are set for a series of sessions for Specialty Records.

SRO Sign Up For Satchmo At Oasis

HOLLYWOOD—If a popularity poll was taken of the nation's entertainment personalities, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong would be a cinch to rank at the very top.

Presently holding forth at the Oasis Club in Los Angeles, the king of the trumpet and his great all star band, are attracting the biggest crowds the nitery has enjoyed this year.

Top names in all walks of life from Beverly Hills to Watts, come nightly to pay homage to Louie's genius.

Opening night saw such luminaries as Herman Hover, owner of Ciro's, MGM music director Georgie Stoll, Nick Castle, peerless master of dance, Billy Eckstine, Bing Crosby and his staff of writers, and many others.

Louie is kept busy between shows, signing autographs and greeting old friends.

Always a hard worker, Pops and his talented crew give a dazzling show. Velma Middleton, Cozy Coles, Jack Teagarden, Earl Hines, Barney Bigard, and Arvel Shaw; every last one are sensational attractions.

Louie doesn't limit his activities to the Oasis. He's been going to MGM studio everyday doing pre-recordings for "The Strip" which will star Mickey Rooney.

Last Sunday in Hollywood, he turned in great a performance on NBC's "The Big Show," an all star variety radio program. Satchmo shared the spotlight with mistress of ceremonies Tallulah Bankhead, Bob Hope, Dorothy McGuire, Deborah Kerr, Jerry Lewis, Dean Martin, Frankie Laine, Meredith Wilson, his orchestra and Jimmy Wallington.

Popularity of Lionel Hampton, first Negro to play at the Palladium in Los Angeles, continues to grow throughout the nation and the world.

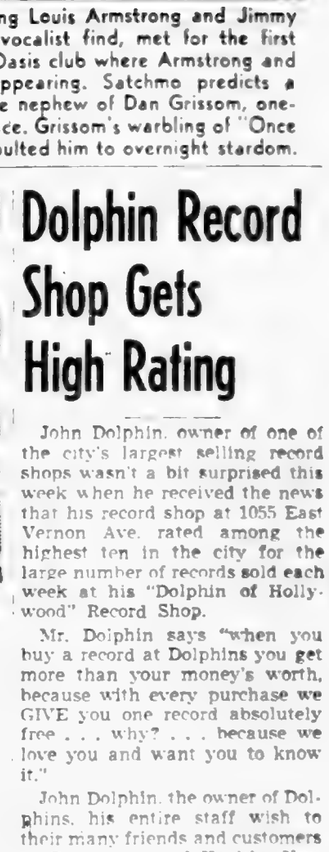
GREETINGS . . . Trumpet King Louis Armstrong and Jimmy Grissom, sensational young vocalist find, met for the first time between shows at the Oasis club where Armstrong and his all-star orchestra are appearing. Satchmo predicts a brilliant future for Jimmy, the nephew of Dan Grissom, one-time Jimmy Lunceford band ace. Grissom's warbling of "Once There Lived a Fool" has catapulted him to overnight stardom.

HER STORY NOT A FANTASY—Many people think of beauteous Lena Horne's climb as something as exotic and fantastic as the magic carpet but in her new book, "In Person, Lena Horne," the famed singer tells in an entertaining way of her long and at times most disappointing struggle for success. Written as told by the lovely entertainer to Helen Arstein and Carlton Moss, the book denotes the outstanding qualities of simplicity and frankness.



Dolphin Record Shop Gets High Rating

John Dolphin, owner of one of the city's largest selling record shops wasn't a bit surprised this week when he received the news that his record shop at 1055 East Vernon Ave. rated among the highest ten in the city for the large number of records sold each week at his "Dolphin of Hollywood" Record Shop.

Mr. Dolphin says "when you buy a record at Dolphins you get more than your money's worth, because with every purchase we GIVE you one record absolutely free . . . why? . . . because we love you and want you to know it."

John Dolphin, the owner of Dolphins, his entire staff wish to their many friends and customers a "Prosperous and Healthy New Year."

★ Art Lewis
SPORTS EDITOR

Well, the RAMS didn't win the title last Sunday in Cleveland against the Browns but they certainly have nothing to be ashamed of. They played one of the best games they have ever played in losing to the greatest team in football, the Cleveland Browns.

Bob Waterfield had one of his better days as he led the team up and down the field and averaged over 50 yards on his punts. The whole team was superb.

The statistics show just how even the game was. Both made 22 first downs. The Browns total yardage gained was 412 yards and the Rams was 418. Otto Graham of the Browns completed 22 out of 32 passes for 298 yards, while Waterfield completed 18 out of 32 for 312 yards.

But the Browns had that something extra and came through with the well deserved victory.

I know that Harry Wismer must be happy over the outcome. He certainly sounded excited during his broadcast whenever the Browns in particular came through with a brilliant play. Who said Bob Kelly was overly partial?

The Rams are home this week and no less than six of them have been selected to play in the first annual Pro-Bowl game on Jan. 14 in the Coliseum. They are Bob Waterfield (of course), Norm Van Brokiin, Woodley Lewis, Dick Huffman, Tom Fears (the number one pass catcher in the league) and Harry Brink.

It should be a great game since it pits the leading stars of each conference against each other and the game should be a near sell out.

MONEY, MONEY

Last week it was announced that Art Aragon would meet Ike Williams in Los Angeles next year for the world's lightweight title.

Just why Aragon, with only a fairly good record, should get the chance over John L. Davis, the State champion, is not too hard to understand.

You see, boxing it NOT a sport whereby the champion fights the leading and most logical contender, but where he fights the man who will draw the most cash into the till.

Aragon, while ranked only 10th among the country's lightweights, is quite a colorful and popular fighter around these parts and would probably draw more of his followers to the match than would Davis, the number one contender.

So the promoters, if they can, will naturally overlook the ratings in favor of the lettuce, wouldn't you?

WATCH OUT FOR PING-PONG PLAYERS

Joe Louis has been playing a lot of Ping-Pong lately to help sharpen his once murderous punch. "Why," he says, "since I've started playing ping-opng I can just feel the old speed coming back."

He says that if he had started playing sooner Ezzard Charles wouldn't have spoiled his fistic comeback.

CHARLES—THE FIGHTER OF THE YEAR

Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles has been named "fighter of the year" by the current issue of Ring Magazine. Ray Robinson in the same issue was named as the "best all-around fighter" in any division

Nat Fleischer, who wrote the article, said that he did not place Sugar Ray over Charles because "the sum total of his influence on the boxing situation was not equal to that represented by Charles' surprisingly easy success against Joe Louis."

Ray did squeeze out one "victory" over Charles, however. He won the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque which was presented recently by the New York Boxing Writers Association. Charles came in second in the balloting. The plaque will be presented to Robinson on Jan. 9 that the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York City.

NO CHARLES-WALCOTT BOUT IN VIEW YET

Jake Mintz, the wirey little manager of Charles, made it quite clear to newsmen recently when asked about reports of a Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott fight in Miami, Florida.

"Never heard of it," he screamed. "We're signed to fight Lee Oma in New York on the 12th. We only sign for one match at a time."

Ezz, meanwhile, is in Cincinnati to spend the holidays with his mother.

WHAT?

I expect California to defeat Michigan next Monday in the Rose Bowl. And I've got two tickets too, anybody want 'em?

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

CALIENTE, Mexico — (Special to Eagle)—"This will be racedom's most beautiful tracks. One of the safest, with convenience of the patrons the uncelled."

This was the consensus of opinion as this writer toured the massive million-dollar Caliente Race Track in Tijuana, Mexico Friday interviewing different personalities. Many of the nation's top racing figures on tour of the Caliente oval, now undergoing a half-million dollar face-lifting program were very enthusiastic of the job now underway at the track. These figures marvelled at the program which will make Caliente a 'thing of beauty.'

GEO. A. RAMSEY

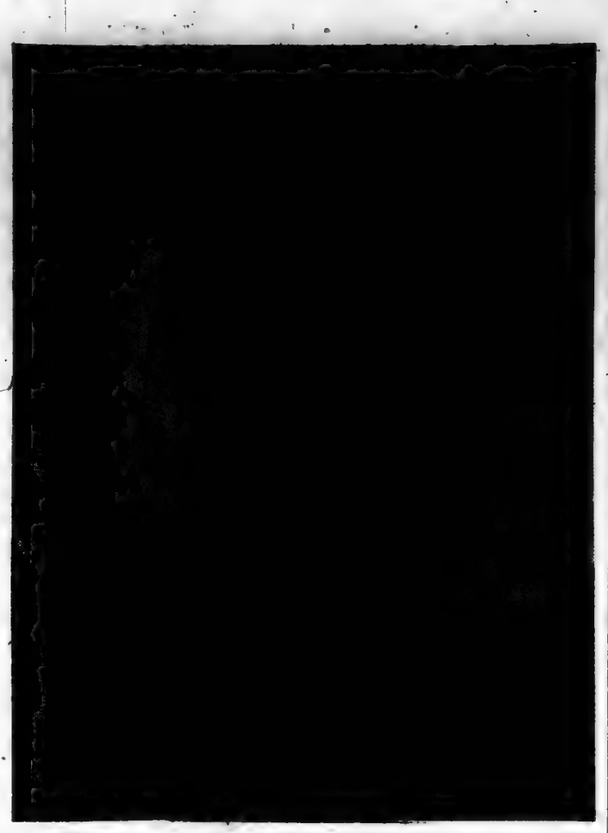
When the New Caliente opens its doors to the public next Sunday, December 31, fans will see a completely new track. They will see the new punch-type system of issuing tickets thus virtually eliminating the mixup sometimes encountered when the correct ticket is not issued. This system will be used in all ticket-selling booths, including the convenient grandstand area, Club House and Turf Room.

Another Caliente feature found in these same rooms and other areas, is the American Tote Board, which flashes jockey changes, time of day, scratches, number of tickets sold on each horse, odds and payoffs. A real treat is in store for those fans who love to watch the jockeys and horses before race-time; a beautiful new paddock has been constructed in front of the Club House, in full view of both, grandstand and Club House frequenters.

In an effort to eliminate crowd congestion, the Caliente management has added many new boxes where private parties may be seated in comfort . . . those new seats are of the modern safe-type and placed where one may get a 'perfect' view of the races and Tote Board.

As we talked to Assistant General Manager John Alessio, he explained that this new program is in keeping with the Caliente official to provide only the best for its clientele. We were very much impressed when this "Little Giant" (that's what his associates call him) pointed out the new, broader entrance-steps to the grandstand, thereby providing greater safety measures for all. Also liked the conveniently-placed lunch counters and cocktail bars.

Other features you'll like at Caliente are: new judges stand on the roof where the presiding stewards can get an obstructed view of each race, which will be followed from the start to finish by a motion picture camera. The roof area also has a convenient room for members of the press, television technicians and photo chart operators.



When you go to Caliente, be sure to keep an eye open for "Miss Caliente," who will care for the Imported Swans and Geese, now in the newly-constructed lakes in the inner track, and don't forget to take a peek at the remodeled Turf Club which is glass enclosed.

With this new program nearing completion, we feel that Manager Alessio and staff deserve a big hand for their efforts to bring the turf fans of Southern and Lower California the very best that money can afford in way of top attractions, comfort and safety.

Santa Anita, the beautiful, opens its winter season of fifty days of racing this Friday, December 29th. One of the largest opening day crowds is expected. Never in the history of Santa Anita has such great stable occupied Doctor Strub's space. More than two hundred thousand dollars has been spent to beautify the grounds and infield. Santa Anita will be all in its glamor and beauty for the opening day. Some of the best horses will go to the post in the feature attraction. Santa Anita will race Friday, Saturday and Monday, with the off-day Tuesday. Your writer will tell you more about the track beautiful in the next issue of the Eagle, also watch for the Feed Box column and Live Horses.

HUNTERS HUNT HUNTER

Coudersport, Pa.—Searching parties looked for a whole night and half a day to pick up the train of a missing hunter. A news reporter called a storekeeper in the vicinity for news of the search. The storekeeper asked a hunter, asleep in his store, if he knew anything about it. The sleepy hunter was the man sought — 19-year-old Donald Stewart, of Pittsburgh, who had become lost, slept in a barn and then went to sleep near the stove in the store.

Sugar Ray Kayos Stretz For Fifth European Victory

Sugar Ray Robinson ended his tour this week by knocking out Hans Stretz, former German middleweight champ, in the fifth round in Frankfurt, Germany.

In less than a month of fighting in Europe Sugar Ray fought and won five fights, four by knockouts.

The welterweight champ KOed Jean Stock in Paris, Luc Van Dam in Brussels, Robert Villemain Paris, and outpointed Jean Walzack in Geneva.

Germany got its first look at a world ring champion and Ray really gave them a show as he knocked Stretz down six times in the first four rounds and then knocked him out in the fifth.

Robinson weighed 157 for his final appearance across the seas.

UCLA Hosts Pitt Fri. at Westwood

UCLA's basketball team returned home this week from its disastrous eastern tour and is busy making plans for two big intersectional games this week against Pittsburg and LSU in the Westwood gym.

The Bruins tangle with Pitt Friday and LSU Saturday in their final pre-season warmups before they open defense of their PCC title early next month.

Statistics Favor California Over Michigan In Rose Bowl

If the Pacific Coast Conference is ever going to beat the Big Ten Representative in the Rose Bowl, this coming Monday should be the day.

By records, logic and statistics, California should be favored to defeat Michigan's Wolverines but the question is: can they?

California won nine and tied one while Michigan won five, lost three and tied one during the year. However it should be noted that Michigan's schedule was probably much tougher than the Golden Bears'.

Statistics Favor Cal

The statistics for the season show that Michigan averaged 249.3 yards gained per game compared with a big 323.6 per game for California. California's large total was made mostly in the rushing department where they averaged 259 yards per game as against Michigan's low 140.

On the other hand, the Wolverines have a slight edge in the passing department with 100 yards per game against 65 for Cal. Chuck Ortmann, Michigan's No. 1 passed, led his team in passing as they completed 72 out of 184 thrown for 980 yards and four touchdowns. 14 were intercepted. Ortmann's average was .390.

California uncorked a passer, Jim Marinos, midway in the season and in the last five games he completed 24 out of 42 for 314 yards and an average of .571. However, over the entire season the Bears completed only 44 out of 105 attempts with 11 interceptions.

Both of the leading runners of each team carried the pigskin 151 times during the season but Cal's man, Johnny Olzewski, gained 950 yards while the Michigan man, Don Dufek, could garnish only 589. Olzewski (pronounced O-shev-ski) had an average of 6.5 yards per try while Dufek's average was 3.9 yards. Cal's two other power runners also had good averages. Pete Schabarum carried the ball 126 times for 590 yards net for an average of 4.68 per carry. Jim Monachino averaged 5 yards per carry in his 707 yards gained in 141 carrys.

Same Story on Defense

It reads just about the same on defense. The Wolverines have allowed a total of 226 yards per game by the opposition, including 143 rushing and 83 passing, plus penalties. California has allowed only 117 rushing and 105 passing for a 22 total.

Don't count the Wolverines out on the basis of the above. It has been pointed out by their supporters with justification that injuries have slowed up the team all year. After the boys all got together, they started to click and rolled their way into their fourth straight Big Ten crown.

If things get too rough they can always call on their big band. They can't possibly lose.

Saddler, Pep, Famechon, Flanagan Bros. Get in the Act

NEW YORK CITY—As Sandy Saddler rests up for a February bout with Willie Pep, who has just arrived in town for that reason, Glen Flanagan, brother of the guy who beat Sandy by the hit-and-run act recently, will fight Ray Famechon, the Frenchman who's trying so hard to get a crack at the crown Sandy wears.

All this may be complicated, but to the Flanagan Brothers, especially, it's very simple. They are doing their utmost to upset Sandy. And to date, Del has succeeded. Sandy has yet to get over that fateful evening two weeks ago when he lost a close decision to the wild Flanagan technique.

Now Ray Famechon, who is the fifth and youngest of the Famechon fighting brothers (all pro boxers) doesn't intend to let anything mar his chances at the crown, though he realizes he must keep winning bouts, and wait for the next Saddler-Pep fight in February. If lucky, he'll get a chance at the winner. Glen, meanwhile, the older brother to Del, is reported better than Del. If so, from the record of what happened in Detroit when Del met Sandy, Famechon had better watch where he steps in the ring.

Harry Simpson Called By Cleveland Indians

Harry (Suitcase) Simpson, star outfielder of the San Diego Padres this last season, was this week called up by the Cleveland Indians for the 1951 season.

Simpson led the Pacific Coast League in runs batted in, with 156, and in total bases, 403, this year.

The tall left-handed player came to San Diego from Wilkes-Barre of the Eastern League, a Cleveland farm club. He is 26 years old and his home is in Daton, Ga.

LIMIT TRICYCLE SPEED

New Haven, Conn.—Local small fry have been notified that if they pedal their tricycles faster than 10 miles an hour through the city's parks, they'll be subject to arrest and a fine of $25 for "speeding."

Legg Drops His Suit Against Defeated Smith

Supervisor Herbert C. Legg this week dropped his $150,000 libel suit against William A. Smith, former supervisor, whom he defeated at the polls Nov. 7.

Superior Judge Clarence L. Kincaid dismissed Legg's action on stipulations by attorneys representing both parties.

It was stated that Smith and his co-defendant, Rollin L. McNitt Jr., his former campaign manager, had signed a retraction of the allegedly libelous matter.

Legg's suit was based on a news release from Smith's campaign headquarters last Oct. 10, in which it allegedly was stated that Legg had been "forced" to resign as W.P.A. administrator for Southern California in 1940 because he had been found guilty of "racial prejudice, destruction of government property and general maladministration."

This statement was "false and malicious," Legg asserted.

Bank of America to Increase Interest

Bank of America this week announced its intention to increase savings interest from the present 1½% to 2%, compounded semi-annually, beginning Jan 1.

L. M. Giannini, president, said the plan was in line with the bank's policy of passing along to depositors, stockholders and employees the benefits of continuing satisfactory operations.

During 1950, he said, employees received a general increase in salaries plus an additional one and one-half months' salary to those participating in a profit-sharing bonus.

Dividends to stockholders increased 20%, Giannini said.

Former Resident Wins Lawsuit of Million in Texas

Louis Erlich, former East Side resident and now living in Las Vegas, Nev., this week won a land suit in Ballinger, Texas, which will mean a potential million dollars or more.

A jury in the district court of that state returned a verdict in favor of Erlich in a suit against O. W. Killam, of Webb county, for a one-half interest in oil and gas leases in Runnels county.

The suit, tried before Judge O. L. Parish, involved 450 acres southwest of Winters, Texas, upon which there are two producing wells and two gassers, the report stated.

Attorneys in the case said that an estimated one million dollars in potential value was at stake, although no evidence of monetary value was introduced during the proceedings.

Stars Star in Long Scene

HOLLYWOOD—Ida Lupino and Robert Ryan received re-written dialogue for a scene that was to run seven minutes in RKO Radio's "Mad With Much Heart." They rehearsed twice, reading from scripts, spent 10 minutes studying the lies, then played the scene perfectly on the first "take."

Final Rites for Mrs. Thomas, Mother-in-law Of Dr. Chambers, 2 p.m. Thurs., Zion Hill

The congregation of the Zion Hill Baptist Church, East 51st Street at McKinley Avenue, and religious circles throughout the entire city were shocked and stunned by the sudden passing Friday night of Mrs. Lucretia McCoy Thomas, mother of Mrs. Timothy M. Chambers, wife of the nationally celebrated minister of Zion Hill. Although she had been in failing health for a number of years and twice had suffered strokes, it appeared that Mrs. Thomas definitely was improving at the moment of her death.

Dr. Charles Satchell Morris II, chairman of the ministerial group of the church, will deliver the eulogy at the services to be held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon in the auditorium of the church, where the deceased was a member.

The late Mrs. Thomas was born in Hemphill, Texas, and when just a young woman was united in marriage to the late Rev. T. C. Thomas, once pastor of the Independent Baptist Church in Ennis, Texas. Later she moved to Dallas, where for many years she was an active and earnest worker in the St. John Baptist Church. The St. John Club of Los Angeles will be represented a tthe funeral exercises on Thursday.

Mrs. Thomas came to California in 1941 and joined the Independent Church of Christ. After her illustrious son-in-law was called a year ago to the Zion Hill Church she became a member of that congregation. A side from Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Thomas is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen Lucky; two sons, Temple L. and Clarence; three sisters, five brothers, five grandchildren and a host of other relatives. Her body will lie in state at the Avalon Mortuary on Wednesday and in the church auditorium Thursday until noon. All the choirs of the church will sing at the services Thursday to be held under the direction of the Baptist Ministerial Union.

Union Watch-Night Services At Wesley

Wesley and Phillips' Temple C.M.E. Church will hold their Annual Union Watch-Night Services Sunday evening at 10:00 p.m. at Wesley Methodist Church, 52 and Main Streets. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. N. S. Curry, pastor of Phillip's Temple and music will be furnished by the choirs of both churches.

The public is cordially invited to join these two congregations in properly observing the passing of the old year.

Christian Science Text

The Golden Text of the Sunday Bible Lesson on "God the Preserver of Man" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from II Samuel: "The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; the God of my rock; in him will I trust: he is my shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my saviour."

These Bible selections will be read from Isaiah: "Say ye to the righteous, that it shall be well with him: for they shall eat the fruit of their doings. . . . They shall not build, and another inhabit; they shall not plant, and another eat . . . for they are the seed of the blessed of the Lord, and their offspring with them."

Mary Baker Eddy declares in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "This is the doctrine of Christian Science: that divine Love cannot be deprived of its manifestation, or object; that joy cannot be turned into sorrow, for sorrow is not the master of joy; that good can never prduce evil; that matter can never produce mind nor life result in death. . . . Harmony is produced by its Principle, is controlled by it and abides with it."

Dedication Services Sunday At Spiritual Fellowship Church

The Spiritual Fellowship church at 665 E. Adams Blvd., invites the public to attend its formal dedication services on Sunday, December 31, starting at 3:30 p.m.

"Everyone is urged to attend the dedication services of this House of Prayer," the Rev. N. Nelson Green, pastor and founder, said today.

Mrs. Cruikshank Passes Away

Mrs. Cora Cruikshank passed away suddenly at her late home Tuesday, December 18. She had resided in Los Angeles 27 years, and was a member of the First AME Church at Eighth and Towne avenue.

Mrs. Cruikshank's remains were shipped to Columbia, Ala., for burial.

She is survived by her husband, Andrew Cruikshank; three sisters, Zella Bean, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Alice Kennery and Mrs. Burt Elliott, of Columbia; and two brothers, George Elliott, of Los Angeles, and W. C. Elliott, of Columbia; and a niece, Mamie Elliott, also of Los Angeles; other relatives and a host of friends.

Youth Revival

A youth revival campaign is now going on at the Grace Memorial Church, 4544 S. Compton avenue. Rev. Baby Perry, Jr., of Stockton, Calif., is in charge. Youth everywhere are invited. Pastor, Elder W. J. Taylor.

An Old Fashion 10 days Revival at the Grace Temple Missionary Baptist Church, 1711 S. Avalon Blvd., will begin Jan. 1, 1951.

Rev. W. R. Thomas National, Evangelist will be the conductor. Rev. William Matlock, pastor.

JESUS
By
VERIL LEE RISER

JESUS

One thousand, nine hundred fifty years ago
A Virgin gave birth to a Baby, we are told.

This mother was born and lived free from sin,
But man rejected her presence to dwell in the inn.

So this poor mother, who had never done wrong
Was forced to give birth to her baby in a barn.

The baby's life was guarded by angels
And wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger.

The Lord made a star to shine bright as day
To show the wise men how to find the way.

Alas, King Herod heard of this innocent one,
And sent out the news to kill every baby son.

In a dream God showed the plan to Joseph, the foster father of the holy babe,
So Mary, Jesus and Joseph into the land of Egypt fled.

The child grew and at the age of twelve
He bagin to teach and save souls from hell.

As He grew older miracles he performed;
He healed the sick and forgave the wrong.

He was always merciful and kind;
He gave speech to the dumb and sight to the blind.

He made the sick pick up their beds,
He even restored life to some who were dead.

When He was about the age of thirty-three,
It was in the Garden of Gethsemane He bowed His knee.

A prayer to His Father He kneeled and prayed;
He knew a crown of thorns would be made for his head.

Judas Iscariot betrayed Him with a kiss,
And Judas' soul eternal life missed;

For Thirty pieces of silver Judas' soul was lost,
And Jesus was whipped and hung on the cross.

Two thieves beside Him on crosses were hung;
It was man's way of Jesus to make fun.

One thief cried out, "If you are God
Save yourself from the death of the cross."

The other cried out though hung on the tree,
"O Lord, when thou comest into thy kingdom remember me."

Yes, that thief believed He was the Christ,
So he went with Jesus to paradise.

The ones who loved Christ most
Were there to witness when He gave up the ghost.

The Romans placed Him in the tomb to stay,
But the angels rolled the stone away.

Then on Sunday, we can boast,
Up from the grave Christ arose,

Then back to His Father he ascended again.
His first mission ended. Amen, Amen.

VERIL LEE RISER.

MALLORY, president of the Saints Industrial School of Lexington, Mississippi, was honored on the silver anniversary of her presidency for her 25 years' service in building and developing the school. Representatives of alumni from almost every state in the union were present. (See story)

On the evening of December 4th at seven p.m. the Saints Industrial School of Lexington, Mississippi celebrated the Silver Anniversary of the President, Dr. Arenia C. Mallory, in honor of 25 years of developing and building Saints Industrial School. This celebration was conducted by the members of the Faculty of the School, and Alumni. Representatives of Alumni from almost every state in the Union were present. The State Department of Education of Mississippi was represented by Miss Florence O. Alexander. Presidents Frazier of M. I. College, L. C. Jones of Piney Woods School, Dr. W. A. Bender of Tougallo College, with other educators were present for this occasion. The Coahoma County Jr. College Band under the direction of Miss Consuella Carter was present, plus a 150 voice choir from Saints Industrial School, and many other interesting features were a part of the school program. Bishop Ozro T. Jones, Chairman of the Board of Education gave the radio address for this occasion. Mrs. Lillian B. Coffey brought greetings from the Womens' Division, there were greetings from Womens' Organizations throughout the country.

More than eight thousand students attended the school during the twenty-five years of her administration.

The Lexington Advertiser, a weekly newspaper for Holmes County printed an eight column story of Dr. Mallory's life and used her picture with the story. This is the first time this paper has used the picture of a Negro in its one hundred years of establishment.

Twenty-five thousand people heard the program at Mason Temple in Memphis, Tennessee.

Messiah at Bowen

Handel's Messiah will be rendered at Bowen Memorial Church Sunday at 4 p.m. by the church choir under the direction of Nell Plant and with the assistance of several singers from other Church choirs. Bowen Church, Trinity at E. 36th street, announces that the public is invited to attend.

The solo parts of the Messiah will be sung by Margaret Pett and Jean Keele, soprano Amanda Nelson and Gertrude Salone, contralto, Frank James, tenor, and Oscar Plant, baritone. Edith Owens will be at the piano and Ray Spight at the piano. Rev. John Bain is the church minister.

FORGIVENESS

Forgiveness ought to be like a cancelled note—torn in two, and burned up, so that it can never be shown against one.

Henry Ward Beecher

And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God, for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.

—Ephesians

Humanity is never so beautiful as when praying for forgiveness, or else forgiving another.

—Richter

We should endeavor to be long-suffering, faithful, and charitable with all. To this small effort let us add one more privilege—namely, silence whenever it can substitute censure.

—Mary Baker Eddy

His heart was as great as the world, but there was no room in it to hold the memory of a worng.

—Emerson

A Christian will find it cheaper to pardon then to resent. Forgiveness saves the expense of anger, the cost of hatred, the waste of spirits.

—Hannah More

VISION

Vision is the art of seeing things invisible.—Swift.

Our own vision must be clear to open the eyes of others, else the blind will lead the blind and both shall fall.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Men of vision or imagination are never discouraged, because their eyes are ever on the day of victory.—John R. Mott.

What we see depends mainly on what we look for.—John Lubbock.

Beethoven Evening

The first of five evenings devoted to Beethoven's String Quartets will be presented by the Music Guild on Wednesday evening, January 3, 1951, at 8:30 p.m., in Wilshire-Ebell Theatre. The Hungarian Quartet, well known to Southern California audiences from its much acclaimed Music Guild recitals in 1948 and 1949, will be the performing group for the entire series.

Single tickets and subscriptions for the series are now on sale at the Wilshire-Ebell Theatre. Subscriptions at greatly reduced prices are made available to students.

WASHINGTON.—The United States cost of living has reached a record height, the United States government reported on November 30. The official cost-of-living index now stands at over 178 (1939 equals 100). The purchasing power of the dollar in terms of food is now only 47 cents, compared with 1939.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

We are not going to get cute this session at all.

Calmly, soberly and with no razzle-dazzle on the advoibe, we are going to add up the occurrances in areas adjacent for the past several fortnights and hope to come up with a reasonable facsimile of the numeral 4.

In June, a wave of terror rolled through our streets.

For the high crime of a solid drape and a reet pleat, young citizens of the Mexican and Negro communities had their little fannies kicked all over the sandlot by the enlisted personnel of Uncl's Army and Navy.

No, the boys in blue and olive drab did not awake that morn unanimously crocked. They were not the scum of the earth, nor were they a band of playful little fellers who didn't realize that when you bash a fourteen-year-old kid in the chopper with a lead pipe it HURTS.

The worst that can be said about them is that they believed the bilge their eyes gobbed out of the headlines of the local Hearst press.

It is herewith submitted that ole Willy Randolph and his hirelings down on Broadway and Trenton Streets knew full well what they were cookin' when day after day they filled column after column with lurid details of Mexican "zoot suit hoodlumism" —and at the time, police report, juvenile delinquency increases in the Mexican community were BELOW that of the average increase for the whole city!

It is opined in this quarter that Brother Rat Hearst got precisely what he wanted—a fat, juicy division of the American people. The little one-act play we enacted on the streets of Los Angeles on those spring evenings entertained our laddies at sea in the Orient, in North Africa, in India, and Australia for months (das Nazi radio). South American resentment was terrific.

Hitler couldn't have done more damage with a bombing raid on Lockheed.

Thousands upon thousands of white and Negro workers from the deep South are pouring into the city. Granted. But left alone they work together fine.

A real city-sponsored campaign for racial unity could accelerate the destruction of Dixie customs at a clip we can't imagine.

Of course, there is a danger. Backward minds, dressed in new California jeans but still wearing the dirty drawers of down-home prejudice. Backward minds which a visit from Robeson in the shipyards can work wonders on . . . or a ship named and launched for a great Negro hero . . . or the new assembly line friend whose accidental blackness doesn't seem to be the barrier it was in the Old Country.

Good people. Southern muscles and brawn building ships and planes. Southern minds ground into a crucible of hate, but willing to take a whack at changing.

Southern minds . . . slightly feeble on a point here and there. But find the point, work on it, blow real hard, and you may inflate yourself a full-blown I-Am-the-Same-God native fascist.

Who finds the point and who blows real hard?

Let's have some names!

O.K.:

National Rifle Association, Los Angeles branch.

The Sinarquistas.

The Ku Klux Klan.

South Los Angeles Home Owners Association.

University Cultural Committee.

We've got the low-down on all of them. None like the war (it is an anti-fascist war). All plot against the unity of America. We covered the stories. All of them.

NATIONAL RIFLE ASSOCIATION. The city police department makes a reasonable wartime request. The coppers want to know the location of all non-military arms and munitions in the city. Big beef from the Rifle Association. Egad, it's an invasion of civil rights! No self-respecting citizen should tell the flatfoot on the corner that he packs a .45. A hearing before the police commissioner to determine whether arms should be registered. . . . And a high-powered guy from across the continent flies into L. A. to tell the commissionerse that a man's iron is his castle. Plenty of pressure. The police are forced to drop registration plan.

Yet National Rifle Association practiced for months before Detroit riot, allegedly supplied mobsters with firearms. A little man from Burbank let the cat out of the casing. Quoth he to the District Attorney (according to the District Attorney): "I am a member of a club of 150 members in Burbank. WE HAVE 2000 RIFLES. The first Jap that comes back we will kill."

THE SINARQUISTAS . . . championed by fascist-lover Jack Tenney. Connected with the Spanish Falange, Franco's U. S. party. Agitates Mexican-American citizens to hate our country and "the white man." Anti-red, anti-labor, women - should - stay - in - the-kitchen: Hitler's line with a dash of chile.

THE KLAN: Organizing day after day in the shipyards, signing up the Okies in that holy crusade against Jews, Catholics, Negroes, and unity behind the war effort.

SOUTH LOS ANGELES HOME OWNERS ASSOICIATION and the UNIVERSITY CULTURAL COMMITTEE: Hot-shot mobs of the promotion of superior race political theory. They restrict neighborhoods against Negro occupancy by scaring holy Christmas out of average property owners with the old spellbinders: black, brutish rapist, and BEWARE Negro invasion! . . . Think, MAN, Think of your dotter! Herr Schickelgruber's A-No.-1 boys.

Now, Quick, who's got a 4? Who added it up? Come let papa see your report card!

Fifth Column on the march? CHECK!

Greetings kids, first I'd like to wish everyone of you a very Happy New Year. Pull out all your slips of paper so that you can write your New Year's resolutions. Remember . . . try to stick to them. . . . Went to the Lincoln last Monday, Christmas, you know, to see Little Ester. Gee but she was sure swell. The main thing that I noticed about her was her seemingly modest appearance. As for the rest of the show, never have I been so disgusted as when I witnessed the vulgarity shown in this so-called teen age entertainment. Hunter Hancock was the master of ceremonies. Up until his appearance in this SHOW I had a great deal of respect for him. Thanks, Mister Hancock for your grand performance. You should feel mighty proud of yourself. For you are a great success in your corruption of teen age minds. . . . And now to a more pleasant subject. Jody Clark received from her boy friend a beautiful little Christmas doll's. Goin' back to child hood, Jody? . . . Do you know what when I went to the theatre last Monday I sat right behind Terdema Tessery and the little stinker didn't even turn around to say hello. I forgive you dearie. I suppose you were ignorant of my presence. . . . Don McAllister that was a lovely overcoat you were sporting Christmas day. But don't you think it was kinda warm? . . . Forgot to mention last week that Joan Southern was given a little surprise birthday party by Carmie Valarde. She's sweet seventeen and never been you know . . . If that phone doesn't ring I'm gonna have to start thinkin' hard, that's in order to get some more news out, ya know. Well, the reason that I want the phone to ring is because I'm expecting the Creeper to call in.

I'll betcha Betty Scott really does enjoy being carried up the stairs by Bill Faye. As handsome and strong as he is, who would mind? . . . Bill Thompson is supposed to get married real soon. Didn't know that, did you? The gal that he's gettin' hitcher to is sure easy on the eyes. . . . Miss Janet Draper looked swell in her navy blue suit now I don't have to tell you which day, do I. . . . William Reed sorta dropped a hint that he expects to tie the knot with Mona. Darn it, I've forgotten her last name. Rest assured folks I'll do my best to find out. . . . Herbert Le Melle and David Bonner are stiff competition for one another. This is another instance in that Leah Jane Center episode. . . . Audrey Springs really had a Merry Christmas, why, she got a car. . . . Little Sidney LeMelle in his Hop-a-long Cassidy suit looked like one of Hoppy's right hand men. So what if he's only 4½ years old. He can be a midget man can't he? . . . Found out that Gweynne White is gonna get married. She's been sportin in the most beautiful engagement ring that I've ever seen, three gorgeous diamonds. . . . Saw William Guywnne on the street car a couple of days ago. Gee, but he's a wonderful example of the male species.

LOVER MAN

He is truly deserving of this title. His name is Donald Simmons. He's about 5 ft. 7. Short? you might say. Well, what could you expect, he's only about 15. A Carver student to be sure. A double twinkle in his eye plus two scrumptous dimples in his cheeks makes him the apple of any little girl's eye.

CUTE COUPLES

Jody Clark—All the little boys

Don McAllister—Jo Ann Jackson

Audrey Springs—???

Georgia Watson—Harold Burbank

Leah Center—Hum' she's got two, must be a sweet trio. Anyway the names are Herbert Le Melle, David Bonner.

LOVER GIRL

Everyone, without a doubt knows that Alice Estes is really a delightful little treat. This lucky little devil has a strange kind of exotic beauty. An olive complexion, dark mysterious eyes, long dark brown tresses, a well shaped body and a quiet, darling personality. Boys, don't get upset, she has a sister. Alas, this sister of hers is only 6 years old. Patience, dearies, you might wait until she grows up . . . Undoubtedly you've heard about this formal that is to be given by the Les Tres Jollies. Well, next week I'll give you the inside dope on it.

The chief of the Secret Service has asked for additional funds to guard the President. One had no idea there were so many music critics.

The list of printable and unprintable disabilities the President promised a certain music critic has me wondering. Aren't those the same as the symptoms sustained by A-bomb victims?

My advice to the chairman of the Democratic National Committee is to sneak in Harry's room and hide all his personal stationery.

If and when Harry's "collected letters" are published, the volume will be printed on asbestos stock.

Be that as it may, Margaret has added to her repertoire the selection, "My Heart Belongs to Daddy."

YMCA Announces 1951 Plans

The 28th Street Branch YMCA will head into 1951 with a burst of speed and a show of strength unequalled in its more than forty-four years of service in the community. According to Lorenzo Bowdoin, Branch Chairman, the first two months of the new year will be devoted to securing a Support Fund for operation of services and program for the rest of the year. This campaign completed the Branch will throw its strength into promoting campaign, a Summer Fun Club, swimming, with a full schedule of clubs, forums, a special events for the succeeding months.

The Branch Board of Managers is greatly encouraged in its 1951 plans because of the strength developed in the current year. In spite of difficulties that threatened to close the Branch in the early days of the year, the Support Fund for 1950 increased to $8,896 to which should be added $1,350 raised by the Board for repairs giving a grand total of $10,216 cash. This is only $200 less than 1949. More important than the cash received is the fact that the Branch will close the year without a current operating deficit for the first time since 1945. While this outcome is praiseworthy from the standpoint of management it was accomplished by cutting staff and sacrificing large segments of service.

In addition to keeping its current operation balanced the Branch Board began this year a program of building and equipment repair and replacement under the leadership of Clarence S. Smith, chairman of the Building Committee and Hailey Harding, chairman of the Residence Committee. The Branch raised $1,350 in a special effort and replaced a 25 year old hot water storage tank and an equally well-used filter pump for the swimming pool. A special grant of a thousand dollars from the Metropolitan Board of the YMCA is financing the overhauling of plumbing through the building and will provide some exterior redecoration. The Board is depending on the success of the 1951 Support Fund Campaign to continue this program of restoring the 28th Street "Y" building to the condition that will again justify community pride in this facility for youth service.

Already the wheels are turning in the organization that will assure the success of the 1951 Support Fund Campaign. Dr. P. Price Cobbs has accepted general leadership of the campaign. Rev. Paul D. Lehman will chair the Initial Gifts Divisions. The goal for the Campaign, $18,000, has been fixed by the Board of Managers. The initial Gifts Divisions, soliciting the larger sums of support, will work from January 15 to 29 to raise $10,000.

The General Campaign for the balance needed will be pushed through the month of February. A task force of two hundred and fifty workers is being recruited for this community project.

McWilliams Lectures

Carey McWilliams has been invited back by popular request to conduct a series of four lectures at the Soto-Michigan Jewish Community Center, starting Wednesday, January 3, 1951, at 8 p.m.

Mr. McWilliams has chosen for his topic, "Domestic Politics in an Age of Power." The first of this series, on January 3, will deal with "The Impact of Economic Power on Lobby and the Two Party System; the second, Wednesday, January 10, on "The Concentration of Economic Power; the third lecture, Wednesday, January 17, "The Relation of the Theory of the Crackpot anti-Semite, and the Armchair anti-Semite, and the fourth and final, Wednesday, January 24, "Witchhunt."

Approximately a quarter of a million more persons were employed in California during November of this year than were at work during the corresponding month of 1949.

Yule Concert At Spelman

ATLANTA, Ga. — At the 26th Christmas Carol Concert by the students of Atlanta University, Spelman College and Morehouse College, a group of 14 children sang with the large 90-voice Atlanta-Spelman-Morehouse Chorus in the rendition of the Mexican carol, "Los Posados," which was arranged by Harvel Gaul; and a Rhythm Band, the Andalusian carol, "Song of the Christmas Presents." "Stille Nacht" and other carols and choruses were the Negro jubilee, were part of the one and a half hour program enjoyed by an enthusiastic audience. The Xavier University gave its closing concernt at Spelman last week.

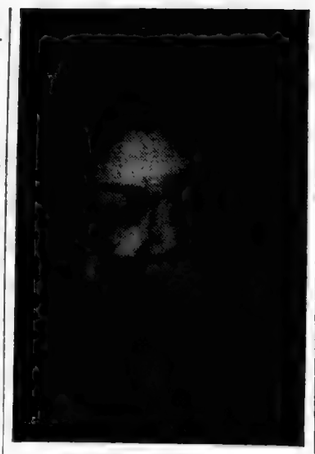
HERE ARE SYMPTOMS OF POLIO listed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. They may—or may not—mean polio. Call your doctor and then, if help is needed, contact your local chapter of the National Foundation. When polio is around, these precautions are recommended: Keep children with their own friends and away from people they have not been with right along. Don't become exhausted through work or hard play. Don't stay in cold water too long or sit around in wet clothes. Avoid becoming chilled. Always wash hands before eating.

Proud Parents

William W. Davis was around and about early December 20 bragging about the lusty-lunged bundle from heaven his wife, the former Ruth Anthony, had borne him. The baby, a boy, came in at the weight of seven pounds seven ounces. He was delivered in the maternity ward of the Good Samaritan Hospital. The Davises live at 1467 E. 81st St.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson of 4520 Honduras, are again proud parents following the arrival of a 5½-pound boy born December 16 in Maywood Hospital. Thompson is a postal employe and member of Jeep Smith's orchestra. The infant is a grandson of Commodore Wynn, well-known newsman.



Accidental discharge of firearms killed 1050 persons in the United States in 1949, according to statistics of the National Safety Council.

Booker T. Washington

According to S. J. Phillips, president of Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial, in his annual report to the trustees at their 1950 meeting, the most outstanding achievement of the Memorial for the year ending December 1 was the assistance given in helping to secure a federal appropriation in the amount of $150,000 to help establish a national monument at the birthplace of Dr. George Washington Carver. He stated that the service given in order to honor Dr. Carver was a part of the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial program of helpfulness toward others.

PRIVATE PROMOTED

YOKOHAMA.—Pfc. C. L. Handy of the 517th Military Police Service Company, was promoted to the grade of corporal here on December 1. He is the son of Mrs. Jake Handy, 2924 Filbert, Oakland, Calif.

MRS. ETHEL C. BRYANT, Democratic leader in the 62nd Assembly District, who was recently appointed Assistant Field Representative by Congressman Sam Yorty for the 14th Congressional District. Mrs. Bryant will have an office in the Los Angeles Post Office building, and will give her attention to matters that affect the 14th District.

Chest X-Ray Extended

The Los Angeles County Chest X-Ray Survey has been extended two weeks through Jan. 13, it was announced jointly by Dr. Raymond J. Cary, president of the X-Ray Survey Foundation, and James C. Kenny, program director.

To date, 1,800,892 chest x-rays have been taken, the total including 101,333 chest films reported by various medical and public health institutions cooperating in the survey. Well over two million x-rays will have been taken, now that the extension is official, it is predicted by officers of the Foundation.

Highest previous total in 12 of the major cities x-rayed was 700,000 taken last summer in Cleveland.

MANILA.—A special session of the Philippine Congress has been called by President Quirino in order to pass American-drafted laws as part of the price for the promised 250-million-dollar aid over the next five years.

The Young People Of Mexico

By Ivan Kraskin

What are the young people thinking and doing in Mexico? They seem to know the difference between the plain people and those few magnates that are exploiting the wealth and economy of Mexico. Among the students there is a bad feeling as to the way Mexican citizens go contracted to work in the USA. Such men are called "Braceros."

Because they find no work in Mexico they are employed at a cheap rate in the States by those who profit from their labor. Many of these Mexican laborers have been arrested on almost no grounds whatsoever, and thrown into prison. Reports have been received from the jail in Stockton, California, where Mexicans are receiving inhuman treatment.

They are permitted to write letters in English only. This is impossible when these men can write only in Spanish. They are given bread and water, and have bright lights continually shining, which has resulted in eye sickness for many of the unfortunates. Every afternoon comes a recruiting man who offers freedom to the inmates if they join the Army. In Mexico they know that many of their men in such cases have been sent to Korea and are now dead.

Mexican students ask, "Where is the Good Neighbor policy?" Students are tired of being called names, and receiving improper treatment while visiting the States. But when war comes, and they are needed for Cannon Fodder, then they are friends.

It is hard for young people to find jobs in Mexico. The big industries controlled by American trusts care little about offering work. The motto here is: "Fewer Workers to Produce More Goods Than Ever." Production is increased. Companies are laying off their labor.

Mexican people need money from their Government so that they can buy the proper equipment to work their land. They demand more money for armaments. Only 5 per cent of the youth have a chance for higher education. There are 8 million who neither read nor write. Over 6 million people wear no shoes. The people live in misery. They walk hungry through the cities, begging for money so that they can live another day.

These problems could be solved if they weren't being drained by foreign big business that is taking all the riches out of the nation, causing greater strife among the people.

Young people ask, "What will war bring?" Only less money to mend their ills, only more suffering. The youth are against militarization. But every young man must do one year of service. Some schools such as Chapingo Agricultural School have been completely militarized. Every student wears a uniform, and has firing gun drills.

Not long ago in Mexico City young people from every town and village gathered for the National Assembly of Youth for Peace. They came from the Confederation of Mexican Youth, which called the meeting. They are affiliated with the World Federation of Democratic Youth and the International Students Union.

These young Mexican Youth were representing over 110,000 members from different organizations from every state in Mexico. Over one million signatures have been collected for the Stockholm Appeal to outlaw the atom bomb. 13,000 additional signatures were brought to the Assembly by delegates. Some delegates spoke their own native Indian language.

The Assembly voted unanimously that Mexico should not participate in the Korean War in any form, and should adopt a policy of peace; that Mexico withdraw from all military commitments with the USA, and that the government end compulsory military training. And that Mexico should develop Youth Peace Committees throughout the country.

More than 250,000 workers will be sent to school for higher qualifications during Hungary's Five-Year Plan. 50,000 young people are now receiving training in special schools.

NEW YEAR, 1951

New Years always brings to mind new resolutions and plans for the future. Anyone who thinks deeply must move forward. Vital truths are manifested a new force is developed. The old indifference disappears. Every motion must count. Remember, our country is facing a great crisis.

Life and its many problems and ideals, may only be understood by getting a clear vision and understanding of your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet, which act as a guide and help us to solve our difficulties.

Start the New Year with the knowledge and insight your 1951 Horoscope will give you. Send for yours today. "HAPPY NEW YEAR" to ALL.

Dear Prof. Herman: A few weeks ago I received a letter from an old friend. She wants to borrow a large sum of money from me. I feel that there is a possibility that I may not get it back. Would you suggest that I lend it to her against my better judgment? J.T.

Answer: A careful analysis of your problem reveals the fact that this woman wants to borrow the money without her husband's knowledge. Since she is not employed herself, I suggest that you tell her frankly that you can not lend her the money under these circumstances.

A.M. I have been going out with a young man for quite some time. Lately, we have been arguing every time we meet. Should I discontinue seeing him?

Answer: I am of the opinion that you and this man do not have enough in common to warrant a steady friendship. His jealousy seems to be growing instead of lessening. Make a clean break with him now, before it brings you more unhappiness.

O.B. Why do I stay so upset? What happened to my bank book? Who hid the package under my porch?

Answer: Only one question is answered in the column due to the limited amount of space. I shall be glad to help you if you write in for a private reply.

P.L. How can I ever thank you for the splendid advice you gave my wife and I. Through following your advice we have been able to pay on all our bills and are looking forward to a prosperous new year.

The front pages of the Saturday afternoon editions of the commercial press have been, of late, devoted mostly to the college football scores. However, news about the longshoremen's and garment workers' unions has managed to creep in. My friend, Deena, wants to know what universities ILWU and ILGWU stand for.

Ruth Nelson Sawyer, noted Beautician and Hairstylist at the Rose Meta House of Beauty finds time, although rearing her three boys—Ronald 6; Wellington 7; and Rinico 11, to serve as one of the key Volunteer Workers in the "Teen-Town" Program. Mrs. Sawyer assists with the checking of the members of Teen-Town who enjoy "Show Time" through the courtesy of Frank Schiffman, manager of the Apollo and Earl Bolling, manager of the Orient in NYC. Doris Ashworth, student nurse at Harlem Hospital School of Nursing is chairman of the show activities in "Teen-Town"; and she is always ably assisted by Thelma Handy, secretary of the Deb Sponsors.

Ward Chapel Dream Comes True Sunday

The dream of all those who labored in and for Ward A.M.E. Church through the years and have made such heroic sacrifices for it during the past few months, under the leadership of Dr. Frederick D. Jordan, now begins to unfold.

On this Sunday, February 18, Ward will begin to occupy her new plant valued at more than two-hundred thousand dollars, located at West 25th and Magnolia streets.

During the week a large crew of workmen have been busy in day and evening shifts cleaning and decorating the plant throughout at a cost estimated at approximately five-thousand dollars.

Dr Jordan states that friends of the project are being asked to assist in the furnishing of the plant requiring particularly six pianos, two sets of office furniture, and a complete set of hotel-type utensils for the kitchen and dining room.

Bishop D. Ormonde Walker who first envisioned this magnificent plant as the home of Ward AME,

Sugar Ray TKOs LaMotta in 13th

CHICAGO—Sugar Ray Robinson, in a 13th round techincal knockout over Jake LaMotta Wednesday became the world's middleweight boxing champion.

LaMotta, who has never been knocked off his feet, refused to go down as the new champion opened up with one of the most vicious attacks in boxing annals. He was staggered repeatedly in the eleventh and twelth rounds and was out on his feet at the finish, which came after 2 minutes and 4 seconds of the thirteenth.

For Sugar Ray, this represents his sweetest victory, for he had been trying to get LaMotta to agree to this fight for several years. And by defeating Jake for the fifth time, he has convinced all that LaMotta's victory over him eight years ago, his only defeat in 124 fights, was purely an accident.

Robinson, who held the welterweight championship prior to the fight, had to give it up after winning the new title.

Unionist Beaten By Police

Dragged From Birthday Fete At His Home

Police terrorism and brutality reached a new high in Los Angeles last Saturday when uniformed officers forced their way into a private home without a warrant and arrested Frank Alexander, widely-known Negro trade unionist.

Alexander was dragged into a prowl car and beaten and cursed as he was taken to Lincoln Heights Jail.

He was booked on "suspicion of robbery" after an argument among police officers as to what charge could be placed against him to make it hardest for him to get bail.

After he was booked, he was beaten again in the elevator as he was taken to a cell.

Examination by a doctor supplied by the Civil Rights Congress showed that Alexander was suffering from multiple bruises and contusions about the head, neck and body. His shoulder was

Cruelty, Beatings Were Too Much

To spend 6½ years of fidelity, housekeeping, working in the same postal service as her husband and yet to have to "submit to his cruelty and beatings was too much," complained Mrs. Cornelia Browne, 913 E. 119th street.

According to court files she charged her husband, Moses Browne, with extreme mental and physical cruelty displayed in frequent beatings; he has threatened her life often, she says.

Wife Is Cruel

Instead of a sergeant being branded as "cruel and hard-boiled," by rookie soldiers, it was a sergeant complaining of cruelty in a case filed in court here last week. But instead of the army, it was the Los Angeles home of Sgt. Edwin and Thelma Banks.

Represented by Atty. James N. Reese, Banks, who is stationed at Camp Roberts, filed for divorce charging extreme mental cruelty. The couple married in Los Angeles Feb. 3.

UCLA, Golden State Forums End Negro History Week

A committee of 17 Los Angeles residents has been appointed to serve as a sponsoring group for U.C.L.A.'s observance of National Negro History Week on Friday, Feb. 16.

The celebration will feature an address by Dr. Howard Thurman of the San Francisco Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples, songs by Ellabelle Davis, well-known American soprano, and an exhibit of Negro art and literature.

Dr. Thurman's address and Miss Davis' songs will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Friday in U.C.L.A.'s Royce Hall Audi-

Fire Kills Sleeping Man

Flames which swept through a house at 1261½ East 34th street Sunday caused 1st, 2nd and 3rd degree burns to Leonard R. Pullins resulting in the death of the 51-year-old sleeping man.

Firemen summoned to the scene rescued the badly burned man.

He was rushed to Georgia Street emergency hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival there.

Mrs. Ruby Torrance, a neighbor, told police she and Pullins had been drinking heavily earlier in the evening.

She said the dead man had a habit of lighting the kitchen stove in order to provide heat for himself.

Firemen believe the fire starting in the kitchen spread to the bedroom where Pullins was sleeping.

Negro History Week will be climaxed on Sunday, February 18, from 3 to 7 p.m. at the Golden State Insurance Company's Auditorium, located at West Adams and Western Ave. Our Authors Study Club, the Los Angeles Branch for the Study of Negro Life and History, is the sponsoring group.

A grand reception will close a week of celebrating the heritage and colorful background of the American Negro. An interesting program with personalities of Stage, Screen, Radio, and Television will be presented, mistress of ceremonies Miss Louise Beavers. Highlighting the program

Dr. Leonard Stovall, Founder of Duarte Rest Home, Honored

Dr. Leonard Stovall, founder and president of the Outdoor Life and Health Association rest home at Duarte, was honored this week as one of the great Negro leaders of today. Through him, Southern California has the distinction of having the only privately organized Negro institution for the care of tubercular patients.

The Duarte rest home was founded 16 years ago, and since then more than 500 people of all races have found health within its walls.

Throughout his entire medical career, Dr. Stovall has been especially interested in the fight against tuberculosis, a disease which not more than some 20 years ago claimed four times as many victims among Negroes as among whites.

A Jewish friend, the late Dr. Leon Shulman, one of the founders of the Los Angeles sanitorium, an institution sponsored by the organization known as the City of Hope, showed Dr. Stovall what he could do about his problem. It was to do the same thing as the Jewish people had done in founding the Los Angeles sanitorium.

So Dr. and Mrs. Stovall in 1937 donated four lots they owned in Duarte for the establishment of the Outdoor Life and Health Association. Their idea was to

By C.A.B.

(An Open Letter to Congressman Yorty)

Hon. Samuel William Yorty,
Congressman, 14th District, California.,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. Yorty:

I must confess that your statement in the local press anent the drafting of 18-year-olds in the United States Army, and that protests against this thing originate from the Communists, has been a matter of keen disappointment to me. And I am quite sure it has also been to others of your constituents in the 14th Congressional District in Los Angeles.

Since your election and your going to Washington, you seem to have reversed your position on many subjects. I remember distinctly at a reception in your honor at the Park View Manor, as a send-off to your Washington trip, you stated then, "I'm not under any illusions that our boys over in Korea are basking in the glory of fighting. THEY'RE thinking and saying 'When the hell do we get out of this?' And I'm not going," you added, "to give my consent to sending any more of our boys over there FOR THE SAKE OF SAVING THE FACE OF ANYBODY IN WASHINGTON."

These may not be your exact words, but you will remember that is the gist of what you said. And our friends who crowded the hall approved wholeheartedly of what you said then.

NOW you want to send 18-year-olds to that hell in Korea? NOW you say anyone who objects is a Communist? Anyone who wants peace is a Communist? Any petition asking that our boys dying in Korea be brought home, must be Communist inspired?

You have turned down the path all of us had hoped so desperately you would avoid. Why do you follow the line of the Republican pro-fascists? Why do you want to smear everything with Red a la McCarthy and Gerald L. K. Smith?

Speaking of Smith, he is in town again, as perhaps you know. He filled the Embassy Auditorium to overflowing on two successive nights this week. He railed against our government in Washington. He said Secretary of State Acheson OUGHT TO BE SHOT! He said the same fate should be meted out to Felix Frankfurter.

UNHAPPY AFRICAN PRINCE WANTS TO RETURN HOME

The dust of America has hung heavy on his feet for 18 years vows Prince Zomba Cobra Pola, an unhappy denizen of this city who vows that he would like to return to his native Africa.

Prince Zomba tells a very unusual story concerning his sojourn here in America which began 18 years ago when he and his mother and a group of Ubangi tribesmen were shanghied from a native village and brought to America by a circus troop.

Zomba, who says he hails from someplace in the Egyption Sudan, recalls that he was playing in a dusty street when the circus leaders enticed he and his mother and the Ubangis aboard the boat

Landlord Pays Triple Damages

The $38.00 hike Irene Boyd added to the monthly rentals of Booker T. Floyd since 1949, cost her the neat sum of $780.00, another $150.00 in attorney fees and cost of court.

Floyd was awarded three times the amount he was forced to fork over in overcharges.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, who appeared for the plaintiff Floyd, charged in the complaint that the original rent pegged at a $60.00 per month ceiling, was illegally raised to $98.00 a month.

The court awarded Floyd the above amount Monday.

Tenant Wins $750 for Overcharge

The Broadway Investment company came out second-best in a rent overcharge suit brought by Leola Butler in federal court here Tuesday. The matter was heard before Federal Judge Ben Harrison.

The suit was brought to recover a total of $1250.00 involved in rent overcharges.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson who appeared as counsel for the defendant Broadway Investment firm, was successful in reaching a settlement with the plaintiff, Mrs. Butler.

The settlement saw Mrs. Butler agreeing to accept the sum of $750.00 in lieu of the $1250 she was suing for.

Yet no PATRIOTIC citizen has raised a voice against him. Is not his anti-Semitic, anti-Negro propaganda which he peddles so openly, not subversive? Will not that sort of gibberish arouse the hatred of gullible Americans? May it not produce racial riots? Perhaps even a war?

Gerald L. K. Smith is given one of the finest auditoriums in the city to fume against our government. But Paul Robeson, one of the greatest of all Americans, cannot get a place to speak anywhere. Paul Robeson speaks for peace. His is a message of friendship. Gerald L. K. Smith spues out hate and venom, such as the most poisonous reptile could not equal.

Yet you not only tolerate him, you actually honor him!

But Paul Robeson, the messenger that would bring peace, the people under such leadership as yours, actually reject. Why do you lead us so blindly? Why do you not teach us of the light? Why are not you yourself so filled with the truth and the light, that you could do nothing less than object to the Gerald L. K. Smith tactics, and laud those of Paul Robeson and others like him?

I visited many peace centers in Europe during my recent trip to Europe last summer—in Paris, in Brussels, in Moscow, in Georgia, Russia. I went only as an ordinary American citizen, and my loyalty to my country, America, no one can honestly question.

There was no braggadocio attitude anywhere. Nothing like loud boasting of what we, the Communists, have done. Everything was perfectly natural and carefree and honest. The only difference I could see between those people whom I visited, and who want peace so desperately, was that their intense loyalty to their country was so manifest. Everything they did seemed to be activated by the one theme: How will this benefit the workers? How will it make their living conditions better? How will it improve their social conditions?

And of course all the people in those countries are included in the term "workers." That means every man, woman and child who lives in the countries which you would term "Communist dominated."

Mr. Yorty, I am not speaking for the Communist Party. I shall leave it to the members of that party to answer you if they choose to do so.

But as one of your constituents, I do object strenuously—and I speak for hundreds, even thousands of others in your district—to your smearing every movement for peace, every attempt to settle this war, every objection to drafting mere children into an army for the purpose of killing those whom they have never even seen—as being Communist inspired.

As our representative from the 14th Congressional District in Los Angeles, I am asking you to change your course, and to be at least honest enough and fair enough to give those who object to sending their boys of 18 to a war overseas, the benefit of the doubt. Study our objections before you act.

Sincerely,

C.A.B.

build a rest home there and to inspire others to do more in the fight against tuberculosis.

It took three years to raise enough money to build the home. Then the government in 1942 condemned the property for the construction of the Santa Fe dam. The Stovalls and the health association were paid for their property, of course, and with this money they purchased the present site at 1160 E. Duarte Road. It is right next door to the Los Angeles sanitorium, of which Dr. Shulman was the head.

The wealthier sanitorium made a gift of one of its buildings to the Outdoor Life and Health Association rest home, as a token of its friendship. Dr. Stovall is so proud of his generous neighbor that whenever visitors come to the Duarte rest home, he urges them to be sure to visit the other home also. He calls it a "regular palace" for the sick.

Dr. Stovall has been honored in the medical profession in California and throughout America. He was elected last year to the California Medical Association, the first Negro to be elected to that association. His advice is sought by brother physicians everywhere.

There are 50 beds in the rest home, for patients who cannot afford to pay for private treatment. Their care costs about $4 per day. It is paid for by the county, and by funds raised by the Outdoor Life and Health Association. The association also maintains a clinic at 806 E. Jefferson Blvd., where X-ray examinations are given for tuberculosis.

Dr. Stovall's children are following in his footsteps, and are praying his prayer also: "O God, help us to help ourselves." His son, Leonard, is a pre-medical student at UCLA, and his daughter, Yolande, is a medical student at Howard University in Washington, D. C.

Of course the Outdoor Life and Health rest home is absolutely color blind so far as patients are concerned. "Whosoever is in need, let him come," says Dr. Stovall. "We cannot afford to segregate here. We have been too segregated against ourselves."

And so black and white or yellow, no matter what color or race or creed, the person in need is always welcome at Duarte Rest Home.

will be the awarding of Citations to outstanding citizens.

The outstanding feature of the program begins at 5 o'clock, when a Dramatic Skit written and directed by Clarence Dave Hargrave, and titled "Portraits of Pioneers—in Colors," will be presented. This Skit is a dramatic review of early characters who influenced California history.

Portraying the roles of pioneers will be such featured players from the forthcoming picture "Deep Is the Well" as: Maidie Norman, William H. Walker, George W. Hamilton and little Gwendolyn Laster. Also to be featured are Jessie Grayson, Joel Fluellen, Jester Hairston, William Gillespie, and others.

Guest artists appearing on program are: George Smith of the Nash Singers, Emmitt Steward, The Oscar Plants, Norman O. Brooks, Josephine Brown, William A. Luke, Katie Mae Hayes, Gordon Dudley, James Wilson, Evelyn Holly, Rosemary Boykins and others. Refreshments will be served and admission is free.

To commemorate the significant contributions the Negro people have made to our Nation's culture, progress and prosperity, the two lodges of the Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order in the Bay Cities, Lodge No. 760 and Lodge No. 263, joined with numerous other cities and organizations throughout the United States in celebration of "Negro History Week" on Tuesday, February 13, 1951, at the Jewish Community Center of the Bay Cities, 2655 Main Street, Ocean Park, at 8:00 p.m.

Among the principal speakers were John Lee and Dr. Sanford Goldner, cultural director of the Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order in Los Angeles. A musical and dramatic program, delineating incidents in the history of the Negro people, are also included.

Brotherhood in Action Theme Of Community Group Meeting

"Brotherhood In Action" will be the theme of the meeting to be held Thursday, February 22, 8:15 p.m., at Temple Sinai, 4th and New Hampshire. This interracial meeting which is being held in honor of both Negro History Week and Brotherhood Week, is being sponsored by several community groups and churches, including: the Southeast Inter-Racial Council; St. John's Methodist Church, the Westside Chapters of the American Jewish Congress, Church of the Living God, Kadimah Temple, Mt. Pilgrim Church, Calvary Mennonite Church, and others.

Rev. J. J. Hicks, recognized community leader and pastor of St. John's Methodist Church, will chair this important meeting. Participating in a challenging discussion of "Brotherhood on the People's Level," will be Mrs. Paul Major, dynamic and well known president of the Beverly Hills Chapter, American Jewish Congress, and Rev. F. Douglas Ferrell, civic leader and pastor of the Tabernacle of Faith. Several outstanding community leaders have accepted invitations to be present and participate in the open forum discussion to follow.

Plans for the meeting are in the capable hands of Mrs. Leo Kessler and Mrs. Mac Green of the Brandeis-Cardoza and Hollywood Chapters, of American Jewish Congress, and C. D. Hawkins, president of the Southeast Inter-Racial Council. A feature of the meeting will be the appearance of the 45-member choir of the Tabernacle of Faith. Additional entertainment will also be offered. The public is most cordially invited to attend the meeting, which will be followed by a social hour and refreshments. There will be no admission charge. For further information call Pat Rosenthal, WEbster 4972, or Earl Walter, CE. 29823.

Dr. Aptheker Stricken on Speaking Tour

Dr. Herbert Aptheker, noted historian and speaker for Negro History week, meeting on the West Coast, found it necessary to cancel the balance of his heavily scheduled program, due to an attack of virus pneumonia.

All of his speeches included new facts of Negroes and their contribution to our American life.

Dr. Aptheker's meetings have had tremendous attendance.

May Subtract Civil Defense Gifts From Income Taxes

SACRAMENTO — Financial contributions to civil defense organizations by individuals or corporations are deductible from federal income tax payments, Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, California's Civil Defense Director, disclosed.

"I have been advised," General Robertson said, "that the Treasury Department has ruled that financial contributions to national, state or local civil defense activities are in the same category as charitable contributions and gifts."

United States Civil Defense Administrator Millard Caldwell, General Robertson explained, advised California of the Treasury Department's ruling.

Thomas J. Lynch, Treasury Department general counsel, has stated officially:

"Section 23 (0) of the Internal Revenue Code provides, in part, that in computing net income there shall be allowed as a deduction, in the case of an individual, contributions or gifts, payment of which is made within the taxable year to or for the use of the United States, any state, territory, or any political subdivision thereof, for exclusively public purposes. The deduction for such contributions together with contributions or gifts to other organizations specified in section 23 (0) of the Code may not exceed 15 percent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. Section 23 (q) of the Code contains a similar provision authorizing a deduction for such contributions when made by a corporation subject to the limitation that the total of the contributions under section 23 (q) may not exceed 5 percent of the taxpayer's net income."

Atomic Bomb Life Savers

What effect will radioactivity have on my radio, television, telephone, house lights?

Neither instantaneous nor lingering radioactivity will affect the operation of most mechanical and electrical devices.

Unless the wires are down or there is a power failure, both your lights and telephone should continue to work.

However, don't use your telephone unless absolutely necessary. Clogged lines will prevent emergency messages from getting through.

The bomb's radioactivity will not interfere with your radio, in the event of an attack be sure to turn it on. It may be your chief source of emergency instructions.

If possible, it would be best to have a battery-operated—or even crystal-portable set. This would insure operation even if the power lines were affected.

Television, like radio, won't be jammed by radio-activity.

Slaying Trial Set For March 22

Willie Jones, 24, who is charged in the shotgun slaying last Jan. 6 of Clifford Deloach, 45, at his home 1278 107th street, was arraigned on Tuesday in circuit court. Jones is charged with the murder of Deloach, who was his father-in-law, and in the assault of Leonard Smith, a family friend. The case has been set for March 22.

Jones pleaded self defense in answering the charge. According to police records Jones had loaned a truck to his father-in-law and wanted the truck returned to him. Deloach, it is reported, refused to give him the truck and on Jan. 6 Jones returned to get his truck. It was then that the shooting took place.

Jones is being defended by Atty. Earl C. Broady, who is outlining a case of self-defense for the man.

African Prince

which brought them to New York.

At that time Zomba relates that he was nine years old and became part of the circus show which traveled the length and breadth of America before stopping for winter quarters. The Prince, who avers that his father was the leader of his tribe, says that he was separated from his mother as soon as they reached this country. His mother was sent with a group of his tribesmen to one show and he was sent with the Ubangi's. The youthful little African, he is 5 feet 6 inches tall) says that from then on his troubles began. He recalls being with the circus for three seasons and thereafter went out on his own. His mother, he never saw again, but he has learned that the group was returned to Africa.

For the past five years Prince Pola has been trying hard to convice British and American authorities that he really belongs in Africa and would like to return to his people. He has approached British and American Consuls in many cities. Inspector Bertrand Counch of San Francisco became most interested in his case and searched for clues to Zomba's people. But since the Prince does not remember the name of the boat nor the day on which he arrived in America the maze through which the government must search becomes intricate.

At one time in his anxiety to leave the country, Zomba tells of having saved $800 to go to Mexico and thence to leave that country by boat for India by working his way. From India he say that he planned to go to Africa. However, he did not expect to be stopped by border guards who insisted that he was a Mexican and so held him for many weeks and thereafter deported him to Mexico. He remained below the border for six or eight months and finally after many hearings and the intercession of a rich Texan was allowed to return to the United States.

While he was in the circus Zomba became a Zulu dancer and fire eater and since that time he has been making a living serving as a model for painters since he dresses in a picturesque turban at all times. Zomba used to carry with him a strange little black amulet made of ebony. It is, he says, an idol of his country.

Zomba says that he has legally got the permission of the Immigration and Naturalization Department to leave the country but he must pay his own way until he can find which part of Africa he comes from. However, Zomba says he does not have the money and at the present time does not even have a permanent place of abode. He says that a grocer friend is paying for his room by the night. He relates that he receives his mail at 111 S. Main St., at the Vanness Hote.

OVER-ALL COORDINATOR for South—Sam McCallister, 2083 W. 28th St., has been appointed over-all coordinator for the South district for Los Angeles' new civil defense block service by Chief Block Warden Americ Hadley is was learned this week.

McCallister So. Defense Head

Samuel McCallister, 40, of 2083 W. 28th St., has been appointed over-all coordinator for the South district of Los Angeles' new civil defense block service by Chief Block Warden Americ Hadley it was learned this week.

McCallister will fill this over-all role until William DuVernet, 861 W. 77th St., returns from vacation. DuVernet was appointed the coordinator of the southwest district. McCallister will be in charge of the Southeast.

Under an ordinance passed by the City Council, various municipal departments have assumed the task of setting up and organizing the new Los Angeles civil defense program.

The City Recreation and and Park Department is organizing the city-wide block warden system McCallister said.

Primary purposes of the block warden system will be to pass on to the resident of each block civil defense information and to organize general training programs and self-help instruction units.

Block wardens will be organized on block, neighborhood, community and district levels with representatives of each group tied in with the group immediately above them.

DuVernet will assume his duties upon his return from his vacation, Hadley said.

McCallister, who first began working with the Recreation department in 1936, is a native of Los Angeles. He is married and has four children. The editors of of California Eagle take great pride in the appointment of McCallister to this most important city role. They feel he is quite capable of filling the position in the manner in which it should be filled.

Educated at Western University, Quindaro, Kansas, McCallister received his B. A. degree in physical education. Since then, he has earned several special education certificates in recreation.

During World War II, McCallister was a sergeant in a Military Police detail of the California State Guard, serving from 1942 to 1945.

Prior to his appointment as South district coordinator, he was chief recreation director at South Park Playground, 345 East 41st Street. He has also served as chief director at Ross Snyder Playground, and Compton Playground.

McCallister has been a volunteer worker in Boy Scout and Y.M.C.A. work since 1924, teaching boxing, tumbling and basket ba...

District headquarters for the block warden service in the South district will be at Exposition Park, 3915 South Figueroa, Los Angeles 37.

Persons desiring to enlist in the volunteer service may register at the district headquarters.

Trenton Six Face New Trial March 6

TRENTON, N. J. — Due to an emergency appendectomy operation on Mario H. Volpe, Mercer County prosecutor, Superior Court Judge Ralph J. Smalley declared a rescheduling of the second murder trial of the six Trenton men who plead for their lives. The new date is March 5. All six men are accused of murdering 72-year-old William Horner, a Trenton shopkeeper, during a holdup in January, 1948.

Since the trial began, strange circumstances have taken place. Two detectives asked to withdraw from the case because they believed four of the defendants innocent. Later, the new trial was ordeerd after the first trial resulted in a mass conviction and death sentence, on the grounds that vital police records should have been made available to the defense attorney. George Pellettiere, who charged the prosecutor, Volpe, had clamped a "blackout" on the records. Judge Smalley said the defense should receive all police records over which there was no argument, and he would determine which others should be used.

Meanwhile, the defendants, who had been sentenced to the electric chair, await the March 5 trial.

Negroes—$108 Per Month Rent; Whites—$35

CHICAGO—Ruthless exploitation of Negro tenants by landlords was exposed b ya report from a Chicago Housing Authority worker.

The report stated that in one Chicago building containing four identical apartments, two are occupied by white tenants and two by Negro tenants. The white tenants pay 35 dollars per month rent while one Negro tenant pays 108 per month and the other pays 90 dollars a month.

$800 Needed in YWCA Big Effort

At a recent report meeting, Tuesday, February 6, of the Membership Committee held at the YWCA with Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, former Branch Membership Chairman as guest speaker she emphasized in her talk to adopt the slogan, "Every Woman a Member."

Eight hundred dollars is still needed to reach the goal by the end of the fiscal year, February 28. Mrs. Josephine Ladd Membership Chairman and her workers are ringing doorbells and telephones morning, noon and evenings in an all out effort to make this drive a success, but only without the loyal support of every woman in this community can this goal be realized.

The various departments in the Association are supporting the drive this week. In the Teen age Department this effort is being approached through the various club meeting at the Branch as well as at the schools. The Business and Professional Women are sponsoring for membership for the Young Adult Department an evening "With the Stars," on Tuesday, February 13th.

The YWCA has a dual purpose in securing new members at this time. First we need the help of women to share themselves in our work with teen agers, employed girls and young mothers and second the membership contribution is necessary in maintaining our local—and world wide program.

We would like to take an active part in the association by becoming a working member, but if you cannot do this, would you join us as a non-voting member which would indicate your interest in and sympathy for the work of the YWCA in the community? The sincere purpose and democratic outlook, has been working for a better understanding among all peoples.

The Young Adult Department is presently offering classes in Bridge and Canasta every Thursday at the Branch with instructions free. Hat restyling First and Third Tuesdays) Registrations now being taken. Introduction to modeling (every Wednesday) Classes to begin February 28th.

It is the sincere purpose of this committee as well as department to acquaint you with the facilities offered here at the Branch and make them available to you.

● Railway Brakm'n

Norfolk and Southern. Since then the BLF&E has forced one group of Negro firemen after another, on various southeastern railroads to resort to court action to protect their jobs.

In its decision the federal court in the A.T.L. case, slammed the BLF&E which as "bargaining agent" used its bargaining power "to deprive Negroes of desirable positions as firemen."

Attorney Joseph C. Waddy of Washington, who headed the counsel who fought to court action on behalf of fireman Willie J. Roax and J. W. McGowan, described the latest court victory as one "that will establish a far-reaching principle that will affect the future of Negro brakemen, switchmen and other railroad workers bedeviled by racial discrimination."

Waddy also stated that "the precedent established here will pave the way for future cases affecting the welfare of hundreds of Negro railroad workers, especially in the South."

At the same hour Dr. Jordan pastor, will be conducting the final services of the congregation in the old location on East 25th Street. At 2 o'clock a parade will leave from 1250 East 25th Street by way of Hooper Avenue to Adams and proceed West on Adams Bouleyard to Magnolia Street. The colorful parade will include bands, marching units and one-hundred decorated cars.

Next week the church will become the host to the Centennial Celebration of Africa Methodism in California, opening Monday February 20 at 9 o'clock in the morning, continuing with afternoon and evening session throughout the week.

The Indianapolis branch of the NAACP gave the national organization a check for $1000 last week in favor of the emergency fund-raising drive.

An attorney for the Civil Rights Congress found Alexander in Lincoln Heights, badly bruised and in pain.

Hundreds of calls and telegrams deluged city officials, demanding Alexander's release and protesting the illegal entry and beating and arrest by the police.

Not until Sunday evening was a writ of habeas corpus signed by a judge who left his dinner table to sign the writ and to order officers at Lincoln Heights to release Alexander.

Alexander is free on $2,500 bond which was placed by the Civil Rights Congress.

The hearing on the writ of habeas corpus will be held today, Thursday, at the Hall of Justice, Division 41 at 2 p.m.

Alexander is executive secretary of the Communist Party Negro Commission and one of the exonerated Los Angeles 21 grand jury witnesses.

Enrollment Drops At Loyola U.

In line with a nationally reported trend in universities and colleges, Rev. Charles S. Casassa, S.J., President of Loyola University, today announced a drop of approximately 12% in regular undergraduate enrollment for the Spring semester of the University's colleges of Business, Arts and Science and Engineering. This was less than the reported figures for other local institutions. Regular registration ended Monday, Feb. 12.

Registration for the University's adult education Evening School will be held Thursday and Friday evening, Feb. 15 and 16, in the University library. A wide variety of degree credit courses in Business, Philosophy, Social Sciences and Education, Literature, Languages, Science, Mathematics, Communication Arts and Music are offered in the Evening School.

Citizens' Group Criticizes Board

First act of the Citizens Schools Committee, which was formed this week, was to accuse the Board of Education of "resisting" the Grand Jury inquiry into public schools.

The committee urged the school board to welcome all questions. Instead, it said, the board holds some private meetings and intimidates critical citizens at its open meetings.

The committee said a spot check of its members has disclosed wide dissatisfaction with food served in school cafeterias. In addition many parents have expressed alarm over the blacktop surfaces under apparatus on playgrounds.

"Our own studies of the school system have revealed to us the same need for investigation in the classrooms, where basic skills are still being neglected," the statement continued. The committee has opened headquarters at 1022 N. Virgil Ave.

Chas. Howard Speaks At Embassy, Feb. 22

Charles P. Howard, prominent attorney and Progressive Party leader, will speak at the Embassy Auditorium located at 9th St. and Grand Ave., as a climax to the week-long observance of National Negro History Week held this month.

The mass rally, sponsored by the Los Angeles County Independent Progressive Party, will be held either on Feb. 22 or 23, according to the present plans released by Jack Berman, executive vice chairman of the local IPP organization.

According to Berman, this trip will mark the first visit by Howard to the West Coast since the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People convention held here in Los Angeles in the summer of 1949.

Howard, who was the first Negro in history to deliver a keynote speech at a national convention of a major political party, will deliver a major address concerning the relationship o fthe fight for peace and the struggles of the Negro people for equality and freedom.

The prominent Negro jurist has long been identified with the various civil rights fights and has just returned from an extensive trip to both Western and Eastern Europe where he attended the Warsaw Peace Congress.

Tickets to this meeting are available at 60c each and can be obtained by calling REpublic 2-8152.

Japanese Groups Offer Their Blood

Members of Japanese groups throughout the city have promised the Red Cross blood bank a deposit of 3500 pints of blood.

The blood is for military use in Korea and in civilian hospitals in Southern California.

Japanese leaders who made the Red Cross commitment were Tats Kushida, Japanese-American Citizens league; George Waki, Japanese Veterans association; Katsuma Mukaeda of the Japanese Chamber of Commerce and Sachiko Furusawa, representing a Japanese women's group.

Haircut Prices in Korea Soar to 7½c

SUWON, Korea — This war-shattered city was hit by inflation this week, according to a news dispatch. The price of haircuts rose fifty per cent from the five cent price of ten days ago. In Suwon haircuts are now seven and a half cents.

SIGNS OF THE TIME

An interstate commerce commission proposes a rule that automobiles equipped with TV sets must have the screen set "at a point to the rear of the driver's seat—so located as not to be visible to the driver." Motorists are reminded by the Los Angeles Police Department that car radios can be equally dangerous to drivers who take their eyes off the road when tuning stations.

RENT CONTROL INCREASES

Rent De-Control has had a resounding effect in the 63rd assembly district causing many cases of real hardships. In a private survey by the Jefferson Western club it was found some rents increased 33½½%, rather than the 10% expected.

SHOW WORKS

Two outstanding collections will be on exhibition at the Third Street gallery through Feb. 24. The works will be those of Jason Hailey a photographer and Willard Weiner, a painter.

Frankie H. Williams, West Coast regional director for the NAACP announced last week that he will launch a campaign for 50,000 NAACP members in the West Coast region.

Marshall Meet Is Postponed

Attorney Marshall, NAACP special counsel, cabled from Korea that his front-line investigations with the 24th Infantry would not be completed in time for his appearance at the February 16 meeting. Marshall stated that he has found information in strong support of the complaints of discrimination, made by 39 GIs.

Marshall will give a complete report of his investigations on February 23, 8 p.m., at the Second Baptist Church, 24th and Griffith avenue.

Urge Continuance of Chest X-Ray Exams in County

Continuance of the Chest X-Ray Survey Foundation is vital to Los Angeles County's civic defense program.

With that goal in mind, sixty key people gathered from all over the county at noon today (Wed., Feb. 7) to plan the necessary steps for a program of action that would insure the utmost coordination of services and facilities to continue the work of the mass chest X-Ray program.

A meeting of more than 200 civic leaders and medical men last night (Tuesday) heard Arthur C. Christie, M.D., of Washington, D. C., voice the warning that "It is a very necessary part of the preparation for national defense that we intensify our efforts to control tuberculosis."

Meeting at the Los Angeles Elks Club, representatives of almost all agencies and organizations in the county concerned with the vital fight against tuberculosis hear Dr. Christie, famed Washington radiologist who is heading the capitol's post X-Ray survey program, warn that "health hazards are always intensified at times of national emergency. The efforts to combat these hazards must be intensified to an even greater degree."

Dr. Christie was introduced at the meeting by Roger W. Jessup, Chairman of the Board of County Supervisors, who was chairman of the meeting to consider the "follow-up" program for the ten-month long, county-wide mass X-Ray Survey that took chest X-Rays of more than 1,860,000 adults in the county, and found that 38,600 of these people required, on the basis of the X-Ray evidence, further medical study for tuberculosis, heart conditions and other chest diseases.

Pershing Square Loses Sidewalks

All sidewalks bordering on Pershing Square will be closed to traffic for more than a year and a half while an underground parking lot is being constructed.

In order to maintain service in the area, the Los Angeles Transit Lines applied to the city for permission to re-route three of its bus lines around the square.

The lines affected are Melrose-Maple avenue, Line 4; South Figueroa street, Line 49, and Olympic boulevard Line 90.

If the Board of Public Utilities Transportation approves, LATL will combine Line 4 with Line 90 at the westerly end, with both operating along Hill street between Fifth street and Olympic boulevard.

Committee Approves 18-Year-Old Draft

WASHINGTON:—It appears certain now that the Defense Department proposal for drafting 18-year olds will reach the Senate floor. It has been approved by a 7 to 1 vote of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee.

Although the measure still must clear the Senate Armed Services Committee, that step seemed certain since the seven Senators who voted for it in the subcommittee form a majority in the 13-man Armed Services group.

The subcommittee added several restrictions and modifications to the broad plan urged by Secretary of Defense Marshall to build up the nation's fighting manpower and provide a long-term reserve.

Young men of 18 have never been drafted in peacetime. And stiff opposition to the plan has developed in both the Senate and House, because of many protests, especially from parents and educators.

The House Armed Services Committee is working on a similar measure.

Marshall's Delay Forces Revision of Branch Tour

NEW YORK—Delayed by the need to undertake more extensive investigations in Korea, Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today cabled the national office that he would be returning to San Francisco about February 22, rather than on February 14 as earlier scheduled.

Mr. Marshall has been in Japan and Korea for nearly a month investigating the circumstances surrounding the courts martial of more than 30 Negro officers and enlisted men of the 24th Infantry. He was interviewed the accused men and other in their outfit and has been in conference with General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, Inspector General Edwin A. Zundel, and Major General Doyle O. Hickey, chief of staff.

EASTER SUNRISE

Nine minutes after sunrise on March 25, a call to worship from the tiers of the Rose Bowl will signal the commencement of the third annual Easter Sunrise service in the famed Pasadena setting. The interdenominational program will attract many thousands of worshippers.

Against City Law to Carry Any Betting Markers in Los Angeles

A Los Angeles ordinance making it illegal to possess betting sheets and markers within city limits was upheld this week by Superior Court Appellate judges.

Last December 2 Mrs. Bessie Alexander, a cleaning woman, was arrested for having a marker with several bets recorded. She was fined $10 by Municipal Judge Joseph L. Call.

In her appeal Mrs. Alexander charged that one section of the ordinance was so broad as to even forbid "innocuous acts" by the public and was in conflict with the penal code.

She contended that "the slaughter of the innocent is so great that the section itself must be condemned to death."

Judges Hartley Shaw, Jess E. Stephens and Edward T. Bishop, however, held that such "innocuous acts may be forbidden in an attempt to correct an evil," adding:

"Many a motorist realizes this as he awaits the change of a signal at a street where, at the moment, there is no cross traffic."

They denied her appeal.

Under the California Vehicle Code (Section 501), a drunk driver may be sent to a State prison for a term of up to five years. Commonly referred to as "Felony Drunk Driving" the motorist is guilty of this act when he injures another person while breaking some traffic law, if he is under the influence of intoxicating liquor at the time.

Hadacol Helps New Mother

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron in Which Her System Was Deficient

Mrs. Lottie F. Edwards, who lives at Route 1, Inverness, Miss., has two careers . . . she is a registered nurse and also a wife and mother of a new baby. After her baby was born, Mrs. Edwards felt run-down, she knew she had to do something to help overcome this condition so that she would feel up to her many duties. Mrs. Edwards began taking HADACOL and says it really helped her. Mrs. Edwards was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Mrs. Edwards

Here is what Mrs. Edwards says: "I have taken one bottle of your HADACOL and am now on my second bottle, and I can say it has really helped me. After my baby came I didn't feel like walking around. I had headaches and was very nervous, and even one bottle has helped me so much. I want to keep on taking your wonderful HADACOL. I will certainly recommend it to all patients I come in contact with, for I think HADACOL is just the formula needed for Vitamin and Mineral deficiency."

Registered nurses, in increasing numbers, are showing a keen interest in HADACOL and in the results that are being secured with this great modern formula. Requests have been received from many of these nurses for professional bottles of HADACOL and many of them indicated that they recommend the HADACOL formula to their patients. HADACOL has helped folks of all ages when their condition was due to a deficiency of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron, elements which are contained in HADACOL.

Remember HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. And so inexpensive. Trial-size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, La.

EDITORIALS AND COMMENTS

Dr. Bunche Speaks For Democracy

Dr. Ralph Bunche, recent Nobel peace prize winner, while speaking before a NAACP gathering, said the Negro people had given unstintingly to their country through all its history—their sweat, their tears, and their blood— and that whenever and wherever the opportunity to prove themselves was given, they contributed their ability and genius to the commonweal.

Even though they have been and are modest as to how they react to Jimcro practices and the undemocratic barriers of segregation and discrimination in the face of these contributions for the good of the nation, it is the belief of all honest Americans that the Negro American is viewing the Korean war situation with a degree of skepticism.

They know that Negro soldiers were the first to face the battle front in the little brown Republic. And they are aware that while they were fighting to preserve a democratic way of life, undemocratic practices of discrimination were being used against them in the United States Army.

Now, Negro people in the U.S.A. and dark peoples all over the world are standing on tip-toe watching and waiting for the results of Thurgood Marshall's investigation concerning racial discrimination in the courts-martial convictions of 39 Negro GI's on the Korean war front.

According to figures released to date at the Pentagon in Washington, there are some 50 court-martial cases involving Negroes, and one involving a white person.

These statistics make about the same sense as what happened in the Martinsville Seven case.

Governor Battle indicated that white men in Virginia just aren't punished for the crime of rape as Negroes are for even being suspected of rape.

The United States Army is chuck full of Southern officers who believe in supremacy and that Negroes have no rights, not even in the Army, that they are bound to respect. Hence, what we gather from these court-martial episodes: Negroes get the same treatment with regard to discrimination and persecution in the Army that they get at home.

It is time for us, the American Negroes, to stop offering apologies for these atrocities and to speak up and out brazenly if and when it is necessary, against them. We must speak even as Dr. Bunche did and remind our audiences of the sacrifices the Negro people have made for their country. And because of this, if for no other reason, the Negro people must be given the same kind of treatment in the Army and at home, as the white man is given.

As Others See Us

The following are excerpts taken from an article in Telepress giving a full picture of the horror Europeans feel toward the "legalized murder" of the Martinsville Seven and other Negroes in the United States. How can we hope to impress the world with our democracy with such a record?

Among the millions of decent people throughout the world who are working day and night to protect humanity from the new menace to world peace, there were many who refused to believe that fascism had reached the stage in the United States at which, in the face of worldwide protest, the Supreme Court would connive with the State Court of Virginia to actually murder the Martinsville Seven for an alleged offense (which the prosecution failed to prove) for which no white man in United States history has ever been executed.

Such people perhaps failed to realize that a ruling class that could bring horrible death to over two million people in far-away Korea, was just as capable on the home front of the foulest murder garbed in legalistic cloak in American history.

For the 16,000,000 Negro people living in the United States today, however, there are no illusions.

For the Negro American, there is a direct line between the atrocities in Seoul and Pyangyang and the courts lynching of the Martinsville Seven. He realizes from these events that he is to be the home-front scrapegoat in conditionmg the American people to accept, pay for, and carry out the worldwide plunder of "inferior peoples" by the "master race."

This is no new role for the black American. Its only novelty is in its renewed effort to beat down with unprecedented violence his own advancing militancy, an effort openly supported by President Truman. Yes, the same Harry Truman who only three years ago promised, through his widely-publicized Committee on Civil Rights, 2,000 concrete measures to safeguard civil liberty in America—not one of which he has implemented.

It is therefore no surprise to Negro America when Truman, like Pontius Pilate, washes his hands of the Martinsville Seven. This gesture proves once and for all how completely his administration has sold out to the desperate imperialist clique, drowning in the dilemma of its own creation.

The Grinding Machine

Is such sentiment as the following, the result of 1951 years of Christianity: "We are not interested in gains in Korea. What we want is to grind to bits the Chinese people who are fighting against us in Korea."

This is the type of news that comes across the other waves for the consumption of the American people as a before-breakfast diet each day.

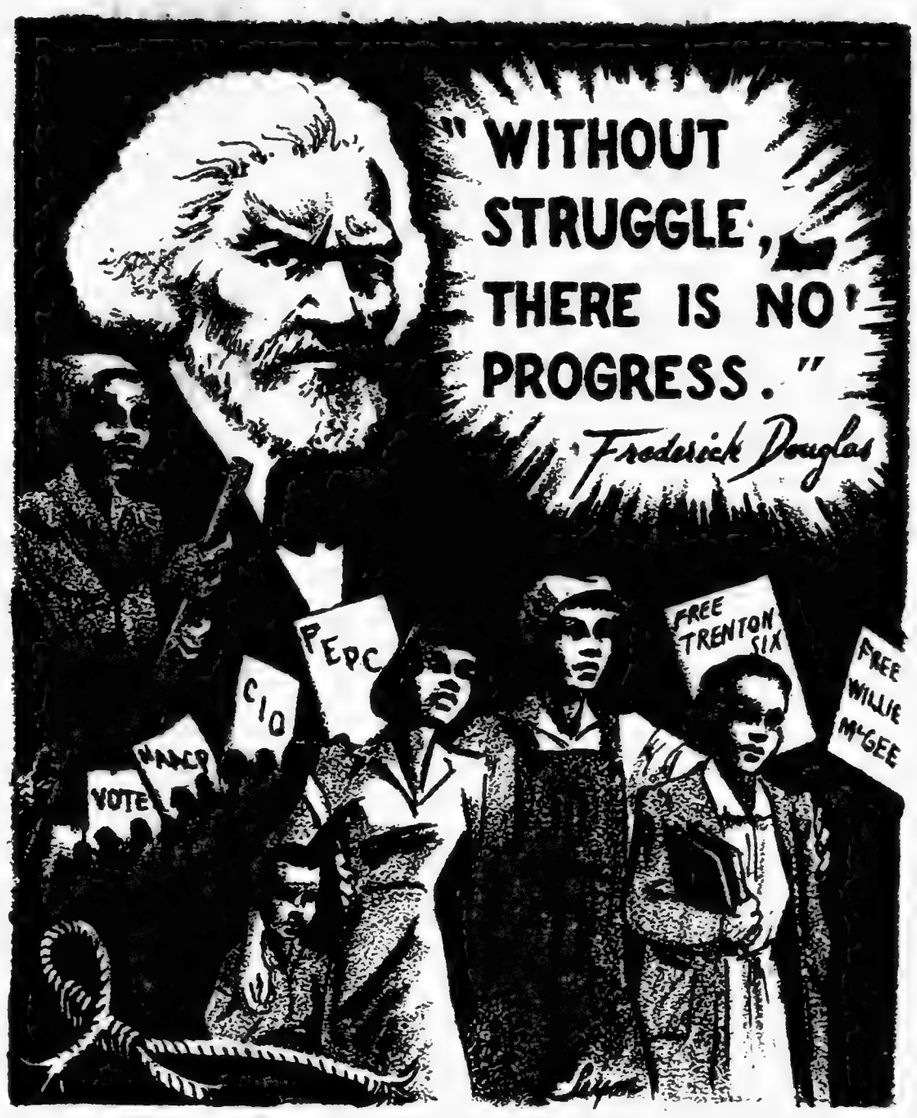
The price we must pay for grinding to bits these Chinese people is set forth in an article in "Link," official organ of the Railroad Workers, which states:

"American workers have just received a warning that the 'Korean conflict is coming home to us' and that their declining economic condition 'has come to depend more and more on the size of the military budget.'

"The only way out of the ruinous road of armaments and war, the U. S. workers were told, is by activity to compel the Truman administration to seek out 'every avenue to resolve disputes peacefully, to improve international relations, to reduce armaments, to outlaw war, and to raise living standards.'

"This warning and challenge was contained in a front-page article in the January 1 issue of the Trainman News, weekly newspaper of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. The article points out that:

"'Last January, Truman estimated the federal budget for the year June 1950-1951 at $42.4 billions, $13.5 billions of which sum was marked for "defense" expenditures. But the invasion of Korea was the springboard for changing this estimate, and the mad pace of armaments since June 25 has skyrocketed the "defense" total to over $50 billion.'"



That is the price we are paying in money. The article says nothing of what we pay in the lives of our loved ones.

The "Trenton Six"

After more than three years in a Trenton, New Jersey, prison, the Trenton Six—Negroes accused of killing 73-year-old William Horner, a dealer in second-hand furniture, were again brought from their dark cells into the light of a court room to face trial for a second time.

Almost conclusive evidence showing that the six young Negroes were not the perpetrators of the crime for which they are being tried, has been given the court. But to no avail.

Will the Trenton Six follow down the same dark trail as that of the Martinsville Seven, whose legal murder aroused the indignation of the world?

UDF In Appeal For Defense Aid

The United Defense Fund, Inc., is a federation of national agencies and local community interests mobilized to meet accelerated demands for national defense services in the health and welfare fields. The National Urban League is one of 19 charter organizations in the newly-formed UDF. The League is the nation's oldest and largest interracial service agency working for equal economic opportunity.

Under the joint sponsorship of Community Chests and Councils of America, and the National Social Welfare Assembly, the United Defense Fund, Inc., will offer communities a "single package" appeal for support of expanded health and welfare services for civilians and the armed forces. UDF agencies will provide services and cities and localities congested by the national defense effort.

Government Seeks X-Ray Technician

The Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration, Los Angeles, California, announces examinations for Medical X-ray Technician with beginning salaries of $2875 and $3100 per year, and Sheet Metal Worker, with a beginning salary of $2900 per year. Applications will be accepted until further notice.

Appointments as a result of these examinations will be made to fill positions at the Veterans Administration Center, Wilshire and Sawtelle boulevards, Los Angeles 25, California.

The Commission on Internal Security and Individual Rights was inducted into office by President Truman this week, with the advice to do its job "without witch-hunting." Adm. Chester W. Nimitz is chairman of the commission.

This commission is somewhat similar to the Un-American Committee, the FBI, and other organizations, intended to find out the inner workings of the minds of American citizens.

This commission, however, is to do its job, so the President said, without witch-hunting. We shall see.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

WAR AGAINST AMERICANS

President Truman has proposed that the taxpayers of the USA spend $71,594,000,000 during the 12 months from July, 1951 thru June 1952. This sum will be spent for the following:

1. Direct military expenditures	$41,421,000,000
2. International security and foreign relations	7,461,000,000
3. Atomic bomb developments	1,277,000,000
4. Defense production and controls	1,403,000,000
5. Civil defense, defense housing, etc.	948,000,000
6. Veterans affairs	4,900,000,000
7. Interest on the national debt	5,900,000,000
8. All other functions of government	8,281,000,000

The first five items, comprising 73% of the total budget, are directly for war. The sixth and seventh items, 15% of the total, are mostly chargeable to past wars. This leaves just 12%—12c out of every dollar—for the normal functions of our government, for the administration of those programs (like social security) which attempt to serve the people's welfare. These are what Congress and the press call "non-defense" expenditures.

To finance this budget, Truman and his advisors propose a "tax-until-it-hurts" program to raise $16 billion during the fiscal year. This tax program has two chief features:

(1) A 4% increase in each tax bracket, starting with an increase from 20% to 24% in the lowest income group, which means an increase of one-fifth in the tax on working people. In the highest income brackets this same 4% means an increase of only one thirtieth. In other words, a worker who paid $100 in taxes a year ago is now paying $120, and will pay $156 if the new tax bill is enacted. (2) A sharp increase in excise (sales) taxes—such as an increase from 7% to 20% in the tax on autos, from 1½c to 3c per gallon on gas, from 7c to 10c per pack of cigarettes, from 10% to 25% in the tax on refrigerators.

In a nutshell, as the Bureau of the Budget has figured it, of the total government revnue for the period, 35% will come from direct taxes on individuals, 27% from direct taxes on corporations, 11% in excise (sales) taxes, 4% from customs taxes and such, and 23% from "new taxes." Big business publications, demanding that "we should tax consumption and not production," jubilantly declare "the excess profits tax . . . is much milder than business had dared to hope for."

WHAT IT MEANS

The Administration's budget is a war budget and its tax program is designed to finance that war—a war against the freedom-loving peoples of the earth, particularly the American people.

We have asserted in the past that if the American people permitted their government to make war on other peoples—as in Greece, China, Korea—such a government would in time make war on its own people. In fact, it would be compelled to do so since without subjugating and exploiting the American people the Administration could not have the political power (freedom from restraint) and the resources with which to wage war on others. The foreign policy and domestic policy of any government are truly one, simply opposite sides of the same coin.

Our government itself insists that its program is a war program—and its foreign policy is illustrated by its war against the people of Korea who sought to establish their own democratic government. That being the case, it is inevitable that U.S. domestic policy would be guided by the same purpose—as illustrated by its determination to drive down American living standards and to curtail our traditional liberties. The official figures prove it: more than 73% of America's wealth is to go for war and less than 12% to serve Americans.

Truman insists that there must be "equality of sacrifice"—and so working people not only have to pay most of the taxes and a greater increase in their tax rates,but they are hit again by the increased taxes on food and gas and other essentials. We will have less take-home pay and we'll have to pay more of that for the things we need to go on living. The dollar today is worth about half of what it was in 1939.

The criminality of the government's war program—its determination to reduce our living standards to their lowest possible level—is proved also by its fantastic "price & wage controls." Prices of food and other essentials are "frozen" at their highest point in history, and wages at their lowest point in years—while "1950 witnessed the largest total profits in American business history," as Truman's Economic Council admits. Truman's personal hypocrasy is shown again by the fact he had authority to freeze prices since last fall.

The American people are not only being compelled to give their sons to a war directed against themselves, but they are being forced to pay for it in increased taxes and lowered living standards.

This is the program the same Truman describes as "the only realistic road to a world peace based on justice and individual freedom."

The financial pages of the L.A. Daily News are more accurate. They report that the government's war program is "conspiring to continue the super-boom. . . . One wonders what might happen if some event, now considered remote, should occur to reduce the threat of war."

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By PENN

Merger of the two largest labor organizations in the nation, the AFL and CIO, has been talked about intermittently for a long time. It has never passed the talking stages, and under the present leadership, we doubt if it ever will.

Talks of "organic unity" (a dearly beloved phrase of AFL President William Green) had progressed until recently to a point at which AFL brass must have thought there was an actual chance of it happening.

Evidently AFL second vice-president Matthew Woll was told to find a reason that amalgamation couldn't go through—and to find it quick.

Woll found an excuse, poor though it is, in reports of the last CIO convention.

He found that the CIO, despite its own amputation of its good left arm and the resulting bleeding of itself down to less than two-thirds of its membership, was a dangerous organization.

It was dangerous, Woll wrote in the "American Photoengraver," because the CIO allowed Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, one of the best known educators in the nation and the president of Howard University, to speak frankly of the United States without being called down.

Dr. Johnson was speaking of the Korean war and of Russia.

Dr. Johnson, while not advocating in any way Communism, is apparently a man who has looked into things for himself rather than accepting the hysterical half-facts and lies of Hearst, Hoover, Truman, MacArthur and other war-mongers.

He has apparently discovered through his study some of the same facts that were apparent to Charlotta Bass when she toured Russia last year.

One of those facts is that religion and the church have as prominent a place in the hearts of people and in the life of the nation as they enjoy in any country.

"We have underestimated the moral power of our enemy," Dr. Johnson said, "they have subscribed to the universal ethics of Judaism and Christianity."

Woll describes Dr. Johnson's remarks as "tragic, unfortunate and unsavory."

And now read the sentence that made Woll scream loudest:

"If we look at ourselves in the way history shows it to us," Dr. Johnson said, "we are probably the most ruthless dominators and exploiters and humiliators of human rights that ever spanned the pages of history!"

Woll tears his hair editorially:

"The big wonder, the amazing, incredible and painfully distressing fact to us is that the convention of a free trade union movement did not repudiate such an effusion of bombastic slander."

If we are to believe that anyone could be in the labor movement in this country and not be aware of the truth of Dr. Johnson's statement, we would advise Woll to talk to a few members of his union who are not on the high plane he seems to occupy.

We would like to tell Woll that Negroes in these United States know what Dr. Johnson was talking about. They know the history of domination, exploitation and humiliation suffered by the colored peoples of this country since the first slaves were brought here against their will.

They know what it means to be a Negro. They could tell Woll about the legal and outright Jimcrow conditions in the south and the slightly veiled but still enforced Jimcrow elsewhere in the nation.

They know what job discrimination is. They know the only jobs they can find are back-breaking and low-paid jobs, or those of menials. They know they are last hired and first fired in nearly every industry.

Negroes know what it is to live in slums, to be forced to live only in certain areas even though they are willing and able to pay higher rentals elsewhere.

They know what it is to send their children to crowded, out-moded schools to receive "education" from over-worked and under-paid teachers.

And finally, they know and could tell Woll about the denial of civil liberties, the all-white jury convictions of Negroes for no other reason than the color of their skins. They could tell Woll about rousting, false arrests and police brutality; of legal and illegal executions and lynchings.

All these things they could tell him—but would he listen?

He would not.

Woll, like his fellow-piecards in both AFL and CIO, are not interested in the truth about workers, either Negro or white, nor in their rights to live in dignity as human beings.

Woll is interested in his vice-president's chair. He's going to say anything, do everything he can to keep it. The clear and present danger to him, and to the other decrepit, soul-sold leaders of the AFL, is that a merger of the AFL and CIO might mean loss of his big salary and equally big expense account.

And we believe that he, the AFL do-nothings and the CIO labor fakers are right to be afraid for their jobs. The rank and file of organized labor, whether in one parent body or not, are moving.

Despite expulsions, seizing of charters, threats and goon squads, workers in the United States are moving towards control of their unions.

Forgotten Women

The stolid farmer with the hoe, his dull and down-cast eyes
Were slowly lifted from the ground to vision brighter skies,
Democracy and modern science has been his liberation:
He's now a strong and vital part of the world emancipation
But far behind and left alone in the advance of civilization
Is a legion of forgotten women still bound by deprivation
Domestic servants they are called, but drudges is a better name.
They live and work in private homes; their status is a shame.
Their souls are weary, their spirits are low, their shoulders bowed and bent;
Their bodies are warped by heavy work, and the peonage lives they've spent
Their wretched faces are void of hope; they live in abject fear
They face a future of lack and want, yet, they toil from year to year
The strangest paradox of modern time in the age of atomic light
Are the millions of forgotten women who've not gained by freedom's fight.
There is no program set to help them, they have no legislation
They have no union to back them up, they have no voice in the nation.
While the majority of Americans reap the fruits of decent hours and wages,
Domestic servants live by standards that were set in the feudal ages.
They're over-worked and under-paid, they work from dawn 'til night;
They have no social benefits; they see little hope in sight
To walk and live in democracy, yet wear oppression's yoke;
To serve in riches and not to have is a grim and tragic joke.
The forgotten women live this life; they have no other choice;
They have no one to plead their cause, they have no public voice.
The proud statue of liberty flings wide her golden door
To welcome exiles of foreign lands, their refuse and their poor.
She holds her torch of freedom high to welcome and to greet
But sees not her own wounded souls lying bleeding at her feet.
American history books redound of noble acts and deeds:
The billions spent in foreign lands; the millions she clothes and feeds.
But democracy dies unless its draws its life from great and small;
Democracy is empty unless it includes FORGOTTEN WOMEN AND ALL!

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Leon M. Giles, tax accountant and notary public, has written a most revealing letter to President Truman calling his attention to some of the conditions which prevail in the deep South, notably at Camp Polk, near Leesville, Louisiana.

Several boys from California have written to him, telling him of the abuse and discrimination they are subject to—"not by the officers of the Army, thank God," writes Mr. Giles, "but by the bigoted members of the white population of that immediate vicinity."

Excerpts from Mr. Giles' letter follows:

To be specific I have been told by parents of several boys from California who are stationed at the aforementioned Camp, that their sons have complained that when they are ready to return to Camp or go to some other destination, even though there be fifty or more of them awaiting transportation, when the bus makes its scheduled stop, even though it be empty of passengers the driver usually counts them in, one, two, three, four, five, six, and says "Now, boys, that's all the Niggers I can take on this trip, the rest of the space is reserved for white folks."

Now, sir, I realize those conditions obtain because of the attitude and local law in that particular vicinity, but I do believe steps can be taken to correct this shameful condition which could be far reaching in its effects and consequences. Mr. President, it is bad enough to subject youths who were born and reared in that particular area to such gross discrimination which you and I know stems from prejudice, which is the inevitable logical sequence of ignorance, but when lads who were born and bred in an atmosphere of right and justice and human decency, such as we have in California are forced to endure such a sad lot, do you not see sir, the undermining of their faith in what they have been taught to be the American Way of Life? I trust, Mr. President, you will give this matter your immediate attention.

Respectfully yours,
LEON M. GILES

To The California Eagle.

Greetings on National Negro History Week. We salute the Negro people and extend our hand and effort in friendship and in brotherhood.

Mexican American
National Association,
Virginia Ruiz,
National Secretary.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

After 100 days of detention without bail in our country's embryonic concentration camp here on Terminal Island, San Pedro, I write to you again on behalf of my fellow McCarran Act victims: Harry Carlisle, Miriam Stevenson and Frank Carlson.

We take this occasion to stress the dangers of permitting the Justice Department to use the McCarran Act to deprive persons of the constitutional right to bail. The provisions of the McCarran Act reaches into many areas of our national life and history has taught us that if discrimination succeeds with one minority group, which happens to be the foreign born this time, it will be applied to others.

We congratulate you for having recognized the vital nature of this campaign against the McCarran Act and for having helped to stop further attacks upon the foreign born. Although all of the foreign born arrested throughout the country last year has been freed with the exception of the "L.A. 4" and one other person in Detroit, we must fight for a complete victory or else the dangers of the McCarran Act disease spreading, remains with us.

Sincerely,
DAVID HYUN.

News From Europe and Other Countries

JAPANESE WANT PEACE

TOKYO—All professors at Kagawa university have signed the Stockholm Peace Appeal, according to the Range News Agency. A recent union survey shows that almost 85 per cent of youth and women employed by the ministry of forestry and agriculture favor peace treaty with all the powers, including the Soviet Union and New China. Over 81 per cent of them expressed opposition to rearmament even in "self defence."

CANADIAN M. Ps

TORONTO—Canadian members of Parliament, which is now in session, have been besieged by delegations of citizens demanding that the Canadian Government recognise the government of the People's Republic of China.

Several members expressed their opposition to the present policies of the Canadian Government on this question, among them Liberal member Lionel Conacher of Toronto, who stated: "Chiang Kai-shek is rotten to the core. Any government would be better than his corrupt government." Conacher also said that he and other members of the Liberal Party had been shocked by Truman's statement that he would use the atom bomb.

Another Liberal member from Toronto, Lieut.-Col. J. Hunter, told a delegation of housewives, youth and war veterans that "Canada has no quarrel with China" and stated that he was in favor of a cease-fire in Korea, negotiations to recognize China and admit her to the United Nations.

CHRISTIANS IN CHINA

SHANGHAI—Five national Christian organizations including the National Christian Council of China, decided for the future to refuse all foreign subsidies and called upon all Christian missions and organizations under them to hasten the realization of the reform programme.

The other four organizations were the General Assembly of the Church of Christ in China, the Young Men's Christian Association of China, the Young Women's Christian Association of China and the Tien Fung Weekly, a publication sponsored by Y. T. Wu, head of the editing department of YMCA.

MOVIES IN CHINA

PEKING—An overall distribution agency for China's film industry was established here on February 1st. Under the name of "China Film Management Corporation," the new organization is placed under the leadership of the film bureau of the Ministry of Cultural Affairs. The agency will look after the distribution in China and abroad of films produced at home and the distribution of foreign films in China, management of publicly-owned cinema houses in China and the supply of films to various film-projection units.

STRIKING MEXICAN MINERS ON MARCH

MEXICO CITY—The heroic march of 4,300 striking miners to Mexico City is receiving wide support from workers, peasants and small merchants on the route and in other parts of the country.

The march started on January 20th from Nueva Rosita, 75 miles from the Texas border, in an effort to focus attention on the struggle and win the just demands. The miners are marching on foot a distance of nearly 900 miles and sleeping outdoors despite freezing temperatures and snow. Thirty-eight wives and mothers accompany them and one woman gave birth to a baby under a bridge.

The dramatic caravan has compelled the Governor of Coahuila state, Raul Lopez Sanchez, who has presidential ambitions, to send food, two ambulances, doctors and nurses. However, the chief aid is coming from the working people.

The strike started on September 25th at the United Company of Palau which is largely financed by government funds, when Labour Minister Manuel Ramirez Vasquez ordered the company to refuse to deal with the workers' committee and tried to impose hand-picked reactionary leaders.

The strike spread to two American smelting and refining subsidiaries at Neuva Rosita and Cloet on October 16th for a similar cause. The government froze the union funds, closed the union consumer cooperatives and medical clinics and sent troops who instituted a reign of terror in Nueva Rosita.

However, the workers' and families' spirit remains unbroken. The strike at Palau Company ended a few days ago with an agreement. Its exact meaning is unclear. The workers received 10 percent increases but have been denied payment for the strike period as is customary in most Mexican walkouts.

Future trade union representation is to be decided by the next Miners' Union convention. The Palau strikers constituted only about one-sixth of the 7,500 total.

CONFERENCE AGAINST REARMAMENT

BERLIN—An international conference of workers against rearmament is being sponsored by 2,000 workers of the Haspe foundry in Hagen, West Germany. A preparatory committee will meet on February 18th to draw up plans.

EFFORTS FOR UNITY

BERLIN—Premier of the German Democratic Republic, Dr. Otto Grotewohl, in a message to 1,400 workers of an accumulator factory in Hanover, declared that his government "did not put any conditions in the way of starting talks" on German unity with the Bonn Government.

"We will go on in our efforts to keep peace and to unify Germany," he assured them.

This message was in reply to a resolution of 1,400 workers asking for unity for Germany and an end to West German rearmament, which was sent to both Premier Grotewohl and West German Chancellor Adenauer.

PEOPLE'S PARTY VICTORY

LONDON—The British press admits the electoral triumph of the Convention People's Party in the Gold Coast election. They report that in the first round of voting the Convention People's Party has secured 34 out of 38 seats. The paper stresses the excellent order and discipline with which the people carried out their electoral duties.

The London Times correspondent cabled from Accra "all here are impressed with the enthusiasm, good humour and orderliness at the booths."

The press further points out that the people—men and women— went to the polls in masses, whilst Europeans were contemptuous of the whole election. In fact, in Accra, only one European voted on Tuesday. Thereupon the governor called upon every white man to vote yesterday.

Deputy leader Gbedemah of the Convention People's Party, stated to the press: "We are now certain we will be ahe biggest party. The orderliness of the election surely proves we are capable of conducting our own affairs if we are left alone."

U. W. FEDERALISTS

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. — Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo, Ohio, Blade, highhighted the second annual convention of United World Federalists of California when he spoke before an audience of 400 in Santa Cruz last week-end.

Speaking at a banquet at the Casa Del Rey Hotel, Patterson said "So long as the two mightiest nations of the world continue to build higher and higher stockpiles of men and guns and ships and bombs, the day of the explosion will inevitably come. True peace can never come to rest upon the racetrack of competitive armament."

The sessions closed Sunday with the election of officers. Ted Baer of Laguna Beach will be state chairman for the coming year; Neville Williams of Los Altos, vice-chairman from the northern area; and Mrs. George Sidenberg, of Santa Barbara, vice-chairman from the southern area.

TOKYO STUDENTS PROTEST

TOKYO—The American peace treaty mission has been presented with a petition from Tokyo University Students' Autonomous Association expressing strong objection to the proposed separate peace treaty, rearmament of Japan and the stationing of American troops in Japan after the peace.

The petition, which was approved by thousands of students at a rally on January 1, declares that the announced plan to place the Ryukyu and Ogasawara island under American mandate violates the Potsdam declaration and that the issue of Formosa, the Bonin Islands, Sakhalin and the Kuriles was settled by the Cairo, Yalta and Potsdam agreements.

The petition states that "all Japanese are determined to sacrifice everything for lasting peace, national independence and at better life."

Reflecting this widespread sentiment, the anti-Communist chairman of the Socialist Party, Mosaburo Suzuki, expressed "disappointment and opposition" at Dulles "inviting" Japan into a separate peace and military alliance.

RELIEF FOR KOREAN VICTIMS

PEKING—Three-year loans of 20,000 Korean dollars will be advanced to refugee families by the Korean People's Democratic Republic to help them re-establish themselves. Two million meters of cloth is being imported to make free clothing for those in need and 30,000 tons of relief grain will be distributed. These are some of the relief measures planned to help those who have lost everything.

At the same time these measures were announced, the People's government disclosed that 610,000 factories, mining installations and homes have been destroyed, while 60 percent of all livestock had been killed.

Priority is being given by the People's government to the restoration of health services. Hospitals will be speedily repaired in every city and mobile medical units will tour the rural areas to give free medical treatment to the refugees.

Taxes will be annulled or reduced in the war-devastated areas. Special assistance is to be given peasants or restore their farms. The people and the armed forces in the rear will be mobilized by the government to to help with spring sowing.

POLAND RECOVERS ART

MOSCOW—Valuable works of art which were stolen from Poland by the Nazi invaders and recovered by the Soviet Army after routing the Nazi armies, have now been handed back to Poland by the Soviet Union. Sixty-five fine paintings which had suffered badly from neglect were carefully restored by outstanding Soviet painters and art experts.

BULGARIAN PENAL CODE REVISED

SOFIA—A new penal code designed to bring the legal system into conformity with socialist deevlopment was unanimously approved by the Bulgarian parliament.

Replacing the old code of 1896 which was several times amended, it has been drawn up on principles of facilitating the education of law breakers in a socialist spirit as well as defense of the people's democratic order.

According to the law, crime is now defined as an act which is publicly dangerous, and guilt must be proved, and not presumed.

Two new forms of punishment have been introduced—namely, corrective labor without detention, and public censure.

The death penalty is described as temporary and reserved exclusively for the most dangerous crimes which threaten the foundation of the people's republic.

U. S. STEEL PROFITS

NEW YORK — United States Steel Corporation recently announced that its profits in 1950 were bigger than at any time during World War II—in fact the highest since 1917. Net profits of more than 215 million dollars last year were nearly 30 percent over the 1949 level. The chairmen told a press conference that the corporation's financial position was so good it could handle a 678 million dollar expansion program without a need for any outside financing. This means that the accumulation of profits and reserves, after very substantial dividend payments, has been sufficient to finance this tremendous construction expenditure.

LATIN-AMERICAN COUNTRIES

WASHINGTON — According to information received from sources close to the United States representative in the special committee for convening the Western Hemisphere Foreign Ministers' Conference, the delays regarding the confefence date can be explained by Latin-American countries' apprehensions at Washington's new demands.

The conference, which last December was set to take place in January, has had its date postponed three times at successive requests from Argentina, Mexico and Brazil.

Some of the states regard the American-drafted agenda for the conference as totally unacceptable, as it includes, for instance, problems concerning standardization of arms equipment of Latin-American armies, setting up of a joint military command, the placing of military bases in the Atlantic and Pacific under this command, ban on the Communist parties' activities in Latin-America, ban on trade relations with the Soviet Union and the People's Democracies, etc.

TIDEWATER FRONTIERS CLUB

NORFOLK, Va. — The guest speaker at the next meeting of the Tidewater Area Frontiers Club will be Edward F. Boyd, a native of California, assistant sales manager of the Pepsi-Cola Company. The speaker will talk on the role of the Negro in the nation's business. By heading a staff of national and regional sales representatives, Boyd's work brings him into constant contact with business problems throughout the country. The Frontiers Club is composed of the leading civic, professional and business leaders in this area.

"NOTES FROM THE GALLOWS"

PRAGUE — Free Greece Radio reported that the "New Greece" publishing house has issued a de luxe edition in Greek of "Notes From the Gallows," the world-famous book of Julius Fucik, Czech writer and member of the Central Committee of the Czechoslovak Communist Party, who was executed by the Nazis.

The book was translated from Czech by Prof. Dimitris Papas and includes photographs of documents and the prison where Fucik was detained by the Nazis. "Notes From the Gallows" won the special prize awarded by the World Congress of the Defenders of Peace recently held in Warsaw.

CYPRUS A POLICE STATE

NICOSIA, Cyprus—Meetings by Cyprus villagers demanding distribution of idle farmland to landless peasants were banned by the British colonial government. Mass peace meetings scheduled to be held throughout the island were also banned.

These measures follow the recent publication of four new bills which will virtually turn Cyprus, a major American air base, into a police state. The bills, which were published in the Offical Gazette, now await the signature of the British governor. The first projected law provides that anyone "likely to disturb public order or be prejudicial to the government" can be arrested without any charge being brought. The inquiries will be private and the victim can either be detained or placed under police supervision.

The second bill gives the governor power to ban "importation, reproduction or circulation in Cyprus" of any publication printed abroad.

The third bill makes propaganda which, in view of the governor, aims "at bringing into hatred or contempt" the government of Great Britain a criminal offense. The fourth bill provides that aliens who are likely "to be dangerous to peace and good order" can be deported by the governor.

Mothers Against Discrimination Plan Tea, Feb. 18

The first social event of the Mothers Against Discrimination is to be a tea held on Sunday, Feb. 18th at 3 p.m., at 926 So. Harvard Street, at which Dr. Thomas Perry, pediatrician, and Miss Bernice Catherine Wright, medical social worker, will speak on the whole topic of segregation and discrimination with in the Los Angeles hospitals.

Mothers Against Discrimination was organized around a case of segregation at the Queen of Angels Hospital and is now a permanent group fighting to rid all Los Angeles hospitals of discrimination and segregation.

"It is our hope to involve all women in defending the rights of all peoples to equal treatment in our hospitals. We invite all interested persons to attend our tea and acquaint themselves with our group program," said Clara Branfman, chairman of the group.

Ladies Sewing Club

The Ladies Social Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Sumpton when Mrs. Miles gave a splendid talk. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Maggie Brooks, 4418 S. Figueroa street, on February 18. Mrs. Beasley, president; Mrs. Wilson, reporter.

GETS $125,000 GRANT

ATLANTA — Some weeks ago Clark College was the recipient of a grant of $125,000 from the Kresge Foundation in Detroit. The money will be used to erect a home economics practice house and an apartment house for women.

Georgia's Schools Go "Private" To Prevent Negroes Entering

ATLANTA, Ga.—In defiance of a recent United States Supreme Court ruling that the state of Georgia must abide by the United States Constitution and provide equal educational facilities for Negro students with whites, Georgia's "white supremacist" governor, Herman Talmadge, announced that all of Georgia's state schools and universities will be handed over to private individuals. By this plan, he explained, Negroes will still be prevented from exercising their constitional right to enter state schools.

The bourbon ruling clique is gloating over the fact that under this plan, while Georgia will still be obliged by law to support education from state funds, white supremacists will be able to increase the glaring disparity now existing between educational facilities for whites and Negroes. They will do so by making "equal" grants to separate, privately-run schools for whites and Negroes—provided the schools are of comparable grade. As the grade would vary according to teachers, buildings and other facilities, all-Negro schools, which have never been allowed to have equal status with white schools in any of these respects, will now get even smaller grants from state funds than heretofore.

MAY BECOME ILL

A warning by Dr. Roy O. Gilbert, County Health Officer ,that the eating of colored wax crayons sometimes make children actually ill, was issued to parents and teachers this week. Although the majority of children seem to suffer no ill effects from eating colored wax crayons the report states that the recent illness of a La Canada school child provides a need for precautionary steps.

Gerald L. K. Smith Raves Against Jews, U. S. Govt. to Packed House

A crowd that jammed the Embassy auditorium and overflowed into a second auditorium on Monday evening, heard Gerald L. K. Smith, the number one rabble rouser in American, rant and rave against the administration in Washington as being controlled by Jews and Jew Communists.

His venom, however, on this occasion took a slightly different course from the usual one of attacking the Roosevelt family, especially President Roosevelt. He did call Mrs. Roosevelt "Old Toothie," but most of his invective was directed on this occasion against Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense.

"That Budapest Jew," he exclaimed. "That Marxist, who wants socialized medicine, who speaks with the accent of a pants presser, is the one who decides that our boys are to go to Korea. That little sawed-off Jew woman is the head of the manpower in America. I tell you, America is on the road to doom unless we can develop enough power to fire that old putty-face in the Pentagon who asked for her."

(Gen. Marshall, secretary of defense, asked that Mrs. Rosenberg be appointed as his assistant.)

Smith declared this government is not run by the elected representatives of the people. It is run by a Jewish cabal, he said, headed by Felix Frankfurter, Lehman, and Morgenthau.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey he called "Baruch's little lap dog." And Gov. Earl Warren, of California, "a middle of the road New Dealer."

Smith gave himself and his organization, the National Christian Crusaders, full credit for having defeated Jimmy Roosevelt for governor, however, even if he did not receive the support of Gov. Warren in his attempt. "There are 200,000 Christian Nationalists in California," he said. "They did the job, in spite of Warren."

But in Utah—"Ah, there's a real Republican governor for you," he enthused, as he told how the governor of Utah called him into his office and consulted as to how they could defeat Elbert Thomas for the U. S. Senate.

"We also defeated Myllard Tydings in Maryland," he declared. "And in Ohio, where there are 300,000 National Crusaders, every one voted for Taft."

He declared former president Herbert Hoover was the first man to make a National Christian Crusader speech over the radio.

"And the members of Congress in Washington have been swamped with letters and telegrams, praising Hoover and advocating what he stands for," he declared.

The Jews of America, Smith maintained, have plotted to take over the government and have a socialized economy, "the same as they have in England and France and Italy."

"One hundred public officials now in our government are connected with that plot," he declared. "Every one of them should be tried and shot, and Dean Acheson and Felix Frankfurter should head the list."

Dean Acheson's treason, according to Smith, was further aggravated by his friendship for Alger Hiss, "the number one traitor in America."

Where Smith gets his funds today for carrying on his program of racial hate, he did not reveal, but he did tell how the late Henry Ford had one time tried to make arrangements so that he would never need a cent. In 1940 and 1941, these negotiations were going on but they were stopped by a "Jew Communist plot," and President Roosevelt called a halt to the proceedings.

Smith today is organizing a campaign to prevent a "Jew Communist" being elected as president in 1952, or any government official who sympathizes with the Communists. His followers are circulating petitions to have Mrs. Rosenberg removed. He has asked the Un-American Activities Committee to investigate the Anti-Defamation League, to investigate Hollywood — Edward G. Robinson, Eddie Cantor, Olivia de Haviland, the Warner brothers, etc.

He is going to have a "housecleaning in Washington." And, he predicted, "what came out of Washington in the past will look like a pink tea compared with what will come out of the nation's capital within the next six weeks."

In all of his fumings, Gerald L. K. Smith was applauded wildly. He was the only speaker on the program. He spoke for almost two hours straight, and no one got up to leave.

Admission is by ticket only, but anyone can get a ticket for the asking. And the place was jammed.

CIO Gives NAACP $2,000 Donation

NEW YORK—The Congress of Industrial Organizations last week contributed $2,000 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. NAACP Secretary Walter White, in expressing appreciation to James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, said it would help intensify the work of the NAACP "during this critical period."

The South Carolina Annual Conference of the CME Church contributed $50 to the NAACP, bringing to $300 the total of gifts made by the six conferences in that Episcopal District. The final of the six contributions was acknowledged by NAACP Administrator Roy Wilkins, who expressed to Bishop William Y. Bell of South Boston, Va., "our deep appreciation for this generous support and for the spirit of understanding and cooperation which it signifies."

Sonny Morrison, CIO, Consults With Meat Packers

Arthur (Sonny) Morrison, director of the CIO Packinghouse Workers Union in Los Angeles, has gone to Chicago to take part in negotiations concerning a boost in the pay check.

Three of the "Big Four" meat packers — Cudahy, Armour and Swift—have offered wage boosts of 9 to 24 cents an hour, but the fourth member of the quartet, the Wilson Packing Co., had not yet decided at this writing.

The 2350 employees of the four firms in Los Angeles will meet today (Thursday) and tomorrow to vote on the acceptance or rejection of the ofafer. The proposal calls for nine cents an hour for all workers plus one-half cent additional in each of the succeeding skill brackets, making it possible for top scale workers to get 24 cents an hour extra pay.

BERNICE HARRISON AND GRAHAM JOHNSON are seen in pas de deux from one of the modern ballets of Joseph Rickard, to be danced by the First Negro Classic Ballet at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 24 at 8:30 p.m. under Mary Bran's banner. The ensemble will be making a repeat appearance after great acclaim last season. Several new ballets have been added to their unusual repertoire, in which the music of Cludius Wilson, the settings of Robert Usher, and the costumes of Nancy Cappola add much lustre to Rickard's dramatic choreography.

Newsman Tells His Own Success Story

Throughout the years there have been numerous success stories of how this man or that man started from nothing and finally achieved prosperity. But the best of all success stories is where a man in a run-down condition finally gets to where he feels wonderful again. William Bogard, newspaper reporter in Sulphur Springs, Texas, has such a story to tell. Yes, now that Mr. Bogard is taking HADACOL, he says, "I wish I could tell my story to every man and woman in the country who is now suffering as I was suffering." Mr. Bogard was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Wm. Bogard

Here is Mr. Bogard's own statemen telling how HADACOL helped him:

"Two years ago, at age 40, I was convinced that nothing remained for me in life. The most encouraging words I ever heard were: 'Maybe you will get straightened out after a while.' The only thing that really mattered to me was how I felt and the fact that my apparent decline had brought my many dreams and aspirations in total ruins before my feet.

"I heard and read many stories and testimonials concerning HADACOL, but, unfortunately for me, I didn't take any of them seriously. I considered these testimonials to be from fictitious people with imaginary ills who talked solely for money. How wrong I was! In spite of my wariness, I decided to give HADACOL a try. I took great care that no one knew I was taking it because I feared their ridicule.

"I took three bottles of HADACOL before I began to 'feel' its effects. After that, my progress was steady and sure. My appetite picked up. I not only ate at meal time, which I had not been doing before, but I enjoyed in-between-meal snacks of delicacies which I had long since forgotten.

"I wish I could tell my story to every man and woman in the country who is suffering as I was suffering; I wish I could let them know and make them believe that what I say is all truth and none fiction."

Remember HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. And so inexpensive. Trial-size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, La.

AFRICAN ART ON DISPLAY AT SCRIPPS

CLAREMONT—The Fine Arts Foundation of Scripps College will present a comprehensive exhibition of African are in the Florence Rand Lang art galleries, Claremont, from Wednesday, February 21, through Friday, March 16. The gallery is open to the public every day from 2 until 5 o'clock.

The first extensive showing of African atr to be presented in Southern California, it will cull valuable examples from all the major areas of Africa, and include applied arts, such as fabrics, pottery, and decorated utensils. Some 30 private collectors from both east and west coasts, and 12 museums have contributed to the collection which will be shown at Scripps and for which arrangements have been supervised by Ralph Altmann, himself a collector and dealer in primitive art.

The African art exhibition follows two outstanding exhibitions of American art shown at Scripps College last year, the pre-Columbian Mexican and Central American show, and the North American Indian show.

At the preview of the exhibition, to which members of the Fine Arts Foundation and their guests are invited on Tuesday afternoon, February 20, Vincent Price ,actor and collector of ancient primitive art, will be the guest speaker.

Sam Browne Appointed Lecturer At Loyola

Samuel R. Browne, L. A. City School music professor, was appointed lecturer in music with the evening class faculty of Loyola University, tenure effective with the 1951 spring semester. His lecture course, Modern Harmony, is a subject rarely found in university music curricula.

With his numerous accomplishments in the field of music and education, Mr. Browne holds two degrees from the University of California, and memberships in the Pi Delta Kappa and Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary fraternities. He was one of the first Negroes to receive appointment as secondary teacher in the City School system fifteen years ago. His Loyola lecture post marks another first in his outstanding career.

No Bias in Hiring

Office of Price Stabilization director, Michael V. DiSalle, said in an interview last week with Julius A. Thomas, National Urban League industrial relations director, that employment in the price regulation agency would be strictly on the basis of qualifications without regard to race, creed, or color. The O.P.S. is expected to issue directives soon to insure that this policy is followed.

Robert C. Goodwin, director, Office of Defense Manpower, in an official memorandum dated January 24th, to all state employment security agencies, instructed these offices to observe the non-discriminatory clauses in present federal government hiring. The U. S. Employment Service and the local and state employment offices will be primary recruiting agencies for government jobs when civil service examinations do not produce enough qualified workers.

Educational Assistance

The State of California assisted 5,945 World War II veterans to further their college-level education during the past Fall term, an increase of 57 percent over the same period in 1949, it was reported by D. J. Callaghan, Jr., State Director of Veterans Affairs.

A total of $1,469,855 was expended by the Department of Veterans Affairs during the Fall quarter and semester under its educational assistance program for ex-servicemen.

More than 21,000 ex-servicemen have received State financial assistance in attaining their educational goals since 1943 when the educational program was inaugurated.

Benefits are in the form of payment for tuition and fees, books and supplies, and a $40 monthly subsistence allowance. The maximum expenditure in behalf of any one student is $1,000.

Veterans eligible for State educational assistance are those who were born in California or who were residents of this state at the time of entry into military service; and who served at least 90 days in the armed forces prior to January 1, 1947.

Extraordinary afflictions are not always the punishment of extraordinary sins, but sometimes the trial of extraordinary graces. —M. Henry

Festival To Observe Brotherhood

Brotherhood Week will be celebrated Friday, February 16, 8 p.m. in a grand festival and educational meeting, Lodge 469 of the Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order announced here today.

Principal attraction of the evening will be a presentation by Herbert Biberman, one of the Hollywood Ten, of his poems written in a Texas jail. Also participating will be Gale Sondergard, famous stage and screen star, and John Lee, Negro journalist and educator. Musical entertainment will be provided by the Fraternal Songsters.

This celebration will be held at 4213 Monroe St. (one block East of Vernon and two blocks North of Melrose). For Reservations phone WE. 6634. There will be a donation of 75c per person.

Role of Negro GI Cited on NAACP Radio Program

NEW YORK—"The Ordeal of Sergeant Dunbar," a radio drama depicting the role of Negro troops in American wars from the Revolution down to the present Korean conflict, was presented under auspices of the NAACP on a nationwide broadcast over the NBC network last week.

The script, written by Alvin Yudkoff, who donated his services, tells the story of a white sergeant who became interested in the history of the Negro soldier following his rescue by a colored GI in Korea. Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, concluded the half-hour program with a brief statement on the work of the NAACP. The program was presented in celebration of Abraham Lincoln's 142nd and the NAACP's 42nd anniversary.

LA Heart Assn. Drive

With only two more weeks to go in the drive to raise $250,000 for the Los Angeles Heart Association's research work to stop heart disease, committee men are redoubling their efforts, according to Maurie Luxford, general campaign chairman.

"Heart disease is America's greatest enemy, causing 44 per cent of all deaths," claimed Chairman Luxford. "Once medical science finds the causes of rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries we will be able to control heart ailments. This campaign is not a charity but an investment to keep America a healthy and strong nation."

St. Paul Baptist Church and Irwin Parnes Sign Contract

Contracts were signed this past week by Irwin Parnes Independent Concerts and Artists and the St. Paul's Baptist Church for the joint presentation of the Fisk Jubilee Singers at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, March 11, at 2:30 o'clock.

The program will feature two added attractions: Joseph James, brilliant baritone who caused a sensation when he replaced Todd Duncan in the Broadway production of "Lost in the Stars," and St. Paul's Echoes of Eden Choir.

The Jubilee Singers are appearing in 52 American cities this season. California dates include Riverside, March 17; San Diego, March 18; Santa Barbara, March 20; San Jose, March 23; Oakland, March 24; and San Francisco, March 25.

Tickets for the Los Angeles concert are now on sale at the Philharmonic Auditorium box office, phone MI. 8401, Southern California Music Company, 737 S. Hill street, all Mutual Agencies, and St. Paul's Baptist Church.

Muriel Rahn Injured Tuskegee Concert Canceled

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Misfortune caught up with Muriel Rahn, concert and opera star, last week when she slipped and fell on an icy road near the Huntsville airport and painfully injured her back. She was unable to go on at what was to have been a "homecoming concert" at Tuskegee Institute, Saturday night, February 3, and the concert was postponed.

Caught in the midst of the savage winter storm that gripped the entire eastern half of the United States, she endured a perilous 24-hour race against time, the elements and the rail strike in an effort to maintain a 10-year record of concert engagements without a cancellation. Had it not been for the accident, she would have made it.

Utilizing trains, planes, buses, private cars and hitch-hiking, her hazardous journey began as she left Memphis (where she had sung the night before) at 11 a.m., February 2. There she boarded a plane which was to take her to Tuskegee by way of Huntsville, Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala.

Barber Of Seville At Philharmonic

Rossini's immortal opera, "The Barber of Seville," with its wealth of popular melodies, will be sung in Los Angeles' Philharmonic Auditorium on Feb. 21 by the Charles L. Wagner Opera Company.

This will be the only traveling opera company to play in Southern California this year.

Critics and music lovers from coast to coast have termed "The Barber of Seville" as "the singer's opera."

From theo pening bars of Count Almaviva's "Serenade" to the denouement at its conclusion, "The Barber of Seville" is a continuous flow of gay songs.

Issue of 10 Million to Cover Improvement

A revenue bond issue of $10,000,000 to expand the municipal water system of the Department of Water and Power has been scheduled for this spring to meet needs resulting from the city's growth, the department reported to Mayor Fletcher Bowron last week.

Finney-Howard Nuptials By Candelight

Blue-White Color Scheme Followed; Three Soloists

By Wini Orr

As the hands of the church clock moved to the hour of five-thirty twi-light time, the soft strains from the mighty organ softly heralded the four candle bearers. Down the center aisle with lighted tapers the dainty misses moved in their Alice Blue taffeta dresses with the white net overskirts, and matching ballerinas, lighting the tall blue candles that separated the white carpeted path down which Joyce Finney would soon walk to meet Herbert Howard and thereby unite as one.

It was a white and blue wedding in color scheme as far as the church decor went, with the chancel transformed into a fairy setting of fern and white Stock, with dashes of color in the blue transparent, piece that ran along the illusion white wall that had been created by the nimble fingers and imagination of Ralph Porter, and behind the huge heart of greens and stock. In front of which was the white satin covered pre-dieu.

At five-forty as the strains of Lohengrin pealed out, from the two sides of the church, front, the bridesmaids one one side and the ushers on the other started up the side aisles and down the center to their places in the garden created enclousure.

Dressed in aqua velvet, with deep apricot taffeta sashes and matching satin sandals, with heads circled in little seed pearl encrusted hats, and carrying shirred taffeta muffs mounted with Orchids, the beautiful girls took their places.

The maid of honor and the matron were gowned in the same pattern but in the beautiful apricot brocaded velvet, with aqua contrast.

As it should have been, the bride was the center of attraction and her gown, an Eva Wallace Gordon creation, was one of the most beautiful seen. Made of white chiffon with a velvet brocade, the gown was two tiered in the front ending in a six foot train in the back. Her halo hat held the billowy veil in place, and she carried a shower bouquet of white Bouvardia and orchids.

Promptly, as the hands went straight up to six o'clock, Sunday evening the Eleventh of February Reverend Clayton Russell, majestic in his robes of white and gold, pronounced the former Joyce Elaine Finney Mrs. Herbert Alvin Howard, Jr.

The wedding party was composed of the following: Mrs. Percy Moore, San Francisco, Matron of honor; Gloria Crouch, maid of honor; bridesmaids were Mary Pollard, Medelyn Carter, Charlaine Derrick, Joan Johnson and Shirley Spencer. Candlegirls: Florence Spurlock and Louise Estes. Ringbearers: Homer Mason, and Master Michael Trokey (who persisted in waving during the ceremony). Attending the groom as best man, Theodore Williams. Ushers: Kenneth Hill, John Williams, Johnny Del Gardo, Sherill Luke, James Daugherty.

Soloists: Louise Mesa, Julius Boyd, and Buell Thomas.

Mrs. Fannie Benjamin was organist, and directing the entire proceeding, Mrs. Augustus F. Hawkins.

The handsome church ushers were: Milton Smith, Hayward Thompson, Roy Loggins, Jr., Stanley Robertson and Harold Machen.

The reception held at 2058 South Harvard, was attended by some six hundred persons. In the receiving line were the bride's mother, Mrs. Carl Finney; the groom's mother, Mrs. Gilbert Lindsey; and the bride's Godmother, Mrs. Curtis Miller.

The young couple will be at home to their many friends after a brief honeymoon at 220 East Forty-sixth street.

GIVES CAKE TO GROOM—Mrs. Herbert Howard gives her new bridegroom a piece of their wedding cake at their reception. The bride is the former Mrs. Joyce Tinney. They were married on Sunday.

S.C. Co-ed Is Omega Sweetheart

The postman only rang once when he brought a special-delivery to the Woolman House, one of S.C.'s dormitories. But that one ring, rang joy into the heart of pretty Signora Howard as if a dream came true. She had been elected to reign as Sweetheart of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity at their annual formal. The formal will be held Friday, February 16, at the newly re-decorated Venda Ballroom in downtown Los Angeles. The beautiful Miss Howard is a 21-year-old senior at the University of Southern California. She is a sociology major and will go into psychiatric social work after graduation.

One of the happiest Omegas is Signora's father, Dr. Waldo J. Howard, a prominent dentist in Houston, Texas. Dr. Howard was in the first Omega chapter formed at oHward University in 1911. Signora, a native of Houston graduated from Washington High School in Houston from there she went to Westtown Preparatory School in Pennsylvania for two years. After completing at Westtown, she attended Talladega College in Alabama and fro mthere she came to Los Angeles to finish at U.S.C. The talented lass, who has won honors before because of her vivacious personality, is a member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

The selection was made by the faculty, staff and outgoing seniors. During the summer of 1949, she spent three months in Europe. She was selected by the YWCA to represent Talladega College on the European Work-Study Tour. The tour was sponsored by the International Y.W.-Y.W.A. She traveled in eight countries studying the educational, religious, political, economic, and social aspects of each country. Among the countries visited were France, England, Holland, Belgium, Luxemburg, and Germany. Along with her other college studies, Signora has always studied modern dancing. She did an interpretive dance at last year's Omega formal in Talladega.

NEGRO HISTORY WEEK most fittingly starts the coming weeks activities. Perhaps outstanding in the week-long programming is the notice the University of Los Angeles is giving. On Friday, February 16, in Royce Hall auditorium on campus, there will be an exhibit of Negro art and literature in the foyer; in the evening there will be a program open to the public, WITHOUT CHARGE. On the recommendation of Dr. Ralph Bunche, Dr. Howard Thurman, pastor of the inter-racial, interdenominational Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples, San Francisco, will be the principal speaker. Two outstanding American artists, Ellabelle Davis, soprano, and Lawrence Winter (only Negro operatic star) will appear. What most of the people will be unaware of, is the little lady who went to great lengths to make this possible: ELOISE PARRISH, student at the University and president of the Carver Club on campus. Make this a must for the whole family.

IT'S ALWAYS a pleasure to find out that your friends appreciate your endeavors, and so we were delighted to hear that Billie and Ben James have been reading the column and getting a kick out of it. We thought Ben and Jim Anderson were such big HUNTSMEN (cotton-tails) that they had no time for the lighter side.

ORCHIDS TO SOME

MIGHTY GLAD to hear that Mary D. Anderson is just about to feel that in a few months she will be able to give up the Orthepaedic shoes and the "straight" jacket her recent back injury has caused her to have to use. Rest assured she has utilized the time in knitting some of the prettiest dresses we have seen. By "some" we mean just that as she has a wardrobe of vari-colored knits.

EVA WALLACE GORDON to be handed a bouquet of orchids for the exquisite gown she executed for Joyce Finney on her wedding day. We were already aware of the needle artistry Mrs. Gordon employs as she makes all of Velma Rogers clothes and is making the changes for Margaret Fisher to be worn in the Independent Church's Easter Show.

NICE HEARING from Rosa Watson Glenn after all these moons. Rosa is another designer and modiste. She has been taking singing lessons for the past six years. Hers is a rich full voice and some day we expect to hear great things of this girl who has worked hard to achieve.

SPEAKING OF NICE and pleasant, it really was a treat to have luncheon with our old pal Ruth Powell and to hear about her new plans. Those of us who have been in the Angel City for lo these many years, know that Ruth has always been a smart little cookie in the business world. Her Powell's Tonsorial Parlor used to attract all of the men who took their grooming seriously. Then after traveling a couple of years and finding out that there is no place like home, she returned to Los Angeles and decided to try the real estate field. We all know that she has been successful in that too. Now, Ruth tells us, she is taking over Arthur Houston's Personality Shop on the Avenue and will open another "Powell's Tonsorial Parlor," with crack women barbers. Even the interior will have to undergo the feminine touch and M'Lord will be shaved in a chartreuse setting. Needless to say this will be another successful Powell undertaking.

SEEN ABOUT

GLIMPSED at the Finney-Howard nuptials: Isadore Brown and Charity White; Leontyne King (striking in a gold and black brocade suit); Exie Crawford, Eleanor Pinkston, Harriet Beal, Alice Edwards, and sitting next to us, Edith K. Owens. Had a chance to ask Mama Jessie Mae Brown Beavers about little Miss Beavers who is four months old now. Jessie Mae was filling her fourth-estate duties as topnotch society scribe as were Libby Clark who deserves a tubful of violets for the way she handled the releases and it looked good seeing Rena Ann Hughes take her place with the press gals. Wish we could begin to mention all the faces we say being held spellbound as the fairyland created by Ralph Porter filled with the lovely wedding party.

WELL FINALLY IT HAS hit the pages and we think the folks connected with the outrageous behavior displayed by the employees of the Bullocks Downtown store should be heartily ashamed. We refer to the THOUGHT of the colored ELEVATOR operators as not wanting to associate with the maids and janitors at the annual party the store sponsors. This is not the first year we have heard of such "carryings" on but we had discredited it in the past when we heard of TWO parties being held. We were invited to the (we don't want to refer to the maids and janitors as the "lower" end but we have no choice as the "upper" end is supposed to be the elevator operators), party and we couldn't see the ridiculous idea of the two affairs. AS WE WRITE our copy this Lincoln's Day, we wonder just what good that piece of paper we drew up will ever do some of the folks he tried the hardest to benefit.

SOMETHING WORTHWHILE

OMEGA PSI PHI FRATERNITY entertaining this Friday night. Many before parties are being planned.

AFTER HAVING to reflect on the Bullocks-incident, it is with a very great deal of pleasure we bring to our readers some really worthwhile achievements and where it will do the most good. DR. DAVID ROSENBLOOM, recently returned from Israel, and who happens to be a noted radiologist (perhaps we should break this down to: expert par excellence in the field of X-ray), invited some of his COLLEAGUES at Temple hospital to his home to see the film he brought back. Enjoying the evening were Doctors J. P. Taylor, Leroy Weeks, and Lincoln Shumate. We plan to get an interview soon with some of our doctors who are furthering their scientific studies at the leading hospitals in the city. You may be pleasantly surprised to know what this younger group are doing and the barriers they have surmounted.

WILLIS E. AND MRS. CARSON certainly put one over on newlywed Hester (Guidry) and Theodore Hughes. Seems they had the pair plan to spend the weekend in San Bernardino at the Ranch, and with packed bags they started out, stopping at one of the popular spots for refresh-

Laster Open House Draws Press, Friends

Open House was held last Sunday afternoon at the Georgia Laster Concert Headquarters in the Charm Center. Members of the press and friends dropped in for refreshments between the hours of four and seven. Mary Watson, who presided at the punch bowl, looked quite stunning in a biege chantilly lace gown. She was assisted by members of the two undergraduate chapters of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

Shirley Spencer, basileus of the Alpha Gamma chapter, and Geraldine Barman, basileus of the Sigma chapter, were hostesses. Others included Anna King, Lucile Culbertson, La Joie Rand, Rudell Slay, and Cleopatra Johnson.

Georgia Laster was on hand to greet her many friends and made a charming appearance. She wore for the occasion a draped pearl grey crepe creation.

Miss Laster is being presented in a song recital at the Philharmonic Auditorium Sunday afternoon, March 4. Her concert is attracting city wide attention and many leading clubs and organizations promoting it.

Mu-So-Lit Club

The Mu-So-Lit club held their business meeting at the residence of Mrs. Laura Randall, 4008 Paloma St. The meeting was opened by the singing of the Negro National Anthem. The afternoon was spent making plans for their carnival which will be sometime in the late spring. After business the members enjoyed a repast. Mrs. Randall was assisted by Mrs. Sadie Jefferson.

Mrs. Roxie Compton of 1685 E. Santa Barbara Avenue was hostess to the Mu-So-Lit club for the social meeting. The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer.

Prof. Robert C. Jackson, the club's advisor arranged an interesting program. Mrs. Compton served a turkey dinner. Mrs. Gladys Allen is president.

IN RECITAL

Annie Belle Dupree will appear in a soprano recital at the Grace Temple Missionary Baptist church 11711 South Avalon between 117 and 118th on Avalon on Sunday, Feb. 18, at 4 p.m. The Rev. William Matlock is minister. This talented artist is a student of Sir Jules Haywood renowed artist and her accompanist in this recital. Mrs. Myrtle Brown and Ruth E. Matlock are sponsors of the affair.

Charm Center Fashion Show Sunday

Exquisite as a Breath of Spring are the Charm Center models as they go into a huddle for the Fashion review scheduled for the coming Sunday afternoon, February 18th at three in the afternoon. The Tabernacle of Faith Baptist Church located at 11328 South Central Ave. will house the affair. Models shown reading left to right are: first row: Eunice Watts, Yoshi Williams, daughter of Charles Williams, director of the Charm Center; LaRue Anderson. Second Row: Constance Watts, Vivian Townes, Charity Washington, Maria Mariano, Dalphine Moore. Top Row: Odessa Gaskill, Iona Armstrong, Margie (trinket) Hill, Heloise Edwards, and Dorothy Lamb. Not shown are Greta Christianson and Rosemary Bertrand. Added attractions will be the Williams Gospel Singers, Mrs. Blanche Patterson, organist. Pierre Alex and Marcel Lautier, hair stylists with salons in Paris, France. These two men have done shows for such people as Christian Dior, Jacque Fath, Lucien Lelong and Schipparelli.

9 Aces Club Honored at Breakfast

The members of The Nine Aces Club were lavishly feted recently with a sumptuous chicken breakfast when Mrs. Amanda Asbury was hostess in her palatial home on Harvard Boulevard.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers throughout the home. The center of the dining room table enthralled everyone with a huge Valentine motif of red American Beauty roses, white stocks and ferns.

Six changes of bridge followed the lovely breakfast with prizes awarded to Mesdames Arline Hendricks, Lena Wilson and Charley Spears.

Officers for the ensuing year were installed by charming Mrs. Laura Slayton which she did with inimitable perfection as she installed Mrs. Lena Wilson, president; Mrs. Charley Spears, secretary, and Mrs. Amanda Asbury, treasurer. Other members are Mesdames Birdie Rountree, Maggie Thompson, Elouise Lavelle, Arline Hendricks and Minnie Leah Payne.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Arline Hendricks.

Minnie Leah Payne, reporter.

Out-Of-Towners Attend Wedding

In town to attend the wedding of their niece, Joyce Elaine Finney, were Mr. and Mrs. James Finney, of San Francisco, also Mr. and Mrs. Don Buckner, and Mrs. Marjorie Branch, all from the Bay City.

Combining a visit with her dear friend, and mother of the groom, Mrs. Theresa Lindsey, is Mrs. Edith Beavers of Detroit, who timed her visit so that she might attend the fashionable nuptials.

Les Petite Femmes

The Les Petite Femmes held their regular meeting Sunday, Feb. 11, at the home of Bernice Avery. Plans were formulated for a shower to be given for "Unwed Mothers" at heir next meeting, Sunday, March 12, where each member will bring a gift.

The Club presented their retiring president, Evelyn Thierry Williams, a token of their appreciation for her untiring efforts during the past year.

The president welcomed back Mrs. Mamie Taylor, a former member, who has been residing in the East for the past two years. The vice-president then appointed her committees for the ensuing year. Secret Pals were also selected for the ensuing year.

The next meeting will be held at the "New Home" of Mrs. Cecelia Carr, 3867 So. Hobert Blvd., Sunday, March 12.

Pioneer Club Elects Officers

The Pioneer Club was entertained recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herbert with Mrs. Julia Hite, and Mrs. H. A. Harrison as hostesses. Election of officers was the top business of the evening.

The new officers are: President, John Russell; vice president, Mrs. Mary Jones; Laura Youn, secretary; assistant, Betty Adams; corresponding, Ida Stephens; treasurer, Smith Green. Camilla Leftridge is chaplain; Pearl Brown, collector; Susie Holvy, marshall; Laura Fowler, historian. Members of the sick committee are John Sellers and H. F. Posey. Visitors were Mrs. Patio, Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Webb.

Miss Yvonnie Montgomery entertained with two musical selections. Turkey, ice cream and cake were served.

AKA's Observe Founding Day At Trinity

On Sunday morning, February 11, at Trinity Baptist Church, the three local chapters of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority worshipped as the closing activity of their 43rd Annual Founders Day observance. Dr. Johathan L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, introduced Miss L. Pearl Mitchell of Cleveland, third national basileus of the sorority. She reviewed the history of the sorority and the outstanding achievements both locally and nationally in the fields of health, education, welfare, and human rights. Miss Mitchell is well known nationally for her activities in social welfare. She is an alumnus of Wilberforce and Oberlin Colleges. Miss Andre Mayer, Alpha Gamma presented a special piano selection. Rev. Caston's sermon topic was "No Lukewarm Religion Will Do Now."

The closed banquet was held Friday, February 8 at Mike Lyman's. The Valentine motif prevailed in the decorations and place cards. Invocation was given by Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton, Alpha Gamma Omega, Mistress of ceremonies Jo Ann Garland, antibasileus Alpha Gamma, introduced the three basileus of the local chapters, Mrs. Zenobia Allen, Alpha Gamma Omega, Miss Shirley Spencer, Alpha Gamma; Miss Geraldine Barnum, Sigma who extended greetings from the respective chapters. The histories of each of the local chapters were outlined by Miss Lillian Butterfield, Sigma; Miss Cleopatra Johnson, Alpha Gamma and Mrs. Ursula Murrell, Alpha Gamma Omega.

The unusual talent to be found in the undergraduate chapters was displayed by the acappella chorus of Sigma and original lyrics and music by members of Alpha Gamma Chapter. Group singing was led by Miss L. Pearl Mitchell. A number of sorority songs was played by Mrs. Vivian Beck Gray, Alpha Gamma Omega.

The newly elected Far Western Regional Director, Miss Carolyn Carrington of Berkeley was present at the banquet and led the impressive rededication ceremony.

The general chairman of Founders Day Activities was Mrs. Susie Hawkins, Alpha Gamma Omega. Banquet chairman was Inez Brown, Alpha Gamma Omega with Miss Geraldine Barnum, Sigma co-chairman. Church worship Committee chairman was Miss Shirley Speneer, Alpha Gamma with Miss Vera Gatewood, Alpha Gamma Omega co-chairman, and program chairman Miss Gwendolyn Dusuau, Alpha Gamma Omega. Those members serving on the various committees were Mrs. Cullie Lee Gay, Mrs. Consuela Harper, Mrs. Jessie Walden, Mrs. Bertha Sims, Miss Thais Hoffman, Mrs. Myrtle Hughes, Mrs. Patricia McCleod, Miss Ann Frye, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Weldena Hefflin, Miss Gloria Crouch.

Alpha Kappa Alpha was founded in 1908 at Howard University and has some 15,000 members in 90 undergraduate and 135 graduate chapters throughout the United States.

AKA Sorority is well known for its presentation of outstanding artists to the community. The members are looking forward to the presentation of Hazel Scott, internationally known pianist in concert at the Philharmonic Sunday, May 6, at 2:30 p.m.

NOTES FROM A NEWSGAL'S NOTEBOOK:

Illinois Jacquet plays his only Los Angeles dance date at the Zenda Ballroom next Friday night the 23rd. . . . Ella Fitzgerald threatening to undergo surgery (and it's those vocal chords, too). . . . Visited the cozy home of Lorraine Glenn. She's the dimpled darling of Mr. Glenn, who is the proprietor of Glenn's Restaurant. Couple reside in the swank Leimert Park district.

Pert and pretty Angelle Delavallade has the formal opening of her "French Cuisine" Monday night, February 19, at the Elbow Bend. . . . Duke Ellington concert a terrific success as usual with Gene Norman in charge of the promotion. . . . Chatting with Johnny Hodges at the Oasis later in the evening, he informs us that he'll head this way around July with his new combo with such all-time greats as Lawrence Brown, Sonny Greer and well, it's beginning to look like Duke's band, huh? Their first waxing on Mercury, "Gonna Getcha Before It's Too Late."

Lena Tarrence back in the city still oh'n and ah'n about her wonderful trip. . . . Friends are all pulling for the complete recovery of Andy Razov, noted song writer, composer, etc. . . . Ted Hughes and his pretty Hester "told it to the preacher" over the week-end. . . . Jerry Adams and her Art have pfffft. Friends are hoping they'll forget it all and give love another chance. . . . Josephine Premice, Negro calypso star, returns to the Mocambo next Tuesday.

The Academy of Arts will be the setting for the Los Angeles committee to establish a Council on African Affairs Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. "A Day in the Life of a Nigerian Family" will be staged and presented along with authentic African rhythms and dances. . . . Ellis Spears and Earl Carter now have complete charge of the tasty meals out at the Paddock Club on Los Feliz. The after-hour club boasting of top entertainers and celebrities. Red Mack and band supply the musical background.

Robin Bruin (you're welcome) soon to be in charge over at the Club Bronsivile . . . nuff said! . . . Louie Jordan at Detroit's Paradise. . . . Mrs. Eddie Aitkinson with a large party lunching at hubby's Elbow Bend and enjoying the wonderful gumbo of Angelle's. . . . Over at the cozy Palm Grove home of Mickey and Betty Jones for dinner and listening a million times to Bettie raving over her lillies from her garden (and I doubt whether she even takes the time to put a drop of water on them).

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE:

Card from the Crispus Wrights enjoying Mexico City while combining business with pleasure. . . . Earline Saunders recuperating after a case of flu (about the only thing you can get a free case of these days). . . . Omega Formal expecting beeeg crowds as per usual tomorrow night. . . . Georgia Laster, the girl who knows what to do with vocal chords, will be presented in concert Sunday afternoon, March 4, at 3 o'clock at the Philharmonic under the auspices of the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts. Make it a must and attend.

SUDDEN THAWT: "Don't make love by the garden gate, love is blind but the neighbors ain't." . . . Dr. Delo Gray received his greetings from his uncle but nothing definite has been set. . . . Gee! we're still floating after receiving such a beeyooootiful watch (and on Valentine's Day, too). . . . Golly! we used to be reeel crazy over mushrooms and spaghetti but after dining with the Ernest Whitemans we've changed our taste. We'd looove to tellya, but maybe we shouldn't. Next time you see Ernest or his pretty wife, just ask them.

Jerry Hemphill, new disc jock on KALI sponsored by the Star Outfitting Company, entertained the press royally with cocktails, etc., at the store. Jerry's a nice guy with a wonderful voice and really should do lotta beeeg things.

Gee! we've heard so much about the recent broadcast of Joe Adams on which Sammy Davis, Jr., and Billy Eckstine participated, if we were to stop and listen to the various comments we'd hardly know what to think, but fortunately we happen to be listening in and we feel like this and "we" meaning Gertrude Lomax Gipson, that the show was, strangely, one of the liveliest since its originating, with each of the fellas trying to out "cap" each other provided more entertainment to the listening audience. But of course we can't speak for the sponsor, but I accepted it as whole clean fun, which is something you rarely get these days.

We're still trying to figure out this letter on the desk here, referring to the one-time beauty who is "breaking." Wish we could figger it out but we can't. . . . Roy Milton closes a smash-up week at the Last Word where he has been solidly packing them in. . . . For persons interested in TV work, contact us here at this office. . . . Boy oh boy, don't know when we've enjoyed anything as much as we have enjoyed Judge Thurman Clark at work. . . . Looks like time again which reminds us to remind you that "the only trouble with a kiss in the dark is that it's liable to show in the light."

AT OASIS . . . Larry Darnell makes his Los Angeles debut at the Club Oasis tomorrow evening.

Buddy Johnson Hotter Than A Fire Cracker

NEW YORK—Buddy Johnson, the young man with the magic touch at the piano keyboard, is currently just about the hottest name in the recording field with no less than four of his latest Decca discs riding high on all best-seller lists.

The youthful maestro Johnson, whose record sales last year topped those of all other bands on the Decca roster, appears destined to achieve even greater success this year and if off to a flying start with his waxings of "I Cry," "Jet," "No More Love" and "Satisfy My Soul," which are currently among Decca's top-sellers.

Decca will shortly release a Buddy Johnson "Souvenir Album," which will comprise eight of the most popular selections Buddy and his crew and vocalists Arthur Prysock and Ella Johnson have waxed during their recording career.

JOSEPHINE HULL, veteran New York stage actress, heads the strong supporting cast of Universal-International's film version of the Pulitzer Prize Winning Comedy "Harvey," starring James Stewart in the Elwood P. Dowd role. Miss Hull is seen in the role she created for the Broadway run of "Harvey."

First Negro Ballet At Philharmonic February 24th

A Negro artist's model, Graham Johnson, is one of the male soloists for the first Negro Classic Ballet, and his experience in posing will serve him in good stead when the First Negro Ballet presents its initial program of the year at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Saturday night, February 24.

Johnson will be seen as a statue in "The Little China Figure" by Saint-Saens. The ballet will offer new numbers, including "Cinderella," with music by the Negro pianist-composer, Claudius Wilson, and "Rondo Capriccioso" with music by Mendelssohn.

Joseph Rickard, the founder and choreographer of the ensemble, has scheduled most unusual numbers, in "Landscape" by Gretchaninoff, and some works of Bach, rarely transcribed for choreagraphy. The sets for this production, presented locally by Mary Bran, are by Robert Usher, well known in cinema circles and the original costumes are by Nancy Cappola.

New Discs Hit The Market

NEW YORK—Timmie Rogers, whose theater and night club appearances have won him a reputation as one of America's funniest comedians, has been signed to a long-term recording contract with Coral Records and hit the market this week with his first release on the Coral label, which pairs two of Timmie's jive specialties, "Alligator Meat" and "January and February."

Darnell Makes L.A. Debut At Club Oasis

That "Heart and Soul" man, Larry Darnell, is finally coming to town. This latest sensation of theaters and night clubs in the East and mid-west, will make his first west coast appearance when he opens Friday, February 16, at the famed Oasis for a two-week engagement.

An exclusive recording artist for Regal Records and managed by the Gale Agency, his first wax job, "For You My Love," rocked the nation. This early success was followed almost immediately by "I'll Get Along Somehow" in two parts, "Lost My Baby," "God Bless the Child" and "Pack Your Rags and Go."

Darnell is Columbus-born, 22 years old, and has been singing eevr since he was knee high.

He has since thrilled audiences in New York's Birdland on Broadway, in Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago and Baltimore. His first personal appearance tour established new box office records in Philadelphia, Washington, Roanoke, Fayetteville and Durham in North Carolina, and Akron, Ohio.

According to the management of the Oasis, Los Angeles is in for a real singing treat when Larry Darnell comes in next week.

GOES EAST AGAIN . . . Nat King Cole and the Trio head east again where they will do several TV shows with the possibility of initiating their own.

Cab Makes First Disc For Regal

NEW YORK—His Highness of Hi-De-Ho, Cab Calloway, made his debut as a Regal Record transcribing artist when the company released his first waxing this week. It's "Shot-Gun Boogie," a hill-billy number, and is backed up by an oldie, "One for My Baby, and One for the Road."

Excited over his new star, Dave Braun, President of Regal, showed his elation when he announced the release. "We just did get in under the wire," he said. Under the company's banner hardly a month, Cab cut the record one night last week and left the very next afternoon via Pan-American Airways for a month's tour in South America.

ARNETT COBB . . . Really back into the swing of things again heads a nifty little combo and will soon head this way.

JEANETTE FRANKLIN . . . Attractive Detroit vocalist, recently made her Los Angeles initial appearance at the Flame, one of the city's popular after hours spot for the "stay-up-laters."

Sarah Vaughn Returns To Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK—Sarah Vaughan, the gone gal with the magic voice, will make a triumphant return to New York's famed Carnegie Hall on Wednesday night, February 21, to be starred in her own song concert, supported by the Errol Garner Trio and Lester Young's band.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the presentation to Miss Vaughan of the "Down Beat" and "Metronome" awards in recognition of her election as the nation's No. 1 girl singer for the fourth consecutive year in the annual popularity polls conducted by both leading music trade journals.

Miss Vaughan's Carnegie Hall concert will mark her final New York appeaarnce until her return to Broadway next fall for an engagement on stage of the Paramount Theater.

A HIT AT CLUB GALA . . . Dorothy Dandridge along with Phil Moore, a terrific combination at the Club Gala.

HOLLYWOOD — Edmund Grainger, producer, and John Wayne, star, are teamed for the third time in the RKO Radio Technicolor feature, "Flying Leathernecks." They occupied similar positions in connection with the two box office hits, "Wake of the Red Witch" and "Sands of Iwo Jima."

Top Ten Records Of The Week

1. I Apologize . . . Billy Eckstine, MGM.
2. Hot Rod . . . Illinois Jacquet, Apollo.
3. Once in Love . . . Jimmy Grissom, Hollywood.
4. My Heart Cries for You . . . Dinah Washington, Mercury.
5. Dolphin Street Boogie . . . Red Callender, Hollywood.
6. Rockin' Blues . . . Johnny Otis, Savoy.
7. Nevertheless . . . Mills Bros., Decca.

DATE FESTIVAL — Pretty Winifred Gavin holds poster inviting visitors to 1951 Riverside County Fair & National Date Festival scheduled for County Fairgrounds, Indio, Calif., Feb. 16-22, inclusive. Afternoon horse show, sensational camel races, and exotic Arabian Nights Pageant presented free, each evening, will be top attractions along with hundreds of date and other exhibits.

Three Flames On ABC TV Show

NEW YORK—The Three Flames, popular instrumental and vocal trio, have been signed as featured performers on the ABC Network's television show, "Market Melodies," and are set as a permanent feature on that show each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 1 to 2 p.m. (EST).

The "Market Melodies" show is seen in the New York area on WJZ-TV, Channel 7.

The new television show will force the Flames to confine their personal appearance bookings to the eastern sector of the United States in view of the fact that the program originates in New York City. The television deal for the Flames was negotiated by the Shaw Artists Corp. ,the management agency that represents the group for all forms of bookings.

NEVER WORRIES

HOLLYWOOD—On the set of RKO Radio's "The Gaunt Woman" Eric Feldary told Dana Andrews why he never worries. "In the last war," said Eric, "I and 11 other men plunged 125 feet down a crevasse in the Italian Alps, and I spent eight months in the hospital. Why worry now?"

LENA HORNE . . . because of a confining cold had to postpone her opening at the Latin Casino in Philadelphia.

Deep River Boys On Milton Berle Show

TORONTO, Ont., Canada—The internationally famous Deep River Boys, who scored such a smash hit on television last week in a guest shot on the Milton Berle Show, will be the headlined attraction on stage of Toronto's leading presentation house, the Casino Theater, for a week's engagement, starting Friday, Feb. 16.

The "Deeps," who have long been one of the favorite entertainment names in the Dominion of Canada, registered another Canadian triumph last month in setting an all-time attendance record in their engagement at Montreal's smart Diana Lounge.

Following their local appearance, the "Deeps" are slated to return to New York for additional television shows and already are set for appearances on the Frank Sinatra Show, Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" and a repeat booking on the Milton Berle Show.

SCRIBES STAR

HOLLYWOOD—Several of Broadway's prominent columnists may appear in "Strike a Match," which Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna will produce for RKO Radio. For a night club scene in New York arrangements are being made to spot Walter Winchell, Earl Wilson, Louis Sobol, Leonard Lyons and Dorothy Kilgallen among the guests.

HOLLYWOOD — Asked about his family on the "Two Tickets to Broadway" set at RKO Radio, Bob Crosby cracked: "I'm the singing Crosby with a girl." The daughter is Cathy, aged 11. Bob also has three boys, Chris, 8; Bob, Jr., 6, and Stephen, 4.

Jacquet To Receive Award

A special award will be presented to Illinois Jacquet upon his return to the city when he plays his farewell dance, Friday night, February 23rd at the Zenda Ballroom, 7th & Figueroa.

This award will be presented to this great saxophonist by John Dolphin of the Dolphin of Hollywood Record Shop for his great achievement in the field of jazz. Jacquet, who has been recording all week, plans to blow the roof right off the Zenda Ballroom when he plays his only Los Angeles dance engagement. Jacquet just completed a successful engagement at the Club Oasis. Don't forget it's the Zenda ballroom, Friday night, February 23rd.

SHE SINGS THE BLUES . . . Yes she does . . . and there's no "if" about it . . . who is she? Why little Esther of course, now tourfing with the bands of Johnny Otis.

BLUES CHIRPER . . . Roy Brown . . . sings the blues . . . anyway you like them, sweet, hot, cool and mellow . . . he's Mr. Blues himself.

STILL A RIOT . . . The Treniers, Claude and Cliff along with the band of Gene Gilbeaux are in the East again and still a riot. The package is fast becoming a top name attraction in the business.

Univesal-Theatre Now Producing The Loon

The Universal Theater, that produced the famous international hit, "Maya" in English, in Paris, is now producing in Los Angeles. Its theater is at Robertson near Pico. It also has an office at 8426 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood. Telephone HU. 2-5994.

The first production, "The Loon," a nature play by David Sturgis, will open on Saturday, February 10, at 8:30 p.m. It is directed by H. Haile Chace. The leading roles will be played by Evelyn Scott, Francesca Valdy, Dean Barton, Michael Hale and Ralph Votrian.

The featured parts of "The Loon" are a stock actress, a feeble-minded girl and a cattle farmer. The actress, in a woman-to-woman battle, fights to free the feeble-minded girl from the enslavement of the farmer. The play is thus a dramatic study in universal compassion.

Kappa Speaker Calls on College Men for Leadership

Dr. Carlton Goodlet, publisher of a San Francisco newspaper and past president of that city's NAACP, challenged college trained men to stand up and be counted in a continuous struggle to serve the race's advancement; the nation's face from the undemocratic democracy, which is doubtless, he said, the primary reason for the rise of bitter resentment against white men in general and the United States in particular and most certainly for all too many of the American Negro's woes. The occasion was the celebration of the founding of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity 40 years ago at the University of Indiana. About 90 members attended the banquet which was held Friday night at Carolina Pines restaurant.

Other features of the banquet were the report of the 40th Grand Chapter meeting held in Kansas City, Mo., at Christmas time by provential president Thomas Bradley, the report of progress made by Robert Greene and Edgar J. Johnson of the Kappa Alpha Psi Housing Commission and the welcome made to newly inducted members into the fraternity by Leon W. Steward, oldest in terms of membership in Kappa, of the Kappa men now active in Los Angeles. The new members thus welcomed are Rick Radcliff, Terrell Stevens, Billy Mills, Johnny Randolph, Walker Bruce, Leon McCarthy, Arthur Whitehead, and Dan Pullen. Sherrill Luke, former UCLA student president and yell leader, led the singing and George Bryant was toastmaster.

Wiley College Club Installs Officers

Hamilton Methodist Church was the scene of the impressive installation of the 1951 officers of the Wiley College Club.

With Mrs. Haleen J. Browne presiding, a very enjoyable program was presented. Musical selections were offered by three Wileyites, Mrs. Jean Benson Keele, Messrs. Edgar Browne and Oscar Plant. Mr. Clarence Hargrave gave a reading on "Philosophy of Life." Mr. William Hill, retiring president, reviewed the history and objectives of the Wiley Club.

Atty. Curtis C. Taylor charged the officers with the duties and installed the officers for 1951. The officers are: Dr. Harlan W. Osborne, Pres.; James Hayes, Vice Pres.; Mrs. Obelia Washington, Recording Sec'y.; Mrs. Bobbie Branch, Ass't. Sec'y.; Charles Thomas, Fin. Sec'y.; Mrs. Thelma Teems, Cor. Sec'y.; Mrs. Mary Josephs, Treas.; James L. Jones, Chaplain; Victor Jordan, Parliamentarian, Grady Williams, Sgt.-at-Arms; Lucille L. Bonnett, Director of Publicity and William Hill, Business Manager.

After the installation, Dr. Osborne, the new president, accepted the challenge of making 1951 an outstanding year for the Wiley Club and asked the co-operatio of members and friends. He invited everyone to retire to the social hall for refreshments.

All Wileyites are urged to join with the club and help put over a successful year's program. Regular meetings are held the second Friday night in each month.

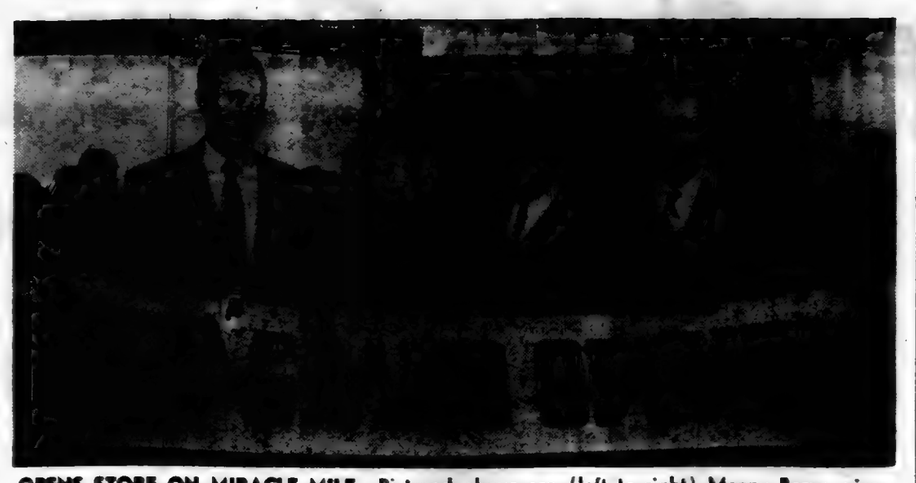
Athenians Twin Frolic

The Athenian Social Club, one of the popular clubs of the younger set, is again putting out their welcome mat to the younger crowd. This time it's something different in the line of dances given by the Athenians. It's "Twin Frolic" which is to be held this Friday, February 16, at the Alpha Bowling Club, 2914 South Western Ave. from 9 until 1.

Their slogan for the dance is: "Dress in red or dress in green, Dress alike is our theme. It doesn't matter if you and Your lover don't dress alike. Just remember we'er expecting You at the dance that night."

Recently the Athenians took in new members namely, Audrey Burrell, June Denkins, Rosalind Douglass, Katherine Kimble, Virginia Robinson, Beverly Smith, and Willie Smith.

Gala plans are being formulated by the club for their formal which is to be held around the first of April.



Royale Thespians

Los Royale Thespians met at the home of the president, Mr. Elton Turney, on aSturday night, February 3. Plans for future activities were discussed, one of which is a tea, to be held at the Henderson Community Center on Sunday, February 25, from 3 to 6 p.m. A short play will also be presented at this time by members of the club. New members are being recruited for a short period of time. We invite persons interested in dramatics to contact the president, Mr. Elton Turney, NE. 6-3173.

Located on the western border of the famed Los Angeles Miracle Mile, this Thrifty Store proved to be the last word in "super-drug stores" in the opinion of the thousands who participated in the opening day ceremonies. Free orchids, gifts, and prizes for the kiddies featured this gala affair.

Mrs. E. Lomax Entertains At Dinner Party

Place cards were set for fourteen at the lavish dinner party hosted by Mrs. Estelle Lomax when she entertained friends from out of the city. Guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Burney of Rhode Island, Mrs. Warren of Tallahasee, Fla., and Mrs. Pinky Wilson of Richmond, Va. Other guests included Rev. and Mrs. Grant Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Society Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Lomax, Mrs. Gertrude Gipson and Mr. Elledge Penland, Miss Lillian Lomax and Dr. D. Overstreet Gray, little Reve Gipson and master Genie Warren.

A complete seven course dinner was served with turkey and ham as the entree.

A enjoyable evening was enjoyed by all, with guests leaving at a late hour.

THE DUKE OF ELLINGTON was heard in concert at the Shrine Auditorium, last week and needless to tell you he played to a packed house. Before we could get past the first door we glimpsed: school-marm Bernice Jones; artist al Bailey; Esquires Dr. Johnson (Avalon Med. Bldg.); Bob Lambert of KTTV's staff; Rex Ingram; Eddie Beal, pianist; versatile Sammy Davis, Jr. (mimic); Andrew Delaney; practically all the staff of Corner-Johnson, J. D. and Lacefield; Dard Taylor with Billie Dawson (smart young business man); Jay Loft-Lynn; Florence Hunt; Bertha Martin; Johnny Ingraham (love that Canadian ooy's brogue); and gangs more who thrilled to the fine music and went into raptures over Al Hibbler and the wonderful young dancers from the American School of Modern Dance. We got a bang out of Harry Carney, baritone sax with the band getting ready to get off the street car and remembering a little matter: his horn, and having to hurry back to his hotel on the double in order to make the auditorium by "curtain."

Adults May Go to Daytime Elementary, High Classes

Metropolitan High School Veterans' Division offers a unique opportunity for adults to complete their elementary and high school education by an accelerated schedule in daytime classes 8:00 to 1:30. Although the courses were designed for veterans of World War II, now many non-veterans, both men and women, are taking advantage of this training.

Since the work is on an individual basis, students may enter at any time. The completion of high school requirements in this tuition free Los Angeles public high school leads to the granting of a high school diploma which is recognized by colleges and universities.

LEAGUE OFFICIAL URGES FAIR EMPLOYMENT NOW

A group of industrialists were shocked last Thursday when at a luncheon Wesley R. Brazier, Acting Executive Directtor, began his talk with the statement: "Will an atomic bomb have to fall in Los Angeles before the employment practices of several defense industries becomes fair and sensible.

Judging from some of the complaints, several which have been substantiated, some managers in our critical war industries need to be advised of not only the international political implications when discrimination is practiced, but that such bigotry amounts to indirect sabotage of our prepardness program.

Before the distinguished gathering could recover, Brazier asked "What difference is there in the unholy practice of communist planting industrial unrest and diabolical schemes, and industrialists trusted with the responsibility of doing a job for the nation yet deliberately refusing to employ skilled craftsmen solely because of race?"

In answering the questions regarding specific instances, the Urban League official, said a classic example is the case of an Urban League applicant who has had six years experience as a shipfitter and carries a master card with the union, but who was turned down at Todd's on the subterfuge of high blood pressure, although he had passed a rigorous physical examination for life insurance a few weeks previously. What is more, the applicant, suspicious of the decision, went to a doctor that same day, and got a satisfactory diagnosis.

Brazier said a Negro shipfitter was forced to quit at Todd's due to nasty and overt acts harrassing and impeding his work. Another case involving a chipper with seven years experience was acceptable to Todd. It was pointed out further that many persons are being employed at aircraft industries who have never been inside a plant before, but that when a Negro applies he is required to be highly skilled with recent experience. Brazier said that much of the work does not require a high degree of skill, but amounts to operating machines which are already set and sufficient knowledge can be gained in a relative short day of observance.

The Urban League is securing factual information on such cases of discrimination, but because no agency with enforcement powers has been established to handle such matters, no disposition has been made of them. However, Mr. Brazier said that if action is not taken in the near future, the Urban League will lay the cases before the Secretary of Defense and the President.

Plan Class in Food Preparation at Jordan

Plans are being formulated to organize and open a class in Food Preparation at Jordan Evening High School.

In addition to a thorough study and practical application in proper cookery of foods of all types, there will be instruction in nutritious menu planning, wise buying, study of table service and decoration and party preparation.

When friends are invited for dinner or for an evening party, the housewife would like to present an attractive menu and the correct style of serving. The proposed class in Foods will also assist residents of this community in preparing food for canning. Because of the international situation there may be shortages next season, so the ability to conserve food now will be very beneficial.

Knowledge of cooking and serving is especially valuable to domestic servants and those who clean by the day, as they are frequently requested to assist with duties around the kitchen, thus adding to their financial income.

Jordan Adult Evening School will open a class if at least twenty women or men register for it.

Tempo of the California civil defense program is stepping up. A four-man team of top officials have been sent into critical target areas to integrate state and local plans and operations.

Persons 65 Years Old Must Check Security Claims

Individuals 65 years or older, who have worked at least 1½ years on social security jobs since 1937 and are not working now, should contact the nearest Social Security office immediately, according to James H. Smiley, manager of the Los Angeles Social Security office.

Smiley stated that several thousand claims in the Los Angeles area were disallowed during the past few years because the wage earner had not worked long enough in social security employment. He emphasized, however, that anyone who is now 65 only needs six different calendar quarters in which he has been paid wages of $50 or more under employment covered by social security. That would be sufficient for him to qualify for monthly retirement benefits for the rest of his life. The minimum under the new law is $20 per month for the wage earner and $10 for his wife, if she is 65 years old.

Although, the new Social Security law now in effect permits retroactive payments for six months, it is important that you file your claims now if the foregoing information applies to you. This part of the law was effective Sept. 1, 1950, and a claim must be filed before March 31 in order to avoid loss of payments.

Between age 65 and 75, you may earn as much as $50 per month and still receive your retirement check. When you reach the age of 75, however, you may receive your checks and continue working regardless of the amount you earn.

Mexicans Cite History Week

The Mexican - American National Association is aware of the fact that the Observance of National Negro History Week is of particular importance to the Mexica people because it affords an opportunity to become more conscious of the contributions that the Negro people have made in the fight against oppression of all minorities through-out our history.

As the most oppressed people in our country the Negro people have always been in the forefront fight against discrimination and second class citizenship.

The Mexican people in their struggles for first class citizenship are becoming more and more aware that the only way to win this fight, is to have the closest unity with our strogest ally, the Negro people.

This unity has achieved many advances for the Mexican and Negro people and other minorities. Such as the breaking down of discriminatory barriers in defense industries during the last war. In certain parts of our country, the beginning of the abolishment of segregation and discrimination in housing and educational institutions.

SPORTS

★ Art Lewis
SPORTS EDITOR

LET'S LOOK AT THE NATIONAL MAGAZINES

The current issue of EBONY magazine contains a very inter-ting article by Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune d founder of the Golden Gloves tournament, in which he says at the Golden Gloves are the "greatest levelers" in sports today d have "probably opened boxing's doors to more young Negro ghters than any other boxing event."

The truth of this statement is born out by the results of the ent Los Angeles Golden Gloves in which five of the champion-ships were captured by colored men.

Art Lewis

The Golden Gloves are responsible for the great number of Negro boxers in the ring today, since they have provided the opportunity for the young colored boys "who, because they had to battle their way through poverty and hunger to survive, became topnotch competitors," says Ward.

There have been cases where Southern white boys objected to entering the ring with Negroes, "but we have never flinched in our determination that the Golden Gloves champions would be champions of all qualified boxers rather than all-white or all-Protestant," says Ward. "We are oud that have given Negroes the opportunity of winning fame d fortune in the ring in contrast to the early days of boxing ten often discrimination played a big part in keeping competent ored battlers like Sam Langford and Harry Wills from getting chance to become champions."

Ward says there were difficult moments at first because of xed bouts, necessitating a pre-tournament meeting of all offic-s, at which time they were asked if they harbored any "intoler-ce against a Negro, a Protestant, a Jew or a Catholic. Officials th predjudices are kept from officating where his prejudice uld endanger the calling of a fair decision."

Ward, naturally, cites the cases of Joe Louis, Ezzard Charles, y Robinson, Harold Dade, as outstanding examples of Golden ove Negro fighters who have and are continuing to inspire other gro youngsters entering the tournaments.

LOOK LOOKS AT JOE LOUIS

A desire for money, pride and a search for lost youth are cing Joe Louis to make a comeback, despite ample evidence t he can't fight anymore, reveals the issue of Look Magazine Tuesday.

The Brown Bomber's attempt to regain his old form is based three reasons, the magazine states. "Louis still needs money; wants to clean up his back taxes and he is accustomed to living pensively. He still has the fierce pride and the quiet subborness t contributed to his distinguished 13 years of heavyweight mpion. He believes he can do what nobody else before him ld do—recapture some of the speed and muscular co-ordination his youth."

After Louis bequeathed his title to Ezzard Charles in June, 9, any idea that he possessed of retiring was disspelled after a heck of his 1946 and 1947 income tax reports. The check-up ealed that "two items totaling at least $250,000 originally listed deductible, were not deductible . . . so, Joe went on fighting now two years later, he is plodding subbornly toward a second t with Charles."

His timing, his reflexes, his dynamic punch are all gone with inevitable passing of time. To the huge TV audience that tched him lose to Ezzard Charles in 15 rounds, "the image of Louis must be a raked, swollen hulk, wearily, if gallantly and udly, groping for the top ring rope."

It is suggested that each time Old Joe goes shuffling in search his lost youth against Charles or lesser opponents, his reputa-suffers. The savage killer that Louis was and the inept Louis oday, is a sorrowful tale. It is a sad ending, says Look, to haps the most remarkable story of not only boxing but all sports.

TV Schedule Changed On Hoop Games

Offering local casaba fans a full evening of some of the fast-est triple-A hoop action in the Southland, Los Angeles Municipal Basketball Association's AAA league play is being televised each Saturday night over KFI-TV, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

With ace sportscaster Lyle Bond describing the action, the first two teams of the evening's twin bill begin dropping buckets at 7:30 at the Loyola High School gym.

On Thursday nights, the triple-A teams may also be seen in action at Loyola, but the Thursday night events will no longer be telecast, according to the City Recreation and Park Department, who sponsors the league play.

There is no admission charge for the weekly contests at the Loyola gym.

The league schedule for the rest of February is:

Thursday, February 15 — 7:30 p.m., Santa Monica Vets vs. Medical Pharmacy, 9 p.m.—Suker Kiddy Land vs. Coast Hardware.

Saturday, February 17 — 7:30 p.m., Santa Monica Vets vs. Helms Bakeries. 9 p.m., Helms Bakeries vs. Suker Kiddy Land.

Thursday, February 22 — 6:30 p.m., Helms Bakeries vs. Kelbos Bar-B-Q. 7:45 p.m., Associated Dairies vs. Medical Pharmacy. 9 p.m., Santa Monica Vets vs. Jackson Paints.

Saturday, February 24 — 7:30 p.m., Bailey's Service vs. Coast Hardware. 9 p.m., Associated Dairies vs. Kelbos Bar-B-Q.

San Antonio Handicap Tops Racing Week

Stakes stars preparing for the fourteenth $100,000 guaranteed to winner Santa Anita Handicap next month will get their acid test under fire Saturday in the renewal of the $50,000 added San Antonio Handicap.

This historic fixture, for 3-year-olds and upward, is at the mile and one furlong route, just an eighth shorter than the "hundred grander."

Among the standout stakesters expected to go postward in the San Anotnio are Coaltown, Ponder, Moonrush, Great Circle, Next Move, Vulcan's Forge, Vino Fino, Palestinian, Blue Reading and Old Rockport.

A definite line on prospects for the Big 'Cap on March 3 will be afforded in the Saturday special. And weights for the longer classic will be determined on their showings and released formally on Feb. 21.

Since 1910, more than 17,750,000 American boys and men were active in the Boy Scouts of America.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

SANTA ANITA—Ruth Lily, the game little daughter of King's Abbey-Ice Cube, was declared winner of the Santa Susana Stakes by disqualification. It was a battle royal between three of the best three-year-old fillies now in training. The real winner was Sweet Talk, but after the finish the inquiry sign went up. After about fifteen minutes of breath-holding, the stewards placed Ruth Lily first, Sickle's Image second and Sweet Talk third. The foul was laid to Sweet Talk. This was not the only interference in the race. Another, Miss Blenquita lost Jockey Bennie Green as they rounded the turn. This was Ruth Lily's eighth victory in her young life, as she has only started twelve times and only once out of the money, although this was her first stake victory. As second choice she paid her holders $6.60 straight. The feature attraction for this Saturday will be the San Antonio Handicap for three-year-olds and upwards at one and one-eighth miles. It carries an added value of $50,000 and some of the best horses on the grounds will go postward and the winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap may be discovered.

GEO. A. RAMSEY

NEW CALIENTE, Old Mexico—General Manager Walter C. Marty announced that an extra day of racing will start Saturday, March 17, just one week after the close of Santa Anita. This news brought great joy to the horsemen that have raced only Sundays. It will be the first time in five years that Caliente has had racing on Saturdays. With over six hundred horses on the grounds and no racing in Southern California, Caliente will draw large crowds from Los Angeles and other points. If the Saturday racing proves popular with the fans, General Manager Marty said that after Del Mar season is over, racing on Saturday would be continued while the horses are in the north. The feature race was won by Sir Shamrock, paying $56.60. Mon Conge gave the fans one of the greatest thrills of the season in the mile and one-half race, trailing his field and nearly twenty lengths back of the first horse, he came with the speed of the wind, going away by two lengths, paying $9.80. Jockey A. Guadarrama was given a great ovation by the fans after his victory.

Rex Layne Disappoints Fans

NEW YORK CITY—"I've had as many as six offers to fight Ezzard Charles for the world heavyweight title. I may be ready for the champ this summer, but right now I'm thinking of the Brion fight." This is what Rex Layne, the 22-year-old Utah heavyweight said before the Friday night fight in Madison Square Garden with Cesar Brion which turned out to be a 10 round, uneventful bout which 5,768 fans booed at the finish.

However, Rex's chances with Ezzard are now quite slim though he won the decision. For at a ringside seat Friday night was Jake Mintz, Ezzard's manager, who had trained in from Pittsburgh to view one or both boys as possible challengers to the heavyweight crown. After watching the fight, Jake is quoted as saying "neither will do for the champ."

Globetrotters Now Sweeping Thru Texas

EL PASO, Texas—Having swept through California with unprecedented success, the Harlem Globetrotters are headed for the sweeping plains of Texas this week, determined to hit the century mark in the victory column and, also, to show the cage-mad fans of Texas the greatest basketball circus in the game today.

When the fabulous Trotters played their initial tilt at El Paso on Feb. 7 they shot for and got their 100th victory of the season. The following night they performed and won again in El Paso thus equaling their second best all-time record of 101 victories.

Their all-time consecutive victory record is 113 games, established last year.

The Trotters' Texas itinerary called for appearances at El Paso, Feb. 7 and 8; Odessa, Feb. 9; San Antonio, Feb. 10; Austin, Feb. 11; Houston, Feb. 12; Ft. Worth, Feb. 13; Brownwood, Feb. 14, and Marshall, Feb. 15.

Texas cage fans, who have been enthusiastic about the Trotters in past years, will see a team this year owner Abe Saperstein considers one of the greatest he has produced in the club's 24 year history.

Big Cars Race Sunday At L. A. Fair Grounds

POMONA, Feb. 15—More than 30 topflight drivers, including champions of various divisions, will compete here Sunday afternoon in the first AAA big car race meet in L.A. Fair Grounds history.

Seven events are scheduled, capped by a 50-lap feature. Time trials start at noon, the first race being flagged at 2 p.m. The big cars slated to compete are also known as sprint or ¾ sized cars. They're considerably larger and more powerful than midget cars, but not quite as large as Indianapolis autos although built along the same general lines.

Troy Ruttman, young Ontario flash, rules favorite because of his recent "clean sweep" in the season's opener several weeks ago at Gardena. He again drives Majordomo J. C. Agapanian's No. 98 Jr., which Duane Carter drove to the 1950 AAA Midwest sprint car championship. Carter will switch to Karl Orr's No. 8 Offenhauser from Culver City, and insiders say there's a fued brewing there between the two speed merchants.

Jordan High Scene Of League Banquet

The Mural Room of the Jordan High School cafeteria was the scene of the annual Eastern-Marine league sportsmanship banquet-breakfast last Thursday morning.

Eight high schools including Banning, Bell, Gardena, Jordan, Narbonne, Riis, San Pedro and Santa Fe were represented by their student body presidents, athletic coaches and vice-principals.

Willie D. Smith, Jordan student body president echoed the tone of the gathering when he responded to the toastmaster's challenge by stating, "We have never had any trouble with the league competition, and we never expect to have any."

Chairman of the Eastern-Marine vice principals Paul Curran of Bell high school had opened the breakfast ceremonies by remarking that it was the business of the group "to try to foster an even better spirit of good sportsmanship, both on the field and in the stands."

He pointed out that the example of behavior set by the teams and their coaches was the determining factor in the attitude of the spectators to the game at hand.

Vice principal Petersen of Riis took the floor to say that the high school creed should always be "Win, lose, or draw, we will follow the lesson of good sportsmanship."

As a case example of this, Mr. Dave Schwartz of San Pedro cited Coach Zazueta's (of Jordan) attitude during heated athletic moments as that of the true gentleman of sports.

Other matters discussed by the students, coaches, and vice-principals, included a possible realignment of leagues and uniform prices for athletic events.

Negro Boxers Dominate Eighth Annual Tournament

Negro boxers carried away five of the eight championships last Saturday night in the annual Golden Gloves Tournament at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Sponsored annually by the Los Angeles Times for the past eight years, the Golden Gloves this year attracted one of the greatest lineups of amateur champions in Los Angeles history.

Over six thousand fans were on hand to see the following champions crowned: Kirby Seals of San Diego, heavyweight; Don Robinson of Los Angeles, light-heavyweight; Nolan Davis, middleweight; Felix Franklin, welterweight; Bob Mattison, lightweight; Ken Davis, featherweight; Lee McCarthy, bantamweight, and Jesse Aguon, flyweight. The first five named are Negroes.

Next stop for the winners will be Chicago and the annual Tournament of champions scheduled to start Feb. 26. They will represent Los Angeles in this event. It will be remembered that Los Angeles' 1950 squad won the team championship in the Windy City against the best amateur talent from 41 cities.

San Diego Takes Honors

The city of San Diego took the team honors in the local tournament for the second straight year as five of its men, all servicemen, came through.

Headed by Kirby Seals, the all-Navy mitt king who also won the heavyweight title last year, the Border City champs include McCarthy, Franklin, and the two Davis boys.

Two of the other champs are also servicemen. The only non-servicemen of the team is also the only Los Angeles boy to make the squad, Don Robinson. Robinson, undefeated in 19 fights, battles left-handed and is trained by Duke Holloway, veteran local coach.

The other non-San Diego members of the team, Jesse Aguon and Bob Mattison, come from Camp Cook and Long Beach Navy respectively. Photos courtesy L.A. Times.

Fresno Bulldogs Will Close Season

FRESNO—The Fresno State College Bulldog basketballers will close thier home season this week end when they face the Santa Barbara Gauchos Friday night in the San Joaquin Memorial High School gymnasium and the George Pepperdine College Waves in the Roosevelt High School gymnasium on Saturday evening.

Both games are California Collegiate Athletic Association tilts and are scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

The Bulldogs ended their drought of victories last Saturday when they defeated the University of Nevada Wolves 53-50 in Reno. The victory was gained the hard way when the Bulldogs overcame a four point deficit in the last three minutes on field goals by center Fred Bartels.

Dr. L. H. Berry, N. Y., At Neighborhood Community, Sunday

Dr. Berry, Secretary of Missions of the A. M. E. Church, with offices in New York City, will be guest speaker on Sunday morning at Neighborhood Community Church, 47th Place and San Pedro Streets. The Bishop's Council, which meets in Los Angeles the last of February, is Dr. Berry's chief interest on the West Coast at this time.

On the 4th Snnday, Feb. 25, Bishop John A. Greeg, presiding bishop of the 11th Episcopal District of the A. M. E. Church, will speak at the morning worship hour.

Today, Thursday, at noon, the Community Churches and their friends will be guests at a luncheon at Helm's Bakery, 8800 Venice Blvd. Prizes will be given to those who are present by 12 noon and before 12:15. After the luncheon, a tour of the plant will be made.

This Sunday, February 18, at 5 p.m., the Annual Teen-Age Recital by the Sunday School will be held in Mitchell Hall of the Church. A fine program has been arranged by the young people. Mrs. Frances Driver is Sunday School superintendent. Miss Patronella Ross, secretary.

Song Service at Westside Comm. Church, Feb. 25

The Westside Community Church, 2117 W. Jefferson Blvd., will hold a great song service on the fourth Sunday of the month, February 25, at 4 p.m. William Gillespie will be the featured attraction. He will be supported by some of the leading singers and musicians of the city.

Rev. Tillie Lekis is pastor of the church. Church school will be held at 11:30 a.m., and church services at 1 p.m.

Missionary Societ President Honored

The Missionary Society of the Opportunity Baptist Church honored its president, "Mother Lizzie Moore," with an appreciation tea, Sunday, February 11, in the lovely home of the pastor, Rev. E. D. Smallwood, at 440 East Santa Barbara Ave.

Many beautiful gifts were given Mother Moore by friends and the different auxiliaries of the church. The table was beautifully decorated with a handmade lase Madeira cloth, with white mums as a center piece; assorted cakes, cookies, tea and coffee were served. The committee wishes to thank their many friends for helping to make this tea—"The grandest tea of the year."

"Torment" To Be Shown At Unitarian Church

"Torment," a prize-winning Swedish film, will be shown Friday evening, February 16, at 8 p.m., at the First Unitarian Church, 2936 West 8th Street, just east of Vermont. The "short" to be shown that evening is a film new to the West Coast. "The Fable of the Peacock" is the story of the East Indian fable of the vain peacock, told in authentic dance and song form and in color.

Intermission commentator for the program will be the noted screen-writer, Waldo Salt, known to movie-goers for such films as "Rachel and the Stranger," "The Cummington Story," "The Flame and the Arrow" and many other fine stories.

The public is cordially invited to attend these regular monthly film programs shown at the First Unitarian Church the third Friday evening of each month. Admission is 55c including tax, and there is free parking at Bullock's Wilshire.

Nat'l Baptist Sanitarium And Bath House, Hot Springs Opens Feb. 20

The National Baptist sanitarium and bath house at Hot Springs, Arkansas, will be formally opened and dedicated during the adjourned session of the National Baptist Convention to be held at Hot Springs, February 20-22.

A five-story fireproof building, luxurious hotel suites and rooms, excellent food service, thermal water baths administered by trained attendants are among the fine facilities now available to Negroes at the National Baptist sanitarium and bath house at Hot Springs. The bath house is operated by the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., Dr. D .V. Jemison, president.

The Baptist building, which houses the sanitarium and bath house is a block long and a half block wide. It is located on Malvern avenue between Gulpha and Garden streets, on a main thoroughfare in the heat of Hot Springs. It is two blocks from the Missouri Pacific railroad station, three blocks from the Rock Island station, three blocks from the United States post office, four blocks from the banking and shopping districts, and two blocks from all bus stations.

The Baptist building was erected in 1924 by the Woodmen of Union Fraternal Order, under the leadership of Hon. John L. Webb, a prominent layman of the National Baptist Convention, at a cost of more than a half million dollars. The Federal Government has set replacement value at a million dollars.

In 1949 this building was purchased by the convention from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for $175,000. More than $250,000 worth of improvements have already been made to the property.

THE BATH HOUSE

The National Baptist sanitarium and bath house boasts one of the most modernly equipped bath houses in Hot Springs. It is rated as one of the five best bath houses in Hot Springs, by rating agencies.

The bath section of the building is well equipped with the best made tubs, tile floors, modernly equipped cooling rooms, massage parlors, pack rooms, and waiting rooms. The Department of the Interior has allotted the bath house fourteen (14) tubs of the thermal waters. Also offered are facilities for sitz baths, vapor baths, douche and spray baths.

All attendants in the bath house are under government license.

The waters used in the bath house are from a huge government reservoir and are piped directly into the bath house. A new system for cooling the water makes it possible for both hot water and cooled water from the springs which contains its radioactive elements to be piped into the bath houses and mixed in the baths. Also, naturally hot drinking water from the springs is on tap in the bath house.

The National Baptist sanitarium bath house was one of the first bath houses to use the waters cooled under the new process.

ELABORATE HOTEL

Eighty-three rooms with facilities for 150 guests, are found among the rooms and suites in the hotel section of the building. In addition to private rooms, there are two-bedroom suites, bedroom-living room suites, suites with adjoining baths, suites with private baths.

The most elaborately furnished suite is the President's Suite, containing living room, bedroom, dressing room, and private tile bath. This room is decorated in beautiful contrasting color schemes.

A spacious lobby contains guest lounge, offices, desk, switchboard. It is painted chocolate cocoa brown above a white marble wainscot, and is illuminated by recessed cove lights which shine against a white acoustical ceiling. A flower wall runs the width of the lobby, except for passageway.

The dining room and coffee shop serves twenty-four hours a day, table service being provided only at breakfast, dinner, and lunch hours. A modernly equipped kitchen and excellent cooks assure patrons of high quality food service.

PURCHASED BY CONVENTION IN 1949

The Baptist building was purchased by the National Baptist convention in 1949, and responsibility for its renovation, redecoration and equipment was placed upon the Finance Commission of the convention, of which Dr. A. M. Townsend is executive secretary. Through the cooperation of McKissack and McKissack, architects and contractors; H. Cohen Furniture Company, decorators, furnishers, and flooring contractors, and other business firms, the building was made ready for reception of guests. Assistance in financing the project was given by Mr. L. D. Milton and Mrs. Jesse B. Blayton of the Citizens Trust Company, and Blamyia Inc., of Atlanta. The Foreign Mission Board, C. C. Adams, secretary, Dr. L. A. Bowman, and other individuals.

Churches, conventions, and individuals in the National Baptist convention have contributed toward the Finance Commission's campaign to raise the cost of purchase and renovation of the building. A special appeal to churches for continued support has gone out from the office of Dr. Townsend.

Mr. C. H. Webster is general manager of the sanitarium, bath house and Dr. R. C. Woods is assistant manager.

Dr. Kelsey at Fisk

Rev. George D. Kelsey, associate executive secretary in field administration, Federal Council of Churches, will deliver the sermon at the 11 a.m. Sunday worship services February 18, at the Fisk Memorial Chapel, on the subject, "Religion as a Fear-Dispelling Agency."

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Mr. Philip E. Waites wishes to thank their many friends for their kind expressions of sympathy during his recent illness and passing. Funeral services were held at the Second Baptist Church on January 17.

Mary L. Roberson

Nat'l Baptist Missionary Training School Day, Sun.

National Baptist Missionary Training School Day will be observed in the churches of the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., on February 18, according to Mrs. L. D. Edwards, president, and Dr. A. M. Townsend, chairman of the Board of Directors of the school.

The school was founded in 1936 by the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., for the training of missionaries and Christian workers.

Special appeals to all churches, pastors, and other leaders of Baptist churches have been distributed, and persons representing the school will appear in many churches of the convention.

Training School Day is observed annually as a day on which major emphasis is given to the work of the school, and financial contributions are lifted for it, and sent to the school, 1720 White's Creek Pike, Nashville, Tennessee.

The student body of the school is drawn from eleven states.

AME Bishops In Winter Session Here

After twenty-five years the Bishops and Connectional Councils of the African Methodist Episcopal Church come to Los Angeles for a Mid-Winter Session. The new Ward AME at 1177 West 25th Street will be the seat of the sessions, and Dr. Frederick D. Jordan, pastor, is the host to the assembly.

Activities will include an Episcopal Dinner for the Bishops and their wives Wednesday evening, February 21, in the parsonage of the First A.M.E. church where Bishop Walker, host bishop, will be domciled during the conventions; Wednesday night in the sanctuary of Ward, a choir Extravaganza, using the Gospel and Senior Choirs of the AME Church and vicinity.

Thursday evening, February 22, at 6 o'clock a welcome banquet honoring all visitors will be held in the spacious gymnasium of Ward, followed by a program in the sanctuary with addresses by Governor Warren, Mayor Bowron and local figures. A response will be made by one of the bishops.

Friday night a testimonial recognizing 40 years of service as a general officer in the church will be held honoring Dr. A. S. Jackson, financial secretary of the church with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Jackson, originally of Waco, Texas, has had a colorful career from boot-black boy on the streets of Waco to a place of leadership in both civic and religious activity. Many persons feel that his life illustrates accurately the capacity of the church to furnish the inspiration which lifts an underprivileged child to a life of successful service.

Many of the bishops and visiting ministers will occupy pulpits in the various churches of the city and nearby communities Sunday, February 25.

The two special trains which most of the visitors will be traveling on will arrive on Wednesday, February 21, and depart Monday, February 26.

Church Lounge Open To Visiting GI's

As Archbishop J. Francis A. McIntyre's answer to the need for clean, wholesome recreational facilities for GIs visiting Los Angeles on leave, the Catholic Servicemen Lounge is operated by the St. Vincent de Paul Society at 817 S. Flower street.

Here hundreds of servicemen and women each week find a haven for companionship, friendly smiles, warm handshakes, pleasant conversation and homelike environment.

"It is estimated that an average of 30,000 GIs visit Los Angeles each week on leave from nearby camps and bases," said the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James E. Dolan, vice-president and spiritual director of the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

"Most of them are between the ages of 18 and 21—an impressionable age. Most of them are lonely, away from home for the first time, and alone in a strange city.

"Against the tawdry pleasures and entertainments of the so-called 'sin streets,' we endeavor to give them a glimpse of home and comfort necessary to good morale."

The lounge is open daily from 10 a.m. to midnight offering such services as clean-up, shaving, shoeshine, sewing and letter-writing facilities; reading rooms, games, dancing, radio, television, record player, piano, refreshments and table tennis.

Junior and senior hostesses are on hand daily to help serve and entertain the boys.

"The Requiem" To Be Heard At Church Of Christ

The Cathedral Choir of the People's Independent Church of Christ will present Johannes Brahm's "The Requiem" in memory of the late Dr. Karl E. Downs, Sunday afternoon in the Holliston Avenue Methodist Church in Pasadena.

The choir will be assisted by members of the Pasadena Civic Symphony with Albert John McNeil, conducting. Fannie Evelyn Benjamin, at the organ and soloists Gwendolyn Harriel, soprano and baritone Cecil Doty.

The memorial is being sponsored by the Scott Methodist Church, the former pastorate of the late president of Samuel Huston College, Austin, Texas.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

(Apologies to Leigh Hunt, 1784-1859)

A bomb named Atom: may its size decrease
Lest it explode one night amid the peace
And show within the moonlight a mushroom
Not unlike a cauliflower in bloom.

An angel writing in a book of gold
Will list the dead both young and old
Of all the curses with which man is blessed—
Behold! The Atom bomb leads all the rest.

School Pupils To Visit Bank

Members of the Compton Avenue School sixth grade class of Mr. C. F. Johnson are scheduled to make a tour of the Watts Branch of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank on Tuesday, February 20, as part of a social studies lesson.

Accompanying the children in addition to their teacher will be Burton M. Oliver, Supervisor of the Thrift, Conservation, and School Savings Program of the Los Angeles City Schools.

In addition to the above class, children from other grades who are planning to open a new school savings account will auso make the trip.

During the course o fthe tour, which will be handled by Manager Charles Griffiths and his staff, the youngsters will be allowed to enter the vault and see the safe deposit boxes, and will be taken behind the counters to see how the bank business is carried on.

After returning to school the children will have a discussion about their trip in preparation for a written essay about what they have learned at the bank. The children also plan to make oral reports, posters, and write letters of appreciation to the manager of the bank.

School savings plans have a far-reaching and beneficial effect, Principal Irene Lucas said, urging parents to cooperate with teachers in encouraging children to set aside their coins for the purpose of opening bank accounts.

Ascot Avenue PTA

Founder's Day Program was the main discussion at the executive board meeting of the Ascot Avenue P.T.A. held Tuesday, February 6, 1951 in the school auditorium.

The president Mrs. Cerressa Baker, announced this meeting will be one of the largest with entertainment, refreshments, and attendance. Our Founder's Day Chairman, Mrs. Thomas, teacher at the school, has prepared an unique program with parents, teachers and children participating. Title of the skit "How Deep Are the Roots?" Mrs. Blakes' chorus will render musical selections. This program will be held in the school auditorium, Tuesday night, February 20, 1951 at 7:30 p.m. This is the second of the night meetings of the Ascot Avenue P.T.A. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Paul J. Elliot Is Olympia Speaker

The early history of Parent-Teacher groups was reviewed by Mrs. J. Paul Elliott, president of Tenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers, when she spoke at the recent Founders Day meeting of Olympia Council held in the auditorium of Bret Harte Junior High School. Mrs. Elliott was presented by Mrs. T. B. Walker, council program chairman.

During the business session presided over by Mrs. C. C. Wahlquist, members voted to send $100 to the Tenth District Health Center in the name of Olympia Council past presidents. A surprise announcement made by Mrs. Fred Shuey, council chairman, revealed that Mrs. Walter Welday had been chosen as the honoree to be awarded an honorary life membership. Mrs. Welday has for several years years given outstanding services to PTA. She currently serves Olympia Council as a member of the hospitality committee and also the publicity bureau. In making the presentation Mrs. Shuey told of the work being accomplished in connection with funds used to purchase honorary life memberships.

Prize Posters

Prize winning posters of Olympia Council were displayed by Mrs. Faye Brewer, chairman, who announced that Mrs. Rae Nelson of John Adams PTA won first prize in Class A. First prize and special award in Class B went to Mrs. Brewer, and Mrs. E. L. Deason of Horace Mann won 1st prize in Class D. Honorable mention was given Mrs. Mary Schell of Gompers Jr. High PTA. Judges were Mrs. Joseph Ench, Arts and Crafts chairman of Tenth District; Mrs. David Crocket, 10th District Unit Goals chairman, and Mrs. D. W. Cross, Youth Services chairman.

Nominees of officers of Olympia Council were named by Mrs. J. E. Kierstead, parliamentarian, and were as follows:

Mmes. C. C. Wahlquist, president; F. B. Walker, 1st vice president; Mugh McClaskey, secretary; Homer Allen financial secretary; J. B. Harbuck, treasurer; F. J. Young, auditor, P. E. McConnaughy, historian; and J. L. Kierstead, parliamentarian.

Two Minute Report

Presidents of the twenty units comprising the secondary school council gave a two-minute report of activities and accomplishments of the year so far. The inspirational solo, entitled "My Task," was sung by Mrs. Warren Randolph, who also presented and directed the Gompers PTA Mothers Chorus in a medley of the "Gay Nineties." Gay and colorful costumes with fans and parasols brought back memories of yesteryear.

Past presidents were Introduced and presented with hand crocheted corsages made by Mrs. George Eckfeldt, Founders Day chairman. Among the guests honored were:

Mmes. J. H. Heverly, founder of Junior and Senior Council, 1931-33; R. J. Fullaway, first president of Olympia Council, 1937-39; E. M. Hall, 1939-41; H. F. Kinnear, 1941-43; Chas. Langfield, 1943-45; Forest J. Young, 1945-46; Fred Shuey, 1946-48; Edward J. Stephens, 1948-50; Mrs. C. C. Wahlquist, 1950—.

Other council presidents in attendance were: Mmes. Sidney Bowen, Elysian; Frank Havlar, Exposition; W. G. Donhoff, Highlands; H. W. Pieper, Southwest; and Laurence B. Martin, Wilshire.

State officers introduced were Mrs. Merle Browne, State Honorary Life Membership chairman and Mrs. E. J. Hue, State Magazine chairman.

Also present were Mrs. H. G. McElheney, recipient of the first Honorary Life Membership given by the council; Mrs. E. M. Bine, who worked in the District for many years, and Mrs. Bozenman, past president of 87th Street PTA.

Other Tenth District officers were Mmes. William Robertson, William A. Sheldon, Harris W. Steinbrook, J. D. Henry, D. W. Cross, David Crockett, L. S. Baca, R. V. Kesler, J. J. NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following work:

KIND OF WORK AND NAME OF SCHOOL

Repair of First Floor at Warehouse Building No. 3 (1341 San Julian St.)

DATE OF BID OPENING

March 1, 1951.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the Building Branch of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said Building Branch.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contracts which will be awarded the successful bidders; and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen

All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeyman rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices

May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers

Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders

Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

CLASSIFICATION	Hourly Wage Rates
CARPENTERS
Carpenter	$2.35
CEMENT FINISHERS
Cement Finisher (Composition or Mastic)	2.50
IRON WORKERS
Reinforcing Iron Worker	2.38
LABORERS
Laborers, General or Construction	1.75
PAINTERS
Carpet, Linoleum and Soft Tile Layer	2.56

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.
2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.
3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.
4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on forms to be obtained at said Building Branch of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Purchasing Agent of the Board of Education, Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, on or before 2:00 P.M. on the dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and/or waive any informality on a bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Dated: February 9, 1951, Los Angeles, California.

Hey kids, surprised to hear from me. You did see the column last week, even though it was on a different page, didn't you? Know somethin'? The love bug has bitten both Rosie Hawkins and John L. Neal. They're gonna get married. . . . There was a little riff-raff between Elmer Matt and Lorraine. Think it's all patched up now. Leavin' for the army today is Jessie Aubury. Gee . . . since he's in, I spose the war will soon be over. . . . Did ya hear about the rug-cuttin' meetin' over at Jane Draper's pad. That was Saturday nite. Everybody was wiggin off. . . . James Scott has been keepin' his car simply loaded with lovelies.

Smart guy, huh! I just know all you guys are goin' to that party that's over on Harvard. I'll give ya the address later on. . . . Ole Louie Ash has a cute little galfriend over at Poly. Gracious, he practically lives there now . . . Larry Herring and Annie Dansly are in love. Can ya beat that?

DIANETICS—SCIENCE OR HOAX

By Mike Holliday

In May, 1950, a book titled DIANETICS The Modern Science of Mental Health was published. It became a runaway best seller. Its author L. Ron Hubbard, received so many letters telegrams and phone calls at his home in New Jersey that—as a result of the wide demand—he organized a non-profit Foundation at Elizabeth, New Jersey and offered a special coaching to people who desired to become more proficient in the new art of dianetic auditing. Subsequently, other branches were opened — in Chicago, Washington, New York, Honolulu and Los Angeles. At the latter city a second professional auditing school was opened in August 1950 and this school has been in operation ever since.

I was among the people who ... Dianetics and subsequently ... qualified as a Hubbard Dianetic Auditor. Only about fifty per cent of the people who enroll to qualify for the post fail to meet the standards of qualifications set up.

The core of Dianetics is Hubbard's discovery that during moments of pain and unconsciousness in the past life of the individual words and phrases spoken around him are recorded by a part of his mind. If these are derogative in character they may ... the individual have a compulsive hypnotic type effect on the actions of the person involved. He is seldom aware where these impulses come from, and so does foolish and non-survival things against his better judgment. Any period of shock is considered to be a partial unconsciousness. For instance, someone being insulted can be in a state of shock, and if he is for just such moments that he is no good. This may in times to come cause him severe depression and make him feel that he is no good. He will not understand why he feels this way and will not normally connect the words spoken to him during the shock period with his later feelings.

Dianetics has the support of thousands of people including doctors and psychiatrists. The ... directors of the Foundation in New York and Chicago are M.D. psychiatrists. However, as many new sciences it has been attacked by various individuals—including Carey McWilliams, who in a recent ill advised article in "Frontier" called Dianetics a new California "cult".

There are so many misstatements and so much misinformation in McWilliam's article that we might just as well begin right here to refute some of the incorrect data, and in this way convey some of the real facts. Dianetics originated in New Jersey, not California. The Los Angeles department was the fourth to be opened. And it is the only branch that is always in the red. There is no doubt that so dynamic a discovery will gain recognition in this area, but until it does the eastern foundations are supporting its local educational program.

It seems necessary to explain to people like McWilliams the difference between a "cult" and a system which offers specific techniques that any intelligent person can learn to use. Cults exist on faith—if you will. The cult follower accepts a vague-minded mysticism, and will not permit scientific evaluation to be applied to his beliefs.

In his extreme desire to prove his cliche about cultish California McWilliams drags in the argument that Hubbard has written a great deal of science fiction in his literary career. And then he goes on to state that science fiction writing is another California cult. His claim in this regard is that about one-third of the writers in the field are living in Los Angeles, that its readers swarm over the city, and that it is these readers who are primarily interested in dianetics.

As a sort of climax to his statement, he adds that Hubbard was not a very good writer of science fiction.

I am not a sceince fiction reader; in fact, I couldn't tell you exactly what a science fiction story is. But I took the trouble to check a few McWilliam's facts and they are about as wrong as could possibly be.

At first, I accepted his statement that one-third of science fiction writers did live in Los Angeles. I did think—if this were true—that the science fiction cult, if any, would be where the other two-thirds lived. However, on inquiry, I found that there are about a hundred science fiction writers in this country. Of these, less than ten live in the Los Angeles area. Considering the attractions of our climate and considering the presence of the movie studios this completely refutes McWilliams' account.

What about the masses of individuals known as science fiction fans so feverishly pictured by McWilliams as swarming over Los Angeles with a copy of Dianetics under one arm and a copy of Science Fiction under the other? I was amazed to discover that there exists in this city for certain one science fiction club and possibly a second—but I was unable to verify the existence of the second. What is the membership of the club located? If it were a cult worthy of the name it should have at least a thousand members. But no. Its permanent membership varies between 12 and 25 people.

Just in passing I learned that the director of the club for the past few years has been a chemist who worked on the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos during World War II.

I am told that back in 1947 L. Ron Hubbard gave one speech to this club, on geriatrics—the science of helping old people to live longer. Even in those days, apparently, he had the interests of people like you and me in the forefront of his mind.

I have discovered that the first article on dianetics did appear in Science Fiction Magazine. This magazine is listed in Editor and Publisher as having a circulation of 80,000. Today, nearly a million people are using dianetics on each other. Comparing these figures I think even McWilliams will admit that a few people besides science fiction readers have taken an interest in this new science.

Who are the readers of Science Fiction Magazine? The editor, I discovered is a graduate in physics of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and author of The Atomic Story—one of the more brilliant accounts of the development of the atomic bomb. I learned that in 1938 he scored the first of many scientific scoops by publishing detailed accounts of the work of the atomic scientists the world over. On the basis of these articles, he made the prediction that the secret of atomic energy had been discovered.

I am informed that, as editor, he continues to publish authoritative articles about the frontiers of science. As a result, scientists, professors, engineers, doctors and other professional people comprise about fifty per cent of his leadership. This is according to surveys taken in 1940 and 1949.

I don't know if L. Ron Hubbard is a good science fiction writer or not, not having read any of his stories. I am told that he has written some very good stories and some very bad ones. While I was taking the dianetic course I heard that for years Mr. Hubbard financed his research in dianetics from his writing income.

However, I was really baffled by McWilliams statements about science fiction when I learned that only about 15% to 20% of Hubbard's writing has been science fiction. He also wrote mystery, western, historical and other stories. On the basis of his output, he could just as easily be called a mystery or a western writer.

If you ask, what impelled McWilliams to color his judgment in this fashion, then I can only say that when a writer of McWilliam's reputation is trying to prove a point, facts fall by the wayside.

All this, of course, is completely unimportant. In dianetics, we have a tenet: It isn't what you've done. It's what's been done to you. McWilliams makes cutting remarks about Hubbard's military career. Hubbard was a naval officer during World War II, and afterwards spent a year in a naval hospital. His eyes had been burned, and he had various injuries. Since when has service in the Armed forces called for sneers?

As an aside, McWilliams takes a slam at Semantics, saying that several semanticists have taken an interest in dianetics. McWilliams certainly doesn't seem to know when he has a tiger by the tail. I personally know nothing about Semantics, but I just asked a couple of questions about it—which I can assure you McWilliams should have done—for he took an ill-formed swing at it.

General Semantics is a system of logic taught in many universities. This year the University of Chicago has announced an international conference on General Semantics. The list of professors and doctors whose names are associated with the invitation is long and imposing.

However, let's make an end to these detailed discussions of McWilliam's errors by simply listing a few, along with the facts. In his article he states the Hubbard's child is a "son". The fact: It's a girl named Alexis. McWilliams statement: The child's age: 4 months. The fact: 11 months. McWilliams statement: Hubbard is being audited by his wife, who uses amnesia trance. The fact: Hubbard is audited by many people including his wife; amnesia trance is not used. McWilliams statement: Hubbard received an honorary degree from Sequoia University. The fact: No degree received. McWilliams statement: A dianetic "release" can be secured in 20 hours. The fact: The book states plainly that it frequently requires many hundreds of hours.

One of the things we have learned about propaganda from the Communists is that anything can be smeared. At the bottom of page 9 of McWilliams article in "Frontier", we have the statement: "... The meeting was devoid of cultic nonsense . .. Indeed the meetings of the Hubbard Foundation clearly aim at producing an appearance of complete rationality, scientific objectivity . . .

If Dianetics clearly aims at producing . . . scientific objectivity, then it would appear to have a head start on McWilliams who—as I think I have proven—rushed blindly into writing an article without waiting to verify his facts.

The fall supplement (1950) of Funk and Wagnalls dictionary defines dianetics as follows:

"DIANETICS: noun.-A system for the analysis control and development of human thought evolved from a set of coordinated axioms which also provides techniques for the treatment of a wide range of mental disorders and organic diseases: terms and doctrines introduced by L. Ron Hubbard, American engineer."

Equal Job Opportunities Forum Discussion Subject

The second monthly Community Forum of the Avalon Community Center will be held at the Avalon Christian Church, 4272 Avalon Blvd., Sunday, Feb. 18, at 4 p.m. Topic, "Equal Opportunities in Employment." Panel discussants: "Training Opportunities Available," Welford Wilson, Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Apprenticeship Standards; "Employers' Reaction to Minority Group Job Seekers," Glanville A. Lockett, Minority Specialist, California State Employment Service; "Vocational Counseling," I. H. McClelland, vice-principal, Lefayette Junior High School; "Job Possibilities and Handling of Grievance," R. Wesley Brazier, Urban League; "How Labor Unions Help in Employment," James Anderson, Los Angeles Central Labor Council, AFL.

Music will be provided by J. Earl Hines and the Goodwill Singers. The public is invited to attend and share in the discussion. The Sunday Forum is sponsored by the Avalon Community Center.

DIRTY WINDSHIELDS

Winter drivers are reminded by the Los Angeles Police Department that dirty windshields violate the "Unsafe Equipment" section of the California Vehicle Code (Section 679). Besides being a cause of costly accidents such an unsafe condition may leave a motorist open to severe legal action if injury or death result.

JEKYLL-HYDE DRIVERS

Too many drivers are victims of motor age split-personalities, report traffic safety experts. Ordinarily kind and courteous, drivers too often leave these good characteristics at the curb when they climb behind the wheel. Suggests the Los Angeles Police Department—carry "parlor courtesy" into your automobile when you drive!

County Chest Meeting Feb. 22

Chest specialists from throughout this area will gather at the Elks Club, Los Angeles, on February 22 and 23 for the second annual Chest Disease Symposium, sponsored by the general practice section of the County Medical Association.

A similar session for local osteopaths will be held Sunday, Feb. 25, at the Elks Club, under the sponsorship of the Osteopathic Association.

Painters Local 1348 Celebrates NTW

Painters Union Local 1348 observed Negro History Week by holding an educational evening at their headquarters, 2526½ Brooklyn avenue, last Monday evening to which they invited "everyone who paints, Negro and white, their families and friends."

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, and Mr. John M. Weatherwax were the guest speakers.

Mrs. Bass reviewed the history of the Negro people in America, and pointed out that from the very earliest times there was always the spirit of freedom among them, and that in all struggles for liberty and the rights of men, the Negro bore his full share.

"That fight is still going on," declared Mrs. Bass. "The Negro people are still bearing their full share, although, alas, there are some who are shirking and falling down by the wayside. We who are active must therefore bear a greater burden. For whatever happens the fight for full freedom and for first class citizenship for all must go on until completee victory is won."

Mr. Weatherwax stressed the great need for unity in this great fight, especially among all minority groups.

"The Jewish people must unite with the Negro and Mexican people, the Chniese, Japanese, and all who are oppressed everywhere, and together we can and must win this victory."

Arthur Atkins, baritone, sang several selections½ which delighted everyone.

At the close of the program an invitation was extended to "all who make their living by painting and do not as yet belong to the Painters Union," to join Local 1348. Meetings of Local 1348 are held every Monday evening at 2526½ Brooklyn avenue.

California law requires that drivers shall not follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent. A motorist must take into account the speed, the amount of traffic and the condition of the road.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR—Mrs. Margaret Rakestraw, outstanding clubwoman, wife of Rev. J. W. Rawestraw of Wesley M. E. Church, member of the Sojourner Club and active in all women's social and civic efforts was elected woman of the year by the Los Angeles chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority.

Sales Prices, Rentals Up For Inspection by U. S.

A survey of sale prices and rentals of new dwelling units, part of the regular program of housing statistics, will begin in Los Angeles next week, Max D. Kossoris, Director of the Western Region of the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, reported today.

The Los Angeles area, which covers all of Los Angeles and Orange Counties, is one of the 10 major metropolitan centers in which the Bureau will collect information from home-owners, tenants, builders and contractors. All information will be kept strictly confidential and will be released only in summary form, Kossoris emphasized.

Publication of the results of the study will begin about July of this year, through press releases issued in Los Angeles and through articles appearing in the Labor Information Bulletin and the Monthly Labor Review. The BLS monthly journal Construction will carry detailed tabulations of data for all areas in which the surveys are conducted.

The survey was scheduled to start on February 14, and will be conducted under the supervision of Mr. William C. Meister.

Houston Returns To L. A.

Norman O. Houston, oGlden State Mutual Life president, returns to Los Angeles on Friday of this week following attendance at a National Negro Insurance Association executive committee meeting in Hot Springs, Arkansas. Other members of the committee are: W. Ellis Stewart, vice president, Supreme Liberty Life; B. G. Olive, vice president, Universal Life, Executive Committee Chairman; E. M. Martin, vice president-sec., Atlanta Life Insurance Company; H. J. Christophe, secretary-treasurer, Peoples' Industrial Life Ins. Co.; Joseph A. Faison, president, Provident Home Industrial Mutual Life Ins. Co., and J. Leonard Lewis, executive vice president, Afro-American Life Ins. Co.

The L. A. businessman was elected president of NNIA at its annual meeting here last July.

Chest Disease Symposium

Continuance of the Chest X-Ray Survey Foundation is vital of the county's civil defense program a group of more than 200 civic leaders affirmed last Tuesday night.

On Wednesday a group of 60 key people gathered to plan the necessary steps for a program of action that would insure the utmost coordination of services and facilities to continue the work fo mass chest X-Ray programs.

Meeting at the Los Angeles Elks Club, representatives of almost all agencies and organizations in the county concerned with the vital fight against tuberculosis hear Dr. Christie, famed Washington radiologist who is heading the capitol's post X-Ray survey program, warn that "health hazards are always intensified at times of national emergency. The efforts to combat these hazards must be intensified to an even greater degree."

Dr. Christie was introduced at the meeting by Roger W. Jessup, Chairman of the Board of County Supervisors, who was chairman of the meeting to consider the "follow-up" program for the ten-month long, county-wide mass X-Ray Survey that took chest X-Rays of more than 1,860,000 adults in the county, and found that 38,600 of these people required, on the basis of the X-Ray evidence, further medical study for tuberculosis, heart conditions and other chest diseases.

Engineering Help Wanted By State

SACRAMENTO — Applications for an X-Ray Technician are being accepted by the State Personnel Board for an examination to be held at Patton State Hospital on April 28, 1951.

Candidates should be high school graduates with two years of experience, including training in X-Ray techniques and methods, under an accredited medical radiologist. The work consists of X-Ray examinations and X-Ray therapeutic treatments under the supervision of a physician.

The present monthly monthly salary range is $243-295.

Applications for this examination must be filed before the final filing date, April 7, 1951.

Due to planned staff increases, twelve Water Pollution Control Engineers will be chosen to fill key engineering posts with the State of California. The State Personnel Board announced that applications for civil service examinations for Water Pollution Control Engineer, Grade 1, and Grade 2, will be accepted until March 10.

These engineering positions require 3 to 5 years' experience in the treatment and disposal of sewage and industrial waste plus a degree in engineering. The opening salary for Water Pollution Control Engineer, Grade 1, is $436, and a Water Pollution Control Engineer, Grade 2,starts with a salary of $505.

Final filing dates for other examinations are: March 1: Public Health Medical Officer, Grade 1, $530-644, and Public Health Medical Officer, Grade 2, $584-710; March 3: Associate Engineering Geologist, $436-530; Associate Utilities Engineer, $436-530; Senior Architectural Designer, $530-644, and March 10: Junior Structural Engineering Draftsman, $295-358.

Applications are being accepted by the State Personnel Board for an April examination to be held for two classifications: Hydrographic Aid and Junior Hydrographer.

Qualified applicants must be high schol graduates, able to do field and office work in connection with water distribution and hydrographic studies for the Department of Water Resources.

Present salary ranges are from $255-310 for Hydrographic Aid and $281-341 for Junior Hydrographer.

Interested persons are urged to file applications before April 7, 1951, final filing date.

The State Personnel Board is accepting Assistant Machine Parts Storekeeper applications for a March examination to be held in Los Angeles. Persons qualifying in the examination will be used in Los Angeles and vicinity only, and candidates must file applications before March 10, 1951, in order to take the examination.

One year of experience in a machine parts stock room, or similar experience in a machine shop or automobile repair shop is a necessary requirement.

Assistant Machine Parts Storekeepers issue tools and supplies to workmen, keep simple accounts, and keep the stockroom and supplies in bins and racks in an orderly condition.

The present salary range is $231-281 monthly.

Additional information and official application forms 678 may be obtained from the State Personnel Board office at 305 State Building, Los Angeles for all examinations.

OFF-CENTER LANES

Off-center lanes, responsible in Los Angeles for greater movement of rush'hour traffic, consist of "borrowing" an extra lane from the opposite side of the street.

Temporary signs are set up to allow, on a four lane highway, three lanes to move in the heavy traffic direction, leaving a single lane for the lighter traffic. This procedure is set up in the Vehicle Code in Section 525.5. (Los Angeles Police Department).

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE EAGLE

PROF. HERMAN

HITCH YOUR WAGON TO A STAR

Many of us believe that when we "Hitch Our Wagon to a Star" it takes our feet off the earth. But, this is not true, for the one who keeps his eyes on the things that are not seen, but hoped for, can be the most practical person in the world.

One of the greatest mistakes made in this day and age, is the differentiating between the idealist and the practical person. For if we look down through the ages, we will find that some of our greatest men are those that "dreamed dreams and saw visions."

If you would like to know more about your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet, why not write to Prof. Herman, and let him advise you.

M. E. J. Dear Prof. Herman: Will you please help me with this problem. How do I tsand?

ANS. Probing into the matter I find that you and this young man are quite fond of each other, and you need not worry about how you stand, he will prove his love for you very soon.

* * *

G. F. C. I have read your column for some time and liked it very much. I can see how you help others through your honest, and sincere advice, so I am writing to you. What should i do about my desire?

DYER— No. ONE

ANS. I find that you are a very happily married woman, but there is one thing that bothers you. As to that question, I suggest that you and your husband consult a good physician and let him recommend whatever he thinks necessary to bring about the solution to this one thing that would mean complete happiness for you both.

* * *

Mrs. R.M. Will I receive the answer I want?

ANS. Give the letter time to reach its destination, and remember that men in that caliber have many, many letters to read and answer which takes quite some time. In the event you do not receive a reply within 15 days, then perhaps you should send another letter. Be sure and register it, however.

R.E. What does this year hold for me?

ANS. 1951 holds many surprises, some of which will enable you to carry out plans you have had for quite some time. Look forward to this new year, it will bring you much happiness.

NTW Observed At Am-Russian Club

As a Negro History Wee kaddress at the American-Russian Club, 3300 City Terrace, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, contrasted the lot of the Negro in the U. S. A. with that of what she learned of the utter lack of discrimination in the USSR, during her recent trip to Europe.

"In the USSR," said Mrs. Bass, "it is a felony to discriminate in any way against anyone of any other race or nationality. The legal lynching perpetrated so recently against the Martinsville Seven in this country has aroused the indignation of every liberty loving man and woman in the world. It is regarded with especial horror in the USSR. IF any official would even dream of perpetrating such a crime in the USSR, he himself would most likely be executed."

Several delightful musical selections were given, and a delicious dinner was served.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

(From the desk of Dr. Frank Gary Zetar, Progressive Chiropractor)

In a special New Year's greeting to all his friends, patients and fellow citizens, wherever dispersed. May good fortune spin her shining wheel right merrily for you and yours in 1951, bringing to all of you an abundant health, happiness and prosperity.

Further, he has achieved success who has mastered the art of living, laughed often, and loved his neighbor well, who has gained the respect of intelligent men, the trust of pure women, and the love of little children, who has responded to the Divine urge within and accomplished his task, who has left the world better than he found it, whether by improved health, improved knowledge, or a rescued soul, who has never lacked appreciation of God's Divine laws; nor failed to express them. Who has always looked for the best in others and given to the world the best he had; whose life was an inspiration, whose memory an immortal benediction.

By this definition of success I stand firmly, ready to obey my divine urge within, speak my mind, purposely aiding human kind, thereby gaining the respect of my neighbor and my Creator.

Further, in the year of 1934 I matriculated in the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic, thoroughly cognizant of the limitations of chiropractic as a healing science. I knew then and now that chiropractic therapy does not cover all branches of the healing arts. Yes, I knew this, just as we all know that the practice of dentistry is limited to the treatment of the teeth and gums.

Optometry is limited to the treatment of the eyes. Chiropractic therapy is limited in the treatment of human ills, because it does not include surgery or drugs in its application. However, it has come to my attention that there are some people, particularly some medical doctors, who would discredit the chiropractic profession by saying that chiropractors are not doctors. This is a gross injustice. Far from the truth. Since the beginning of time, history has taught us that which the mind does not understand, the tendency is to oppose it.

I am qualified to inform you that chiropractic is a great healing science, which accounts for its tremendous success. As of date more than 90 percent of all ACUTE and CHRONIC DISEASES of the human body respond very favorably to chiropractic therapy. These are on hand now documentary evidence to substantiate these truths. Having completed the prescribed course of training. Passed the requisite examinations and having acquired a degree in the science and art of chiropractic entitles one to all the rights, privileges and responsibilities attended thereto.

Further, I contend that if a doctor takes care of his patients, his patients will take care of him. This I have done to the best of my ability for all patients who have come my way. Please believe me, I have no desire to enter into a controversial issue, as I am interested only in the facts, and all that I desire is that I and my colleagues receive our full RIGHTS.

Signed,

Dr. Frank G. Zetar, D.C.

The eminent Dr. Seymour H. Kaufman, noted physician and surgeon, and his staff, hosted a Christmas Party for the many many children of the Southeast Area in his offices located at 5425 South Central Avenue, in the Kaufman Professional Building.

Although arrangements were made for approximately Five Hundred (500) children, more than three times that number appeared, and only by a great deal of effort and endeavor by the Staff in making last-minute purchases during the Party, not one child went away without a gift from Santa Claus.

Dr. Seymour H. Kaufman, who is known by many as THE FAMILY DOCTOR, was personally thanked by many of the parents for making it possible for a great number of children to enjoy this experience which would otherwise have been denied to them.

Plans are being made for the next event to be enjoyed by the children in the Kaufman Professional Building.

faults to think about before we begin casting stones at others.

And in our American South there is still the poll tax operating, designed to keep Negroes and "poor whites" from voting; the unwritten lynch law, the segregation and discrimination so rampant everywhere.

A representative of the American government recently suggested that a reward should be offered for the head of Joseph Stalin.

But why shouldn't we begin at home if we wish to offer rewards? Offer a reward for the persons who lynched the Ferguson brothers in New York, the murderers of the Negro family in Mississippi, the man who gouged out the eyes of the G. I. in South Carolina?

To do these things, it seems to me, would really be taking the beam out of our own eyes. And then we should see clearly how to take the mote out of our brother's eye.

Armed Robbery

plaint with having gotten away with $112, and to have fired two shots, either to frighten them into swift compliance, or through "trigger happy" nervousness.

But after hearing his explanation, and the fact that he had taken back only the $75 he had been beaten out of, his counsel pointed out the fact when a man uses a weapon to get back no more than that of which he has been illegally swindled, his act is identified under much less than the major crime of "armed robbery." Investigation in the peculiar "New Year" case is being handled by Chas. Broady Jr. He is the son of Chas. Broady Sr., famous retired detective.

"Hell Hole"

not allow him to communicate with the military police which appeared to us as a pre-arranged deal. As a result of this no Negroes are allowed in any of the towns.

This camp has been in operation only two months and no preparations have been made for clothing, basic training or anything. I have no field jacket, or gloves and no fatigue jacket. The mornings and evenings here are severe.

We have been told that no basic training would be given until 1,000 Negroes had been brought in and at present there are only 150 of us.

It is an all-Negro camp and we are all segregated and stuck in this hole.

It is very odd that they would put me in a labor battalion due to the fact that I have only one eye and was promised limited service with the option of technical training later because of my I.Q. rating.

We are being trained by some Negro-hating white officers who are southern bred, they are absolutely no good; we are cursed at and berated and the southern Negroes here are afraid to move.

I am trying very hard to make it but it appears everything is in vain. They have tied up our money and tell us so many lies about it that it will probably take an act of Congress to get a red sou.

Will you please go to the bank and send me some of my money and for heaven's sake see if you can't get me out of this hell hole.

Mother, all of the white boys that travelled with us flying model airplanes have been located in technical training at flying fields, why would they have to do this to me?

Tell dad to take care of his artificial eye and to thank God that he is too old to get in the armed service and please get in touch with some one to get me out of this diabolical incarcerated place.

Your loving son,
STANLEY STONE.

not only of the Jewish people, but also non-Jewish as well—the Mt. Sinai Clinic and Hospital, the United Jewish Welfare fund, the City of Hope, etc.

"It is evident," says the statement, "that this move is the product of the hysteria of recent years. It is interesting in the Membership Committee's "Findings of Fact" that no facts are cited to justify the charge of "conduct detrimental" to the Jewish Community Council. The charge of detrimental conduct arises from the J.P.F.O.'s being labelled "subversive." The silence of the committee arises from their awareness that the Jewish Community Council itself opposed the Mundt-Nixon and McCarran Bills; that there is general resentment at lists drawn up without hearings; and that Judge Pacht himself has been placed on Jack Tenney's "Un-American" list."

"In the past month Jews and Americans have awakened to the penalties of hysteria. The floodgates of independent thinking have been opened in America at large. It would be tragic if the Jewish Community were to be stampeded into blind conformity with the most reactionary political thinking in the land.

didn't invite MCS because MCS representatives would not voluntarily agree to give up the MCS Hiring Hall, and to eliminate seamen from the ships because they're "believed to be . . ." something. We will never voluntarily agree to a blacklist which every seaman fears.

We believe in and fight for the American principle that a man is inocent until proven guilty—not the Coast Guard principle, of you're guilty—you can't work—which means you can't any longer live. You try and prove you're innocent. Also, we don't believe in giving authority to anyone to be the prosecutor, judge, jury and appellat court, which the meeting held in Washing. D. C., July 24th and attended by the various right-wing (company) unions, shipowners and Coast Guard did. Today the "Commandant is the final authority to grant or deny security clearance."

MCS proposals include at least the following for the January 4th meeting:

1) An immediate Executive Order to be issued by the President exempting Union Hiring Halls from the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law. MCS and other Union Halls proved essential and necessary during World War II.

2) The Union Hiring Halls must be utilized for military ships (MSTS) as well as commercial ships, and Union contracts covering Union wages and conditions be put into effect immediately on these ships.

3) An immediate executive order directing all parties, shipping companies, unions, military ships ,all docks and installations to adopt Fair Employment Practices.

4) All Merchant seamen must be exempt from the Draft, and this meeting should send immediate representation to Director Hershey, and fight for this program at the meeting.

5) Alien seamen, most of whom sailed during World War II, and most of whom have nearly five years seatime—many have more, should be given the same shipping rights as they had in World War II.

6) No transfers of American ships to Foreign Flags.

7) Directive 7 as issued by WSA in World War II, which forced companies like Moore-McCormick, Grace, Luckenbach and others with both East and West Coast operations to comply with existing West Coast contracts, and which forced WSA then and in this case now, FMA or the National Shipping Authority to follow an equal distribution policy of ships going to these companies—equal between East and West Unions.

8) In any pool of ships on a regional or international basis, U. S. ships must not be undercut like they were in the Marshall Plan, because we have the best wages and conditions.

The following were elected: Julie Carrasco, president; Judy Cozzens, of the L. A. Youth Project staff, vice president; Helen Maupin, formerly of the New York Urban League, recording secretary; Olive Stocking, of the Firestone YWCA staff, corresponding secretary; Katherine Miller, of the Woodlawn YWCA staff, treasurer.

Installation of officers was held on January 2, 1951, the first meeting of the new year, at the home of Clementine English, Attorney Bernard Jefferson, president of the Board of Directors of the L. A. Urban League, installed the new officers.

the moto, "God will fix everything."

Capt. Thomas U. Sission, commanding officer of Brown's carrier, described Ensign Brown as one of the "best pilots in the air group."

His death came as he sat helpless in his grounded plane in a rough battle field despite heroic efforts of another Navy pilot to land under enemy fire and save him.

Bitterly grieving Brown's death were his invalid father, his mother, four brothers and youthful wife, Daisy, mother of his two-year-old daughter.

"He was the easiest person to get along with I ever saw," said his widow. "He went to church every Sunday." Brown was 24.

Traffic Accidents

A consistent and significant decline in the number of traffic accidents occurring in the holiday season was reported by Los Angeles Transit Lines as based upon a study of figures of the four holiday seasons 1947 to 1950 inclusive.

The LATL traffic accident record is as follows: 1947 Christmas 83; 1948, 69; 1949, 41; 1950, 33.

Mrs. Bass, V-Pres.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, who has returned recently from a trip to Europe including the USSR, has been invited by the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, to unite with others in forming a National Women's Appeal for the Rights of Foreign Born Americans.

She will serve as honorary chairman of the new organization, with Dr. Dorothy Brewster and Prof. Louise Pettibone Smith. The organization will devote itself to aiding foreign-born American women to stay in the country of their choice so that they can become citizens and remain at the side of their loved ones.

Red Cross Blood

The Los Angeles Chapter, American Red Cross, received a visitor recently, Sgt. John Martin, now home in Long eBach on a 30-day leave from the marine hospital, who told how two pints of Red Cross collected blood plasma saved his life.

Sgt. Martin led a platoon of marines on the critical Korean beachhead, beginning at 5:30 p.m. September 15. At 6:15 p.m. he was lying on the beach with a gaping hole in his chest, slowly bleeding to death. The Red Cross blood a medical corpsman brought saved his life.

The Red Cross asks for more blood donors. Call DUnkirk 4-5261. 1200 South Vermont.

School For Food Handlers

School will start next week for several hundred Los Angeles food handlers enrolled in the city health department's training program.

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, announced today the opening of four new sessions—one of them for jail employees only—for restaurant operators and personnel.

On completion of the course, which is given in six weekly meetings, the graduates get certificates for themselves and a "Clean Food Handling" poster for the front window of their establishment, he added.

ATA Gives to NAACP

NEW YORK.—Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, last week accepted with "warm thanks" a contribution of $1,352.90 to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., from the American Teachers Association.

This contribution is the organization's twelfth annual contribution to the legal defense arm of the NAACP. Over a period of twelve years, the ATA has contributed $8,691.50.

To avoid rear end collisions—the Los Angeles Police Department advises, stay one car length behind the car ahead for each ten miles of your speed. Forty MPH—four car lengths, etc.

West Germans Oppose Re-Arming

BERLIN—Eighty-five per cent of all readers who replied to a questionnaire published in the West German journal, "Der Spiegel," have declared that they do not want to become soldiers, nor do they want their near relatives to join the army. Among the replies, 60.8 per cent were against the creation of volunteer military units,a nd 82.6 per cent against conscrpition.

The vast majority of the paper's readers — 95.5 per cent — have expressed their opposition to German units being included in the West European bloc's army without a German general staff and war ministry.

Most interesting was their answer to the question as to whether West Germany should join the Atlantic Pact of the western powers. To this question 81.5 per cent replied in the negative, and only 13.6 per cent in the affirmative.

Prisoners Sign Stockholm Appeal

ROME—The letterse of political prisoners in support of the Peace Congress have been published in the Athens newspaper, "Democratikos." The letters have been received together with the signatures of the imprisoned democrats to the Stockholm Appeal.

The patriots in the Levadia jail say "every person . . . must respond to the appeal for peace."

More than 500 prisoners in the Cephalonia jail say that having "lived through the horrors of war and tortures in such concentration camps as Makronisos and Yura" they send greetings "to all the Congress delegates and to the the millions of people of all countries fighting for peace." The large group of democrats imprisoned in Agrinion promise to fight for peace "as steadfastly and resolutely as we fought for the freedom of our homeland and for democracy."

Cotton Makes Money

MOSCOW — Every second cotton growing collective farm in Soviet Armenia obtained revenues of more than one million roubles last year. They secured unusually high yields by applying modern agro-technical methods. Some collective farms took in up to nine million roubles ($2.250.000).

Glendale Case

has filed a brief as friend of the court on behalf of Hardyman and Loren Miller, Los Angeles attorney for the Association, will help argue the case before the nation's highest tribunal.

Federal District Judge Leon Yankwich dismissed the action on the ground that such suits cannot be maintained against private persons but the Circuit Court of Appeals reversed his holding. Defendants sought and were granted a hearing in the Supreme Court.

Hardyman and the other plaintiffs charged in their complaint that the meeting was the regular one of a Democratic Club and that among the items to be discussed were the advantages and disadvantages of the Marshall Plan. They charge that the defendants formed a conspiracy to break up the gathering and that in doing so beat and assaulted members of the club. All persons involved are white.

Although the law under which the suit was brought has been on the statute books for almost 80 years it has been seldom used, due to supposed technical difficulties in the manner of its application. Among the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights was one that the law be applied in appropriate cases.

The law provides in essence that if two or more persons conspire together to "injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate any citizen with intent to prevent or hinder his free exercise of any right or privilege" granted him by the Constitution he may sue for damages.

Defendants base their claim of invalidity of the law on the ground that such suits must be brought in state courts and that the states alone have the power to hear them and assess damages.

In their brief filed in the United States Supreme Court Hardyman and his associates trace the hsitory of the law, pointing out that it was enacted to safeguard civil rights of Negroes from invasion by the Ku Klux Klan and similar groups during the turbulent days of Reconstruction. Congress granted access to federal courts, they say, because of the known hostolity of state courts.
